Charge Program to Curb Press.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Charges that the New Dealers are reaching out for political domination and censorship of the telegraph and telephone services and of the transmission of news to newspapers will figure prominently in the consideration of the communications bill by congress.

Although these accusations are vigorously denied by the Roosevelt administration, which has sponsored the proposed legislation to place all communications under control of a federal commission, the opponents of the project see nothing more nor less than the extension to the wire services and the press of the present political control of radio.

A score or more of episodes, some of them highly ludicrous, are being cited as illuminative of the subserviency of the quasi-judicial radio commission to the White House and numerous other Democratic powers that be.

Ramifications Revealed.

These incidents disclose the ramifications of political influence in the commission, making and unmaking decisions involving the rights and interests of radio communications systems and the fate of radio broadcasting stations. They reveal those with investments in radio service at stake leading a precarious business existence at the mercy of political machinations.

They show that the efficacy of political influence in the commission is generally recognized, and that applicants for licenses and other rulings habitually invoke the most powerful of such influences at their command. Fortunate is he who is able to obtain the intervention of the White House, the slightest hint from which works wonders in the commission.

According to the information obtained by senators opposing the legislation at least one officer of the radio commission has close relations with certain lawyers specializing in practice before the commission. These lawyers are thus enabled to learn with celerity the decisions, rulings, and other actions of the commission in supposedly secret session, and to sell their services to clients seeking a reversal or modification of orders.

Intimidation Is Charged.

Much of the evidence assembled shows to what extent the broadcasting concerns have been intimidated by the radio commission and by the power of the Roosevelt administration to crack down on them through the radio commission for offending the White House or the Democratic high command. It also shows how the broadcasting systems seek to curry favor with the administration by giving time free of charge to administration officials and by denying the air to critics of the administration. By this means an effective censorship of radio broadcasting already has been established.

Senator Wallace White [Rep., Me.] and other leaders of the opposition to the communications bill declare the measure the opening wedge to political domination of all mediums of communication, and to censorship and intimidation of the press. They contend that a commission empowered to regulate communications systems would be subject on a large scale to the political influences to which the radio commission has yielded.

The telephone and telegraph companies as well as the commercial radio concerns would be at the mercy of a politically constituted commission eager to translate into action the slightest whim of the executive or of the "big shots" of the party in power. Just as the radio commission warned all broadcasters to beware of criticism of the NRA on pain of losing their licenses, the communications commission, it is pointed out, might warn all telegraph, telephone, and wireless systems to transmit no news or comment unfavorable to the administration.

Called Beginning of End.

In this manner, without establishing an outright censorship or control of the press, the administration would be enabled to determine what telegraphic dispatches from Washington newspapers should or should not print. Such tampering with the stream of information flowing to the press would undermine public confidence in the press in the same manner that public confidence in the independence of radio broadcasters has already been shaken. It would be the beginning of the end of the freedom of the press.

CAVALCADE WINS KENTUCKY DERBY; 55,000 SEE RACE

Cavalcade, the 3 to 2 favorite, won the sixtieth running of the Kentucky Derby yesterday before a crowd of 55,000 at Churchill Downs in Louisville. Three lengths behind the Brookmeade stable representative came Discovery, which finished four lengths ahead of Agrarian. Mata Hari, one of the fillies in the field of 13, was fourth after setting the early pace.

The time for the mile and a quarter was 2:04. The Derby record is 2:01 4-5, made by Twenty Grand in 1931.

President Assures Silver a New Deal

ROOSEVELT AND SENATORS TALK; LATTER SMILE

Confer En Route to Funeral.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Some of the curtains which have shrouded the agitation for silver legislation were lifted this afternoon as eight silver senators returned to Washington from a conference with President Roosevelt held on his special train as it sped to the funeral of William H. Woodin in New York. They said the President had assured them the administration would approve some form of legislation leading to the rehabilitation of the white metal.

An announcement to this effect was something of a surprise as the President has steadfastly resisted, until now, all efforts to pass a silver bill at this session of congress.

"The conference on silver has now reached the steady stage," the President declared after he had talked with the senators. "We will resume our discussion on Monday."

King Is Optimistic.

Beaming after their talk with the chief executive, the senators from silver states revealed the concessions which had been made by the President.

"It is now certain that some constructive legislation will be passed on silver at this session," declared Senator William H. King [Dem., Utah], spokesman for the silver group.

Those of the silver group at the conference were Senators Thomas of Oklahoma, King of [illegible] of Nevada, Smith of South Carolina, Shipstead of Minnesota, Dill of Washington, Adams of Colorado, and Wheeler of Montana. Vice President Garner was also in attendance, as were Morgenthau, Eugene R. Black of the federal reserve board, and Jesse Jones.

Fight in Senate Tomorrow.

The President, the senators said, assured them that he was in complete sympathy with the silver adherents and agreed with them that the monetary basis should be widened by the use of silver, although he was not prepared for mandatory legislation.

The President was said to have expressed some feeling over the invasion of Japanese goods and to have asserted that the time had come when something must be done to increase the price of silver to overcome disparities represented by the importation of Japanese products.

A definite agreement will be reached at Monday's conference, it was said. The silver fight comes up Monday afternoon in the senate when debate is resumed on the Glass industrial loan bill to which Senator Thomas of Oklahoma has introduced a silver amendment.

Provisions of Thomas Plan.

The President indicated that he might be more amenable to argument if the silverites would withdraw the Thomas measure as an amendment to the Glass bill and put it through, in some compromise form, on its own.

The Thomas amendment embraces four main provisions. It authorizes the use of silver in the monetary reserve in the ratio of 30 to 70 with gold. It provides for the acceptance of silver at a premium from foreigners purchasing American farm or industrial commodities. It gives permissive authority to the treasury to buy silver. And it requires the nationalization of all American silver, except that required for commerce and the arts, and that already coined.

"The provision for nationalization," said Senator Thomas, "is the only mandatory one."

"Why We Must Have Inflation."

Then he proceeded to show why his bill wouldn't do what is expected of it—and why "real inflation" must follow. To give silver a 30-70 place in the reserve would require, at 50 cents an ounce, he said, 6½ billion ounces.

"Secretary Morgenthau produced figures this morning showing that only 250 million ounces were available in this country," Thomas said, "and we have the equivalent of only some 600 million ounces in our monetary stocks today. If we took up the 250 million ounces that would mean an issue of 125 million dollars in silver certificates against them. If we were lucky and were able—and willing—to purchase from abroad we might acquire a billion ounces in all, which would permit the issue of a total of 500 million dollars in silver certificates, or more if silver rose in value. But that is nothing compared to the inflation this country needs."

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—The official public opening of the Lafayette Centenary exhibition at Rockefeller center took place this afternoon with but one unfortunate episode to mar an otherwise impressive ceremony. The 7th Regiment, New York National Guard, was reviewed by Andre Lefevre de Laboulaye, French ambassador to the United States, who spoke.

At the conclusion of his address M. de Laboulaye introduced Louis Barthou, French minister for foreign affairs, who was scheduled to address the United States from Paris over an international radio hookup. Instead of hearing M. Barthou's address, however, the audience at Rockefeller center was entertained with a French short wave radio dialog.

As most of the spectators knew their French the dialog was punctuated with bursts of laughter from the crowd.

At the conclusion of this interlude, an announcer said that M. Barthou's address had failed to be heard "through circumstances over which we have no control."

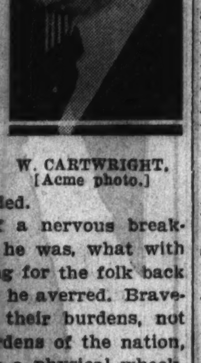
Congressman Wails of His Woes to Public

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—If you think life in congress is just a bed of roses, harken to the mournful wail of Congressman Wilburn Cartwright.



W. CARTWRIGHT. [Acme photo.]

He poured forth his troubled soul in the Congressional Record in a heart rending opus entitled "The Troubles of a Congressman." For two whole pages [at $40 a page of the taxpayers' money] he moaned and groaned and brooded.

On the verge of a nervous breakdown, that's what he was, what with working and slaving for the folk back there in Oklahoma, he averred. Bravely he has carried their burdens, not to mention the burdens of the nation, until he's virtually a physical wheck. And what does he get for it? Is he appreciated. He is not. All he gets is worry, worry, worry.

A Dismal Picture of Life.

But strangely enough, Mr. Cartwright doesn't want to leave the congress. This he emphasized in his dismal picture of the life he leads. He wants to carry on for the people back home. He just wrote "The Troubles of a Congressman," so the voters in the third Oklahoma district, wouldn't pay any attention when his opponent in the forthcoming election describes existence in Washington as something pretty soft. "The Troubles of a Congressman," will be franked out to Mr. Cartwright's district, of course.

When people talk about "the honor and distinction" of being a congressman, when they speak of "society" and a life of ease, said the Oklahoma Democrat, they just don't know what they're talking about. They know less, he declared, when they refer to the $10,000 congressional salary as adequate.

Requests for Donations.

"People do not realize the many financial troubles a congressman has," said Mr. Cartwright. "They look at

Drouth Crisis Grows; Scant Hope for Rain

The drouth, which has already broken all spring endurance records in Chicagoland, is to continue through today and tomorrow, according to the official forecast.

Generally fair with moderate temperatures is the promise for today. Tomorrow is expected to be partly cloudy and warmer.

Only in those parts of Illinois and Indiana adjacent to the Ohio river are showers anticipated. Farmers in the central and northern portions of these states and in Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan are fearful that all crops will be short unless rains come soon.

May Drouth Sets Record.

The continued drouth for the first five days of May brought an all-time record for dryness since Jan. 1, the deficiency being 61 per cent of the normal precipitation. Normal rainfall thus far should have been 9.93 inches, according to Mr. Donnel, whereas it has been but 3.89 inches. The first five days of May last year, following a spring nearly as dry as this spring, resulted in 2.03 inches of precipitation, compared to the "trace" noted here Friday.

Unfavorable crop news yesterday served to boost wheat price from 1 to 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade. Severe dust storms continued to be reported in Saskatchewan, Canada, and in parts of the western grain belt.

Corn and Wheat Belts Arid.

Since Friday night there have been fairly good rains in the lower Mississippi, the Arkansas, and the lower Ohio valleys, but only local showers or none at all in the corn belt and the wheat regions to the west. Temperatures were above 90 degrees in some parts of the great plains.

A restricted district in the vicinity of Pana, Ill., reported a full rain had fallen there and that it would probably save the wheat crop and insure corn and clover taking root.

At Indianapolis state officials admitted concern over diminishing water supplies. Louis A. Geupel, chief sanitary engineer for the state health department, said a warning had been issued to small towns to watch carefully the possibilities drinking water might be polluted as the streams shrank.

Rivers Still Navigable.

Reports from St. Paul, Minn., indicated cloudless skies continued to deter crop development in most of Minnesota, light showers being noted at Pipestone, New Ulm, and in the twin cities.

Thus far the lack of rainfall has not lowered the stage of the navigable rivers of the midcontinent sufficiently to halt trafic. At Peoria the Illinois river was a foot and a half above extreme low water, and conditions for navigation were regarded as satisfactory. On the upper Mississippi barges are being loaded, however, only to a six foot draft, whereas seven feet is normal in May. The Cumberland, Kentucky, and Tennessee rivers were reported at normal stages. At Kansas City the Missouri is four feet below normal for the month.

New York Heat Sets Record.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—With the temperature at a new high for May 5, ten privates of the Seventh regiment, New York National Guard, collapsed today, presumably from the heat while they stood at attention in full dress uniform as guards for the Lafayette Centennial exhibition. After climbing throughout the day, the temperature at 4:30 p. m. was 84.4 degrees, four-tenths of a degree above the record set on May 5, 1919. The temperature today was the highest so far this year, the next warmest being 75 degrees on April 2.

JURY REACHES VERDICT AFTER 12 HOUR DEBATE

A jury in the Criminal court of Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan yesterday brought in a verdict acquitting the seventeen defendants in the racket conspiracy case. The verdict ended the longest trial in the history of Cook county four months and a day after it began on Jan. 4.

All of the seventeen defendants, including a university professor, two lawyers, three business men, and eleven union officials, were in court with their families when the jury brought in its verdict at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon. The jury had deliberated for nearly twelve and a half hours.

First Racket Prosecution.

The verdict was a blow to the state, which in this trial had made its first comprehensive effort to prosecute alleged racketeering in Chicago industries. The defendants were charged with conspiracy to fix prices in the carbonated beverage, linen supply, cleaning and dyeing, and the laundry trades by means of bombing, window smashing, acid throwing, and other acts of terrorism.

The cost of the trial to the state was estimated at $250,000. The defense is said to have spent an equal amount. Each juror has $700 coming to him from the county for their services.

The trial, continuously dramatic throughout its duration with the introduction of involved testimony and the clashes of state and defense attorneys, was especially exciting in its final scene.

All morning and during the early afternoon yesterday the defendants had nervously paced the floor of the courtroom. From time to time they strained their ears as the voices of the jurors were heard raised loudly in argument. Finally it was announced that the verdict was ready.

Judge Examines Verdicts.

The jurors filed in, Judge Finnegan took his place on the bench, and the defendants with their attorneys crowded around. There was silence, and then in response to Judge Finnegan's formal inquiry Arthur B. Holdsworth, 3519 South 59th avenue, Cicero, the foreman of the jury, replied that verdicts had been reached. A separate verdict for each defendant was tendered to Judge Finnegan and he examined each sheet carefully while the defendants stared at him.

"I am not trying to prolong the suspense, gentlemen," Judge Finnegan said, "but I must see that these verdicts are in correct form."

He then handed the sheets to his clerk. The first name read was that of Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], who had been the eighteenth defendant until April 26, when Judge Finnegan directed a not guilty verdict for him. The jury verdict was merely a formality. The clerk then read the name of Ben Abrams, 49 years old, president of the Inside Dyehouse Workers' union. When the clerk pronounced "not guilty" after this name a sigh of anticipation ran through the courtroom.

Defense Attorney Overcome.

As the other names and the accompanying acquittal verdicts were read some of the defendants and their attorneys began to smile. Others were weeping. Attorney Joseph Harrington, counsel for several of the defendants, collapsed and had to be led to a window.

When the clerk finished the reading of the verdicts the courtroom was in an uproar. There were whistles, shouts, and hurrahs. Judge Finnegan stilled the turmoil to address the jurors.

"You men have been in a sort of marathon," he told them, "and you have been cut off from the outside world. Whether you performed your service, you, yourselves, know. At least you men now know there is a Criminal court. I thank you for your kind attention."

Judge Finnegan left the bench and the uproar began again. Benedict J. Short, one of the defense attorneys, was pounding his clients on the back, and his colleagues were shouting "Vindication!" In a group the defendants and their lawyers hurried to the jury box and insisted on shaking hands with each of the jurors. Then several of the defendants, haggard from their vigil and almost in a state of collapse after their first excitement, sat down in their family groups.

Friends Congratulate Them.

The defendants then began to leave the courtroom but many of them stayed in the Criminal court building for hours afterwards, receiving congratulations from friends in the corridors. A group of them came into the press room, singing and cheering.

All of the defendants hailed their acquittals as complete vindications.

Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, University of Chicago economist and former czar of the cleaning and dyeing industry, who was one of the chief defendants, said: "The state tried to blacken my reputation and could not. This jury of twelve men vindicated me. I leave this courtroom as clean as when I entered it."

Another of the major defendants, Attorney Aaron Sapiro, counsellor for the Chicago Laundry Owners' association and nationally known as a trade association organizer, wept as he expressed his happiness at his acquittal.

"After four months of absolute persecution by the state," . . said, "the verdict of these 12 men not only clears me but it cannot be denied. I am sincerely grateful that this jury has proved conclusively that the charges which were brought against me by the state were definitely false."

Kaplan Is Pleased.

Attorney Morris I. Kaplan, expert on trade association law, who was another of the principal defendants, called the verdict "a complete vindication and the only verdict which could have been brought in by twelve honest men."

"I told the prosecution that this case was a joke," said T. Henry Klein, former president of the Chicago Laundry association, "and it turned out to be a joke. It is a shame that so much money was wasted on this case."

Walter Crowley, president of the City Dye works and another defendant, wept as he embraced his family. "Thank God for my wife, my three boys and my dear daughter," he said.

Ald. Nelson said that he considered the acquittal of his former co-defendants as ending "possibly the greatest persecution ever instituted in Cook county, dictated purely by political motives.

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy left the courtroom immediately after the verdicts were read. He had no comment to make. Special Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Raber, who directed the state's case, was not in court yesterday. He has been confined to his home since Friday with a slight illness. He expressed bitter disappointment when he was informed of the acquittals.

"It seems that the only place where justice is upheld is in the federal courts," he declared.

No Letup, Says Courtney.

State's Attorney Courtney promised that there would be no letup in the war on racketeers.

"The verdict in this case will in no way affect the determination of this office carry on the fight against racketeers," he said. "The records reveal since this investigation and prosecution started there have been no bombings, acid throwings, window smashings, burnings, sluggings, or any other acts of violence in the industries involved. We have eliminated these evils. Investigation and prosecutions will be carried on against racketeers if it means deeper and harder digging. The great progress made in Chicago in this particular endeavor prompts a strenuous continuation of the fight."

Mr. Courtney said that three other defendants are still being sought and will be tried when they are apprehended. The men are Murray Humphries, fugitive public enemy, and Sam Ginsberg and Dave Ostran, minor figures in the labor field. Mortimer Cook, business agent of the Laundry Drivers' union, was granted a separate trial because of illness. Al Capone, another defendant, is in Atlanta penitentiary serving a ten year term for income tax evasion.

Jurors Hail the End.

The jurors hailed the termination of the trial as eagerly as did the defendants. One of them explained that their deliberations had been lengthy because of the necessity of scrutinizing carefully each of the 300 exhibits given to them. The jury went out at 5:25 o'clock Friday afternoon, deliberated until 12:30 Saturday morning, when they were locked up for the night, and resumed their deliberations at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

Juror Holdsworth said that there had never been any doubt in the jurors' minds as to the innocence of the major defendants, but that they had had doubts as to the other defendants. It had been reported at midnight Friday that the jury was hopelessly deadlocked. Holdsworth said that about 40 ballots had been taken.

Another juror said that only three formal ballots had been taken. He declared that there had never been any substantial disagreement between the jurors on the verdicts.

William F. Cullenbine, who lives at 3833 Wilcox street, was a bridegroom of only three months when he was selected for the jury. He would not be interviewed when the trial was over, but left at once for his home.

"Sorry, boys, I have a date with the missus," he said as he raced for a taxicab.

Defendants Freed by Racket Jury

The 17 defendants in the racket conspiracy case who were freed yesterday by a jury in Judge Philip J. Finnegan's court were as follows:

DR. BENJAMIN M. SQUIRES, University of Chicago economist, nationally known government labor arbitrator and former czar of the cleaning and dyeing industry. Dr. Squires is 45 years old.

AARON SAPIRO, attorney; nationally known organizer of farm coöperatives and trade associations, and counselor for the Chicago Laundry Owners' association. He is 50 years old, married, and lives in New York.

MORRIS I. KAPLAN, attorney and expert on trade association law. He has held offices in the trade associations of all four industries involved in the indictment. He is 30 years old and the youngest defendant.

T. HENRY KLEIN, former president of the Chicago Laundry association and owner of a large laundry. He is 60 years old and the oldest defendant.

ARTHUR L. CANFIELD, president of the Canfield Beverage company, one of the largest concerns in the city, and president of the Beverage institute. He is 50 years old.

WALTER CROWLEY, president of the City Dye works. Crowley, who is 50 years old, is former president of the Master Cleaners and Dyers' institute.

JOSEPH BUSH IWANIEC, president of the Laundry and Dyehouse Drivers' union, local 712. He is a labor leader, 55 years old.

GEORGE J. BENDEL, secretary and treasurer of the same union. He is 49 years old.

HISTORY OF CASE

In addition to being the longest trial in the history of Cook county criminal jurisprudence, the racket conspiracy case was one of the most complicated ever outlined before a jury in the county.

Although the indictment charged the 24 defendants originally indicted with a general conspiracy, the case involved four service industries in the city, laundry, linen supply, cleaning and dyeing, and carbonated beverages. Some of the defendants had never met until they appeared for arraignment, a fact which was heavily stressed by defense counsel.

Exactly four months elapsed from the time selection of the jury was started before Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court, on Jan. 4, and Friday, when the jurors retired to consider their verdicts. Before that, however, a six months' investigation had been conducted by Edwin J. Raber, special prosecutor, at an estimated cost of $150,000.

Indictment Is Voted.

As a result of this investigation, an indictment was voted last July, naming Al Capone, his lieutenant Murray Humphries, several other alleged hoodlums, and trade association lawyers, business men and union officials. Included in the group was Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th], who was attorney for one of the unions involved.

Eighteen of these defendants went on trial on Jan. 4. Capone was in Atlanta penitentiary, whence the government refused to return him for the trial. Humphries and two other alleged Caponeites were fugitives, and two other defendants had been granted separate trials.

In support of its contention that the conspiracy was a general one, embracing all four industries involved, the prosecution in its case relied principally on the activities of one defendant on trial, Attorney Morris I. Kaplan, and of the fugitive hoodlums. Kaplan, they charged, was the "front" for the gangsters in their efforts to exact tribute from various businesses. He was attorney for trade associations in all four fields.

Describe Acts of Violence.

The greatest amount of testimony was given in regard to the cleaning and dyeing industry, in which Dr. Benjamin M. Squires, University of Chicago economist, had been installed as dictator of the Cleaning and Dyeing institute. Numerous witnesses described bombings, acid throwings, and other acts of violence which the prosecution charged were attempts of gangster allies of the defendants to force independent merchants into the institute, but which the defense charged were hoodlum attempts to muscle into the industry, stoutly opposed by Dr. Squires and the institute.

The next most important phase of the case revolved about the laundry industry, in which Aaron Sapiro, noted organizer of business and agricultural coöperative movements, and like Dr. Squires, a defendant, had drawn up a trade agreement for the laundry owners' association. The linen supply case was closely allied with the laundry industry in the evidence, and the carbonated beverage phase was a comparatively minor one, involving only Attorney Kaplan and two other defendants.

State Takes 39 Days.

The prosecution began to present its evidence on Jan. 24 and finished on April 19, after 39 actual trial days. Defense testimony, during which nine of the defendants took the witness stand, occupied 23 trial days and was finished on April 26.

Immediately thereafter Judge Finnegan granted a motion for a directed verdict freeing Ald. Nelson. The arguments on this and other motions and final arguments by the prosecution and on behalf of the remaining 17 defendants on trial were finished Friday.

VOTE TO RECOMMEND IMPEACHMENT ACTION AGAINST WOODWARD

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—The house judiciary sub-committee on Chicago receiverships, it was learned tonight, has formally voted to recommend the impeachment of Federal Judge Charles Woodward in its forthcoming report to the full judiciary committee.

A similar recommendation for the impeachment of Judge James H. Wilkerson, it was stated, will probably be voted on Monday when the sub-committee is to resume the secret drafting of its report. The sub-committee today devoted its attention to the evidence it has collected with respect to Judge Wilkerson but did not reach a final vote on the nature of the recommendations in his case.

The report, which Chairman Tom McKeown [Dem., Okla.] hopes to complete within the next few days, is expected to contain a reprimand for Judge Walter C. Lindley of Chicago, but will not recommend his removal from the bench.

The recommendations of the sub-committee, which spent considerable time in Chicago investigating the handling of receivership and bankruptcy cases in the federal courts, must be approved by the full judiciary committee before they are presented to the house.

Masked Gunmen Hold Up Realty Office; Get $200

Two masked gunmen yesterday entered the Wilke Huebenthal real estate office, 127 North Kedzie avenue, and after threatening Frank Huebenthal, part owner, and Frank Newell, salesman, took $200 and several checks from the cash drawer and robbed Newell of his watch, valued at $50.

2 COMPANIONS OF AHEARN DESCRIBE TAVERN SHOOTING

Two companions of Policeman John J. Ahearn shortly before he was shot in front of Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler's tavern at Christmas time, took the stand as state's witnesses in the latter's trial on a charge of assault in connection with the shooting, before a jury in the court of Judge Donald S. McKinlay yesterday and told of the affray.

It appeared that the defense had won a point when one of the witnesses, Policeman Edward Hayes, who was Ahearn's partner, testified that he did not believe Ald. Bauler intentionally wounded Ahearn. The other witness was Miss Mary Tyler, cousin of Ahearn's wife.

Testifies Gun Pointed Down.

"When you saw Bauler with the gun," Defense Attorney George Guenther asked, "wasn't it always pointed at the sidewalk?"

"Yes," Hayes replied. "It was pointed at the running board of the car."

"Did he deliberately shoot Ahearn?"

"No."

Both Hayes and Miss Tyler substantiated on the main points the story of the shooting as told by Ahearn from the witness stand Friday.

Hayes Tells His Story.

On the evening of the shooting, Hayes testified that preceding the affair he left the detective bureau, where he was stationed, late in the afternoon and went to a tavern at 4347 North Western avenue which is owned partly by Ahearn's father. Hayes said he stayed there from 9:30 p. m. to about 1 o'clock and was later joined by Ahearn and Miss Tyler. He had a couple of beers during that time, the policeman said.

From the Western avenue tavern, he continued, they went to another resort at Southport and Oakdale avenues where each had a whisky sour. They next called at the 44 club. at Diversey and Sheridan road, where they ordered another whisky sour, but they walked out without drinking it. the policeman testified. Then it was decided to call at Bauler's tavern, 343 West North avenue.

"Waved at Us to Go Away."

"I pulled up on the east side of Sedgwick street," the witness said, "and parked the car. We all got out, Ahearn in the lead, Miss Tyler next and myself last. We went to the vestibule and could see Bauler in the saloon. He waved at us to go away so we walked back to the car. Ahearn stood on the sidewalk a moment and then walked back to the vestibule."

"What did you then hear and see?" Assistant State's Attorney Leslis Curtis asked.

"I saw Ahearn being pushed away by Bauler, who had him by the lapels of his coat," Hayes replied. "I got out and separated them. Then I saw Bauler walking out of the place with a gun. I saw Ahearn with his gun and both fired two shots."

Hayes denied, in answer to questioning, that he had reported Ahearn shot in a holdup when he took him to the hospital. At this juncture of the trial two revolvers, both .38 caliber—one owned by Bauler and one by Ahearn—were introduced as evidence.

Hints Defense Theory.

Defense Attorney Guenther took up the cross-examination and scored his point when Hayes expressed his belief that the alderman had not intended to wound Ahearn when he opened fire. It was indicated that the defense contention will be that the bullet glanced from the sidewalk.

Hayes testified he had known Bauler for 13 years. He was then shown a photograph which revealed Policeman Ahearn standing behind a bar with a stein of beer in his hand and Hayes seated on a stool at the bar. This, Hayes said in answer to questions, was taken about 6 months ago in the Western avenue tavern of which he said Ahearn's father is part owner.

Defense Attorney Guenther spent considerable time cross-examining Hayes on his knowledge of mixing drinks—especially whisky sours. Hayes declared that they had gone to the 44 club in the belief they would obtain a properly mixed concoction. But the drinks were "too fancy," he said, to be consumed. He denied that any of his party was "slightly under the weather."

Saw Bauler With Gun.

Miss Tyler, who lives at 665 Diversey parkway and is employed as a telephone operator, substantiated the testimony of her two companions. She said she saw Bauler approaching the car with a revolver in his hand.

"O, that man has a gun!" she quoted herself as having said. Then, she added, she turned her head as Bauler opened fire.

The trial was adjourned until Monday when the state hopes to complete it's case. Sherif Meyering and Deputy Sherif Frank Wright will be called as state's witnesses, Assistant State's Attorney Curtis and Emmet Moynihan announced. Wright was wounded in the Bauler shooting affray.

DRUGGAN PLEA FOR RELEASE FROM PRISON IN ATLANTA DENIED

Atlanta, Ga., May 5.—(AP)—The application of Terrence J. Druggan, former Chicago beer baron, for release from the Atlanta penitentiary on the grounds that he had been punished twice was denied today by Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood.

Judge Underwood ruled that there was no double punishment in Druggan's case and that a writ of habeas corpus offered no remedy for the alleged wrongs he claimed to have suffered.

Druggan has about two more months to serve in the penitentiary here.

CONVICT DEPUTY IN SLAYING.

Harlan, Ky., May 5.—(AP)—Lee Fleenor, former deputy sherif, was convicted of manslaughter today for slaying Bige Gross, a fellow deputy, in the courthouse here on April 16. Fleenor's sentence was fixed at 15 years imprisonment.

DILLINGER HUNT TURNS TO OHIO AFTER ROBBERY

Toledo, O., May 5.—(AP)—John Dillinger was trailed today into Ohio, where his last previous visit resulted in the killing of a sherif and the condemning to death of two of his henchmen.

On the cold trail of the bandits who robbed the First National bank of Fostoria of $17,200, wounding five persons with machine gun fire, Toledo detectives said they had authentic information that Dillinger's master machine gunner, Homer Van Meter, participated in the Fostoria robbery and that Dillinger was in the city at the time ready to aid his companion if plans went astray.

Meanwhile, bank robbers struck for the seventh time in 18 days. Two men invaded the Farmers bank of Goodhope, seven miles south of Washington Courthouse, terrorized a woman cashier, Miss Effie Palmer, and scooped up $567.

Admits Aiding Dillinger.

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—[U. P.]—Beth Green pleaded guilty on arraignment today of conspiracy to harbor John Dillinger. Mrs. Green admitted that she helped to conceal Dillinger in an apartment here, which was raided by federal agents March 31. Dillinger escaped in the battle, but Mrs. Green later was captured by federal agents, who killed her husband.

SEARCH SHIP FOR BANDIT.

LONDON, May 5.—[Special.]—A 24 hour wave of excitement that had flittered through the British Isles on vague reports that John Dillinger, fugitive Indiana desperado, was bound here incognito, faded tonight when the reports were proved to be groundless.

The much sought bandit was reported aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of York. When the ship arrived at Greenock, Scotland, this afternoon, a search of the liner failed to show any trace of him. Capt. Ronald Stuart, acting on wireless advices yesterday, also had searched the ship—and with the same negative results.

Searched Third Time.

As an indication, however, of how seriously the rumors were taken, the Duchess of York was searched again when she entered Belfast Lough, Ireland, several hours later under the direction of Lucien Memminger, American consul general. "Our trip was in vain," Consul Memminger said later.

Nevertheless, the ship will be searched once more wher she arrives at Liverpool, "just to make sure," was the British comment.

SEIZE 3 SUSPECTS.

Three men who had said they "knew Dillinger" were arrested yesterday by Sergt. Harry Neuman and his squad and confessed to several robberies. Sergt. Frank Reynolds, in charge of the police details hunting Dillinger, questioned the men at the Marquette station and said he did not believe they had any connection with the Indiana desperado.

The men held are Donald Bagley, 18 years old, 4658 North Racine avenue; Joseph Reiser, 23, of 2433 Belle Plaine avenue, and Ralph Harris. They were arrested after they had bragged to a taxicab driver that they knew Dillinger. A shotgun and revolvers were found in a room at the Wilrae hotel, 4546 North Racine avenue, where Bagley and Reiser were seized, and an automobile bearing Wisconsin license plates and apparently stolen was found in a garage near Bagley's home.

Bagley, according to police, confessed he had robbed a tavern at 2666 North Halsted street yesterday morning, obtaining $14 and a radio.

House Votes U. S. Power to Offer Dillinger Reward

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—The house of representatives today voted Attorney General Homer S. Cummings statutory authority to offer a $25,000 federal reward for the capture, dead or alive, of John Dillinger and other notorious public enemies who violate federal laws.

The bill was one of ten administration anti-crime bills which went speedily through the lower branch of congress today in less than three hours. Eight of them have already been passed by the senate, but the government reward measure and another bill, aimed at persons seeking to defraud the government, must receive the approval of the higher body before becoming law.

The eight measures which now have passed both senate and house, were drafted at the department of justice and recommended to congress by Attorney General Cummings. They would make it a criminal offense against the United States to kill, shoot or impede a federal officer in the performance of his duty; to attempt extortion by any verbal message over state lines either by radio, telephone, or telegraph; to transport any kidnaped person across state lines; to rob banks operating either under the federal reserve system or the laws of the United States; to take stolen securities or other valuables over state lines, and to aid in the escape of prisoners in government institutions.

INSULL'S 'PRISON SHIP' DOCKS IN U. S. TOMORROW

Prisoner Attends Farewell Dinner by Captain.

BY EUGENE SPECK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD S. S. EXILONA, En Route to the United States, May 5.—With less than two days remaining before she docks at Jersey City, the Exilona was dressed in a spirit of hilarity tonight. This, with the possible exception of Samuel Insull, whose long flight from American justice ends Monday, means that the contagious excitement of approaching land has spread to every other passenger on the ship.

The Exilona already is alive with the bustle always manifest on vessels before reaching port. Her starboard companion ladder has been released from its lashing and again hangs alongside the vessel. Every inch of the ship has been newly painted in buff, black, red, and white.

Insull at Sea 3½ Weeks.

Passengers who embarked at the beginning of the "vagabond" voyage at New York, and who have visited three continents will have spent 75 days on the trip. Insull and his custodian, Burton Y. Berry, third secretary of the American embassy in Turkey, will have been aboard the ship three and one-half weeks when the vessel docks. Consequently everybody is in a hurry to get ashore.

Perhaps Insull himself is anxious to have it end, for he is unmistakably showing signs of strain despite his energetic efforts to thrust aside any signs of tedium.

Capt. Wenzel Habel gave a farewell dinner tonight. The dishes were named after passengers. None was omitted. "Appetizers a la Insull" headed the menu. Other choice dishes included "vagabond" cream soup, Exilona style; baked diplomatic ham, Berry fashion, and roast turkey, Habel style.

Strangely enough the selection of an appetizer named after Insull almost typifies the voyage. Capt. Habel and Berry frequently have postponed lunch and dinner as their prisoner, sitting without a glass while others were enjoying cocktails, whetted the appetites of his fellow passengers with witticisms in which he spared himself no more than anybody else.

Stand Watch Over Insull.

While the jokes were exchanged, however, both Capt. Habel and Berry were waiting to take their places at the table, and very few, least of all Insull, have been fooled by their presence and the fact they were standing watch over their prisoner.

Amid the hustle of landing preparations the former utilities magnate's moods change frequently. Sometimes he is talkative. At other times he sits alone in the salon, eyeing the floor gloomily.

His morose manner passed tonight just as the captain's dinner ended. Clad in his blue flannel pajama suit, he hurriedly left the table to listen to a radio broadcast of the Kentucky Derby. Afterwards he sat discussing the race, announcing to late comers that Cavalcade had won.

He also joined excited passengers when an American cruiser, reported to be the New Orleans, appeared in the distance late today.

Insull Jr. Awaits Father.

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—Samuel Insull Jr., son of the former utilities magnate, came to New York today from Chicago and said he would not attempt to get his father released on a writ of habeas corpus when he arrives on Monday, a prisoner aboard the steamship Exilona.

Both father and son are under indictment in Chicago for alleged irregularities in the management of the Insull utilities structure that cost the savings of thousands of investors when it collapsed.

The son said that he has arranged among his friends to raise a bond for his father after he reaches Chicago, "and I have got the promise of enough if the bond is reasonable," he added.

"As for the habeas corpus business there will be nothing like that. I deliberately came alone from Chicago, so there wouldn't be any talk of anything like that. I haven't even asked a lawyer whether it would be possible."

Young Insull appeared to be uncertain whether he would be allowed to meet his father. It was announced yesterday that Insull would be taken off the Exilona at Quarantine and landed somewhere—probably on the New Jersey shore—where he could be placed immediately aboard a westbound train.

E. J. M'CABE GETS ALCOHOL CODE AUTHORITY POST

Edward J. McCabe, assistant county treasurer, yesterday was appointed representative for Illinois and Iowa on the federal code authority of the wholesale alcohol industry in America. He is one of 18 such representatives in the country.

Mr. McCabe was also named chairman of the Illinois Wholesale Alcohol Distributors' association, and elected as a director of the wholesale alcohol industry for the 10th regional district, which consists of Illinois and Iowa. There are 13 regional directors, 10 from Illinois, and three from Iowa.

The appointments were made at a meeting of alcohol dealers called by R. A. Worthington, federal code representative. Mr. McCabe expects to begin his new duties in 10 days. He will remain as assistant county treasurer.

U. S. PLANNING ITS PROSECUTION OF SAMUEL INSULL

Green in Washington for Conferences.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Final plans for the federal government's prosecution of Samuel Insull will be worked out here over the weke-end in conferences between Dwight Green, United States attorney at Chicago, and officials of the department of justice.

Conferences began this morning, when Mr. Green discussed the Insull case with Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general in charge of criminal affairs, and Frank Parrish, Mr. Keenan's assistant. One of the main points to be decided is which of the two federal indictments—mail fraud or bankruptcy—will be pushed first by the government.

To prevent any attempts by Insull's lawyers to interrupt his return to Chicago the state department will be left in full charge of the fugitive utilities magnate until he is turned over to the United States marshal in Chicago, Mr. Green said, after the morning conferences. Justice department officials will keep hands off the Insull case up to that time, according to Mr. Green.

Mr. Green told newspaper reporters that the bond asked for Insull on his return to Chicago would be "much higher than $10,000."

The state department continues to cloak its plans for Insull's return in mystery, and no official word has been given out even on where Insull will land.

Samuel Insull Jr., son of the returning fugitive, who was granted permission to meet his father and journey back to Chicago with him, is in New York today. Young Insull has given his word to authorities that he will not try to spring any legal technicalities when his father lands.

Mr. Green said today that he would not return to Chicago Monday for the hearing on removal of J. J. McLaughlin to St. Paul for trial in the Bremer kidnaping case. Assistant Attorney General Keenan, however, will fly to Chicago for the McLaughlin hearing.

Oak Park Boy, 13, Is Hurt While Playing with Pistol

Charles Devine Jr., 13 years old, suffered a wound on his left hand last evening when a pistol with which he was playing at his home, 1015 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, was accidentally discharged. The weapon was loaded only with a blank cartridge, but the hand was severely burned by powder. Charles is a pupil in the Horace Mann school in Oak Park.

Get Special Stamps

Members of the Junior Red Cross of the Chicago chapter are preparing 2,500 packages for the hospitalized ex-service men within the Chicago area in connection with the observance of Mother's day next Sunday, it was announced yesterday. Each veteran will receive a book of 24 one cent stamps with two additional three cent stamps of the special Mother's day issue in time to write to their homes. Those in the Edward Hines Jr. hospital, the North Chicago hospital, and in other institutions will receive the packages.

Guards Must Clock Kisses at Illinois State Prisons

Lingering kisses between prisoners and visiting relatives, are henceforth barred at the state penitentiaries at Joliet and Stateville. Prison officials, suspecting that such affectionate greetings may be devices for transferring narcotics to prisoners, told guards yesterday to permit only brief kisses, and to watch them closely. Recently an order was issued that all visitors to the penitentiaries must be thoroughly searched. The kissing restriction is an added precaution to prevent the transfer of pellets of dope carried in the mouth.

BOLIVIAN ARMY THREATENS TO BOMB ASUNCION

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 5.—(AP)—The Bolivian government tonight threatened an aerial bombardment of Asuncion if Paraguay carries out its threat to gain reprisals for recent bombings by treating Bolivian prisoners of war more harshly. This grave turn in the long raging Chaco warfare was announced in a brief communique by the Bolivian ministry of defense.

[Protests against the Bolivian bombings of Puerto Guarani, on the upper Paraguay river, were made today by German and Argentine firms. The German minister to Parguay said four employés of a German concern had been injured seriously. The Paraguayan ministry of defense said: "In view of new acts of barbarism perpetrated by the Bolivian army the government has determined to adopt severer measures with war prisoners."]

Asuncion, a city of 100,000, is only a few hundred miles from the battle lines in the Chaco. The department of war issued a statement saying that May 3 a squadron bombarded the Paraguayan Fort Patria and that "considerable damage was effected."

ROBBED OF PAY ROLL.

Two robbers yesterday held up Francis Brown, 24 years old, son of the manager of the Wilson Laboratories, 4221 South Western avenue, as he was entering the plant on his return from a bank, and robbed him of a pay roll of $400.

DIRIGIBLE MACON FLIES OVER CUBA TO WAR GAMES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, May 5.—The United States navy dirigible Macon flew over Havana at 1 p. m. today. It departed in the direction of Guantanamo. The Macon is en route from Miami, Fla., to join the United States fleet in Caribbean maneuvers off Cuba's south coast.

21 Marine Planes Reach Haiti.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, May 5.—(AP)—Twenty-one United States marine corps planes, under the command of Lieut. Col. Ross E. Rowell, roared through a heavy sky to land here at 4 p. m. today, ending a flight from Guantanamo bay, Cuba.

The massed landing at the field was witnessed by Stenio Vincent, president of Haiti, and other dignitaries. The planes will participate in United States fleet maneuvers in this area in the next few days.

HEARING ON CITY ELECTRICAL RATE CUT SET MAY 16

Edison Company's Case Called by I. C. C.

The Illinois commerce commission will open formal hearings May 16 on the Commonwealth Edison company's electrical rate reduction case. Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer yesterday served notice of the hearings on the utility company.

Chairman Lindheimer announced the staf in charge of the case will be the same as that which succeeded in obtaining a reduction of $1,300,000 in the annual rates of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. The cut was accepted Friday by the company.

Reduction In 25 Cases.

Reductions have been ordered in 25 of the cases arising out of the citations a year ago. In the other instance, that of the Western United Gas and Electric company, the commission has a motion for reduction under advisement.

The Commonwealth Edison company with a fixed capital of $200,000,000 is the largest utility company in Illinois. It supplies electricity to the entire city of Chicago.

Attorneys Irvin Rooks and Harry R. Booth will conduct the hearings. They will be assisted by Paul Raver, director of the department of rates and research for the commission; Fred Kleinman, accountant, and Mark Wolff, public utilities consultant, employed as an expert witness by the commission.

Simpson Filed Statement.

James Simpson, chairman of the Commonwealth Edison company, last spring filed a complete statement of the company's financial condition in answer to the citation to show cause why rates should not be reduced. He asserted that slicing rates would amount to confiscation.

Net income for the first quarter of 1934 was reported at $2,495,816 after deductions for taxes and charges. This amounted to $1.54 on the 1,623,150 shares of capital stock as compared with $1.33 during the same period in 1933. The gross was $19,606,773, against $18,506,107. Bonds and other paper are figured in arriving at the $300,000,000 figure for fixed capital. Par value of the stock is $162,315,000.

An appraisal of the properties of the company, now being completed for the commission, is expected to have an important bearing on the rate decision. Mr. Lindheimer recently expressed an opinion that present rates are predicated on inflated valuations which should be adjusted.

Al Capone Completes 2d Year in Atlanta Prison

Atlanta, Ga., May 5.—[U.P.]—Al Capone, former Chicago gangster and No. 1 public enemy, went about his daily task in the federal penitentiary shoe factory today with little or nothing to remember about completion of his second year in the pen yesterday. "Capone did his usual job yesterday," was the only comment from the warden. He has eight more years to serve for violation of the income tax laws.

ALIMONY IS REDUCED FOR 'MISS AMERICA,' EX-WIFE OF OIL MAN

Pawhuska, Okla., May 5.—(AP)—The alimony allotment of Mrs. Norma Smallwood Gilcrease, former "Miss America," from Thomas Gilcrease, oil millionaire, was reduced today from $72,000 to $15,000, but the monthly payments were increased from $200 to $250.

Attorneys for Mrs. Gilcrease expressed doubt that a stipulation of earlier in the week, at the close of the case, that the alimony payments would stop if Mrs. Gilcrease remarried, would permit an appeal, and asked Judge Jesse Worten to strike this clause from his ruling. They also asked that Mrs. Gilcrease be granted a fixed sum, to be paid regardless of whether she remarries.

Judge Worten ordered the stipulation withdrawn, which carried with it withdrawal of his original order fixing the alimony at $72,000, then ordered payment of $15,000 over a period of five years. He overruled a motion for a new trial, and granted ninety days to perfect an appeal.

Gilcrease was granted a divorce after a trial of more than two weeks, on the grounds of extreme cruelty and neglect.

Wind Blows in Two Directions at Same Time!

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 5.—(AP)—The wind was blowing in two directions at the same time over Cheyenne today and both east and west bound planes were in ahead of schedule. Ted Larson, United Air lines official, said the surface wind was blowing in an easterly direction with a velocity of 25 miles an hour. But at an altitude of 5,000 feet the wind had a westerly direction at the same rate of speed.

CHESTERCONKLIN, FILM COMEDIAN, WEDS INVALID

Hollywood, Cal., May 5.—(AP)—A romance that triumphed over tragedy was climaxed in the marriage today of Margherita Rouse and Chester Conklin, film comedian.

The bride was on an invalid's bed and the bridegroom knelt beside her as Bishop Irving S. Cooper of the Liberal Catholic church performed the ceremony.

For 23 years the new Mrs. Conklin has been helpless. A physician has promised her she may soon walk again.

White and yellow were the predominating colors. Miss Rouse wore a bridal veil. Her gown was of white satin and in her arms she held a large bouquet of yellow roses. Yellow pansies were sprinkled over the coverlet of the bed.

Beside her Conklin, far from being the funny man of the films as the world knows him, knelt with bowed head. Gone, too, was his ridiculous mustache of the movies.

Only a few close friends witnessed the ceremony. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Conklin drove away in an ambulance, converted into a marriage coach, to their mansion on one of Hollywood's highest hills.

The invalid and the comedian met two years ago and he, attracted by her courage and spirit, fell in love with her. And because she could no longer afford to try to be cured of complete arthritis, Conklin made it possible for her treatments to be resumed.

CCC Has Built 21,907 Bridges; Working on 2,678

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—The young men of the civilian conservation corps have turned out to be a big bunch of bridge builders. Robert Fechner, director, reported today the CCC had built 21,907 bridges and started 2,678 more since it took to the forests and fields a year ago.

CHILLING JUNGLE HOWLS ANNOUNCE ARRIVALS AT ZOO

3 Apes and Baby Monkeys Join Brookfield Colony.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Recent arrivals at the Chicago Zoological park at Brookfield, which will open July 1, include three Lar Gibbon apes which Frank Buck, explorer, caught in Sumatra and sent here three weeks ago, and three baby monkeys born in the last few months in the zoo.

The latter three are well behaved youngsters, who never cry, only emitting a faint squeak occasionally.

Not so the newscomers from Sumatra, who howl with a vengeance.

The trio of Lar Gibbons, which are a fairly high type of ape with long grayish fur and small black faces, are separated in their new home in the Primate house, only recently completed. They are too mean and two powerful to mingle in the large center inclosure peopled by new world monkeys, who pretend to ignore the new arrivals on either side.

Blood Curdling Jungle Music.

A mature male and female Lar Gibbon occupy one inclosure at the south of the center, and from there perform duets which chill the blood and almost deafen the ears of attendants. Their high pitched voices rise and fall in a weird yodeling which in the jungles can be heard a distance of three to four miles, according to Robert Bean, assistant director of the zoo.

While they serenade each other with their blood curdling tunes to their heart's content, meanwhile taking lengthy leaps about their perches [they can jump 40 feet from tree branch to tree branch in the jungle] the younger Lar Gibbon sits in his lone cage and pipes away feebly in his adolescent treble.

"He is sulky, poor little fellow," said Mr. Bean, pointing out the wistful face of young Mr. Lar Gibbon, who sat, chin in hand, disconsolate. "He feels lonely and cheated, because originally one of the older pair—she may have been his mother—took him around with her. Then she cast him off in favor of the old boy, and we have to separate them now."

Plan Monkey Iland.

The monkeys, who can look up at the sky through their glass roof, appeared happy, for the most part. It is the plan of the Chicago Zoological society, as soon as funds are available, to build a monkey iland behind the Primate house, where more than 200 monkeys could swim in pools and play. The iland would be 187 by 160 feet, including moats and water.

"We can make everything almost ideal for our animals physically here," said Mr. Bean. "But even in the open moats, where the lions, tigers, bears, and other animals have no bars, but a good range for play and exercise, there will be that restless pacing back and forth at times.

"It's mental with them. And whoever says animals haven't minds or don't reason, doesn't reason himself. The trouble is that no matter how pleasant we make life for them, we can't give them work to do.

"The poor devils are so used to working hard to get their food, that they can't get used to having plenty of it whenever they need it. But the monkeys manage to loaf fairly well; then we put sunflower seed in the straw under their feet every day, and they keep busy all day finding it and cracking it open."

Family Groups Segregated.

Monkeys, like most wild animals, appear more intelligent when they are young, becoming more beastlike and belligerent in maturity, according to Mr. Bean. Perhaps that is why his favorite study among the monkeys is that of the three family groups. These are temporarily in the small mammal house, but will be removed to the Primate house soon.

Mother Jane, who with most of the monkeys now at the zoo was a gift from George Getz, clutches her young Febby, so named because she was born last Feb. 28, to her scrawny bosom in alarm as visitors approach. She gives Febby little freedom.

Flash, the father, who is of a different specie from Jane's, thereby disproving the rule that species won't cross, sits by in a rather bored manner in the same cage.

The Java Macaque Family.

Another family group consists only of the Java macaque mother and her son born Jan. 1, whose black pompadour already is changing, acquiring an olive hued streak in the center. The father is in another cage keeping his two older sons company. The little fellow began climbing on the bars of his cage when a few days old.

That is all right with the mother, who is more of a liberal modern parent than Jane. But when he commits the indiscretion of trying to swing on his mother's tail she is annoyed and spanks him and pulls his hair. He squeaks apology and remorse, and she puts her arm around him.

In the third group both father and mother appear to be over solicitous parents. Together they bend over their offspring and search his face, head, and back diligently. He submits with an expression of resignation. Baby monkeys' faces naturally have a look of ancient wisdom, wrinkled and pale as they are, Mr. Bean said.

A Woman Hating Lady.

Other interesting characters who will greet visitors in the Primate house beginning July 1 include Sally, white faced chimpanzee and the zoo's only one to date, who is 9 years old. Now in an especially built cage made for strength, Sally later will be put in one of the large 12x18 foot cages for gorillas and chimpanzees and orang utans in the rear of the center patio, which will be planted with palms and rhodendrons.

Sally drank a quart of milk from the bottle held to her lips by her keeper, Arthur, but Mr. Bean, whom she doesn't like since an occasion when he resented her taking a pass at a woman visitor, stayed away from Sally's cage. Nevertheless she clapped for him and did her tricks for some candy he tossed in between her bars.

"I'm sorry to say that Sally's as wicked as can be," he said. "She dislikes women in the extreme. She's very smart, and might pretend to be friendly with them only to take a swipe at them later. Most chimpanzees despise persons of their own sex and dislike children and crippled persons."

B. & O. TO BUILD TWO STREAMLINED TRAINS TO TRAVEL 100 M. P. H.

Baltimore, Md., May 5.—(AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad announced today that two high speed, streamline trains of designs never attempted before in this country would be built in the American Car and Foundry shops at St. Charles, Mo.

A loan of $900,000, allowed by the Public Works administration, will make possible one train to be operated by steam power, and another to be drawn by a Diesel electric engine, a single unit, to which cars will be attached. Sixteen new coaches will complete the trains.

The trains are expected to do 100 miles an hour on level, straightaway tracks. Each of the trains will be made up of a combination passenger-baggage car, two reclining seat cars, a combination cafeteria-dining car, a chair car and an observation car.

SHOT TO DEATH IN STREET BY GANG IN AUTO

Chester Kopzak, alias Geisler, 21 years old, 2009 West 18th street, said to be a minor police character, was shot seven times and fatally wounded last night by gunmen riding in an automobile at 18th street and Hoyne avenue. An innocent bystander, Joseph Novak, 65 years old, 2108 West 18th place, was wounded in the right hand.

Kopzak was standing at the intersection of 18th street and Hoyne avenue when a car containing several men drove up. Apparently he recognized them for he tried to run away. The assassins caught up with him, however, and fired about 10 shots. Four bullets hit him in the head, two struck him in the side, and one pierced his arm. Novak was a short distance away at the time and he stopped one of the bullets.

The killers speeded away and a motorist took Kopzak to the county hospital, where he later died. Police could find no motive for his murder. They said Kopzak had been arrested many times as a petty thief, but had never been convicted. His wife, Stella, and an infant daughter survive.

Bandit Formally Charged with Murder of Driver

James Wilton, 34 years old, 2609 West 18th street, was formally charged yesterday with the murder of Morris Krinsky, 1250 South Kildare avenue, a laundry driver. Krinsky was shot to death March 23 by one of three bandits who fired at him when he failed to run fast enough from the scene of a robbery they had committed. Wilton denied he fired the fatal shot, but confessed to police at the detective bureau he was one of the bandit trio. He was arrested last Monday during a brawl in a tavern at Fox lake.

KING OF BRITAIN BEGINS 25TH YEAR OF REIGN TODAY

Empire to Celebrate Rise to Throne.

LONDON, May 5.—(AP)—Accession day, marking the beginning of King George's 25th year on the throne, will be observed tomorrow throughout his vast realm from Westminster abbey to little churches in remote outposts of the empire.

The monarch and Queen Mary, both home loving folk of simple tastes, will spend the day quietly at Windsor castle receiving hosts of messages and congratulations while the royal servants are given champagne from the king's cellars to pledge the health of their majesties.

Optimism Dominant Tone.

After years of post-war adversity for the nation and personal ill health which took him nearly to death's door, King George begins the jubilee year of his reign under what the press of the country generally holds to be auspicious circumstances.

Optimism is a dominant note among many Britons. The whole nation is encouraged by the national budget, although the man in the street may not understand its technical details.

His personal accounts may not be so good, but Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, assured him the national finances are in good shape.

Reference to Dillinger.

Popular newspapers tickle his natural sense of superiority by encouraging him to be thankful that he does not live in lands where dictators thrive or across the Atlantic where "Dillingers run amok."

Plans are already under way to mark the end of the Jubilee year with many celebrations throughout the empire. These will find a climax in a great durbar in Delhi, capital of India.

This represents the mightiets and most colorful pageant the world provides. Its splendor is made possible only by the participation of the many ruling princes, each of whom will spend a fortune to turn the plains of Delhi into an Arabian nights camp.

Jewels to Blaze on Robes.

From this city of gayly colored silken tents will issue for the regal ceremonies the rulers of Hindustan, riding on richly caparisoned elephants with gilded tusks. Millions of dollars' worth of jewels will blaze from princely robes, many of which are woven with threads of solid gold and silver.

Only India could produce the like as a tribute to the king emperor.

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO PACKER.

Denver, Colo., May 5.—(AP)—A heart attack today proved fatal for R. T. Keefe, 64, Arkansas City, Kas., meat packer, who came here a few days ago to see a niece, Mrs. W. R. Keefe, who has been critically ill.

ALLMAN ORDERS TRANSFER OF 5 POLICE CAPTAINS

Police Commissioner Allman issued an order yesterday transferring five captains, five lieutenants, eleven sergeants, and thirty-six patrolmen. No comment accompanied the order.

FLOCK OF 1,000 NIGHT HERONS 'ARRIVE HOME

A flock of approximately 1,000 night herons has returned from the south to nesting grounds on the farm of William D. Patterson in Wheatland township, 14 miles northwest of Joliet. The birds have for the last 50 or 60 years made their summer homes in a three acre grove of tall trees on the farm, Mr. Patterson said.

The birds, which are colored deep blue and bronze with a splash of white on their breasts, make their nests in the trees, and forage along the Du Page river, a mile distant, for fish, frogs, snails, and other water life which compose their diet. Their hunting, Mr. Patterson said, is done at night and hence the designation "night herons."

BEG YOUR PARDON

William Lusk, owner of a garage at 4841 Ogden avenue, Cicero, denies that a stolen car was found in his garage by police, as mentioned in a story in THE TRIBUNE yesterday. Assistant State's Attorney Raymond P. Drymalski said the car in question had no motor in it and for that reason an investigation was made and Lusk was taken to the prosecutor's office because he had not complied with the law requiring records to be kept of the purchase and sale of automobile parts.

GRAND JURY TO GET MELLON U. S. INCOME TAX CASE TOMORROW

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 5.—(AP)—Charges of income tax evasion brought by the government against Andrew W. Mellon are expected to be placed for a federal grand jury in Pittsburgh Monday.

H. S. Dumbauld, U. S. district attorney, today said:

"We will conduct the Mellon tax investigation the same as we would against 'John Doe' or any citizen."

Dumbauld made no other comment on the statement issued last night by the former secretary of the treasury in which Mellon disclosed the government is demanding an additonal $1,319,080.90 in taxes on his 1931 income and $659,540.45 in penalties. Mellon's statement charged he was being "railroaded" before the grand jury without being given a hearing by the treasury.

Dumbauld will be assisted in the case by John A. McCann of Pittsburgh, representing the bureau of internal revenue.

They are expected to call less than a half dozen witnesses, most of them income tax experts and accountants from Washington.

NEW TRAIN HOME 'AFTER VISITING IN 68 CITIES

The Union Pacific's new streamlined train arrived at the Chicago and North Western railroad station yesterday, completing a nation-wide tour that has taken it to 68 cities and over 13,000 miles of 14 American railroads. A total of 1,200,000 persons have inspected the interior of the train and it was estimated that 5,000,000 have seen it flash by on the rails.

The train was taken to the Pullman shops to be prepared for its exhibition at A Century of Progress. A sleeping car will be added, officials said.

VESSEL RADIOS IT MAY BE ABLE TO REACH PORT

Seattle, Wash., May 5.—[UP]—From the storm lashed decks of the broken Norwegian freighter Childar tonight came the message—"we may still reach port."

Her skipper was making every effort to bring the ship safely to Seattle behind the tow of the coast guard cutter Redwing.

Foam crested sea water surged through her fractured decks and sides and her number 4 and 5 holds were flooded as the captain, pilot, and three members of the crew struggled with the freighter.

Late today the Childar, her masts, deck house, and deckload gone, moved sluggishly at 4.5 knots behind the Redwing. The gallant little group was determined to stand by her till death if necessary.

There was no question that she was in danger of sinking as water slopped two feet over her tank top. She was a battered hulk from her beating on Peacock spit Friday morning off the mouth of the Columbia river, which cost the life of her cook, mate, second mate, and steward.

Dinner Honors Witthoeft, German Naval Attache

Admiral Wat T. Cluverius with other officers of the United States navy and army were present last night at a dinner given at the Bismarck hotel in honor of Capt. Robert Witthoeft, naval attaché to the German embassy at Washington. Capt. Witthoeft is visiting in Chicago as the guest of Admiral Cluverius while on a tour that he is making through the United States.

FOSHAY TAKEN TO U. S. PRISON AT LEAVENWORTH

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—Wilbur B. Foshay and H. H. Henley, former president and vice president of the Foshay utility enterprises, left here today in custody of a United States marshal for the Leavenworth penitentiary to begin serving 15 years terms.

The two, sentenced on mail fraud charges in connection with the collapse of the company in 1929, left behind them in the county jail here a "statement for the newspapers" expressing disappointment at Attorney General Cummings' refusal to recommend their pardon. The statement also reiterated their claims of innocence.

FAIR TO SHOW ALL PHASES OF ANIMAL KINGDOM

Lions, Tigers, Pythons to Entertain.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The extremes of life, culture and history will be shown at the 1934 Century of Progress exposition. At the 1933 Exposition every phase of culture known to mankind, and practically the history of the human race was shown to admiring millions. This year the Exposition will go a step further and included the rest of the animal kingdom.

Lions, tigers, pythons, even the lowly but amusing monkey will be on hand to thrill and entertain. Many of the animals, such as the prehistoric mammals which terrorized the world of a million years ago, will not be on hand in the living breathing flesh, but their reproduction will be so natural that the casual visitor would never know that they were not real.

Buck's Jungle Exhibit.

One of the principal shows will be that of Frank [Bring Em Back Alive] Buck, who will establish a jungle exhibit on the Midway Beach. One of the feature attractions of this "impenetrable jungle" will be the monkey mountain. This mountain, a 65 foot volcano with a smouldering crater at the top, will have more than one thousand monkeys chattering up and down its sides.

Prowling in winding caverns in the base of the mountain, and hiding behind natural brush set in the mountain side, will be others of the jungle world. The entire park will cover 23,000 square feet in the center of the new Midway, and will all be under the direction of Mr. Buck.

Among the strange animals to be featured in this section of the Fair are cheetahs, ant eaters, gila monsters, ocelots, iguanas, jackals, and others. Many of the animals can be viewed only in cages, or in caverns so that the public will be protected. As many as possible of the exhibition varmints, however, will be actually on the prowl.

"Live Power" Exhibit.

Probably one of the fiercest and most breath taking of the animal shows to be featured will be the "Live Power" exhibition of the Standard Oil company. In this act, presenting Allen King, daredevil animal trainer, some thirty cats, tigers, lions, and pumas, will be worked in a cage together. Practically every one has seen this type of show in the movies as a result of the acting of Clyde Beatty. Here is a chance to see it in the flesh. A preview of the show was witnessed by two score Chicago newspapermen and movie cameramen, and all voted it one of the most exciting bits of stage craft they had seen.

Another pleasing phase of the cat show, to take forty minutes for presentation, is that it is all free. Seat to accomodate several thousand spectators will be ringed around the open air stage, and, following the show, the animals can be viewed at close range in the cages.

Some of the forerunners of the modern jungle terrors, which would have chased the tiger and lion like a cat chases a mouse, will be shown by the Sinclair Oil company and A World A Million Years Ago. Here the huge gorillas, prehistoric elephants, armor coated terrors of a swamp world, will be shown exactly as they lived in that forgotten age.

A real dinosaur would be an attraction which even a world's fair could not produce with ease, or with even a great deal of difficulty, so to save time these animals are reproductions. Worked out from fragments discovered by scientists, and built on scale with the aid of museum experts, only a close scrutiny would show that these exhibits were not real creatures. Even their vocalizations, judged by the size of the voice box fragments, are exact as to pitch range.

Just a Few Snakes.

Tired of this, the visitor may go chase a few snakes. These will be real snakes, something by which he can compare the others that he gets, if and when his celebration is of the type that produces snakes. Giant pythons, boas, anacondas, and other tropical serpents will be on display. The poisonous reptiles, from the beautiful coral snake, with its delicate shadings, to the dull rattle snake, will be offered for contrasts. In another show the hooded cobra, the deadly snake of the east which has been written about and talked about for ages, will bow and away to the scraping of an Indian's fiddle.

3 Children Killed by Car as They Walk in Highway

Berea, Ky., May 5.—(AP)—Struck from behind while walking along the Dixie highway about a mile south of here, three children were killed last night. They were Roscoe Ingram, 12; his sister, Georgia, 16, and William Morgan, 18, all of whom lived near the scene of the accident.

SENATORS APPROVE ROCKEFELLER MOTIVES IN HIS PARK PROJECT

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Full approval of the methods and motives of John D. Rockefeller Jr. in the expenditure of nearly $2,000,000 to preserve for the public as a national park the grandeurs of the Grand Teton country has been given by the senate committee on public lands.

The decision of the committee is that Mr. Rockefeller's operations were for the public benefit, that no personal gain was involved, and that he had sought in every way possible to satisfy every person whose lands were acquired.

The committee will go further and report a bill for government purchase of the lands the owners had refused to sell to Mr. Rockefeller except for prices that his agents considered exhorbitant.

The result will be, if the bill is enacted, a second great national park to the south of the Yellowstone which will include virtually all of the Jackson Hole area, all the lakes and the Teton range of towering peaks of which the Grand Teton is the loftiest and Mount Moran the second.

Their forests are now being cleaned out by the civilian conservation corps to provide tourist camp sites which will be unsurpassed in any park owned by the government.

ORGANIZE SCHOOL IN NEW YORK TO FIGHT MOSQUITO

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—A school to train mosquito fighters in this city has been organized by the department of health.

Health Commissioner John L. Rice said that more than 100 engineers and supervisors of the words division of the temporary emergency relief administration, were attending classes at the "mosquito university" each Thursday night. They are receiving specialized instruction in the problems of drainage and mosquito extermination.

The classes, held at the health department offices, were organized by Russell W. Gies, sanitary engineer of the department. About 3,500 relief workers were reported employed at present on mosquito prevention in all parts of the city.

CRIME BILLS PUT OFF WORLD'S FAIR IMPORT MEASURE

Agreement Precludes Effort for Speed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—House consideration of the World's Fair import bill was blocked today by a prior parliamentary agreement limiting the day's business to the administration's anti-crime bills.

As soon as the house convened Representative Adolph J. Sabath of Chicago sought unanimous consent to call up his bill to lift import duties temporarily on foreign articles brought into this country for exhibition at the Century of Progress.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell [Rep., N. Y.], the Republican floor leader, objected to Sabath's request, however, stating that it had been his understanding with house leaders that no business other than the crime bills would be taken up today.

Points Out Need for Action.

He had such an agreement with the Democratic leaders, said Mr. Snell, and had advised many minority members not interested in the crime measures that they would be free to leave the city.

Sabath pointed out the urgency of the import legislation, stating that many foreign exhibits are now in warehouses awaiting the right of entry. The Fair, he told the house, is scheduled to open within a few weeks and customs clearance for foreign articles is necessary if other nations are to have a chance to participate.

Mr. Snell declared himself in favor of the import bill, but held that he was forced to object to its consideration in the absence of so many Republicans.

Delay in Appropriation.

Personally he told Mr. Sabath, the Republican leader was favorably inclined to the import bill, but felt that he must enforce the agreement that only the anti-crime legislation would be in order today.

Meanwhile the legislation authorizing $405,000 for financing continued participation in the Fair by the federal government appeared unlikely to receive attention in the lower body of congress until Tuesday. Monday is "suspension" day and the calendar for suspensions is too crowded to permit speedy action at this time.

HOW SPECTACLES ARE MADE TO BE SHOWN IN EXHIBIT AT FAIR

World's Fair patrons this year can acquaint themselves with the processes by which an oculist's prescription is filled by spectacle makers. The operations necessary to produce modern glasses will be shown in the rotunda of the Hall of Science in the exhibit of the Belgard Spero, Inc., eye glass factory, which will include also an eye glass fashion show and an optical museum.

In a stainless steel shop with nickel plated machinery, workers will lay out, block, grind, polish, test, rim cut, edge, and mount glasses according to prescriptions.

By means of models, pictures, and charts the styles of glasses best adapted to various types of faces and occasions will be shown. The demonstrations will show how glasses can alter appearances.

Shatter proof glass, according to Belgard Spero, is giving needed protection in hazardous occupations and in sports with an element of danger to the eyes.

CHICAGO'S POLES TO CELEBRATE HOLIDAY TODAY

Thousands of Polish-Americans will hear about the new Poland this afternoon, when Joseph Moscicki, son of President Ignace Moscicki of Poland and secretary of the Polish embassy in Washington, D. C., will address them before the statue of Gen. Tadeusz Kosciusko in Humboldt park.

Mayor Kelly, F. X. Swieplik, censor of the National Polish Alliance, and John Romaszkiewicz, president of the Alliance, are also scheduled to speak. Drills, songs, and exercises by about 3,000 Polish youths will also be a part of the program which celebrates the Polish national holiday. Mr. and Mrs. Moscicki, who arrived in Chicago Friday evening, will be in the parade from 1407 West Division street to the park, preceding the meeting.

Before an assemblage of notables, including members of Chicago society and Polish officials, yesterday Mr. Moscicki presented to the Chicago Historical society a gift from the people of his country. The present, several volumes of pictures, maps, and historical data concerning Poland, will be placed in a special alcove on the main floor of the building.

CALL CITY-WIDE RALLY TO BOOST FAIR ON MAY 21

Civic Groups to Arouse Pep for Stadium Affair.

A city-wide rally at the Stadium was announced yesterday as the outstanding event of Invitation week, proclaimed for May 19 to 25 to rouse enthusiasm for Chicago's 1934 World's Fair. The rally will be held at 8:30 p. m., Monday, May 21.

Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and President Rufus C. Dawes will give brief speeches during a two hour entertainment to be provided by the leading stars of stage, screen, and radio then appearing in Chicago. This will include music by orchestras playing in Chicago's clubs, hotels, and ball rooms. There will be no admission charge.

Civic Groups to Help.

Preliminary plans for the affair were announced by the Keep Chicago Ahead Civic committee, of which Mayor Kelly is chairman. The mayor has invited officers of 200 civic organizations in all sections of Chicago to meet at 4 p. m. next Thursday with members of the city council and the committee to make plans for the meeting. In this way, it is hoped, the rally will be representative of the entire city.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago consolidated park board, and Barnet Hodes of the state tax commission are in general charge of the meeting. Will J. Harris, a theatrical production manager, will be in charge of the entertainment. Charles C. Younggreen is general chairman of arrangements for Invitational week.

Posters for Neighborhoods.

Representatives of business and civic organizations will be asked to boost the rally in their respective neighborhoods. Each will be given Century of Progress posters in an effort to lend color to the city. The committee hopes to decorate the windows of every business establishment in the city with the brilliant posters.

"The citizens of Chicago are getting into the spirit of the Fair," Mayor Kelly said yesterday in issuing the call for the meeting. "This is fine. We hope to arouse enthusiasm to such a pitch that all will be doing their share. If they do," he predicted, "Chicago will have the greatest season it has ever experienced, and will gain a fame that will last for years. A Century of Progress offers the greatest opportunity for self-help that has ever come to any city. And it is a great national benefit also."

Business to Benefit.

The mayor also said that the expenditure of $400,000,000 by the 9,000,000 visitors last year gave Chicago such a commercial start that it leads the country in economic recovery. Taking into consideration money spent in coming to the Fair, he said that a billion dollars seems to be a reasonable estimate of the money which found its way into every imaginable channel as a result of the Exposition.

"More than a thousand persons," the mayor continued, "after visiting Chicago last year wrote me telling how pleased they were with the fine treatment they received."

DAVID W. CLARK.

David W. Clark, former banker and west side Republican leader, will be 94 years old today, and yesterday the family was arranging for the celebration today in the home at 3125 Warren avenue. Uncle Dave, as he is called, said he is still healthy and ready for the annual occasion when friends call to wish him well on his journey to the 100 mark.

Since the Madison-Kedzie bank, of which he was vice president, closed, he has retired from business. He takes a two hour automobile ride every afternoon and says his good health is due to regular hours, fresh air, and exercise. He was a strong advocate of prohibition repeal, he declared, but hasn't taken a drink in forty years. He opposed prohibition as a matter of public policy and not for personal reasons, he said.

"I am letting other folks worry about politics now," said the veteran. "I think the country is making fine progress, even if I am a Republican."

Mr. Clark was an alderman, member of the legislature, county commissioner, chairman of the board of local improvements, and president of the county board. He fought in the Union army during the civil war. He has been an officer of the William B. Warren Masonic lodge for seventy years, and Chicago has been his home since 1854.

JANE ADDAMS, GRACE ABBOTT TO PEN BIOGRAPHY

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—Jane Addams of Chicago's Hull house and Grace Abbott, chief of the children's bureau here, are collaborating on a biography of their mutual friend and co-worker, the late Miss Julia Lathrop.

Twenty-two years ago Miss Lathrop was as much an outstanding feminine figure on the national scene as Frances Perkins is now. Appointed by President Taft as first woman chief of any federal bureau, Miss Lathrop had the task of launching the children's bureau.

For nine years she was its chief, recommending as her successor on her resignation in 1921 Miss Grace Abbott, who had worked with her at Hull house under Jane Addams. Miss Lathrop died in April, 1932.

Miss Addams and Miss Abbott will title their work "The Life and Letters of Julia Lathrop."

Program to Curb Press Laid to New Deal.

Representative Anning S. Prall [Dem., N. Y.] has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of William D. L. Starbuck, but will not assume office until congress adjourns.

The radio commission, it transpires, is not the only quasi-judicial body that is dominated by partisan political influence. By his removal of Republican members of the power commission and the federal trade commission on the ground that they were not in sympathy with his policies, the President destroyed the independence of members unwilling to risk the loss of a lucrative job.

Tarif Commission Cited.

Subserviency of the tarif commission to the White House was admitted a few days ago in testimony by its Republican holdover chairman, Robert Lincoln O'Brien, before the senate finance commission.

"The President appoints the members of the tarif commission," said Mr. O'Brien. "He naturally holds certain views concerning the tarif. It is not hard for him to find men in either party who think as he does. The members of the tarif commission are human, you know, and want to keep their jobs. At all times the White House and the tarif commission are not—er—well, unrelated factors.

"I am estopped from saying most of the things I know from a sense of official propriety. If it weren't for official propriety I could tell of one President who became very angry with a former chairman because he wouldn't do what the President wanted done."

The shipping board was notoriously subservient to the White House and other political influences, not to mention representatives of various shipping interests who knew how to reach members of the board with subtle forms of bribery, as revealed by a recent congressional investigation.

Other Incidents Recalled.

Even the oldest and most securely established of our quasi-judicial bodies, the interstate commerce commission, has not been immune from political influences. In the depression of 1921 Mr. Hoover, then secretary of commerce, was vigorously advocating a reduction of freight rates on coal, iron, and other basic commodities. President Harding one day stalked over to the commission in person, and in a secret session with the members sought to obtain such action. How the members reacted to this pressure by their appointing power was never revealed. Some months later the commission ordered a 10 per cent reduction of the rates on all commodities.

In the lake cargo coal case the commission decided in favor of the southern coal fields and against Pennsylvania. This incensed the Pennsylvanians, and at the first opportunity Senator David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.] took the warpath. When the nomination of Thomas F. Woodlock to the commission was under consideration by the senate in March, 1926, Senator Reed said that Pennsylvania deeply resented having been passed over in the matter of appointments to the commission and "that has inspired us to protest against this and other appointments."

While the Woodlock nomination was being held up by Mr. Reed in the senate the White House announced in a formal statement that President Coolidge in future appointments to the commission would give special consideration to the "south, southwest, and Pennsylvania." Senator Reed promptly withdrew his opposition to Woodlock and the nomination was confirmed. A few months later Mr. Coolidge appointed Cyrus E. Woods of Pennsylvania to the commission, but the nomination failed of confirmation.

Commissioner Changes Vote.

At that time the lake cargo coal case was before the commission again for a rehearing, and the southerners were up in arms against the appointment of a Pennsylvanian whose vote would reverse the ruling of the commission so as to favor Pennsylvania. They beat the nomination of Woods, but they had not reckoned with the Wisconsin member of the commission, John J. Esch. In the first trial of the case Esch voted in favor of the southerners and against Pennsylvania. In the rehearing he voted for Pennsylvania, and his vote reversed the ruling and gave the decision to Pennsylvania.

This happened close to the end of the term of Mr. Esch, who was a candidate for reappointment. He was accused of switching his vote in order to win a reappointment from an administration that was visibly giving aid and comfort to the Pennsylvanians. Mr. Esch indignantly denied the charge, asserting that he had voted differently because of a different showing of facts on the rehearing. President Coolidge reappointed Mr. Esch, but the nomination failed of confirmation after another airing of the coal case in the senate.

Senators have not hesitated to browbeat the quasi-judicial commissions, demanding favorable decisions on pain of refusal to confirm the renomination of commissioners. Congressmen, as well as senators, have not hesitated to demand favors on pain of a curtailment of appropriations. So notorious at one time became such political interference that the interstate commerce commission addressed a letter to the national legislators reminding them that it is obligated to decide cases on their merits without consideration of political influence.

Try Political Approach.

Persons seeking to influence these commissions invariably try to approach members through the political powers responsible for the selection of the commissioners. It may be the White House, which is the appointing power, or senators, who are the confirming power, or the national committee, which is the patronage dispensing power. How to "reach" a commissioner and what commissioners cannot be "reached" is a part of the underground information possessed by the politicians, political lawyers, and lobbyists of Washington.

Some members of these quasi-judicial commissions habitually consult the White House on decisions and votes. One member of the radio commission told me that he had asked the White House on several occasions whether President Roosevelt had any preference in a pending decision of a controversy between rival radio interests. Invariably, he said, he had been told by a White House secretary that the President was not interested, and that the commissioner was at liberty to vote his convictions.

METHODISTS ABOLISH TEMPERANCE BOARD HEADED BY CANNON

Jackson, Miss., May 5.—Long headed by Bishop James Cannon Jr., the general board of temperance and social welfare of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today was abolished by the general conference of the church. The board, under the bishop's militant direction, was a recognized factor in the national political scene.

Acting just two days after refusing to retire Bishop Cannon from the college of bishops "for infirmities," delegates to the quadrennial conference voted his powerful board out of existence under the heading of an economy program contemplating general church board consolidation.

At the same time, the conference ordered that all future pronouncements made in the name of the church "on great social questions of national or international importance, must be made through a collaborative statement of the college of bishops, rather than through individual boards."

Due to deaths, and three retirements scheduled at this session, the college following this conference will consist of eleven members, including Bishop Cannon, who has four more years before automatic retirement under the 72 year age rule.

Bishop Cannon, veteran prohibition campaigner, in a recent report on the activities of his board, called for a Methodist drive for a new national prohibition law and challenged the church to make the wet and dry issue a test of every candidate for public office.

Activities of the board of temperance and social service were transferred to three existing groups—the board of lay activities, Nashville, headed by Bishop E. D. Mouzon of Charlotte, N. C., and the college of bishops, in which Bishop Mouzon becomes senior member with the retirement of Bishop Candler.

DR. O'DONNELL OF NOTRE DAME U. GROWS WEAKER

South Bend, Ind., May 6.—[Sunday.]—[U. P.]—The Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame university, was reported weaker today in his fight for recovery from a throat infection.

Critically ill since last Tuesday when the last rites of the Roman Catholic church were given, Dr. O'Donnell was said to be at the lowest point of his illness.

A temperature of 104 last night had receded to 103 early today, but his condition was weak. Little hope was held for the recovery.

CUMMINGS HOLDS 6 WAR DEBTORS NOT IN DEFAULT

New Law Bars Others from Borrowing in U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Attorney General Cummings ruled today that six foreign governments indebted to the United States government are not in default on their obligations. These nations are Finland, which has met in full all instalments on its war debt, and Great Britain, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Latvia, and Lithuania, which have made token payments as an evidence of good faith on recent debt instalments. The soviet government was held in default.

The roll of honor was set up in an opinion handed down at the request of Secretary of State Hull with a view to determining what countries would be barred by the recently passed Johnson act from marketing their securities in this country or in any other way receiving financial assistance.

No Ruling on Greece.

The attorney general was largely guided in interpreting the Johnson act by the intent of congress, he asserted, and by President Roosevelt's utterances on war debts.

He cited especially President Roosevelt's pronouncement of Nov. 7, 1933, when he accepted a token payment from Great Britain with the comment:

"I shall not regard the British government in default."

Mr. Cummings was silent on Greece, whose debt payments have been put off under a funding agreement, and on Rumania, which is still discussing a payment due Jan. 2.

The attorney general referred to no other debtor nations, but by inference considered them in default.

Who Owes and How Much.

Great Britain, $4,636,157,358; Italy, $2,008,103,288; Czechoslovakia, $165,283,195; Lithuania, $6,554,544; Latvia, $7,312,658; Finland, $8,726,645.

Other funded obligations included:

Greece, $32,583,338; France, $3,960,772,238; Austria, $23,757,934; Belgium, $411,166,529; Estonia, $17,784,695; Germany, $724,186,740; Hungary, $2,051,938; Poland, $222,560,466; Jugoslavia, $61,625,000.

Countries whose debts have not been funded:

Russia, $337,223,288; Armenia, $20,313,416; Nicaragua, $416,550.

Russian Status Explained.

Soviet Russia fell in the default class because it ignored obligations of the preceding czarist and Kerensky governments. The czars sold bonds totaling 86 million dollars in America and the brief Kerensky régime borrowed 187 millions from the United States treasury.

June 15 instalments due from funded debtor nations include:

France, $59,000,218; Finland, $166,538; Great Britain, $85,670,765; Czechoslovakia, $1,682,812; Italy, $14,741,593; Lithuania, $147,864; Latvia, $134,883; Belgium, $7,159,453; Estonia, $322,850; Hungary, $32,669; Poland, $4,039,039; Rumania, $1,248,750; Jugoslavia, $300,000.

Bargren Ends 40 Years as Rockford's Police Chief

Rockford, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Chief of Police August E. Bargren, 71 years old, observed today the completion of his fortieth year in his present position, a record that is believed unequaled in the nation. Appointed chief in 1894 after four years as a patrolman, he has served under 15 mayors. He is the oldest member in point of service of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

A CONGRESSMAN WAILS OF WOES TO HIS PUBLIC

But Admits He Doesn't Want to Quit.

the salary we used to get, $10,000 a year, and think we should get rich. I thought that, too, before I was elected to congress but I do not think it now."

Washington hotels and apartments raise their rents as soon as congress comes to town, he went on. Every two years there is a campaign to be financed, every year there is the need for maintaining a residence in the home state as well as in Washington. He said there are countless requests for donations and he is expected to join all the lodges and clubs in town.

"Such is the life of a congressman," Mr. Cartwright complained. "Instead of having a $10,000 job, it actually amounts to about $3,000."

But the money side of it isn't all. There's the patronage side which worries congressmen almost to death.

"Speaking of jobs and postoffices," said the Oklahoman, "those are the ruination of congressmen. We have only a few jobs to offer and more than 50,000 voters. In many cases the applicant for a job seems to think he is the only friend a congressman has.

"The federal government," he continued, "has taken on so many new duties that it has almost destroyed a congressman as a legislator. He does not have time properly to study legislation, prepare bills, or make speeches. He is kept busy 95 per cent of his time answering letters and calling on different departments of government.

"For example, if they are not satisfied with a code they take it up with the congressman; if they want a CCC camp they take it up with the congressman; if a member of the CCC camp gets two pairs of pants when he thinks he should have had three he takes it up with the congressman; if the patrons of a postoffice want the postmaster removed they take it up with the congressman; if anybody wants a job of any kind in any part of the United States he usually takes it up with the congressman. Despite all this, opponents are constantly in the field—for they have plenty of time, and some of them on the taxpayers' money—criticizing us for writing so many letters.

Target for Political Chicanery.

"These are not all the troubles a congressman has. I am chairman of the committee on roads [the only chairmanship held by any congressman from Oklahoma]. I am acting chairman of the war claims committee, vice chairman of the Indian affairs committee, and ranking member on two other committees. With so much important legislation passing through all of these committees. I am completely swamped. It is no wonder 32 congressmen died during the last congress from overwork and nervous strain, including two members ahead of me on the roads committee, leaving me the chairmanship of that important committee before my time.

"Such are the troubles of a congressman, but I like my work and have no complaint to make except for the misrepresentations and the fact that I am being used as a target back home in all sorts of political chicanery manipulated by opponents in an effort to defeat me. It is not pleasant to hear of false charges being made either privately or in public speeches such as that I voted to raise my own salary, that my wife plays society, and I have her on the government pay roll, while I am laboring 16 hours a day.

"And yet they say a congressman gets a big salary and lives a life of ease and luxury. The Lord forgive them, for they know not what they say!"

Job Holders Exceed All Peace Time Records.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—The growth of the federal burocracy under the New Deal has now eclipsed all peace time records of the government.

Figures just disclosed by the civil service commission show a total of 623,559 employés on the federal pay rolls on March 31. This tops all previous records of the burocracy back to the post-war year of 1920, when the slow work of dismantling the American war machine was being completed.

The total does not include the army, navy, or marine corps, nor the legislative and judicial branches of the government. Neither does it count the thousands of pay rollers on burocratic "code authorities" established under the NRA, nor the millions on relief and "work relief.' It covers only the executive branches of the federal government.

Spoils to the Victors.

Studies of the figures obtained disclose that the New Dealers are filling the ranks with their faithful followers.

Some thousands have taken the places of Republicans. But in many cases the Republican adherents in the burocracy had been placed under the protective wing of civil service and could not be supplanted.

So the New Dealers have created many new agencies under which thousands of their own supporting Democrats, and other followers under the banner of the radical Republicans, have been given jobs.

In some of the old line departments, under the guise of economy, thousands of workers have been discharged, while new places were created for more thousands of the New Deal loyalists in other old departments, especially those under such radical leaders of the brain trust as Interior Secretary Ickes and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

A New Deal Army.

Thus there has been in the making what the New Dealers have planned as their political army in coming elections. It is not strictly a Democratic party organization, because some leading Democrats have denounced the New Deal and many thousands of Democratic voters have shown their dismay at the strange course toward radicalism being pursued under the President and the brain trust.

Strictly it might be called a "New Deal" party organization, or a "Roosecratic" party organization. That the work of forming a well knit band of political followers is being pushed actively has been shown in political discussion in the houses of congress, discussions participated in by Democrats and Republicans alike.

Since Franklin D. Roosevelt assumed the presidency, the federal burocracy has increased in number from 563,487 on March 1, 1933, to 623,559 on April 1, 1934, an increase of 60,072 or 10.66 per cent.

Makeup of Organization.

Almost the entire increase could be accounted for by the number of pay rollers employed in the new agencies created under the New Deal. On April 1 this New Deal group of the burocracy had a membership of 59,360.

The figures making up this total are as follows:

CCC work—treasury department........	8
CCC work—war department	2,773
CCC work—interior department	4,782
CCC work—agricultural department ...	12,555
Agricultural A A................	4,403
CCC work—labor	1
Farm credit administration	7,263
Federal Home Loan bank board........	301
Federal Emergency Relief administrat'n	183
Civil Works administration............	391
Federal Surplus Relief corporation....	185
Coödinator of transportation	177
Tennessee valley authority............	7,196
Public Works administration	3,435
National Recovery administration	2,877
National labor board	133
Central statistical board	12
NRA review board	23
Home Owners Loan corporation........	12,527
CCC director's office	49
Federal alcohol control administration	86
Total..................................	59,360

When President Roosevelt took office, and acting upon an election pledge, he obtained the adoption of the economy act under which the operating expenses of the government might have been cut by 25 per cent.

Practically the only effective economies, however, were obtained at the cost of the disabled war veterans.

Mr. Roosevelt by executive order brought about some consolidations within the government structure, and some slashings of pay rolls were ordered, but in the long run the economies were largely dissipated by inclusion of identical items in the so-called "emergency" budget.

A study of the present set-up of the old line departments discloses that with minor exceptions the agencies functioning actively in the radical adventures of the New Deal have increased their stafs mightily, while those departments having little contact with the recovery program have been cut sharply.

For example, the state department has been cut from 4,664 to 4,325 in the last 13 months, the treasury department from 52,266 to 48,626, the justice department from 9,022 to 6,914, the postoffice department from 272,550 to 267,198, the commerce department from 17,971 to 14,641, the labor department from 5,569 to 4,564, and the veterans administration from 34,501 to 30,983.

Where the Money Goes.

On the other hand, the department of agriculture, where Brain Trusters Wallace and Tugwell hold forth, has increased its staf from 26,132 to 28,942.

This figure does include AAA or CCC workers in the department. The interior department, bailiwic of Brain Truster Ickes, has soared sensationally from a staf of 15,018 a year ago to 25,556 on April 1. This figure does not include PWA or CCC workers.

Mr. Ickes' publicity staf points out that the present interior department staf includes many employés taken over in the transfer of bureaus from other departments. The publicity staf sets out that 2,804 employés were taken over from the office of public buildings and public parks, 81 from the federal board for vocational education, 562 from the bureau of mines.

The remaining increase, the staf declares, is accounted for by the creation of the subsistence homesteads division, the soil erosion service, the oil code enforcement division, and various public works activities in the national park service, geological survey, bureau of reclamation, general land office, and Indian service.

Gold Fields for Henchmen.

These are all New Deal activities and might well be added to the total of 59,360 pay-rollers included in the new burocracy of the New Deal.

In the creation of every one of the new agencies of the New Deal—with the exception of the Farm Credit administration—President Roosevelt specifically provided that they should be exempted from civil service requirements. The Farm Credit administration is only partially under civil service, that part of it which was taken over from the old Hoover farm board remaining in that classification.

Officials at the civil service commission declare that they can see no valid reason why the new agencies should not be under a merit system as are older departments of the government.

The exemption has enabled the heads of the new agencies to select as they pleased and whom they pleased in filling their ranks.

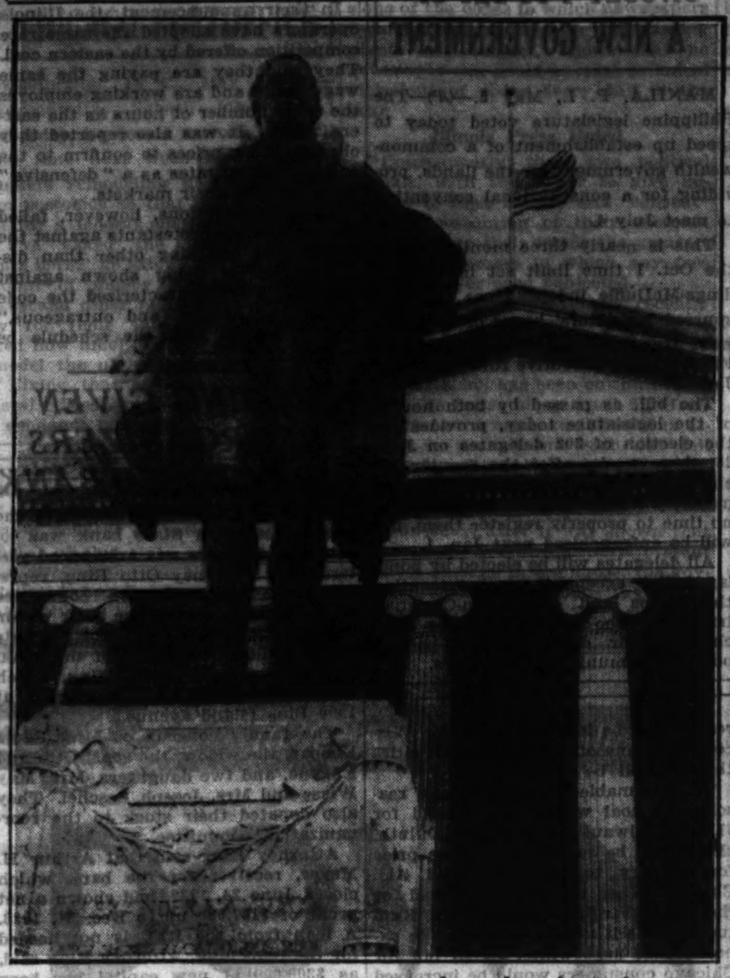
Bulwarks of Favoritism.

In one instance at least this has resulted in wholesale grafting. This was true in the organization of the Home Owners' Loan corporation under the leadership of William [Seaboard Bill] Stevenson, who is declared to have filled the organization with political henchmen. Stevenson's successor, John H. Fahey, is now struggling to clean up the corporation.

The affairs of the HOLC were aired in congress recently when Senator George Norris [Rad., Neb.] attempted to put in an amendment prohibiting the consideration of political affiliations in the hiring of employés for the corporation.

The amendment passed the senate, but when it reached the house 229 Democratic congressmen voted for the continuation of the spoils system and defeated the amendment. Representative Tom Blanton [Dem., Tex.] voiced the feelings of his colleagues when he said that "we Democrats are going to continue to make these appointments."

Mourning for Woodin at Treasury



At the United States treasury yesterday, where he took command last spring in a turbulent time, the flag flew at half staf signaling the death of William H. Woodin, retired secretary of the treasury. In the foreground stands the statue of Alexander Hamilton, the treasury's first secretary. Funeral services in New York were attended by the President and other high government officials. [Associated Press Photo.]

INHERITANCE TAX DEPOSIT BILL SIGNED

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—[U. P.]—Deposit of all inheritance tax collections in excess of $750 in the state treasury by the various county treasurers is provided in a bill signed by Gov. Henry Horner today.

The measure was introduced by Senator L. C. Sieberns [Dem., Gridley] and is intended to simplify existing statutes so that a county treasurer may retain an amount not to exceed $750 from which to pay his expenses in collecting inheritance taxes. It is effective immediately.

WOODIN FUNERAL HELD; PRESIDENT IS A MOURNER

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—The President of the United States stood today with bowed head beside the bier upon which rested the body of one of his closest friends, William H. Woodin, former secretary of the treasury.

Accompanied by members of his cabinet, leaders in congress, and high government officials, President Roosevelt made the trip here from Washington to pay his respects to the man who was, perhaps, his closest intimate until illness forced Secretary Woodin's retirement. That man had died, according to reports, whispering in his delirium about "The Governor," the term which he invariably used in addressing the President.

Crowds Line 5th Avenue.

Great crowds lined 5th avenue as the President's party rode from the Pennsylvania station to the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church where brief and simple rites were performed over the coffin which was lost to sight under great heaps of yellow roses and jonquils. In seeming deference to the occasion, there was little cheering as the President, with unsmiling face, passed by.

Immediately after the services, the President and his entourage entrained again for Washington.

Accompanying the President to the funeral were Mrs. Roosevelt, Vice President Garner, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Commerce Roper, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Attorney General Cummings, Speaker Rainey, Senator Joseph Robinson, majority leader in the senate, and Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

300 Policemen on Duty.

During the funeral services a special guard of 300 patrolmen surrounded the church. The Rev. Robert W. Anthony, acting pastor of the church, at which Mr. Woodin was a regular attendant, conducted the services. There were no honorary pallbearers.

Of Mr. Woodin's immediate family only Mrs. Woodin and two daughters, Mrs. Mary Miner and Mrs. Wallace W. Roe, were able to attend the funeral. Mrs. Roe arrived yesterday from her home in Cincinnati. Another daughter, Mrs. W. F. Harvey, was ill and unable to attend the services, and the son, William H. Woodin Jr., was unable to reach the city in time from his home in Tucson, Ariz.

The funeral party will leave New York tomorrow for Berwick, Pa., Mr. Woodin's boyhood home, where a burial service will be conducted in the First Presbyterian church.

President on Yacht Trip.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight left unexpectedly for a week-end trip down the Potomac on the commerce department yacht Sequoia.

Returning from the funeral of former Secretary of the Treasury William Woodin in New York the President arrived at the White House at 10 minutes past eight. He remained there only half an hour and left for the navy yard to board the Sequoia. There was no statement forthcoming from White House attaches as to when he might be expected back but it was expected he will return tomorrow afternoon or evening.

Skiff Sinks in Ohio River; 4 Die, 1 Swims to Safety

Moundsville, W. Va., May 5.—(AP)—Four persons drowned and another swam to safety today after a skiff in which they were crossing the Ohio river fell apart and sank. None of the bodies had been recovered tonight.

Brain Trust's Porto Rican Plans Met with Protests

Washington, D. C., May 5.—The administration's tentative plans for Porto Rico's future development, based in part on a report made recently by Rexford G. Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture, have brought a strong demurrer from conservative elements on the iland.

However, officials said today the program had stout support from a liberal group, but such was the furor that no decision as to a future course had been made.

The Roosevelt administration also is having its troubles in the Virgin Islands, a delegation recently protesting what some members termed "brain trust" experiments.

Undeterred, Secretary Ickes today announced the official personnel of the Virgin Islands company which, among other things, will supervise rum making in an effort to bring prosperity to the area that former President Hoover once called, in effect, a poorhouse.

Dates Back to Sugar Bill.

Much of the dissatisfaction in both Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands goes back to the sugar bill, now awaiting signature, and the limitations its application will impose on exports of the sweet to the United States.

Gov. Winship of Porto Rico expressed at the White House this week his objections to the measure, but an outline of the tentative rehabilitation steps proposed after the bill goes into effect apparently increased the displeasure of conservatives.

Tugwell was sent to Porto Rico several weeks ago. On his return he drafted a general report which suggested something should be done to diversify agriculture there and also that federal aid might be given to that end.

Get Unfavorable Comment.

Using the Tugwell study as a starting point other officials thought that some of the money from the proposed processing tax on sugar could be used to help the poorer farmers. They now report that some business groups, like Virgin Islands complainants, are referring unfavorably to "brain trust" ideas.

On the other hand, officials said that a professional group, including Carlos Chardon, chancellor of the University of Porto Rico; Ferdinand Garcia, professor at the institution, as well as Menendez Ramos, commissioner of agriculture, were favorable in the main to the farm administration's proposals.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt visited the ilands last March and she is following closely the attempts to better general conditions there.

An official said today the Porto Rican plan contained nothing startling and that the program was "evolutionary" or "revolutionary," dependent upon one's viewpoint.

HOOVER TO HELP REBUILD PARTY, HIS FRIENDS SAY

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Former President Herbert Hoover, as the titular head of the Republican party, intends to take an active part in the party's reorganization and in the selection of a chairman to succeed Everett Sanders, who will resign on June 5.

According to Mr. Hoover's senate friends, he will not be a presidential candidate in 1936, but feels that he should exert his influence to help rebuild the party.

His program is to aid in the selection of a chairman who will be sympathetic to the west and not too conservative. Mr. Hoover is represented as controling almost a majority of the national committee, with the aid of Charles D. Hilles of New York and J. Henry Rorabach of Connecticut, dominant among the eastern and so called old guard group.

TEXTILE LABOR CHIEFS APPEAL TO PRESIDENT ON 'OVERPRODUCTION'

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Declaring that the jobs of one million workers are threatened by overproduction, labor leaders in the textile industry today addressed an appeal to President Roosevelt for an immediate survey of employment conditions in New England, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and the southern states.

The request was made by the emergency committee of the United Textile Workers of America, headed by Thomas F. McMahon, and it complained that workers in the industry are being replaced in large numbers as employers seek to even the cost of manufacture by increasing the units of production far in excess of consumer demands.

BOY, 10, FISHING ON BRIDGE, IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Joseph Mazer, 10 years old, of Joliet, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a Rock Island railroad train while he was fishing from a bridge over Hickory creek two miles east of Joliet. A companion, Tony Leone, 12 years old, saved himself by leaping from the trestle to the bank of the creek 15 feet below. Instead of jumping from the bridge when he saw the train approaching, the Mazer boy stretched out on the ties at the edge of the span, apparently confident the cars would pass over him. Instead, some projection struck him on the head.

MOVIE LEADERS CLAIM A. T. AND T. RULES INDUSTRY

Send Protest Against Code Authority to Darrow.

Drastic changes in the control structure of the motion picture industry were predicted yesterday by Robert Robins, head of the American Society for the Protection of the Motion Picture Theater, during a meeting of the executive committee at the Stevens hotel.

The committee, representing nearly 1,000 independent producers, exhibitors and manufacturers of motion picture equipment, laid plans for combating an alleged monopoly of the industry by the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Appeal to Darrow.

In a communication addressed to Clarence Darrow of Chicago, chairman of the National Recovery review board which is making an investigation of codes of fair competition formulated under the NRA, the society challenges the fairness of the motion picture code authority. The assertion is made that the membership of the code authority is dominated by the A. T. & T. or its subsidiaries, which own many of the patents used in modern film production.

"With the coming of sound pictures the industry was revolutionized so that exhibitors either had to exploit talking films or go out of business," said the letter to Darrow. "The A. T. & T. got control of all the patents necessary to produce sound pictures and forced the major producers and exhibitors into signing certain agreements that put the telephone monopoly into absolute control of the entire motion picture business."

Investigation Asked.

An investigation of these and other charges against the telephone group has been asked in a resolution submitted in the United States senate by Senator C. C. Dill, chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

The same charges were urged recently at secret hearings before the Darrow board. Findings on the charges will be included in the Darrow report to be made public by President Roosevelt tomorrow, according to Robins.

Robins presented the committee with a stenographic report of his testimony before the Darrow committee. His statement declared that control by the telephone companay of sound motion pictures began with the control of patents by the Electrical Research Products, Inc., an A. T. & T. subsidiary. Stock sales to the telephone group, he charged, were required in exchange for patent rights.

"The NRA," said Mr. Robins, "legalizes industrial control by an oligarchy which seeks to exterminate the small business man."

RULES PRICE FIXING ILLEGAL UNDER OHIO LAW IN TEST CASE

Cincinnati, O., May 5.—(AP)—Holding that there is no "proper relation between price regulation and some just object of government," Common Pleas Judge Stanley Matthews today in effect threw out of court an action to enforce price fixing regulations of Ohio's dry cleaners' code.

Prosecutor Louis J. Schneider had sought action by the court to compel two Cincinnati dry cleaning firms to adhere to minimum price specifications set up by the state's dry cleaning code authority.

Sustaining a demurrer to Schneider's petition, Judge Matthews held that Ohio's legislation authorizing codes of fair competition is constitutional, but that price fixing provisions are "unenforceable."

The legislation, the court said, does not "either expressly or impliedly" grant any authority for fixing of minimum prices; that even if it did, such authority could be exercised only as "an appropriate means to a proper governmental end," and that the law sets no standard, "states no intelligible principle by which to determine a fair minimum of price."

The dry cleaning firms—the Gullat Cleaning and Laundry company and the Nu-Way Cleaners—were charged with charging 50 to 55 cents for cleaning, as against the state minimums of 70 to 75 cents. Their action, it was contended, tended to demoralize the dry cleaning industry here.

39 PCT. OF 1932 TAX COLLECTED; NASH IS PLEASED

Satisfaction was expressed yesterday by County Treasurer Thomas D. Nash over the speed with which the 1932 taxes are being paid. It was announced that $86,198,560 have been collected to date on the 1932 bills, which is 39.57 per cent of the assessment of $217,863,487 for the county.

"Considering all the confusion that has existed in the tax situation, this is a very good collection," said Richard J. Daly, secretary to the treasurer. "These collections are, of course, almost entirely confined to the first half of the bills, for the second instalment of the 1932 real estate bills is not due until July 1."

Only 64.93 per cent of the 1931 taxes have been collected, but this figure is expected to increase considerably within the next few months when the revised bills for the second instalment of that year's taxes are sent out. The new bills will contain the 15 per cent reduction on the taxes assessed against small homes and two and three flat buildings.

The county treasurer yesterday filed petitions for receiverships against 20 properties on which delinquent taxes of $37,279 have not been paid. Most of the properties on which the larger amounts are due are located on the northwest side of the city.

COUNCIL TO OPEN FIGHT ON NEW COAL PRICE CODE

Clark Drafts Plan to Get City Square Deal.

A protest by the city council against the discrimination shown in the new coal price code against consumers in Chicago was planned yesterday by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee. The alderman said he would introduce a resolution at the Wednesday session of the council demanding Chicago be given the same treatment on coal prices as other lake cities.

As Ald. Clark proposed his action, dispatches from Washington related that Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson has promised an investigation of the attempts to raise coal prices in the Chicago area. Gen. Johnson's promise was contained in a letter to Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], who had laid before him telegrams of protest from Mayor Kelly and Chicago industrial interests.

Gen. Johnson Asks Probe.

"I have noted carefully the statements made in these telegrams," Gen. Johnson's letter to Representative Britten read, "and am requesting an immediate investigation of charges made by your constituents. Upon receipt of the report I shall be pleased to communicate with you further."

The scale under protest sets a uniform price of $1.60 a ton for all coal destined for Chicago from the West Virginia and eastern Kentucky mines, abolishing a differential of 25 cents between the price of coal shipped by lake boats and the higher price charged for coal shipped by railroad. The rate applies only to the "middle lakes discount area," which includes Chicago, Gary, and the industrial towns in between. Other lake cities benefit from a price of $1.35 a ton.

Price Works Against City.

Then, Illinois coal operators announced they will place their coal rates for May, at least, at the same level as fixed for the lakes area by the NRA code authorities for West Virginia and eastern Kentucky coal fields. Coal from Illinois mines, as a result, will be less expensive for Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan cities than it will be for Chicago.

"I am unable to discover any reason why coal which can be sold for $1.35 to Milwaukee, Detroit, or Duluth, should not be sold for the same price for delivery to Chicago," said Ald. Clark. "When the price was fixed for the West Virginia and eastern Kentucky fields it meant, according to experts, that next winter's coal bill for Chicago consumers would be increased by $2,000,000.

Demands Fair Deal.

"The city government has been buying its coal almost exclusively from Illinois mines, and apparently was not affected by the Kentucky and West Virginia prices. Now that the Illinois operators have adopted the same rate, the city's corporate fund, the expenditures from which we have been striving strenuously to reduce, is likely to be affected. Not only should the council ask for a fair deal for Chicago consumers, but also for the city."

Inquiry at the National Retail coal code authority and at the NRA revealed, according to the Washington dispatches, the price order will not become effective until approved by Gen. Johnson or his agent. The ruling has not reached the recovery chief as yet because no liaison man between the Cincinnati code authority, which issued the first order, and the central administration has yet been appointed.

Must Meet Competition.

In their announcement, the Illinois operators have adopted the same rate competition offered by the eastern coal. They said they are paying the same wage scales and are working employes the same number of hours as the eastern mines. It was also reported they changed their prices to confirm to the eastern mines' rates as a "defensive" move to keep their markets.

These explanations, however, failed to convince the protestants against the prices that anything other than discrimination is being shown against Chicago. They characterized the code prices as "illogical and outrageous," and demanded that the schedule be amended.

FILIPINOS TO MEET ON JULY 4 TO SET UP A NEW GOVERNMENT

MANILA, P. I., May 5.—(AP)—The Philippine legislature voted today to speed up establishment of a commonwealth government for the ilands, providing for a constitutional convention to meet July 4.

This is nearly three months before the Oct. 1 time limit set in the Tydings-McDuffie independence act, and spurred legislators' hopes of having a new transition government with a Filipino chief executive functioning by Jan. 1.

The bill, as passed by both houses of the legislature today, provides for the election of 202 delegates on June 26, three weeks after the regular triennial elections. Women will not vote, majority leaders explaining there was no time to properly register them, but will be enfranchised next Jan. 1.

All delegates will be elected by popular ballot except those representing the Moros and other non-Christian tribesmen who do not have the franchise. Their delegates will be appointed by municipal councilors.

BUILDING GIVEN REORGANIZERS OF CLOSED BANK

A gift of the building in which the Kaspar-American State bank was located for 50 years was announced yesterday by Attorney Otto Ring, representing a reorganization committee which plans to reopen the bank within two months. The family of the late William Kaspar, founder of the bank, made the gift of the building, which is valued at $40,000 and located at 1900 Blue Island avenue.

The family consists of Mrs. Paula Kaspar, the widow; the sons, Otto and Eugene, and two daughters, Mrs. May Wiese and Mrs. Joseph Peschel. They also donated their stock to the reorganization committee.

Attorney Ring said that Arthur H. Meyer, receiver for the bank which closed June 24, 1932, had shown a net profit of $147,000 up to Dec. 31, 1933. A loan from the RFC is not needed for the reopening, Attorney Ring said, as $300,000 of new capital has been subscribed, and the depositors have waived 54 per cent of their original claims. The bank had capital of $1,600,000, surplus of $400,000, and undivided profits of $1,250,000 at the time of its closing.

WARNS ILLINOIS PRESS OF PERIL IN STATE NRA BILL

Freedom Endangered, Declares Wantz.

One section of the state NRA bill, now pending before the legislature at Springfield, constitutes a genuine threat to freedom of the press in Illinois, Ray Wantz of Rockford, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, declared yesterday.

Mr. Wantz pointed to an amendment adopted at the instance of Gov. Horner which was designed to remove some of the major objections to the bill. How it has boomeranged was emphasized by the Wantz statement.

"This amendment," it read, "provides that no prosecution under the NRA shall be instituted unless the written consent of both the attorney general of this state and the compliance director for the NRA in Illinois, appointed by the President of the United States, has first been obtained.

Thus there would be placed in the hands of Attorney General Otto Kerner and John E. Cassidy of Peoria, state compliance director, the power to favor any one they might choose with immunity from prosecution.

"Any one familiar with the provisions of the codes to which newspapers—particularly those with job printing plants—are subject, knows that no newspaper can avoid at least technical violations of codes every day in the year.

Illinois Press Ruled.

"Consequently these two political officials, with the power to give immunity to their friends and 'consent' to the prosecution of their enemies, would hold in their hands the greatest power of coercion to which any free press has ever been subjected.

"Illinois newspapers have recently fought at Washington for freedom of the press. Will not their victory be snatched away if this bill passes?"

The NRA bill has been on third reading in the house since April 27. Last week the governor made strenuous attempts to pass it but each day fell four or five votes short of the 77 necessary.

Launched in Senate.

Wednesday, after it was shown that not enough Democrats were present to effect passage in the house, the governor decided to introduce the bill in the senate so that if he eventually failed in the lower chamber he could reopen the fight across the hall and perhaps bring the bill back as a senate measure.

But this strategy had to be abandoned because only twenty senators were present and Republicans raised the point of no quorum. The bill could not then be introduced. It was considered likely that the senate attempt will be renewed Tuesday.

Gov. Horner received the bill from the Washington brain trust and is doing his best to pass it for them. Several members of his party in the house have expressed private opinions indicating they would rather have not had the "hot potato" dumped in their hands but many of them have been whipped into line by administration leaders.

Governor Beaten Twice.

Twice has the unusual spectacle been presented of a governor being forced to abandon attempts to pass a bill over two week-ends. It was introduced April 18 and such a storm of opposition arose from merchants, shopkeepers and manufacturers—as well as the Republican minority—that Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, the governor's floor leader, could not follow his original plan of passing the bill the following week. The governor had hoped that it would make speedy progress.

Finally, after much pressure had been exerted, the bill was sent to third reading on April 27. It remained there all of last week and will be taken up again Tuesday if the governor has been able to bring enough favorable votes to Springfield.

BILL WILL PROVIDE REMODELING OF OLD CHICAGO POSTOFFICE

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—Representative Sabath [Dem., Ill.] said today he would introduce a bill some time next week asking for a complete remodeling of the old Chicago postoffice so that it may be utilized for a federal office building.

"I've asked the federal departments here," he said, "to estimate the amount of money spent in renting offices and other buildings around the city for their suboffices. I've also asked how much would be required to remodel the old building.

"Fixing that structure so that all federal offices can be moved into it is an economy measure."

Bandits Get $1,500 in Wabash Avenue Holdup

Five bandits, two of them armed with sawed-off shotguns, yesterday held up the office of the Congress Safe Deposit company, a currency exchange at 506 South Wabash avenue, and escaped with $1,500. The robbers missed an additional $1,500. The bandits forced four women employés and ten customers to stand against the wall while they seized the cash drawer containing the money. They escaped in an automobile.

GERMAN-ITALIAN SECRET PACT TO RULE AIR BARED

Plan Joint Fleet of Giant Sea Planes.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—Great Britain's rule of the air over the waves is now threatened, according to heated discussions going on in high circles here. This latest scare is due to secret and warlike clauses in the Italo-German agreement for extensive aerial mail and passenger lines across the north and south Atlantic oceans.

The scare, the prospective failure of the disarmament conference, the demands of Germany for an air force and France's plan to greatly augment its air force, have made Britain acutely conscious of its position. The Royal Air Force recently announced plans for additional squadrons, and launched a campaign for a far greater increase, all of which caused airplane stocks on the market to double and triple in value.

Plan Super Flying Boats.

A reliable informant declares that the air pact signed by the German and Italian air ministers in Rome last summer is in reality aimed to assure Italo-German air supremacy in the north and south Atlantic in case of war.

The main agreement stipulates that each country is to build a fleet of five super flying boats for commercial operation, but convertible to war use. If they are successful in operation, the fleet of ten will be increased.

The whole position in the Atlantic is reviewed in detail, naming the Azores and Cape Verde ilands [Portuguese possessions] as most suitable bases of operation. If in war the Italian bases on ilands in the Mediterranean are bottled up at Gibraltar, the Atlantic iland bases are to be seized. They could be used for military operations all over Europe.

Traces Growth of Pact.

THE TRIBUNE's informant traced the growth of the agreement. In the spring of 1933 Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Germany's air minister, and Gen. Italo Balbo, then Italy's air chief, met "by coincidence" in Rome and over a meal and wine discussed the peaceful intentions of their respective countries. Goering needed Italy's help to get an air force. Balbo did not have too brotherly feeling for France, a competitor for the South American service.

They were able to find the basis of an agreement, with Italy supporting Germany's claim to rearmament and an air force and Germany promising the air force in support of Italy should war break out between France and Italy.

Further, the two countries would coöperate in the air control of the Atlantic, Italy in the south and Germany in the north, although Germany was already well along with setting up regular schedules on the south Atlantic.

Plans for Ocean Air Routes.

In peace time the flying boat fleet is to be operated with one line from Hamburg to the Azores and New York and the other from Genoa to the Azores, the Cape Verde ilands and Brazil. The Azores will be a transfer point for trafic in four directions. The Hamburg-New York trip is forecast as a 12 hour journey. It is hoped to get the lines in service by autumn of 1935.

The fleet unit will be a flying boat with steel hull, wing spread of 335 feet, cruising speed of 165 miles per hour and a top speed of 200 miles per hour. It will have sleeping and dining accommodations for 200 passengers, a crew of 16 and space for five to eight tons of mail and freight. It will have a lifting capacity of 135 tons, altitude of 20,000 feet and cruising range of 4,000 miles. Each unit will cost upward of $1,450,000. The Italo-German agreement estimates $17,500,000 as the cost of the fleet of ten.

In war time these boats are to be converted to military aircraft, fitted with eight 2.5 inch guns, six machine guns, and ten tons of bombs, ammunition and poison gas.

Could Carry Army of 2,000.

With a crew of 22, they would then have a range of 3,000 miles. Used for transport duty, the ten flying boats could carry and land an army of 2,000 men fully equipped a distance of 3,000 miles. For short ferry transport, as from Italy or Germany to London or Paris, they could repeat their trips and land a much larger army in a short time or do enormous bombing damage.

For success of these planes the agreement banks heavily on the German development of an oil fired, steam turbine engine. It is now possible to reduce the engine weight to 4 pounds per horsepower, which is about 1.7 pounds above the gasoline engine radio. The heavier weight of the steam turbine type will be compensated by saving in fuel space and weight over the gasoline type.

Each flying boat will be fitted with eight steam turbine engines, each capable of 3,000 horsepower. This power is to drive six tractor propellers and two pushers, the pushers to be used only in taking off from the water.

Collaborate on Flying Boats.

In addition, the boats will have water propellers to break the surface tension of the water. One 10,000 ton oil tanker at the Azores base could supply sufficient fuel to keep the fleet of 10 flying boats busy for more than four months.

Germany and Italy have been collaborating since 1927 on flying boats of the DO-X type, Italian experts being welcomed at Altenrhein and German experts at Marina di Pisa. The Italians bought two of the Dornier DO-X flying boats, but turned to seeking improvements after the first DO-X fared so poorly on its round trip of the Atlantic, which took from November, 1930, to June, 1932.

The DO-X was a monster of 160 foot wing spread and 100 foot length. Its huge hull was designed to carry 100 passengers. Twelve 500 horsepower gasoline engines were fitted fore and aft of its wing. The largest present day British military plane has only 120 foot wing spread and lifting weight of 32 tons.

Britain Lags Behind.

Britain has pushed its commercial lines in the direction of South Africa, Arabia, India, Singapore, and Australia, but has lagged behind Italy, Germany, and France on the Atlantic.

Britain's Imperial Airways company has been patiently and cautiously coöperating with Pan-American Airways in laying the ground for north Atlantic passenger and mail service. Imperial and Canadian Airways are in agreement on a ship and air mail service from England, across Canada, and by ship to the orient. Pan-American has a well established North and South American air service and also has begun service in China.

Italy, Germany and France, however, have jumped into the lead in trans-Atlantic service. Italy sponsored the great mass flights of Gen. Italo Balbo to Brazil three years ago and to the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition last year. Germany's Graf Zeppelin has developed its Germany to Brazil service almost to a routine, and a much larger airship is almost ready to be put in service.

Early this year the Air France, which operates the French service, and Lufthansa, the Germany company, drew up an agreement to pool their Europe to South America business, with the French getting 60 per cent of the receipts for four years. But the French government's desire for air supremacy caused Air Minister Victor Denain to forbid the agreement.

MUSSOLINI DECREES $40,992,000 INCREASE IN NAVY EXPENDITURES

ROME, May 5.—[U.P.]—Premier Mussolini's government tonight increased the Italian naval budget by $40,992,000 due to "urgent and absolute necessity."

The decree, published in the official gazette, recalled the recent speech of King Victor Emmanuel in which he told parliament that "the maximum guarantee of peace lies in the efficiency of our armed forces. Therefore, my government will see that such efficiency is increased and perfected."

Coincident with the present collapse of the disarmament conference and increase in naval budgets in various countries, the Italian decree allotted five budgets beginning in 1935 and ending in 1940. The first year will see naval construction appropriations increased by 50,000,000 lira, the next by 150,000,000 lira, the next by 120,000,000 lira, the fourth by 100,000,000 lira, and the last by 60,000,000 lira. The decree is effective immediately and a bill covering it will be submitted to parliament later.

STUDY HOW U. S., CANADA ABIDE IN UNBROKEN PEACE

Carnegie Research Covers 150 Years.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—An attack on the problem of international peace through a broad study of 150 years of peaceful relations between the United States and Canada was announced today by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Dr. James T. Shotwell, director of the endowment's division of economics and history, revealed details of a vast plan for surveying economic, social and political contacts between the neighbor nations from fur trading days.

While the project has been under way for two years, it had not been previously made public. The survey involves two more years' intensive research with large stafs working in both the United States and Canada.

At the same time Dr. Shotwell said his division has completed its 150 volume history of the world war, except for two volumes to be published in the fall. Writing of the history was started in 1917.

Committees of Eminent Men.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the endowment, will head a central international committee to plan the character and scope of the peace survey.

American members of the committee include Newton D. Baker, John W. Davis, Alanson B. Houghton, Frank B. Kellogg, Frank O. Lowden, Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, Dr. James Brown Scott and Owen D. Young.

Sir Robert Borden, Arthur Meighen, Senator Rudolphe Lemieux, Sir Robert A. Falconer, Dr. C. W. Colby, Newton W. Rowell, Vincent Massey, Edward W. Beatty, Thomas A. Russell, Dr. John W. Dafoe and Dr. R. C. Wallace are the Canadian members.

Technical committees for each of the major problems will conduct the actual survey. Distinguished economists, engineers, historians and other professional men on each side of the border will participate.

Includes All Activities.

Ten to fifteen volumes dealing with subjects of outstanding interest are expected to be published within the next two years.

Major topics of the survey are history, economics, sociology, political science, education, international law, and international relations, while more than 200 individual subjects have been assigned within these categories.

"It would be not only unscientific but shortsighted to confine a study of the processes of peace to the prevention of war," Dr. Shotwell said in announcing the survey. "The relations of the United States and Canada are as significant as those of the Balkan states, or nations which are immature and lack the traditions of responsible government.

"It is clear the social and political sciences must learn how to keep pace with the physical sciences, or otherwise the very progress of invention and discovery will create an ever-increasing maladjustment in human relationships. It is more than the capitalist system which is being tested in the crisis of today.

"It is a question whether or not we are capable of applying accurate knowledge and clear thinking to the relations between groups of nations, as well as the relationships within them."

LONDON HOTELS BAR NOTED U. S. NEGRO SINGERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—Because of the color ban put up by London hotels, the four Mills brothers, popular American singers, wandered about in the west end of London until 2 o'clock this morning. They were refused admission by more than 15 hotels. There are 13 persons in the Mills party, five of them women, including Mrs. Mills, mother of the singers.

"We went everywhere to find accommodation," Mrs. Mills said. "We tried more than 15 hotels and eventually were allowed to sleep in this railway hotel on the condition that we would leave today. I believe our problem has been solved by our agent, who has secured a large apartment for the duration of our stay in London. I cannot understand our being barred, because colored members of a famous band were permitted to stay at some of the hotels to which we applied for accommodation."

DIES OF GAS IN GARAGE.

Oscar Anderson, 46 years old, chief piler for the Western Electric company, was found dead of carbon monoxide gas asphyxiation on the floor of a garage at the rear of his home at 3209 Scoville avenue, Berwyn, yesterday, by his wife, Anna. He had apparently been overcome while working on the motor of his car.

BRITON SEES CONTROL OF POLITICS PASSING FROM MEN TO WOMEN

BIRMINGHAM, England, May 5.—(AP)—That control of politics is passing from men to women was suggested by Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, addressing a conservative gathering.

"Today there is a lessening of activity on the male side of our organizations which is more than compensated by the activity of women's organizations," he said.

"I do not know what men do with their time—maybe they stay at home to nurse the baby and prepare supper."

France Fires "Dress Suit" Envoys; Saves $250,000

PARIS, May 5.—The French cabinet saved $250,000 on gold lace and fancy titles today by decrees reorganizing the ancient system of prefects. Scores of officials who have been the government's "dress suit representatives" in the provinces were dismissed and their jobs assigned to others in hitherto sinecure positions.

CAROL HONORS SIX OFFICERS FOR AID IN DEATH PLOT

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 5.—(AP)—King Carol today conferred high decorations upon six army officers most active in uncovering a purported Easter bomb plot against his life.

An opposite picture a few hours earlier was the degrading of Col. Victor Prekup and seven other officers convicted of participation in the plot and sentenced to prison.

Before officers and troops they were stripped of their insignia and their swords were broken. A band played a funeral march. In the midst of the ceremony Prekup, who aided Carol's return to the throne, shouted:

"This whole thing is a despicable frameup."

Italy Claims Marquise Broke Altitude Record

GENOA, Italy, May 5.—(AP)—The aviation ministry announced today that the Marquise Carina Negrone di Cambiaso had broken the women's seaplane altitude record by reaching 17,712 feet in a Breda plane powered by a 100 horsepower Isotta Fraschini motor. The previous record, the ministry reported, was held by Miss Marion Eddy Conrad, who flew to 13,457 feet at Port Washington, New York.

HULL WARNS WAR SPIRIT IS AFLAME IN MANY NATIONS

Calls on Americans to Lead Way to Peace.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in an address at a dinner tonight of the Cumberland University Alumni association, invoked the spirit of hardihood and determination of the American people to offset the imminent danger of war and the potential breakdown of civilization.

Secertary Hull, a Cumberland alumnus, pointed to the "feverish arming" of the nations which he said may lead to war despite the spirit of self-defense in which it is conceived, and to the fact that dictatorship is supplanting democracy everywhere, with a narrowing of national visions.

The secretary painted an ugly picture of conditions in general in the world as he called upon the nations to work for peace, educational institutions to meet an emergency, and America to lead the way.

Many Volcanic Conditions.

"Today numerous nations are feverishly arming," the secretary said. "They are taxing all of their citizens beyond the limit of their ability to pay, and in many ways developing a military spirit which, regardless of present motives of self-defense, probably may lead to war, unless past human experience is to be reversed. Every Christian nation owes it to itself and to humanity to preach and promote understanding, friendship, and peace.

"While there are no signs of immediate war, it is true that seriously volcanic conditions exist in many parts of the world.

"The late war was supposed to have been waged to make the world safe for democracy. It is paradoxical to observe that since the war political systems on which popular government has rested have been toppling in every part of the world, while dictatorships have sprung up overnight in their stead. Nations everywhere are steadily narrowing their visions, their policies, and their programs.

Demands Spirit of Hardihood.

"The entire political, economic, social, and moral affairs of most parts of the world are unquestionably in a more or less chaotic condition. Most standards of conduct, both individual and international, have been seriously neglected and impaired.

"In my judgment, this nation will continue as in recent months," Secretary Hull said, "to offer wise, sound, and efficient leadership with suitable programs for political, economic, social, and moral rehabilitation.

"We must revive some of the spirit of hardihood and determination which sustained those who came to this continent, conquered the wilderness, and erected our marvelous free institutions. It becomes all important to this end, that the nation restore its humanitarian, moral, and spiritual values."

Calls on Students to Aid.

Pointing out that there are today 1,460 universities and colleges with a total attendance of 1,154,583 students in the United States, Secretary Hull called upon them to "Step out in front and pave the way."

"The task must be approached with vision, energy, and resolution," he said, "and in many respects with a pioneering and self-sacrificing spirit." He paid special tribute to Cumberland university which, he said, had carried on this tradition and developed many outstanding national leaders.

President Ernest L. Stockton, president of the university, replied to Mr. Hull, pointing out that in the past Cumberland has produced outstanding figures in the fields of law, ministry, and education, and adding that it will now institute a school of applied chemistry. Dr. H. E. Howe, editor of "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," also spoke, as did Dr. Herman L. Turner, a trustee of the university.

IT SEEMS THIS JUDGE DOESN'T LIKE GIGOLOS

Judge Thomas A. Green in the Fillmore street court yesterday denounced George Jones, 33 years old, as a "gigolo, for whom we have no part in the scheme of American civilization." Jones was fined $200 on a charge of disorderly conduct after testimony that he had been paying attentions to Mrs. George E. Bellock, 5640 West Lake street, while her husband is out of town.

Jones, who is tall and slender and sports a neatly trimmed dark mustache, admitted his attentions to Mrs. Bellock. "I think a lot of Mrs. Bellock," he told the court, "and I feel she needs my sympathy."

Bellock, a contractor, told Judge Green that he had warned Jones away from his home and had "beaten him up once or twice for emphasis." Mrs. Bellock was not in court. Jones, an engraver, lives at 817 West Washington boulevard.

America's Fastest Growing Low Price Cars!

That's the success that has come to the two Hudson-built cars—the Terraplane 6 and the Hudson 8! And it has come in the only way any such broad wave of success can come—from what one owner has told his friend.

This advertisement is written as a gracious acknowledgment of that spoken word.

For when a friend of yours who has owned many makes of cars goes out of his way to tell you from his actual experience about the performance, the ruggedness, or the economy of his new car, you listen. You believe him. Then perhaps you ask other owners of these Hudson-built cars what their experience has been. You hear the same story. Perhaps you recall some remark another owner has made.

"That's true," they say.

On this confidence, bred of what has passed between an owner and his friends, the sweeping success of these two cars has been built.

Country-wide Sales Prove It!

For month after month—ever since the first of these Hudson-built cars reached the hands of the public, sales have steadily grown. Now the most recent available R. L. Polk & Co. figures show that Terraplane, in current rate of sales gain, is increasing more rapidly than any of the other prominent cars in its price class. And Hudson sales are increasing faster by far than any other low price straight eight.

Ride and Drive Them Today!

Knowing of this sensational success, you'll want to see these two amazing cars yourself—and discover with the wheel in your own hands the thrilling performance they offer, the comfort and luxury they provide, at prices so far below what you might expect to pay.

The Terraplane 6 and the Hudson 8 are waiting for you on display—ready to drive—at dealers listed below.

IMPORTERS WIN STATE RULING ON LIQUOR STAMPS

Customers Can Affix Tax After Transit.

In order to avoid breaking open original cases and arousing suspicions that imported liquors have been tampered with or adulterated, an importing distributor may purchase the required state revenue stamps and ship them with the liquor to be affixed by the customer.

This ruling was included in the booklet of joint regulations issued yesterday by the Illinois liquor control commission and the department of finance.

Protested Opening Cases.

The ruling follows protests of importers against the former regulation which forced them to open all case goods and put the state stamp on each bottle.

In ordinary cases this meant that not only the cases but the wrappers on the bottles must be broken open. Dealers protested that this was a heavy, needless expense, and that it encouraged bootlegging.

The regulation also provides importers may purchase revenue stamps and send them to the manufacturer for attachment to the bottles before packing. Cases need not be broken open if sold directly to a consumer. In this instance sufficient stamps may be placed on the outside.

Liquor Donations Forbidden.

Another new regulation is one forbidding donations of liquor to any person. This is construed to eliminate even the treat of "one on the house."

The board ruled that drug stores may not sell liquor, even on a physician's prescription, unless they are so licensed by the state. This does not, however, restrain a druggist from using alcohol or liquor in compounding prescriptions.

OPERA COMPANY RECEIPTS SEIZED; SHOW IS HALTED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5.—[Special.]—More than 100 policemen were required tonight to pacify a "Chicago Opera company" audience at the Metropolitan Opera house when the box office receipts were attached and the performance was called off.

A sheriff's deputy arrived with a writ at 8:30 when the house was fairly well filled. He took possession of the box office, confiscated $256.22 and sat down to wait for more customers. The writ had been obtained by David Robbins, publicity man, because of alleged arrearages in his salary.

When a spokesman walked on the stage and announced there would be no show and advised the 1,500 patrons to "try to get your money back" there was a rush for the box office. The deputy explained the funds were in the court's custody and could not be surrendered. One irate man pounded so hard he cracked the box office window.

Albert H. Green and Morris Goldman, the managers, told the police that Alfredo C. C. Salmoggi, the director, had left before the arrival of the deputy. According to members of the cast, nobody had received any pay this week.

Historical Society Plans Showing of Alamo Film

A five reel motion picture entitled "Martyrs of Alamo," a historical production depicting the early days of the Texas settlers and showing the conflict in 1836 between a small company of Texans and Americans who defended the fort at Alamo against attacking Mexicans, will be shown at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the auditorium of the Chicago Historical society. The society announced that beginning today the museum will be open on Sundays from 1 to 6 o'clock and on week days from 9:30 to 5 o'clock. The building is at North avenue and Clark street in Lincoln Park.

PREDICTS U. S. WILL HELP PAY TEACHERS HERE

A delegation representing Chicago teacher organizations yesterday heard James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, predict that congress would soon act to provide federal funds for the settlement of the board's $29,000,000 salary obligations.

John Fewkes, chairman of the teachers' volunteer emergency committee and head of the delegation, assured the board president that the teachers are coöperating in the effort to obtain a government loan and that they approve the activities of the board in that direction.

Richard S. Folsom, attorney for the board, was preparing to go to Washington again early this week to confer with congressmen on pending legislation based on Mayor Kelly's plan for a government loan against revenue-producing school properties. The school legal staf already has started preparation to qualify for such a loan if the necessary legislation passes.

Senator Mason Blames Horner for Schools' Plight

Morris, Ill., May 5.—(AP)—State Senator N. M. Mason of Oglesby, Ill., blamed Gov. Horner and the state legislature for the schools' financial difficulties and said the schools were operating under "ox cart laws in an aviation age." Charging in his address last night at a regional meeting of the state school board association that an antiquated tax system saddled real estate with the burden of taxes, he said owners of untaxed intangibles controled the legislature and prevented it from changing the laws to relieve the landowner.

NAPOLEON DEAD 113 YEARS; HOME ON ISLE RESTORED

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 5.—Ceremonies at Paris and St. Helena today celebrated both the 113th anniversary of Napoleon's death and the inauguration of the museum in the home where the emperor died in exile. His house on the iland has been completely restored after being utterly neglected all this time except by souvenir hunters who stripped it bare.

When French officials saw it three years ago they found the only ornament in the room in which Napoleon died was a newspaper clipping of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his plane, which was pinned to wall. In Napoleon's study, two daughters of the British guardian were selling souvenir postcards.

A society called the Friends of St. Helena was formed and the government immediately set aside credits to restore the place with the coöperation of the British authorities. Napoleon's camp bed on which he slept on the battlefields of Marengo and Austerlitz has been returned along with his favorite portrait busts of Josephine and L'Aiglon. The gardens have been replanted with the emperor's favorite blue flowers. His tomb, which had been neglected since Louis Philippe sent for his body, is now being repaired.

CONDUCT SEARCH FOR METEORITES IN ILLINOIS AREA

Bloomington, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—The Midwest Meteor association, with headquarters at Iowa City, Ia., is searching to locate meteorites of the brilliant meteor that fell somewhere near Mason City, Ill., at about 12:15 a. m. on Monday, April 2. The association had reports of this meteor from Des Moines, Iowa City, and Keokuk in Iowa, and Bloomington, Joliet, Morrison, and Mason City in Illinois. Frank Preucil of Joliet and Harry L. Agnew of Mason City have been making investigations in towns in central Illinois.

The fact that detonations were heard in this vicinity makes it appear possible that the meteorites reached the earth. Farmers are looking for the meteorites and have been instructed to look for small stones about the size and shape of a cookie.

Meteorites previously discovered in the United States have been small light colored stones burned black on the outside. It is believed that the meteor seen in central Illinois exploded at a height of 17 miles, breaking into many little pieces. Meteorites discovered near Tilden, Ill., were small particles of stone which fell July 13, 1927.

LIQUOR PRICES CUT IN PENNSYLVANIA TO HIT AT BOOTLEGGER

Harrisburg, Pa., May 5.—(AP)—Striking at the bootlegger, the liquor control board today announced state stores will sell 12 ounce bottles of blended whisky for 55 cents, beginning Monday.

A new price list, including American types of Scotch whisky at $2 and $1.75 a fifth gallon, goes into effect on that day. The liquor is a blend of 20 per cent imported Scotch and American distillates.

Price reductions on about a dozen brands of blended whiskies—which have been in force since April 13 to reduce warehouse stocks—are withdrawn after today.

Prices are being reduced an average of 20 cents a bottle on 160 items and increased an average of 15 cents on 18 brands.

$25,000 STOLEN, WIDOW KILLS SELF IN HOME

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5.—(AP)—Police and federal authorities started an investigation today of the suicide of Mrs. Ramona P. Brown at her home near San Bernardino yesterday supposedly in a fit of despondency over theft of $25,000 in valuables several months ago.

Police said five persons, including Mrs. Brown's former husband, James Gormley, now of Beverly Hills, were questioned April 15 by New Orleans authorities, but in the absence of any warant, were released.

Newspaper clippings on the case were found pinned to farewell notes left by Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Brown was the widow of Herman Lynn Brown, who was killed in an airplane accident near San Francisco two years ago. Gormley divorced her in Salt Lake City in 1920 to marry Helen Kelley, wealthy niece of John Powers, former owner of the Los Angeles baseball club, for whom Gormley was chauffeur. The Browns married in 1924.

Authorities said today two men came to Mrs. Brown's Los Angeles home last winter posing as federal officers and induced her to remove securities and jewelry from the bank safe deposit box to her home to be examined "in connection with income taxes." While she was talking to one of the men, the other disappeared with the valuables, officers said. They expressed belief she had given up hope of recovering the property and decided to kill herself.

PARENTS OBJECT TO NEW DEAL'S SCHOOL PRIMER

Rockford, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Parents of several Rockford high school students have protested to Principal James E. Blue about the use of a pamphlet "Primer of the New Deal" as a supplementary text in social science classes. Mr. Blue said tonight that the protests were based on a claim that the pamphlet is "propaganda" for the New Deal.

The author of the work is Prof. Ervin Eugene Lewis of Ohio State university, former superintendent of schools in Rockford. According to Mr. Blue, copies of it were sent to some of Prof. Lewis' friends on the teaching force and they have been using it as they use current magazines and news clippings.

There has been no specific order that it be used as a textbook. Fred H. Smith, member of the school board, said he had not heard of the pamphlet, but would investigate its nature to see if it was in any way objectionable.

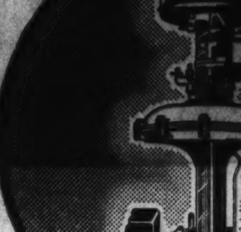
NEW CUSTOM EIGHT HAS SUPERCHARGER

Graham's centrifugal Supercharger mixes fuel and air and forces the mixture into the cylinders under high pressure. Result: 42% increase in power (now 135 h.p.) without sacrificing economy. Quicker pick-up, especially at higher speeds. Easier starting, quicker warming up, better performance through whole driving range.



ALL GRAHAMS HAVE ALUMINUM CYLINDER HEAD

The aluminum cylinder head was perfected by Graham. It permits very high compression with ordinary fuels—gives increased power with reduced fuel consumption. Graham has the highest compression ratio of any stock car using ordinary fuels!

Extra speed for extra safety in a GRAHAM

GOOD drivers know there are times when the safest move is to flash past trouble or cut around it—when a quick burst of speed is as definitely a safety factor as dependable brakes. The fact that Graham's Supercharged Custom Eight has unusual top speed is relatively unimportant. The fact that it sets a new standard for acceleration—with even more pick-up at 50 than at 20—is important! The performance of this car is probably beyond your experience, because it is the first medium-price car to use the centrifugal Supercharger. All the Graham cars—Custom Eight, Special Eight, Standard Six—show original thinking in design. Widely spaced Outboard Springs front and rear, Banjo Frame, Aluminum Cylinder Head, Full-length Water-jackets—these features and many others give the Graham a feel of its own. Compare—and then choose.

CHICAGO IS BUYING

Graham sales in Chicago are the biggest in years—proving that Chicago knows an outstanding value when it sees one. Your neighborhood dealer is ready to prove that Graham gives more for your money. Bigger wheelbases—116-inch Six; 123-inch Eights. Three-passenger front seats. Clear-vision ventilation. Luxurious interiors.

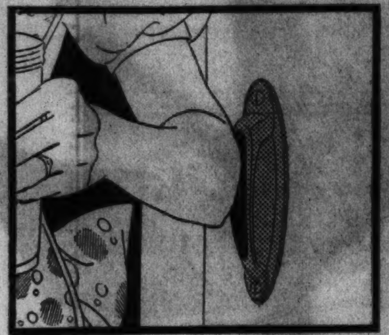
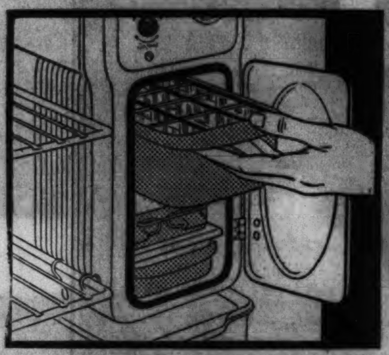
NORGE
ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION

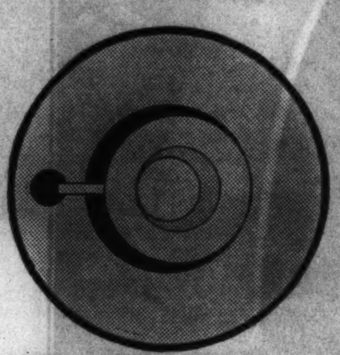
Beautiful to see!



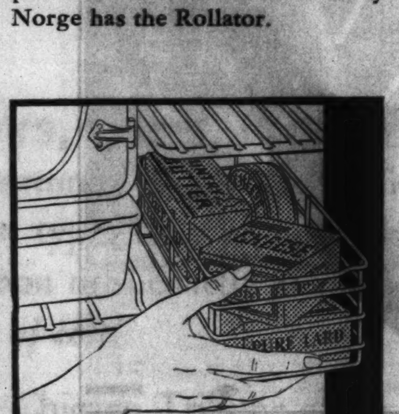
PRESS ACTION LAZILATCH
Opens at a light touch of finger or elbow. Closes easily and firmly. Positive and sure in action. Standard in leading models.



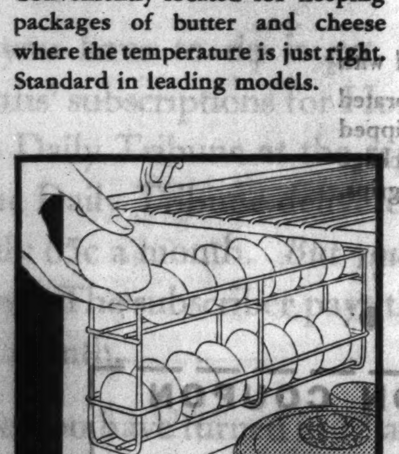
EASY SLIDING ICE TRAYS
The trays of frozen ice cubes slide out easily. This feature is made possible by the special skeletonized shelf construction.



THE ROLLATOR
Smooth, easy rolling power instead of the hurried back-and-forth action of the ordinary refrigerator mechanism. Result—more cooling power for the current used. Only Norge has the Rollator.



BUTTER AND CHEESE RACK
Conveniently located for keeping packages of butter and cheese where the temperature is just right. Standard in leading models.



EGG BASKET

YET THE PART YOU NEVER SEE IS THE BEST PART OF THE NORGE

Certainly Norge is the beautiful refrigerator. It is the refrigerator with extra convenience to simplify your work. But the best thing about Norge is that its beauty and convenience reflect the superlative quality of the part you never need to see—the famous Rollator cold-making mechanism.

ONLY NORGE HAS ROLLATOR REFRIGERATION

Here's the simplest cold-making mechanism known. Its three slowly moving parts use very little current, yet they give you more cold than you would ever need, even on the hottest days. That surplus cold means security—the certainty of properly chilled foods and plenty of ice under any conditions. And by actual test (a Rollator which has, on a factory test, run the equivalent of 29 years in your home) the Rollator actually improves with use. Is it any wonder that the Norge is economical—so economical that users report savings up to $11 a month?

SEE THE NORGE...THEN JUDGE

Compare Norge on every point—beauty—conveniences—capacity—everything you can see. And remember that the part you never see—the most important part—the Rollator cold-making mechanism—is the best part of the Norge. Certainly don't buy any refrigerator till you've seen the Norge.

ANOTHER "CRISIS" IN CHINA.

Whether the remarkable statement of the Japanese foreign office published at Tokio April 17 is merely a diplomatic trial balloon or the prelude to another definite advance in its ambitious program of expansion will be disclosed no doubt before long. Meanwhile it is interesting to note that a few weeks before the Tokio pronouncement THE TRIBUNE correspondent in China, Mr. Powell, reported in his journal, the China Weekly Review, that the Nanking government had summoned to the capital several high officials to confer on recent developments in North China, which seemed to portend a new crisis in Sino-Japanese relations and perhaps a new diplomatic or even military advance. Among the signs noted was a warning from the Japanese military attaché that, although Japan has been "patiently lenient" toward the nonobservance by the Chinese authorities of various promises, there is a limit to Japanese patience.

The Chinese press, says Mr. Powell, argues that Tokio is anxious to get the Manchukuo question out of the way of the Japanese-American naval and Pacific conversations. But his, if true, as seems likely, is only one consideration in what is beginning to appear as a far-reaching foreign policy. Beyond Manchuria is Inner Mongolia, theoretically a part of China though peopled by a race perhaps nearer to the Japanese than to the Chinese. But race, we suspect, is an overworked concept in judging the practical relations of nations. There are other more efficient factors in the relations of Mongolia with China and Japan. The Mongolians are still in a state of feudalism. The monarchical idea represented by Pu Yi and the Mikado is more congenial to their social and political conditions than to the republican system desperately struggling to survive in China. Their chiefs already have visited Manchukuo, and while they are undoubtedly wary of any change, realizing that absorption into Manchukuo would mean domination by Japanese policy, they may be persuaded into some sort of arrangement as an alternative to being forced into the Japanese plan.

But more important to China than the possibility or probability of the loss of Inner Mongolia is the danger of the absorption of northern China in the Japanese sphere of control. A contributing editor of Mr. Powell's China Weekly Review, Mr. Meng, gives some of the facts upon which he believes Japanese hopes are based.

"First," he says, "Japan realizes well that there are differences between the northern Chinese and the southern Chinese. The former are mostly conservative, the latter are mostly progressive. The former still talk very much about the 'glorious past' under the Manchur régime, when their fathers, grandfathers, etc., were high officials; the latter discuss very much about many of the abstract ideas, such as 'democracy,' 'constitutionalism,' etc. The former are mostly descendants of the 'officials' whose every conduct is that of 'officialism' and whose ambition is to return to the old order of the day; the latter are mostly 'westernized' people who talk about equality, freedom between the government and the governed. The former staged one 'restoration movement' after another; the latter started one 'revolution' after another in attempts to overthrow the monarchical régime."

Mr. Meng thinks the hope of exploiting a monarchist restoration in China, which he ascribes to Japan, is not likely to be realized, since, he asserts, both south and north, and even the Mongols, in spite of their political and social differences, equally dislike the Japanese, and any restoration they might support must be of Chinese or Manchu origin and not a mere Japanese imperial device.

The hope of a Russo-Japanese war is obviously in the minds of patriotic Chinese leaders, but Mr. Meng demands of them a cessation of internal rivalries and coalition government to tide over the present crisis, and declares China might take Japanese aggression as a blessing in disguise if it brought about such unification.

Unhappily there has been nothing in the recent history of the Chinese to encourage much hope of this. The Japanese attack at Shanghai, the advance into Jehol, the occupation of Manchuria, events surely critical enough to unify the leadership of any occidental people, failed to bring united action. If Japanese pressure is increasing it is difficult to find any sign of growing resistance in China.

ATHLETICS AND EVOLUTION.

Jack Torrance of Louisiana State university at the recent 1934 Drake relays tossed the 16 pound shot 55 feet 1½ inches. That is not merely farther by inches but farther by feet than any one anywhere to be found in modern athletic records ever has put the shot. In 1932 at Posen, a Pole, Z. Heljasz, tossed the shot 52 feet 7¾ inches. Leo Sexton of Georgetown university in 1932 in New York threw the shot 53 feet ½ inch. Other giants have performed magnificently in the event, including the behemothlike Ralph Rose, who a generation ago set a record of 50 feet 6 inches.

This tendency of athletes to continue to set new records, not only in the shot put but in other field events and in track events, makes one wonder if there really is a limit to what muscles and skill can accomplish through intensive training and practice. It makes one wonder, too, whether or not some day in the future will see a special breed of giants who can handle the shot as though it were a baseball, a special breed of jumpers who can clear the bars at heights undreamt of now, a particular race of runners who can outrun the fleet gazelle.

Man is new on earth; the greater part of his span may lie in the future instead of the past. Maybe the species which he represents will divide and subdivide into new species of big shouldered giants, the shot putters; long legged and lithe fellows, the runners and jumpers; and fat or skinny sedentary pigmies, the rest of us.

NEW DEPRESSION CURE: SWEATING.

A hundred miles from Houston is a new government town, one of those ideal places which are supposed to set the standard. The land, houses, trading posts, and utilities were provided by FERA funds, and the place has been stocked with a population of 100 families taken from the relief roll at Houston. Each family has 15 acres of land, on which the scheme is to raise produce for self-consumption and enough more of commodities, the price of which AAA is not trying to boost, to provide a cash income. To a hundred city folks experienced as machinists, chauffeurs, and bank clerks has been said: "Here is some land. Go raise yourself some tomatoes, carrots, and cauliflower. Be prosperous and thank your paternalistic government which makes all this possible." Besides earning a living, the settlers are supposed to earn enough to pay the government $2,000 for the homestead in 25 years.

But truck farming by inexperienced gardeners will hardly yield enough to support a family, let alone amortize the cost of a truck farm, and other sources of income had to be provided. For this purpose an arrangement has been made with a Houston garment manufacturer by which materials and patterns are shipped to Woodlake, made into overalls and shirts, and shipped back to Houston with the manufacturer's labels sewed in. The work is done at a price low enough to justify packing and shipping the goods twice and carrying on the manufacture at a distance. There is no guarantee as to weekly earnings, but the women can work as much as they care to. This is precisely what was called sweating in the old days.

The essence of sweating consisted in paying low wages for work done in the home by women whose husbands earned less than was sufficient to support their families. It is insanitary for the consumer; it is hard on the women and children; and it is difficult competition for the employer who refuses to resort to it or cannot do so. Against this practice reform organizations, newspapers, governments, and good employers have struggled for many years antedating the New Deal.

If the government itself were not setting up the town NRA would be heard from, or at least Secretary Perkins, whose reputation was made in campaigns against the sweatshops of New York City.

Woodlake, Tex., is the model for other settlements to be established by FERA as permanent relief for populations stranded in towns which industries have abandoned. Thus the society of the future, which the brain trust is planning for us, will take from the old unplanned society, but strangely enough what was being driven out of the latter because it was objectionable.

INTEREST IN SCIENCE.

That the Field Museum of Natural History, an outgrowth of the World's Fair of 1893, acted as a powerful magnet to visitors to the World's Fair of 1933 is shown in a record of attendance included in the recently issued annual report of the museum. Though the museum was not a part of A Century of Progress Exposition, its proximity to the Fair and the wealth of its own exhibits attracted 3,269,390 visitors in 1933, as compared with 1,824,202 in 1932. Those who paid to enter the museum last year numbered 212,298, as compared with 82,607 in 1932. Highest daily attendance for 1933, on Aug. 24, at a time when the Fair was in full blast, was 65,966. The record day for the previous year was Sept. 4, when 36,629 passed through the turnstiles.

What proportion of last year's visitors to the museum were from out of the city the report does not attempt to tell, since those who enter the museum are not required to register, but a guess would place the number roundly at the difference between 3,269,290 and 1,824,202, or, in other words, at about 1,450,000.

Making allowance for the number who visited the museum more than once, another guess could place the total of out of town visitors at roughly one million. Let a million persons spread by word of mouth in regions near and remote the story of the exhibits of the museum and another year may see even a vaster crowd sweeping to its doors, especially since the other year, which is the present, is to witness a repetition of A Century of Progress Exposition on a bigger and finer scale than that of 1933.

UNSWORDING THE TROOPERS.

Swiftly the picturesque is being removed from war. Epaulets, plumes, and other gaudy trappings have gone, and now from Washington comes the report that the war department has issued an order to the cavalry to store its sabers. The order is based on the improbability of the use of sabers in the future. As rapidly as possible cavalry horses are being replaced with armored cars and a cavalryman has not much use for a polished saber in an automobile. The curved cavalry sword with which the men under Sheridan, Stuart, and Forrest hacked their way to death and glory some time ago gave way to a straighter weapon, designed primarily for thrusting instead of slashing. An awkward weapon, was the verdict of American troopers who were compelled to lean dangerously far over the withers of their mounts in order to make their points effective. For the purpose intended not so deadly as the lance used by European mounted troops, said a certain school of American cavalry experts. But that now is all in the past. Trench warfare, airplanes, machine guns, and the like have eliminated the saber and doomed the horse as instruments of war.

AUTOCRACY AND DEMOCRACY

BY WILLIAM R. MATHEWS.
[Editor Arizona Daily Star.]

The successive rise of dictatorships throughout the world, coupled as it has been with the overthrow of representative government, emphasizes the growing strength of the ideas of autocratic rule. Within the borders of the United States these ideas manifest themselves in the creation of Fascist and communistic organizations, and the cautious expressions of doubt as to the efficacy of democratic government on the part of many sober minded people temporarily bewildered and discouraged by the course of events. Indeed, in many quarters it is considered smart to discredit democratic government and to ridicule our constitution. Consequently, if there ever was needed there is needed now a thorough understanding of what autocratic government, be it communist or Fascist, and democratic government mean; what each entails and under which form will the most enduring civilization develop. It is a matter that concerns every citizen of high and low degree in America, for the kind of government a nation has affects all, regardless of their station in life.

Although dictatorships unquestionably make a showing of strength, this strength is their weakness; although democracies exhibit at times exasperating weaknesses, these very weaknesses are their strength. A benevolent dictator can give his country an able and happy rule, give it peace, security, and resulting prosperity. But even when that happens the weakness of dictatorial rule still remains. As men are mortal, so are dictators. When a dictator dies, and especially when an able one dies, rarely does it happen that another one with the same ability will follow.

Under the rule of dictators, even the most benevolent ones, the people lose their experience in matters of government. Over a long period they become weak and enervated, as incapable of defending themselves as they are of governing. Just as a muscle if it is not used, becomes weak and flabby, so do people when deprived of the work and responsibility of governing themselves. The passage of a benevolent dictator leaves a people weak and incapable of self-government. The pages of centuries of history show this.

Such a condition makes possible the rise of tyrants, who with the assumption of dictatorial power are able through the weakness of the people they govern to rule in a way that satisfies merely their own whims and fancies. Where a benevolent ruler uses his powers wisely and with respect for his people, the tyrant uses his unlimited power cruelly and despotically. It takes only a casual review of history from the earliest times down to today to see how true this is. The early Greeks insisted on written laws as a guarantee of protection from the whims of tyrants. Our forefathers had the same purpose in view when they wrote into the constitution of our country those provisions of checks on governmental power, and those guarantees of personal liberty and freedom they had learned from the English revolution of the previous century. The outward and impressive show of strength displayed by autocratic rule is false because it merely conceals the moral weaknesses and incapacities of the people. In short, absolute rule provides for no orderly and stable succession; democratic government does.

The strength of democratic, or representative, government, lies in the fact that democracy provides for succession, not merely in a chosen leader and governing bodies, but in the abilities of the people governed. The freedom and liberty a democracy provide, with the resulting clash of interests and ideas, stimulate thought and initiative, sharpen wits, and by making the people pay for their own mistakes develop a sturdy, self-reliant character. Although democracies at times may present sorry spectacles of themselves with their frequent internal disorders, and at other times actual civil wars, such struggles are schools of government teaching the people the necessity of a respect for the rights of others.

A successful democracy requires, therefore, a high and unselfish intelligence on the part of the people. Democracy cannot be thrust upon a people; it cannot be granted to a people; it must be earned and merited; earned as the English people with their fifty years of civil war earned theirs; earned as France in her revolution earned hers; earned as we in our own revolution and civil war earned ours. Only a people endowed with strong and patient character and high moral integrity can successfully govern themselves. Such character cannot be lost with the death of one man. It continues as long as the people must struggle and have the fortitude to pay for their mistakes. Therein is the strength of democratic government, its enduring quality and stability.

We view the rise of successive dictatorships throughout the world and hear it said and read in current literature of today, that liberty and freedom are not compatible or possible in this crowded, complicated world of the machine age. We are told that self-government has failed and that we as a people must pass our responsibilities to one man or one small group of men to make life secure and peaceful. Be not deceived. Good never flows from evil. Dictatorships and arbitrary government have never produced good fruits. The tangible benefits they may bring at times are soon lost in the decay of character of the people that follows.

The coming of the machine age makes more imperative than ever before democracy in government. The complexity of life has increased so much that no one man or group of men have the intelligence or abilities to dictate and plan by means of regimentation of industry and life the intricate maze of all of the forces of endeavor. Life since 1800 has grown more and more complex, infinitly more than it was in the century preceding, yet in those countries where representative government has held sway, where there has been liberty and freedom of expression and action, are found the highest and finest civilizations the world has ever seen. Just to the contrary, in those countries where during the last century the liberties of the people have been curbed are where the people suffer the most.

This is not an accidental phenomenon. Rather it is a perfectly natural development. Even the most benevolent dictator cannot keep himself so informed as to the practical results of his orders that he may commit no grievous injustice. It is principally through the expressions a free people enjoy that those who govern know the results of their actions. The great Marcus Aurelius permitted the Christians cruelly to be persecuted because he knew not who they were and what they were doing. He lacked the information only a free people can give to those who govern. As an example, it is common to hear in Germany the statement, "If Hitler only knew about this," in referring to some Nazi excess zeal or abuse. How can Hitler know, when he has only routine and prejudiced sources of information? So it is in Italy, Russia, and now in Austria. The infinite complexity of life today makes more imperative than ever before the need of liberty and freedom as we have known it.

The vast strides that countries with democratic government have made during the last century are due in a large part to the intelligence and ingenuity of the people. Today the people in these countries enjoy benefits that only kings and nobles could afford previously. Significantly enough, inventive genius has developed most in these countries. Freedom and liberty with its laboratory of experience and constant trial and error of experiment has to a great extent made this possible.

Representative government or democracy is inefficient as governments go. It is one of the penalties, one of the costs that must be paid. The benefits, however, far overwhelm the disadvantages. Rather than borrow those false ideals that have come to us from places where dictators now hold sway, it is to our interest to reconsider and reiterate those ideals we have found in the past to be successful. Whatever temporary hardships we may suffer from inconveniences of the constitution, whatever may be the inefficiency and exasperations of democratic government, all of these will be insignificant as compared with the troubles and misery those nations of the world under autocratic rule unknowingly store away to plague them in the future.

To those who proclaim that liberty and freedom are not possible in the world of the machine age, to those who are perplexed and doubtful, let it be said that liberty and freedom are everlasting and eternal. They seem to carry in them those moral rights and moral forces which can never be obliterated from the nature and history of man.

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

FEW WHITE BLOOD CELLS.

THERE is a new disease abroad in the land and a very disturbing one. Recently the writer was told of two funerals in one day among people with whom he had some contacts and where the cause of death was this new disease. The physicians now call it granulocytopenia. The name is a long and complicated one, and even though it may be scientifically correct it must give way in time to some other one that is easier to remember as well as to spell. It will not be the first time that the name has been changed. It is probable that the disease has been known for some time, under different names.

The only case the writer ever saw was observed years ago and the disease then had another name. In this instance a prominent lawyer had been engaged all week in the conduct of a very hard trial. The case was finished at noon on Saturday. The lawyer went home exhausted. On Sunday he loafed around his home except for a trip to his dentist. On Monday he became sick and on the following Thursday he was dead.

The outstanding symptom of this disease is a very great decrease in the white cells in the blood. They almost disappear. As a rule, the disease ends in death within a week of its onset. One theory of what has happened in this disorder is that the new leucocytes made in the bone marrow and perhaps elsewhere are trapped in the factory and cannot escape into the blood stream where they are needed. Back of that there has always been a theory that the cause or causes was the profound action of some microbe or some chemical on the leucocyte-making apparatus.

The treatment now in vogue for it is yellow bone marrow. It is said to cause a quick recovery of leucocytes in many cases that otherwise seemed doomed. The remedy is not easily available through the usual channels at this time, but that should not make it impossible for many. The local butcher shop is at hand.

The newest light on the subject comes from Drs. Madison and Squier of Milwaukee. They offer proof that granulocytopenia is caused by taking certain sleeping medicines. The combination they think the most powerful cause of it is a mixture of amidopyrine and phenobarbita. There are several mixtures of these two drugs on the market and physicians prescribe them. Druggists sell them to every Tom, Dick, and Harry; and they are about on the soda water, purgative, and liniment basis so far as the drug store transaction is concerned.

These physicians were treating a case of granulocytopenia and the patient was improving satisfactorily. There was a relapse. They investigated and found he had been given a dose of sleeping powder that he had been accustomed to taking prior to his serious illness. This caused them to investigate. They studied case histories, read the literature, and undertook to cause the disease in lower animals. They gave the sleeping powder to some people and studied the blood while they were under its influence.

The conclusion they came to is that the disease is caused by the more or less habitual taking of the barbiturates, especially when taken in combination with amidopyrine. There are several drugs in this group and several combinations of them with other drugs in more or less common use.

RED NOSE.

L. D. writes: What is the cause and cure of red nose? I do not drink alcoholic liquors nor wear tight clothing. I get lots of exercise doing gardening, housework, and walking. I am almost sure it is not my diet. The condition is most noticeable when I am either hot or cold.

REPLY.

Red nose is an effect. The cause varies. Digestive and nutritional disorder is the most frequent cause. When it appears in a heavy drinker it is because of the effects of chronic alcoholism on the stomach and other digestive organs. If your red nose is not caused by digestive disorders or by drinking you need to have your physician find out what is causing it.

KNEE REFLEX.

M. S. K. writes: By striking my knee at the right point I find that I have no reflex, as do most people taking physical examinations. Does this lack of reflex action have any significance in itself?

REPLY.

Loss of knee jerk has considerable significance. However, there is a pretty good chance that you have not properly carried out the test.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO. — Americans will doubtless be surprised to learn that there apparently are large numbers of supposedly intelligent Japanese who believe that their country is being "oppressed" by the United States. They believe that Japan is being circumscribed and restricted in its activities by the all powerful United States.

It is in this allegedly prevalent state of mind in Japan that the real danger of possible complications between the two countries exists. This so-called "anti-American" complex in Japan's national psychology has been brought about by some things for which Americans were responsible and by some other things for which the Japanese themselves were responsible. Together they have combined to create a complicated situation which under certain conditions might lead to a crisis in the relations of the two countries.

Most persons with whom one talks in traveling about the orient are convinced that a war in the far east is inevitable. The only uncertainty is involved in the time of the outbreak, the place, and the participants.

Some are convinced that the outbreak will start in Manchuria between Japan and soviet Russia. Others think America and Japan will start the war. The three participants probably would be Japan, the United States, and Russia, with China and Great Britain as onlookers at first but participants later on.

Aside from the critical relations between Japan and Russia in Manchuria, Japan is having more serious trouble with Great Britain than with any other country at the present time. The British and Japanese are involved in a desperate fight over markets that extends all the way from China to Manchester. However, for some strange reason, one seldom hears talk about a possible war between Japan and Great Britain. On the contrary one frequently hears responsible Japanese say how necessary it is for Japan and Britain to maintain their friendly relations despite the clashing and competitive nature of their trade interests.

The trade of Japan and the United States up to the present has been complementary rather than competitive, but despite this Japanese talk about war with the United States as a certainty. A somewhat similar situation exists with respect to Japan and Russia, the conflicting elements not being concerned with trade but with the interests of the two countries in Manchuria.

Tokichi Tanaka, former Japanese ambassador in Moscow and now president of the Chugai Shogyo, a leading Tokio financial paper, listed three potential sources of conflict between Japan and the United States — Manchuria, naval limitation and immigration.

But there is a fourth and possibly even more serious source of conflict. That is concerned with American commercial activities in China which the Japanese apparently regard as a menace to their national security. A well informed Japanese listed the sources of conflict between his country and the United States in the order of their importance as follows:

1. Naval limitation as established by the Washington and London agreements.

2. America's attitude on the Manchurian issue in 1931 and continued refusal on the part of the United States to recognize the new state of Manchukuo.

3. American activities in China, particularly commercial encouragement of Chinese aviation, which Japan regards as a menace.

4. Arbitrary restriction of Japanese immigration into the United States.

It is extremely questionable whether the average man in the street in Tokio, Osaka, or anywhere else cares anything about the matter of Japanese immigration into the United States. The rank and file in Japan care nothing about going to the United States.

It's the Japanese publicists and a few officials and merchants who keep the question of Japanese exclusion alive because our arbitrary exclusion through congressional action was a blow to their pride. The Japanese bar cheap Chinese labor from their shores just as rigorously as the United States bars Japanese laborers as well as the Chinese and other orientals from the Pacific states.

Naval limitation, the American attitude on the Manchurian issue and American activities in China constitute the real problems in Japanese-American relations. They are problems which require and will continue to require statesmanship of a high order if a serious crisis is to be avoided.

CLOSED BANK.

Chicago, April 27.—[Friend of the People.]—I have a banking account in the Home Bank and Trust company, a state bank. I filed a claim Aug. 18, 1932, for $500, which is the amount I have on deposit. Since then I have not heard a word as to when my money will be paid. Is my money lost? Is there some way I can obtain all or part of it? A. M.

The United American Trust and Savings bank took over the deposit liabilities of the Home Bank and Trust company. The receiver of this bank is not in a position to pay a dividend at this time, nor is it possible to state when one will be paid. Prior to the closing of this bank loans were made with the RFC, secured by the assets of the bank, and on Dec. 31, 1933, these loans aggregated $1,453,000, which it will be necessary to pay before the assets securing same can be returned to the receiver.

You can be sure that as soon as sufficient funds are available for dividend purposes same will be ordered disbursed by this department.

EDWARD J. BARRETT,
Auditor of Public Accounts.

COLLECTING JUDGMENT.

Chicago, April 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Our discourse is with reference to filing a claim for bankruptcy [pauper]. If a party has a judgment against him and resorts to the above procedure, can the party or parties holding such judgment at any future date collect? 2. This case is with reference to a judgment held by an auto finance company for several hundred dollars. 3. How long a time is a judgment considered in effect? J. B.

1. Ordinary debts are barred by properly handled bankruptcy if that is what you mean to ask.

2. This could be barred, but the right of the creditor to enforce a mortgage or conditional sales contract would not be barred.

3. Twenty years.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, April 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A friend's husband recently died leaving 160 acres of land to his wife while she lived, after which it goes to her daughter, their only child, while she lives, then to her children, if any. If no children, then it goes back to the testator's heirs. This is a bad situation, in that the daughter's husband, a young hard working fellow, would wish to fix up the place and make a good home if there was any prospect of his wife or his inheriting it some day. Is it legal to tie up property like this? What cause, if any, have the heirs to correct a condition of this kind? Could they or a friend appeal to a court to save this home for them so they will not abandon it? J. B.

We advise you to submit the entire wording of the will to an attorney in a personal interview. It seems possible that the will violates the rule against perpetuities, but this is too technical a matter to handle on the meager facts that you give us.

Bear in mind that the children of the young couple would be heirs of the deceased. If children have already been born, then we do not see much practical importance to your question.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WAGE ASSIGNMENT.

Chicago, April 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How long before a furniture bill is outlawed? 2. I signed a furniture note for $2 a week. I am not working at present, but manage to pay $1 a week. The company keeps sending wage assignments to my employer. Can they bother him about this bill? R. J. H.

1. The limitation period on written contracts is ten years.

2. If you executed an assignment of wages, then we see no legal objection to the creditor's notifying your employer of that fact.

THE DAIRY FARMER'S PROBLEM.

Chicago, May 1.—In this morning's TRIBUNE A Friend makes a weak attempt to solve the trouble in the Chicago milkshed. A Friend contends that the base and surplus system is at fault and firmly places the responsibility upon the dairies.

Many farmers have had their views on this subject published in this column, but not one has ever entered his cow barn to solve the problem. The base and surplus system is not nor ever has been responsible for the distress of the dairy farmers and dairies. The entire blame rests with the farmers and with the farmers alone.

A Friend is right when he states that there was no large surplus prior to 1929, but there he leaves the road that would lead him to the correct solution. Prior to 1929 the farmers were content to let their milk production stay within the bounds of the demands of the market. Following the crash of the stock market, the prices of farm commodities, with the exception of milk, fell to a low level. The farmer seeking more money for his products fed them to the cows and produced more milk. After many months of overproduction the price of milk sold to butter and cheese factories fell below one dollar a hundredweight, but the price paid by Chicago dairies remained over two dollars per hundred.

Milk was retailing at 11 cents a quart in the spring of 1932, when a new dairy announced that it would sell milk at 9 cents a quart. Its milk was bought at much less than two dollars a hundred and it prospered so well that it was followed by many more cut rate dairies.

To hold their business the organized dairies were forced to cut their price and the farmer and milk wagon driver suffered a reduction in income. The cut rates retaliated with a still lower price, and in despair the farmer and organized dairies turned toward Washington asking for aid. Quick to talk but slow to act, Wallace and his AAA gave them a code that he could not enforce, and then supplanted it with another that does not look promising.

When the farmers curtail their milk production until it reaches the level of 1929 the outlook for the farmer and the dairies will be brighter, but not until then. ROBERT H. NIEMEYER.

PHONE REBATE TO PAY TEACHERS.

Chicago, May 1.—Now that it has been finally decided that the Illinois Bell Telephone company has overcharged its subscribers in the amount of $30,000,000, would it not be well for some brain trusters to work out a plan whereby this amount could be paid into the school fund for the teachers' salaries? In all probability hardly 25 per cent of the subscribers will make a claim for a rebate. A very small percentage of the subscribers will have saved their receipts in the past eleven years, and with all the red tape that they will be required to go through and the probable wait of months or years to receive a small return, it is fair to presume that the great majority of the subscribers would consent to donate their share to this most worthy cause for the benefit of the teachers. FRED C. ROBINSON.

RENT.

Chicago, May 1.—My landlord gets about a $7.50 per month cut on his taxes, but he raises my rent $5 per month. The real estate promoters and their allied associations holler to the high heavens to keep the government from loaning money to further construction of buildings in Chicago. There has been no building construction in Chicago in over three years. Don't start any now and you will give the promoters and realtors the upper hand again and then watch what happens to rents, with taxes still on the down grade. SMOKY WALLS.

PROHIBITIONIST AND NEW DEALER.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., May 1.—THE TRIBUNE fought like hell to get repeal. And the bootlegging was to stop right away. Wrongs would be righted. THE TRIBUNE told such terrible tales of the evils of prohibition. We've got repeal and it surely is a mess.

I ride on an interurban and for the first time in a long, long time drunks are riding with us. I was talking with the train dispatcher and he said there were more drunks to contend with on their line than even before prohibition and far more than during prohibition. The women are boozing and a social worker in Chicago says that the moral situation is the worst in Chicago's history, with saloon men using minors to ply for customers.

O, it's great all right, but the old TRIBUNE doesn't utter a word, even though there has been an increase—a big one—in automobile deaths and accidents. I don't know whether the trafic ways will ever be safe this summer with liquor so prevalent.

The brain trust—that's a phrase invented by the steel trust and the other powers that be to frighten us. You rave about how the farmer is being sovietized. It isn't a drop in the bucket compared to what happened under Hoover and Harding, with farms being taken away because of low prices. Get that capitalistic outlook out of your system and quit trying to frighten the American public. We aren't a bunch of fools even though you act as if we were. F. R. GASTON.

THE IRISH VILLAGE.

Chicago, April 30.—I have more contempt than anger for the jackass who penned that scurrilous effusion in today's Vox Pop in regard to the Irish Village at the World's Fair.

My indignation is, that whoever is responsible for the editing of the Vox Pop section of THE TRIBUNE should give facilities to any ignorant nit-wit behind the cover of a nom de plume to vent his hatred and derision of any race or group of citizens.

In regard to the letter itself, one could easily afford to ignore it—pointless, inane, and crude in construction as it was, its literary merit being about on a par with the scrawlings of a little boy on a wall. DAN J. HENNESSY.

INSTEAD OF DR. WIRT.

Chicago, May 1.—When I learned that Dr. Wirt's address would be broadcast over station WIND, Gary, on Monday at 1 p. m., I tuned in, only to be met with a pacifist propaganda program sponsored by "World Peaceways." Since when has it been the custom to give pacifist and all the other propaganda organizations this administration is dishing up to the public all the time they wish on the air and not a minute to a man who has a real message for the American people? DOROTHY W. LONN.

THE EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

Chicago, May 1.—I don't think that anything you have been printing daily is of greater immediate interest to more readers than Bob Becker's "Day by Day Story of the Experimental Farm." Today's article by Paul Potter about the prosperous condition of fruit farming in southwestern Michigan, also lying within Chicago's metropolitan area, is most interesting and encouraging. HENRY W. RUBINKAM.

HOPE FOR JUMBO.

Chicago, April 27.—From Berkeley, Cal., comes the good news of a dog revived after eleven days of death. I call this good news because the same method can be applied to Jumbo, the G. O. P. elephant. MARTIN JENSEN.

GROWING TRADE SAFEGUARDS TIES WITH U. S.-JAPAN

Sees No Chance for Crisis in Future Relations.

TOKIO, May 5.—(AP)—Confidence that Japanese-American trade relations are too "satisfactory" to reach a crisis such as that menacing the commerce of Great Britain and Japan was expressed tonight by foreign office officials.

They cited facts—including figures showing that the United States and Japan have been each other's leading customers for a generation—to support their conviction that trade of the two nations is "so important and satisfactory" that both must be anxious to maintain the present status.

Prepare for British Trade War.

Simultaneously it was officially indicated that Nippon, confident of its position, is preparing for a threatened trade war with Great Britain as a result of London's warning that Britain will take action to protect the empire's textile export interests against increasing Japanese competition.

Trade leaders, apparently not at all concerned over the exchanges in London this week between Japanese Ambassador Matsudaria and Walter Runciman, president of the British board of trade, pointed to Japan's trade protection act enabling Tokio to raise or lower tarifs or limit and prohibit imports.

Foreign office attaches expressed the belief that Japan's recent gains in Latin-American markets would produce no serious conflict between American and Japanese interests.

U. S. Oil Companies Menaced.

The conviction also was expressed, in face of an uneasiness apparent in late months, lest Japan and the United States in brandishing any new trade weapons at other countries may more or less inadvertantly turn them against one another.

Two other factors cloud the horizon. Japan, in efforts to put on an armour of economic self-sufficiency, has threatened American interests with a proposed petroleum control bill, which may damage interests of American oil companies in Japan.

Japanese industrialists also have been nervous about the application of American tarif moves to their products.

The Japanese finance ministry's 1933 returns show that America's figures were more than double that of the next nation in both the import and export columns of Japanese foreign trade.

Urge "No Interference."

Diplomatic and commercial officials of Japan and the United States, it is recalled, recently said that the best help Japanese-American trade can get is by keeping official interference to a minimum.

Another aspect of the situation is contained in a report of vernacular newspapers that negotiations are nearing completion whereby the Japan Industry company, an investment and holding concern, would acquire 50 per cent of the stock of the General Motors of Japan, Ltd., a subsidiary of the American General Motors corporation.

Business men were of the opinion generally that the deal gives evidence of an increasing tendency by Japanese to absorb foreign enterprises in Japan.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota meanwhile was believed to have thrown down the gauntlet to Great Britain when he said:

"Our country is confronted everywhere by difficulties in foreign trade. It found it necessary to institute trade control to safeguard our foreign commerce. We must strive under all circumstances to safeguard and promote our foreign trade."

LEADS HER CLASS AT BRYN MAWR

2 SHIPS HIT ROCKS IN ATLANTIC FOG; OTHERS PERILED

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., May 5.—(AP)—Dense fog that blinded mariners all along the coast of Nova Scotia today lured two vessels onto Cape Breton rocks and menaced scores of others.

The Norwegian steamship Rutenfjell struck Cape Egmont, on the northern coast, and is pounding heavily.

Straying from its course in the fog, the Gloucester fishing schooner Program ran on Petries shoal at the entrance of Sydney harbor. Beaten by the heaving breakers, the big banker was regarded as a total loss. Its cargo of fish was removed before its crew of 27 escaped to shore in dories.

Indict Dr. Jessie Traxler on U. S. Narcotic Charge

Dr. Jessie A. S. Traxler, 40 years old, 3924 West 26th street, was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury on charges of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act. The indictment, containing 42 counts, cites the physician with failure to keep proper records in the disposal of 17,726 grains of morphine. It is further alleged that the doctor engaged in an illicit trafic in the drugs for two years. Assistant United States Attorney Mary D. Bailey, who will prosecute the case, said the average physician does not use more than 200 grains of the drugs in the course of a year.

Wheel Flies Off Auto; Kills Child on Walk

Athens, Tenn., May 5.—(AP)—An automobile, rounding a curve, threw a wheel which rolled across the sidewalk, striking 5 year old Cleo Batton, walking with her mother, yesterday. She was killed.

300,000 ACRE FOREST FIRES SMOULDER, DIE IN NORTH CAROLINA

Doughton, N. C., May 5.—(AP)—Forest fires that residents said "spread faster than a man could ride a horse" appeared spent today after blackening 300,000 acres of wood and farm lands in the northwestern part of the state.

Fire brigades continued their watchfulness, but anticipated no further spread of the worst fire the section has ever experienced. Fires in the Stone mountain-Roaring gap elevation and the Mitchell river valley district each cut a path about a mile wide and fifteen miles long.

EXPORT BAN ON NEWFOUNDLAND TIMBER LIFTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, May 5.—The imperial commission, which now governs Newfoundland, has reversed the former regulation which prohibited the exportation of timber. Licenses to cut and export timber have been granted.

The sale of 1,160 square miles of timber in Labrador was completed yesterday. British interests paid $1,000,000 for the tract.

M. E. Martin, St. John's lumberman, will leave as soon as the coast is free of ice for the Alexis river, Labrador, to start operations. His company has a 10 year permit to cut and export an indeterminate quantity of timber to England, Holland, France, and Switzerland. The plans contemplate a permanent settlement. At the peak of production 3,000 men will be employed.

JAPAN TO IGNORE U. S. PROTEST ON FAR EAST POLICY

Will Let World Make Own Interpretation.

[Copyright: 1934: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, May 5.—A foreign office spokesman, refusing to clarify Foreign Minister Kohi Hirota's sensational new declaration of Japan's "hands-off China" policy, asserted today that "the world must make its own interpretation."

The spokesman did say, however, that the speech was not intended as a reply to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's strong statement of the United States' position in the orient.

Commenting on questions as to whether Hirota had any intention of replying to the Hull memorandum, the foreign office spokesman declared there was no such intention, despite Hirota's emphasis that Japan shares responsibility for the maintenance of peace in eastern Asia only "with other eastern Asiatic states."

Conflicts With U. S. View.

This seemed to observers to dispute the American secretary of state's reminder that occidental powers are legitimately interested in oriental affairs.

The interpretation placed upon Hirota's speech by foreign diplomats was that the foreign minister served notice that Japan will not participate in consultations with other signatories of the nine-power treaty in the event article seven is invoked.

This article calls for "full and frank communication between the contracting powers concerned whenever a situation arises which involves the applications of the present treaty, and renders desirable discussion of such application."

The treaty, among other things, guarantees the open door in China.

Ready for "Individual" Talks.

Diplomatic speculation on Hirota's speech, delivered yesterday before the prefectural governors, centered on a passage stressing Japan's readiness to discuss treaty rights "with each individual power," but indicating determination to avoid in the future any international conferences debating "questions of east Asia."

In refusing detailed clarification, the foreign office spokesman declined also to state whether Japan is renouncing its obligations to engage in full and frank communication with the other nine-power treaty signatories on questions pertaining to its relations with China.

Besides Japan, the signatories are the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, the Netherlands and Portugal.

See Bearing on Naval Parley.

Chinese leaders already have been reported sounding out the signatories regarding the advisability of invoking the treaty, in regard to Japan's new declaration of responsibility for the maintenance of peace in eastern Asia.

Some diplomats read the passage as serving notice that far eastern questions cannot be debated at the 1935 naval conference.

These diplomats believed Hirota means Japan not only will avoid another diplomatic drubbing such as it received at Geneva in 1933, when all other league of nations members voted to censure its course in Manchuria and China, but likewise will prevent a repetition of the Washington conference of 1921-'22, when far eastern issues were linked with naval issues and other powers combined to check Japan's continental expansion.

Some diplomats expressed the opinion that Hirota's firm tone was primarily for domestic consumption, the trend of public opinion since the original April 17 China-policy declaration making it impossible for him to back down in any way.

HOOVER REBUKES BOY FOR STRIVING TO SEE ROOSEVELT ON WAGER

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5.—(AP)—In a letter rebuking a college freshman for his "curiosity" in seeking an interview with President Roosevelt, ex-President Herbert Hoover says the youth is "hounding" the chief executive in a "thoughtless manner."

After other means had failed, the University of Pennsylvania freshman, Stanley N. Arnold, solicited the aid of the ex-President to learn how he might see Mr. Roosevelt. He had bet with schoolmates that he could obtain the interview.

"Two things occur to me from the correspondence you send me," wrote Mr. Hoover. "First, the thoughtless manner in which you are hounding the President and public officials, trying to impose yourself upon them, and second, the courtesy with which they have replied to you.

"The sooner you realize that the problems, difficulties and physical strain upon these men do not warant them taking their time from service to the country to satisfy what you confess is merely curiosity on your part the better evidence it will be that you have some growth of a sense of responsibility.

"I know you will resent the truth, but some day you will grow to appreciate it."

Three Killed, Others Hurt in Southern Tornadoes

Alexandria, La., May 5.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and others injured in tornadoes which swept across sections of Louisiana and Mississippi late today leaving a path of wreckage in their wake.

"Now I Know the Meaning of HEARING HAPPINESS"

This statement was made recently by the owner of a new SUPER-SONOTONE. It is only one of hundreds of similar voluntary tributes offered by users of this great gift of science to the deafened.

Since the introduction of the new Bone Conduction SUPER-SONOTONE, with the Lieber Oscillator, thousands of persons have had the happiness of hearing restored to them. SUPER-SONOTONE is a departure from the old "button-in-the-ear" types of hearing aids. Instead a tiny instrument worn back of the ear conveys all sound vibrations through bone directly to the internal hearing organ.

SONOTONE Hearing Aids are available in many models to meet every condition, and at new prices all can afford.

SEND FOR THIS NEW BOOKLET

Regardless of the apparent hopelessness of your hearing; no matter what type of aid you now use, don't fail to investigate this newest super-power SONOTONE. Come in at once for a free test. If you cannot call, write for a free copy of the new booklet, "Science's Newest Hearing Technique"; or phone State 7007.

SEND FOR SONOMETER. It will test your bone conduction. If it causes a gong to ring inside your head then be assured you can hear through your bones. So send 10c now (to cover postage, packing, etc.) for Sonometer and full instructions.

CAUTIONS HITLER TO FOLLOW STEPS OF FREDERICK

Schacht Gives Chancellor Some Advice.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 5.—"Healthy finances and a strong army are the main pillars of the state," Frederick the Great declared in his political testaments, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reichsbank, today reminded the all powerful Chancellor Hitler of the teachings of Prussia's greatest king after he laid the cornerstone of the new Reichsbank building.

A pompous military display featured the occasion with storm troopers, Hitler guards, Hitler youths, Hitler girls, workers in labor front uniforms, and masons in white suits and top hats lining the square. Schacht laid the cornerstone in the presence of Chancellor Hitler, Herman Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and reichsminister of air, Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath and all the international bankers in Berlin endeavoring to encourage Germany to make payments on her foreign debts. Chicago was represented by Lair Bell, one of the bankers representing American creditors in conferences now going on here.

Frederick Founded Bank.

The speech of the president of the reichsbank was a masterpiece of historical erudition built up around Frederick the Great, who 169 years ago founded the bank from which the present financial institution was evolved. The address was studded with the sayings of Frederick applicable to the present situation, with which Schacht attempted to impress his most august listener, Hitler. Many Nazi financers are trying to win Hitler away from Schacht. They favor a less conservative policy of financial negotiations than that of the head of the reichsbank.

Schacht told how Frederick built up the country by providing a sound currency and eliminating suggestions of those who wanted to "manipulate" money. He emphasized how the Prussian king had put silver in its place by ruling once and for all that its value was one-third that of gold.

"The great king was opposed to subsides and presents to industry and favored a policy which helped to increase the efficiency and self reliance of industry," the banker told Hitler, many of whose associates are demanding bigger subsidies for industry.

To avoid the accusation that was making a monarchist speech, the president of the reichsbank asserted that Frederick the Great was a true Nazi.

Participate in "Schachtfest."

While the Hitler masses stood at attention, documents were sealed in the cornerstone which Schacht laid with three strokes of a silver hammer. After the ceremony, Schacht, reichsbank officials, clerks and a delegation of the workers who will erect the bank building displayed the new "spirit of unity" by jointly participating in the "Schachtfest" or excavation festival fashioned on old Germanic customs.

Press representatives attending the ceremony were given slips forbidding them to take stenographic notes of Chancellor Hitler's speech. The slips explained an "official text would be issued," but Hitler did not speak.

Meanwhile, the German Academy of Law met under the chairmanship of Dr. Hans Frank, commissioner of justice, who explained that the purpose of the academy was "to create new legislation founded solely on the German feeling of equality of rights." The academy's mission is to evolve laws which will "eternalize the Hitler rule," he said.

One of the academy's first measures was to study the "question of equality of rights of which the Germans were deprived by treaties in violation of true justice." Frank described Hitler as the "creator of revolution and master of revolution—Danton and Napoleon all in one."

He also asserted that despite international objections to Germany's anti-Jewish policy and racial doctrine, the government would enforce it with the utmost energy. He requested the audience to indulge in constructive criticism, but the audience was silent.

GERMAN 'DIOGENES' HUNTS JUSTICE AND IS JAILED FOR HIS PAINS

MUNICH, Germany, May 5.—(AP)—A "modern Diogenes" today received a sentence of one month's imprisonment for his pains.

He is Raimund Reisler, a confectioner, who created a sensation in Munich last December by walking about the streets carrying a lighted lantern bearing the inscription, "I Am Seeking Justice."

Around his neck he carried a placard criticizing four well known attorneys, who, he said, had been dealing unfairly with him.

BELGIAN BRANDS CHARGE KING WAS SLAIN A "LIE"

British Writer's Speech Stirs High Circles.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—Indignation was expressed at the Belgian embassy here today over the statement made by Col. Graham Seton Hutchison, noted author, in a speech before the Writers' club at Nottingham last night, in which he said: "The biggest piece of spoofing put over on the world in the last six months was the story of the death of King Albert of the Belgians. He did not die as the result of an Alpine accident. He was tapped on the back of the head. King Albert was opposed to war and would not play a part in the devilry of France in conspiring for war against defenseless Germany."

Calls It "Horrible Lie."

The British foreign office and the Belgian embassy in London both indignantly denied there was any truth in Col. Hutchison's suggestion. Borel de Bitche, first secretary of the Belgian embassy, said:

"The ambassador has seen Col. Hutchison's speech, but considers it unnecessary to make any statement because the whole thing is so obviously untrue.

"Personally, I say this: That it is disgusting to find a man who served as a colonel in the British army disseminating such horrible lies about our beloved king. If that colonel will come to the embassy and dare to repeat it to me I will give him a punch under the jaw and tell him it is the most scandalous thing I ever heard. It is an outrage on the dead and an outrage on Belgium."

Hutchison Stands Pat.

Col. Hutchison today said he had nothing further to add to his statement except that he is prepared to stand by it.

Hutchison is the author of "The W plan," a spy book which was dramatized and filmed. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, when American ambassador to Great Britain, described his life as an "epic British civic and military career, crowded with drama, adventure, tragedy, and won objectives."

Hutchison served the British army in France from 1914 to 1919. In 1921 he drew up the armistice between Polish insurgents and the German defense corps, and was referred to as the "[illegible] officer who stopped a war." He is an artist, Alpine climber, and a fellow of the Royal Geographic society.

Belgian Court Issues Denial.

BRUSSELS, May 5.—(AP)—The Belgian court—the highest authority on the question—today issued the following communique:

"Every one is well aware in Belgium and investigation made on the spot clearly proved that Col. Graham Seton Hutchison's statement is deprived of any foundation."

The communique was issued after official Belgian circles had expressed disgust with Col. Hutchison's address last night, in which he said the late King Albert had been killed by a blow on the head, not by accident.

FOUND DEAD IN AREAWAY.

Nick Umvaras, 38 years old, 4427 South Wood street, a laborer employed at the stockyards, was found dead in an areaway below the window of his room on the third floor. Police believe he accidentally fell from the window.

MAYOR AROUSED BY KILLING OF N. Y. POLICEMAN

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Mayor F. H. La Guardia, angered by the killing of Patrolman Arthur P. Rasmussen by three young gunmen, today announced that the police department of "this city know their criminals and they've got to bring them in and keep bringing them in."

Meanwhile posses of detectives and uniformed policemen stormed into all the city's known underworld haunts seeking the men who shot Rasmussen after robbing a grocery store in the lower East side tenement district yesterday afternoon.

Rasmussen died in one of two gun battles between police and thugs. A 10 months old baby, a young boy and a young girl were wounded by the wild gunfire of the fleeing men who killed the patrolman. In the morning of the same day two policemen and a barber in Harlem were shot down and all three are in a serious condition.

FINDS STAVISKY PUT 18 MILLIONS IN SLUSH FUND

Report on Check Stubs Is Bared in France.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 5.—Those of the late Serge Stavisky's check stubs that have been found so far total 300,000,000 francs [about $18,000,000], the parliamentary commission of inquiry into the scandal learned today when it received a report from Georges Boully, Socialist deputy.

This sum covers only the years 1931, 1932 and 1933, Boully said, and, moreover, there seem to be many stubs missing. This gives a good idea of the huge sums that Stavisky spent to buy silence, protection, influence and good will in his scandalous career.

May Question Tardieu.

Boully brought up the subject of the famous stub bearing what is supposed to be the name of Andre Tardieu and suggested that Gilbert Romangnino, Savisky's paying agent, and Tardieu himself be questioned by the commission. Tardieu, former premier, is now minister of state.

The commission itself is receiving sharp criticism from the majority of the newspapers and the entire bar for the motion the commission adopted condemning George Lescouve, France's highest magistrate, for his testimony holding Georges Pressard, former attorney general, responsible for Stavisky's escaping justice.

It is pointed out with some discouragement that the commission has a majority composed of Socialists and Radical Socialists and that its inquiries have only too often taken on the aspect of a political quarrel rather than an impartial effort to render fair judgment in the scandal.

Commissions Assailed.

The semi-official Temps writes:

"The commissions of inquiry have not thrown light on anything. On the contrary, they have made everything obscure and equivocal. The only example they have given is that of political malfeasance and the danger of confounding politics with justice. The greatest service they could render justice would be to finish as quickly as possible."

Thus far there have been 27 indictments in connection with the collapse of the Bayonne municipal pawnshop—a scandal which caused the downfall of two cabinets and brought France near to bloody revolution.

BOY, 15, WHO SHOT HIMSELF DIES OF WOUND

Paris, Ill., May 5.—[U. P.]—Alonzo Trout, 15 year old son of the owner of a small general store at Edgar, near here, died in Paris hospital today after he is said to have admitted to physicians that he had shot himself. He was brought to the hospital last night after having been found by his father with a bullet wound in his head.

The boy, according to authorities, ran away from home yesterday, taking his father's car and a .22 calibre revolver. He apparently drove around the surrounding country all day yesterday, returning last night to near his parents' home.

Hearing a shot and the sound of an automobile horn, the father investigated and found his son bleeding from a bullet wound. He moved the boy to the adjoining seat and drove him here.

Although informed that hospital physicians say the boy admitted he shot himself, the father refuses to accept this theory, expressing belief that his son was slain by robbers.

SURETE GENERALE GETS NEW NAME AND A SHAKEUP

PARIS, May 5.—(AP)—Note to mystery story writers: the surete generale which you mention almost as often as Scotland Yard is no more. Now it is "surete nationale." Albert Sarraut, minister of the interior, renamed it today as part of his general overhauling of the famous secret service organization. A complete reorganization of its personnel is planned.

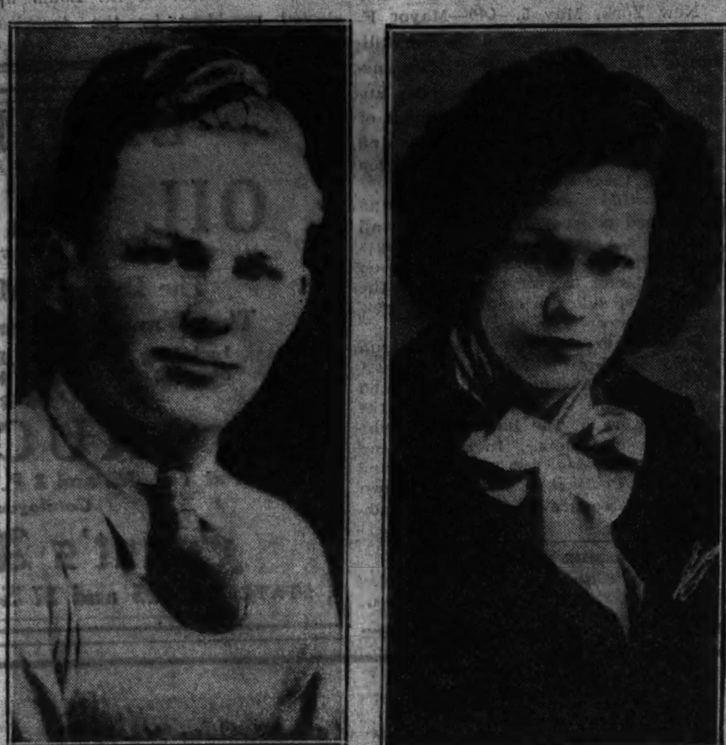
It's all because of the scandals connected with the operations of the late Serge "Handsome Alex" Stavisky, master swindler, and the subsequent murder of Judge Albert Prince, police investigator.

The surete nationale hereafter will be closely supervised by the minister of the interior and must work in collaboration with the police instead of with the old independence that caused it sometimes to be called "the secret government within the government."

Teacher, 7 Pupils Killed as German School Collapses

STUTTGART, Germany, May 5.—[U. P.]—One teacher and seven pupils were killed today and several others seriously injured when the school building at Winterbach collapsed. All available police and fire equipment were sent to the place of the disaster. Ambulance doctors administered first aid to the injured.

Girl Slain, Youth Wounded in Pact



Ronald Young, 20, college boy, left, who survived a suicide pact with his co-ed sweetheart, Nancy Ann Alford, 19, in Wayne, Neb., and now faces murder charge. Young said that fear of prosecution on a robbery complaint led the pair to the suicide pact.

COMMUNISTS STIR CUBAN STUDENTS TO FIGHT REGIME

Agitation Grows Over Schoolboy Slaying.

HAVANA, May 5.—(AP)—Charges that communists were active in Havana high schools and a report, later denied, that Antonio Guiteras, secretary of interior, was planning an insurrection, startled Havana today.

Communists called upon students—who denounced the administration as "a government of assassins" and started a 48 hour iland-wide strike—to maintain a "united front against the government."

Assail U. S. Envoy.

Student demonstrators, irate over the killing of a companion by soldiers during a riot Thursday, assailed American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery. During funeral services for the slain youth yesterday some chanted, "We should be carrying Caffery's coffin—not the student's."

Dr. Guiteras' secretary, Benito Ferrandez, expressed surprise at the reports of revolution plans and said:

"Dr. Guiteras has seen no newspapermen, has given no interview and plans no insurrection."

Mother Also Denies Report.

The former minister's mother, who is his closest political adviser, said the reports were "ridiculous."

"Even if he planned a revolution he certainly would not announce it," she said.

The whereabouts of Guiteras, meanwhile, were kept secret.

During a disturbance in Central park today several newspapermen and photographers were arrested, but later were released and their films destroyed. Soldiers broke up the demonstration of students in the park with tear gas.

At Santiago, one student was wounded when soldiers dispersed a manifestation there.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN VENEZUELAN REVOLT REPORTED

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, May 5.—(AP)—Reports reaching here today from Morawhanna, a border point in British Guiana, said a revolution had broken out in Orinoco state of Venezuela. The Georgetown Daily Chronicle said reports of severe fighting persisted despite denials of Venezuelan officials.

Strict censorship is preventing correspondents from sending authentic news out of the country, the Chronicle continued, adding that frontier patrols had been doubled and Venezuelan coast guard boats were unusually active.

Dispatches from Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, in early January said a revolutionary expedition seeking the overthrow of Juan Vicente Gomez, dictator of the country, failed when its vessel was wrecked at the mouth of the Orinoco river.

Conway Tearle Is Cited for Contempt on Alimony

San Francisco, Cal., May 5.—(AP)—Conway Tearle, motion picture actor, was cited today to appear here May 15 and show cause why he should not be judged in contempt of court because of alleged failure to comply with a court order to pay $3,000 to the estate of his former wife. Tearle owed his divorced wife $10,000 in back alimony payments at the time of her death, attorneys for her estate contended and a judgment stands against him for the amount. Radio Keith Orpheum, as Tearle's employer, also was named and ordered to make a showing regarding the actor's earnings.

YOUTH, 20, IS CHARGED WITH SECOND DEGREE MURDER OF GIRL, 19

Wayne, Neb., May 5.—(AP)—A second degree murder charge was filed today against Ronald Young, 20, despite the wishes of parents of his slain sweetheart, Nancy Ann Alford, 19.

The girl's father, C. R. Alford of Macy, said prosecution would not bring his daughter to life, and "would only make things harder" for the youth. A count of cutting to kill or to wound was included in the complaint.

Young, a student at Wayne Normal school together with Miss Alford, remained in a hospital under guard. His condition improved rapidly during the day.

The survivor of a suicide pact with Miss Alford, he gave no intimation that he still wished to die. She succumbed early yesterday after they had slashed their own wrists. When she failed to bleed to death quickly, he chloroformed her, he told officers, and cut additional gashes in her arm. Then he lost consciousness.

ARABIAN ARMY NEARS CAPITAL OF RIVAL SULTAN

Ibn Saud Sweeps South Along Red Sea.

ADEN, Arabia, May 5.—[U. P.]—King Ibn Saud's Wahabi warriors moved down the burning Red Sea coast of Yemen today to meet the main army of the Imam Jehya, the ruler of Yemen, while British and Italian men-of-war steamed at full speed toward Hodeida, key port, to protect foreigners.

The prospect was for a fight in the vicinity of Hodeida, and a final desperate resistance of the Yemen sultan's demoralized tribesmen at the walled capital of Sana, 7,250 feet up in the mountains, about 100 miles to the east.

As the Saudi Arabia troops of Ibn Saud, never defeated in many campaigns since the world war, moved southward, they consolidated their positions and prepared to take over the formal administration of the territories.

Purified Islam His Aim.

This gave notice, apparently, that Ibn Saud, fanatic Moslem fundamentalist, intended to see that Yemenites adhered to his ideal of a purified Islam.

Fragmentary dispatches seeping out of the battle zones today gave a picture of the fighting.

The Wahabis were advancing down the coast, their advance guards near the gates of Hodeida, if not inside them, after taking Midi, up the coast, April 26, and Lohaya, May 1.

As they neared Hodeida and prepared under Ibn Saud's plan of tactics to move eastward on the capital, tribesmen who had been fighting in the Yemen field army deserted to them.

The main body of the Yemen troops was reported advancing up the coast from the south.

See Yemen Forces Beaten.

But there seemed little prospect of a successful stand of the Yemen forces on the coast in the face of Ibn Saud's fierce, well trained men, backed up by modern armored cars.

Some reports were that Hodeida was taken, but later dispatches reported only advance guards at the gates.

The final prospect seemed to be for an assault by Ibn Saud's men on the mountain capital, once Azal, and believed to be the Uzal mentioned in the book of Genesis.

The men of the Yemen sultan, despite apparently authentic reports of defections and revolts by tribal units, were reported to be preparing a desperate defense of the capital.

It is a city that has seen much of war in its long history. To reach it, Ibn Saud's men must toil up long mountain slopes to the Karn Al Wa'l [Wa'l] pass, 9,000 feet high, to look down thence on Sana with its thick, high wall and its eight gates, as it lies in a depression between mountains.

CLINICAL DOG DEAD AND WILL STAY SO, SCIENTIST ASSERTS

Baltimore, Md., May 5.—(AP)—Dr. W. Horsley Gantt, associate in psychiatry at the Johns Hopkins medical school, said, in effect, today that Thirteen is dead and always will be dead.

Thirteen is the dog on which revivification experiments have been conducted by Dr. Robert E. Cornish at the University of California. The heart of the dog was stopped clinically and then renewed.

The dog's barking and his swallowing of food are only normal reflex actions which have been produced frequently in the laboratory of Pavlov, the Russian scientist, according to Dr. Gantt.

In Pavlov's laboratory, said Dr. Gantt, vital parts of the brain have been actually removed and the dog has continued to perform certain functions.

Dr. Gantt said he had seen an experiment in the Pavlov laboratories in which the dog's head was cut off and then kept "alive" for hours by connecting it with the heart and lungs of another dog.

COUNTY HOSPITAL FOOD IS STOLEN; ONE SENTENCED

With the disclosure yesterday of systematic thefts of food from the County hospital commissary, Charles Maylan, 65 years old, 1424 West Madison street, a painter, was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction on a charge of larceny by Judge Thomas A. Green in the Fillmore Street court.

Maylan was captured yesterday morning by Dr. Ole Nelson, deputy warden at the hospital, and Peter Zimmer, brother of Warden Michael Zimmer, as he was leaving the hospital with a basket full of food. He told the court that commissary employes had given him baskets of food at regular intervals and that he merely took the food to a fruit store where others picked it up later.

Judge Green said he would allow leniency for Maylan if he would tell who got the food.

Scientist Gets Idea for Invention from Dream

LONDON, May 5.—(AP)—A dream gave Charles V. Boys, British scientist, the idea for his latest invention—a device for measuring public consumption of gas for light and power. Demonstrating the device last night, he related how he awoke greatly excited as a result of a dream concerning the machine. He hastened to his laboratory and began giving the revelation concrete form. Eventually he succeeded in producing a fool proof instrument which needs only a slight amount of power for operation.

LILAC BLOSSOMS ARE REQUESTED FOR YEARLY FETE

Guild to Brighten Rooms of Institutions.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Gardeners and homeowners who are expecting lilac blossoms in Chicago and its suburbs in another fortnight are being asked to coöperate in the annual lilactime activities sponsored by the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is aiding the guild in making the annual spring custom a success once more.

T. V. Purcell, president of the Chicago guild, yesterday announced that committees were being appointed and plans made to collect thousands of the lilacs and to see that they reach the wards of hospitals, the settlement houses and the rooms of the sick or confined.

Practice for Years.

The guild, which has made a practice for years of bringing cheer to those who seldom see fruits or flowers, has for its aim the sharing of these tokens of spring.

It is expected that the lilacs will be blooming in the Chicago region about May 17. Most gardeners are finding it advisable to water their lilac bushes heavily in order to supply moisture, which has been deficient because of the lack of rain. Lilacs are blooming in profusion now in central and southern Illinois.

State Club to Help.

Plans for distributing the lilacs are to be announced early next week, according to Mr. Purcell. Coöperation of the Garden Club of Illinois also has been assured by Mrs. Euclid Snow of Hinsdale, newly elected president of this federation of 140 garden clubs of the state.

The railroads, elevated, and electric suburban transportation systems are being asked to assist in assembling the flowers. The custom of former years will be followed, whereby suburbanites either bring the flowers to the terminal railroad stations or leave them with trainmen, who see that they are delivered to the booths of the guild at each terminal.

At each terminal the flowers are watered, sorted into conveniently sized bouquets, and taken in cars and trucks to the various hospitals, settlements, and to welfare stations.

LOVERS DIVIDED AS LAW TAKES GIRL TO GENEVA

Omaha, Neb., May 5.—(AP)—The law won at least a temporary decision over love today when Bertha Osman, 19 years old, left Omaha in custody of a matron headed back to the state home for girls at Geneva, Ill.

Bertha, who escaped from the institution after being committed for running away from her Chicago home, had been taken to the train when her sweetheart, Bennie Spitella, 25 years old, of Omaha, went to police headquarters this morning to comfort her. Broken hearted, he made plans to obtain a parole for her and get her back.

Omaha police hoped Bertha wouldn't have to return, but the matron who came for her had no authority. Her instructions were to take Bertha back, so back she went.

Miss Florence Monahan, superintendent of the school, is reported to have indicated she might approve plans for Bertha to remain here if her romance with Spitella was "genuine."

CLEVELAND FIRE PLOT SUSPECT IS SEIZED HERE

Roy Maypole, 43 years old, 333 South Leavitt street, was held at the state's attorney's office yesterday on a charge of having aided in an alleged plot to set fire to a warehouse in Cleveland last Nov. 30 in order to collect $850,000 in insurance money. The plot miscarried, according to the state's attorney's office, and the owner of the building and a minor Cleveland politician were arrested and placed on trial on charges of arson.

Maypole, who was employed as watchman for the building, according to police, is accused of starting the fire. He fled to Chicago but was traced by Cleveland police. Maypole denied the charge and announced that he would fight extradition. A petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed in his behalf will be heard tomorrow by Judge Harry B. Miller of the Criminal court.

Lilacs Blooming Downstate

Miss Eunice Erskine of Centralia, Ill., holds some of the early lilacs blooming on the grounds of the township high school in Centralia. Lilacs are expected to bloom in Chicago and suburbs about May 17 and plans are under way to share them with the sick and poor, following the annual custom.

HELEN KANE OF STAGE LOSES IN $250,000 TRIAL

Judge Holds in Favor of Film Firms.

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—Helen Kane today lost her suit for $250,000 against the Paramount-Publix corporation, Max Fleischer, creator of the Betty Boop animated cartoons, and the Fleischer Studios, Inc. Supreme Court Justice Edward J. McGoldrick held that she had failed to prove that the defendants wrongfully appropriated her singing and acting style in the cartoon.

Miss Kane expressed disappointment upon hearing the verdict, and said that she was deeply shocked and considered it "very unfair, as all of my friends believe the cartoons a deliberate caricature of me."

Her attorney, Samuel R. Weltz, said that an immediate appeal would be filed.

The singer sued on two grounds, charging that the defendants had used her picture in violation of the civil rights law and that the cartoons constituted unfair competition with her.

The trial began on April 17 and ended yesterday. During its course, films in which both Miss Kane and the cartoon character Betty Boop appeared were exhibited to Justice McGoldrick, who presided without a jury.

YOUTHS TOSS A MONKEY WRENCH INTO BUSINESS

Noise caused by a wrench dropped on the pavement awoke William Owens, 29 years old, a street car conductor, yesterday morning and he looked out the window of his apartment at 6449 North Hoyne avenue. He saw two youths taking a wheel off an automobile belonging to Joseph Lewis, a real estate agent who lives on the first floor.

Owens fired at the thieves twice with a .22 caliber rifle. A short time later John Miller, 19 years old, 1039 North La Salle street, applied at the Edgewater hospital for treatment of a bullet wound in the abdomen. Police arrested him. He named Richard Erickson, 16 years old, 1338 Rosedale avenue, as his companion and Erickson was arrested.

30 Days for Beating Wife; She Gets Him Out in Hour

St. Paul, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—Said the judge to Mrs. Peter Heath as he sentenced Peter to 30 days in the workhouse for beating her: "I'll keep him locked up as long as you like, Mrs. Heath. Let me know when you think he's had enough." One hour later Mrs. Heath came back. "Your honor," she said, "may I take him home now, please?"

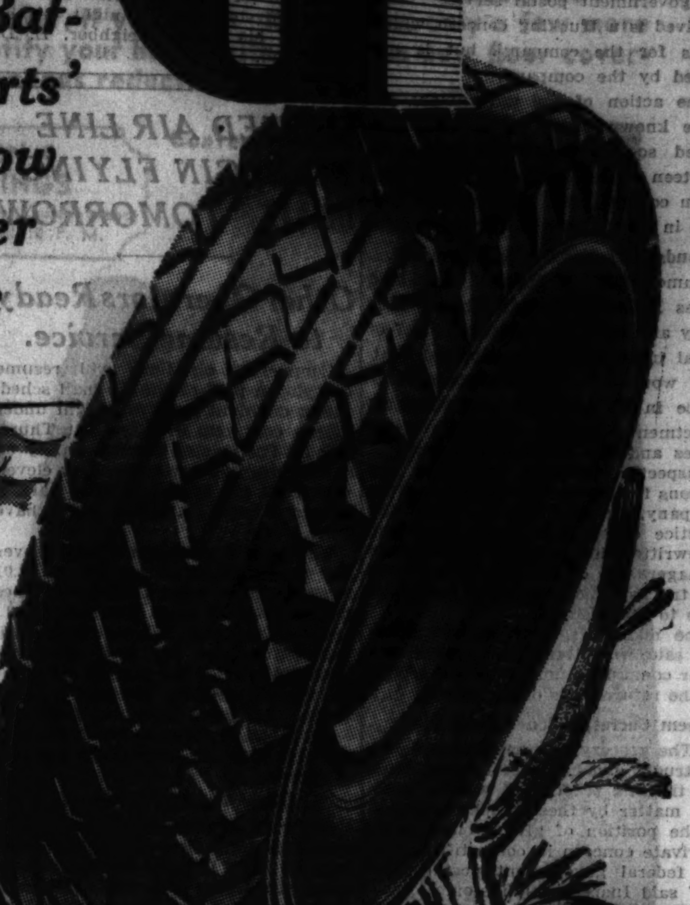
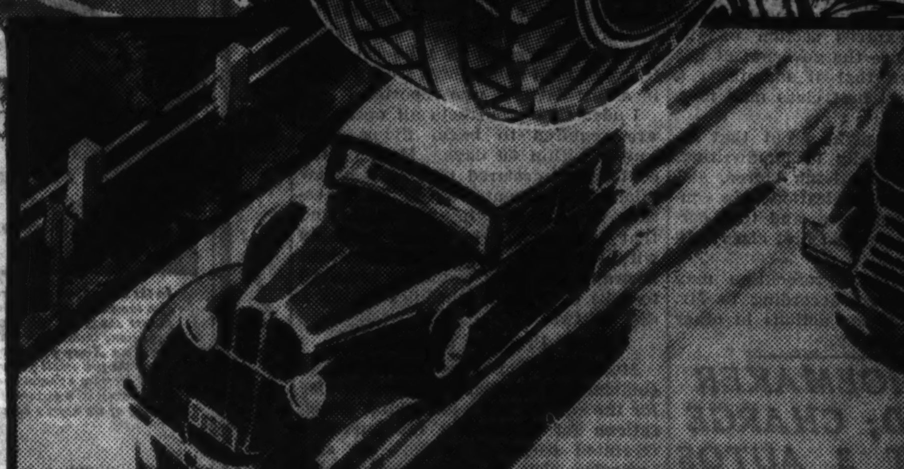
True Story of Puzzling Search for Causes of Baffling Tire-Wear in United States—Experts' Defeats and Triumphs—and how Outcome is Greatest Tire Ever to Bear the Goodyear Name

Against flywheels covered with diamond-sharp sandpaper, we tested the wearing-ability of treads

. . . collecting samples of razor-edged rock particles





. . . stomped brake pedals hour after hour

ON HIS hands and knees at the edge of a Carolina mountain road, a man was brushing up grit—fine granite flakes—beside the concrete.

Out in Arizona, beside a highway that ties two jagged horizons, another man was picking up samples of weird-colored, razor-edged rock particles.

In mountains, on deserts, and in dry lake bottoms of California other men were collecting samples of roadside debris—grit, flinty shingle, glassy sand.

All were Goodyear men. They had been rushed to these far places to help solve a most baffling industrial mystery.

With their samples, these men hurried back to Akron, where a puzzled but determined executive staff were intent upon the puzzle.

All Tires, All Makes, Affected

A mysterious malady seemed to be attacking automobile tires throughout the land. Not just competitive tires—but even ours.

"Treads wearing too fast," came the word from Goodyear salesmen, that large fraternity of "performance detectives" who work everywhere. "Not only ordinary tires, but even Goodyear All-Weathers seem to be affected."

Now, reports like that might seem to you to be ordinary in a business like Goodyear's.

But it startled everybody! Why, we knew, by very definite and accurate methods, that the quality of Goodyear tires had never been higher. The story seemed unreal.

Then, after a little while, a few clues appeared—the reports came in from east, west, north and south—but they seemed to be centered a little more in three localities where fine roads and scenic beauty invite motorists to use their cars. Chemists, engineers, "trouble shooters" were rushed to these points.

Since this is a full and true story, we must tell you of some things that had happened in the meantime.

We felt sure nothing had gone wrong in our production or methods.

But we checked, anyway. As a matter of fact, the entire factory control system was carefully gone over. Existing routines were upset. It cost a lot of money, but anything that has to do with the superiority of Goodyear tires gets all the attention it needs.

We found nothing wrong. Absolutely nothing. But "treads were wearing too fast—on all tires!"

We got very, very exact information from other parts of the country, and finally were forced to admit that all tires, including our own, were giving less tread wear.

"G-3" and Grinding Tests

With those samples of grit collected from widely separated localities we had made sandpaper. Then our engineers actually ground down tread designs with this sandpaper—mounted on high-speed "grindstones"—to test the wearing ability of treads.

They tackled also the problem of improving tread design. They analyzed road grit, studied weather reports, looked into every factor that might affect tires.

More tests followed—more grinding, scuffing, rubbing—on the roads. How those tests smoothed off the non-skid patterns!

On all but one—a tread design the engineers called simply "G-3." The word went through the plant that "they've found something."

"War" is Declared

The chief, himself, got interested in "G-3." The executives all studied the matter. Then, came the word:

"BUILD 'G-3' ALL-WEATHER TIRES FOR THE TEST CARS."

The drivers got ready. But nobody had figured on what followed in the next order:

"GIVE 'G-3' THE HARDEST TREAD WEAR YOU CAN DEVISE. DRIVE DAY AND NIGHT: THREE SHIFTS—SPEED UP TO 50, THEN JAM ON BRAKES...BRAKE HARD ON A STOP TO EVERY 2 MILES. DRIVE 600 MILES A DAY"...and more like that.

Brakes gave way first. Cars had to be halted for brake adjustment every 8 hours. Brakes had to be completely relined every 72 hours.

The drivers—all experienced veterans—showed a war-time spirit. They stomped brake pedals hour after hour. On every brake-adjustment stop they peered over the tire engineers' shoulders as the "G-3" treads were examined for wear.

The cars were fast being used up; check tires of ordinary established makes went to pieces.

"Guilty Party" is Discovered

Back at Headquarters the reports of our "performance detectives" were continuing to get attention and analysis.

By careful check and cross-check the real reason for unusual tread wear was established beyond doubt.

IT BECAME CLEAR THAT THE NEW QUICK-FOOTED, NIMBLE, EASY-STOPPING AUTOMOBILES MAKE NEW DEMANDS ON TIRE TREADS. THEY INCREASE THE WEAR—AND AT THE SAME TIME NEED TIRES THAT "KEEP THEIR GRIP"—FOR SAFE STOPS AT HIGHER SPEEDS.

Automobiles had been improved faster than tires. Now, it was up to us to build tires equal to higher power, faster driving, quicker braking.

Now—"G-3" All-Weathers for Everybody

And that is the reason why, following the performance of "G-3" in the hardest tests ever run, Goodyear executives directed the making of "G-3" All-Weathers in a few sizes.

These first "G-3" tires went to the public months ago. Incidentally, reports are already coming in from the field testifying to the superior tread wear of "G-3."

So marvelously is it meeting the use of new high-powered, fast-running, quick-stopping cars, that Goodyear now announces that "G-3" Goodyear tires in all sizes are at all Goodyear Dealers'.

Go see this brute-for-punishment. At first glance, you may think it just like the original famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread.

It has the same famous All-Weather blocks in the center of the tread where they ought to be for safety and traction on today's smoother highways.

BUT IT HAS 16% MORE OF THESE BLOCKS!

It has the same sturdy riding-ribs and grooves, BUT THE RIBS ARE 11½% WIDER! Grooves are narrower.

The TREAD IS BROADER BY 5½%—more road CONTACT—MORE RUBBER IN THE TREAD.

The block-and-rib-and-groove design is so arranged that there is less "squirming" of the pattern under load. "Cupping" and "heel-and-toe" wear are cut 50%.

Supertwist Makes it Possible

The broader tread, naturally, puts some additional strain on sidewalls. But for this demand, Goodyear—and only Goodyear!—was prepared. For only Goodyear among tire-makers has the right to use the famous extra strength, extra-flexible, extra-elastic SUPERTWIST carcass which takes this added load as easy as you please!

No extra price is asked in offering you this brand-new, highly improved "G-3" Goodyear All-Weather Tread Tire—although it is more costly to build.

You have read the straightforward story of why it was developed, and how. You can see it at any Goodyear Dealer's.

THE GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY, INC.
AKRON, OHIO

You get the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather Tread.

You get quicker-stopping and the greater road grip of more non-skid blocks in the center.

You get the easy steering and smooth travel of wider riding-ribs.

You get the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and ribs.

You get more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire.

—all of which adds up to 43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE at no extra cost to you!

U. S. MEN SEIZE STORE'S ORDERS TO ITS BRANCHES

To Prosecute Firm for Not Mailing Them.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5.—[Special.]—The federal government today took steps to crack down on a nationally known chain of retail food stores on charges of sending mailable matter by private express in competition with the government postal service. Also involved is a trucking concern which hauls for the company, but is not owned by the company.

The action of the government became known when postal inspectors seized so-called mailable matter in fourteen communities served by the chain company and the trucking concern in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Sends Directions with Shipments.

Immediately afterward, United States District Attorney Charles McAvoy and John W. Johnston, chief of postal inspectors here, admitted that they would use the seizures as evidence in an effort to obtain federal indictments against both the chain stores and the trucking company.

Inspector Johnston explained the reasons for the move. The chain store company, he said, has adopted the practice of sending handwritten and typewritten instructions to its store managers in outlying sections with the trucks which transport food supplies to those stores.

The managers, in turn, Mr. Johnston said, would send back reports and other communications with the trucks on the return trips of the trucks.

Deem Correspondence First Class.

"The grocery concern does not own the trucks, but hires the hauling done, and thus its practice of sending mailable matter by these trucks places it in the position of giving business to a private concern in competition with the federal government postal service," said Inspector Johnston.

"The matter becomes a violation of the private express section of the postal laws, since the government has held for years that it maintains a monopoly on all first class mail matter."

Mr. Johnston pointed out that instructions, especially in handwriting, to managers of outlying stores, and their return communications are considered correspondence, and that correspondence is deemed first class mail matter.

The Philadelphia prosecution may be the forerunner, according to Mr. Johnston, of similar actions in other parts of the country.

REP. SHOEMAKER NABBED; CHARGE HE HIT 3 AUTOS

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—Three irate motorists who charged Representative Shoemaker [Farmer-Labor, Minn.], had run his car into theirs, had the congressman brought to a police station late today.

First, Ralph Jacobson said he slowed his machine at an intersection. Another automobile hit it in the rear, breaking a bumper. Jacobson told police Shoemaker backed up and drove away. Another motorist, W. L. McComber, drove up, offered to assist Jacobson and together they pursued Shoemaker.

When they caught up with the congressman, they said they asked him, "What's the idea?" and that the answer came in the form of the congressman's ramming McComber's car and continuing on his way. Up the street Shoemaker's car caromed off that of N. Haines. He, too, joined in the pursuit.

"Those fellows," Shoemaker told police, "were impeding my progress. I just gave them a jar to take them out of the way. I didn't hurt their cars any."

Resists Purse Snatcher; He Beats Her and Flees

Mrs. Hazel Gurthet, 4′ years old, 6554 Yale avenue, was beaten yesterday by a robber whom she resisted when he snatched her purse containing $300 as she left the First National Bank of Englewood. She had walked only a short distance from the bank, after drawing the money to make the final payment on an automobile, when she was halted by the man at 64th street and Harvard avenue. She screamed when the man seized her purse and he struck her in the face a number of times with his fist. The purse snatcher drove away with two other men.

$50,000 EXTORTION NOTE RECEIVED BY TENNESSEE BANKER

Knoxville, Tenn., May 5. — (AP) — E. O. Guthrie, wealthy retired coal mine operator, and a director of the Hamilton National bank here, revealed today he had received a $50,000 extortion note.

He exhibited a typewritten letter, one and one-half pages long, signed "A Wrecking Crew" and in which he received instructions for leaving $50,000 in unmarked $10 bills in a milk can. He was to receive further instructions in answer to a want ad inserted in a newspaper.

Guthrie inserted the ad three days, he said, but received no answer.

"Unquestionably it is the work of experienced criminals," Postoffice Inspector Paul Childers said.

Guthrie said he received the letter April 24, the day after a charge of dynamite or nitroglycerin was exploded mysteriously at night on the lawn of his nearby neighbor, E. D. Armistead.

UNITED AIR LINE TO BEGIN FLYING MAIL TOMORROW

Other Operators Ready to Resume Service.

Commercial air lines will resume carrying a part of the air mail schedule at midnight tomorrow night under fifteen contracts awarded last Thursday by Postmaster General Farley on a temporary 90 day basis. For eleven weeks all air mail has been carried by army flyers, twelve of whom have been killed.

The private operators will take over the transcontinental service at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday, when United Air Lines planes take off from Newark, N. J., and Oakland, Cal. Chicago's air mail will leave here for New York on United planes on the regular midnight to dawn schedule starting at 1:30 a. m. An hour later air mail will leave Chicago on a United plane for the west coast, reaching there Tuesday afternoon.

Other Chicago Contracts.

Other routes from Chicago on which contracts have been let include Chicago to New Orleans to Pacific Seaboard Air Lines, Inc., and Chicago to Jacksonville, which was awarded to Eastern Air Lines, Inc. Both operators are expected to take over the flying of mail along these routes within a few days, it was reported.

Under their contracts all operators are required to begin flying their routes within 30 days. Most of the contractors declared that only a few minor adjustments would be necessary to resume flying the mails and that they would be ready probably within a week. Officials of American Airways said they would be prepared to take over their schedules within a day or two.

Army Prepares to Disband.

Meanwhile Col. Horace Hickam, in command of the army air mail service for the central zone, is making preparations for disbanding his hurriedly recruited corps of pilots. He said yesterday that 42 reserve officers on mail duty would be relieved of their duties when all the routes have been returned to the commercial operators.

Policeman Shoots Mexican on Rampage with Pistol

Three men were wounded in a shooting disturbance in the neighborhood of Roosevelt road and Peoria street last night. The trouble began when Joseph Campos, 29 years old, 714 West 14th place, a Mexican, ran amuck and began shooting wildly. His bullets struck Robert Mitchell, 28, a Negro, 1217 Peoria street, in the arm and Mike Novorcid, 50, a Mexican, 1233 Peoria street, in the side and arm. Sergt. John Hickey of the Maxwell street station quelled Campos by shooting him in the left leg.

3 Killed, 8 Injured as 2 Tornadoes Hit Louisiana

Cheneyville, La., May 5.—[U. P.]—Two tornadoes struck here within 30 minutes of each other late today and proceeded through Avoyelles parish. Three persons were killed and eight seriously injured. Six tenant farm homes near here were destroyed. The storm reached the height of its fury in the vicinity of Cocoville, where a half dozen homes were demolished. Property damage was estimated at $100,000.

College Press Group Picks De Paul Man as President

Lexington, Ky., May 5.—(AP)—The National College Press association today voted to hold its 1935 convention at De Paul university, Chicago, and elected Paul Fitzgerald, business manager of the De Paulia, student publication at De Paul, president of the association.

SHORTER TERM MAY BE GIVEN RONALD FINNEY

Topeka, Kas., May 5.—(AP)—Ronald Finney, key figure in the Kansas million dollar bogus bond scandal, may receive a lighter penalty than the 31 to 635 year sentence imposed after he pleaded guilty to forgery charges last Dec. 23.

The State Supreme court today returned Finney's case to the trial court for resentencing, ruling that a trial judge is not required to make sentences. On various counts in the same charge run consecutively, as did Judge Paul H. Heinz, who said a Supreme court decision required it.

Judge Heinz was upheld in his refusal to allow Finney to withdraw his guilty plea, made, Finney alleged, upon a promise of a 15 year minimum term. Judge Heinz denied he entered into such an agreement.

Finney is confined in the Shawnee county jail here, where he has been since his arrest last August.

FESS CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION TO U. S. SENATE

Columbus, O., May 5.—(AP)—Ohio's senior senator, Simeon D. Fess, 72, was definitly a candidate for reëlection today.

The former Republican national chairman and former party whip gave formality to his candidacy by obtaining nominating papers at the office of the secretary of state.

Fess' entry again raised the question of his probable opposition in the primary. Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth and former Attorney General Gilbert Bettman had been considered as possible entrants.

The field also remained in doubt on the Democratic side, with Gov. George White announced for the senatorial toga, former Gov. Vic Donahey in possession of nominating papers, and the intentions of Congressman Charles V. Truax still undisclosed.

SWEET SHOP ROBBED.

Englewood police yesterday were searching for two men who held up the Honey Comb Sweet shop, 6901 South Halsted street, and took $93 and 25 quarts of liquor and 26 cartons of cigarets.

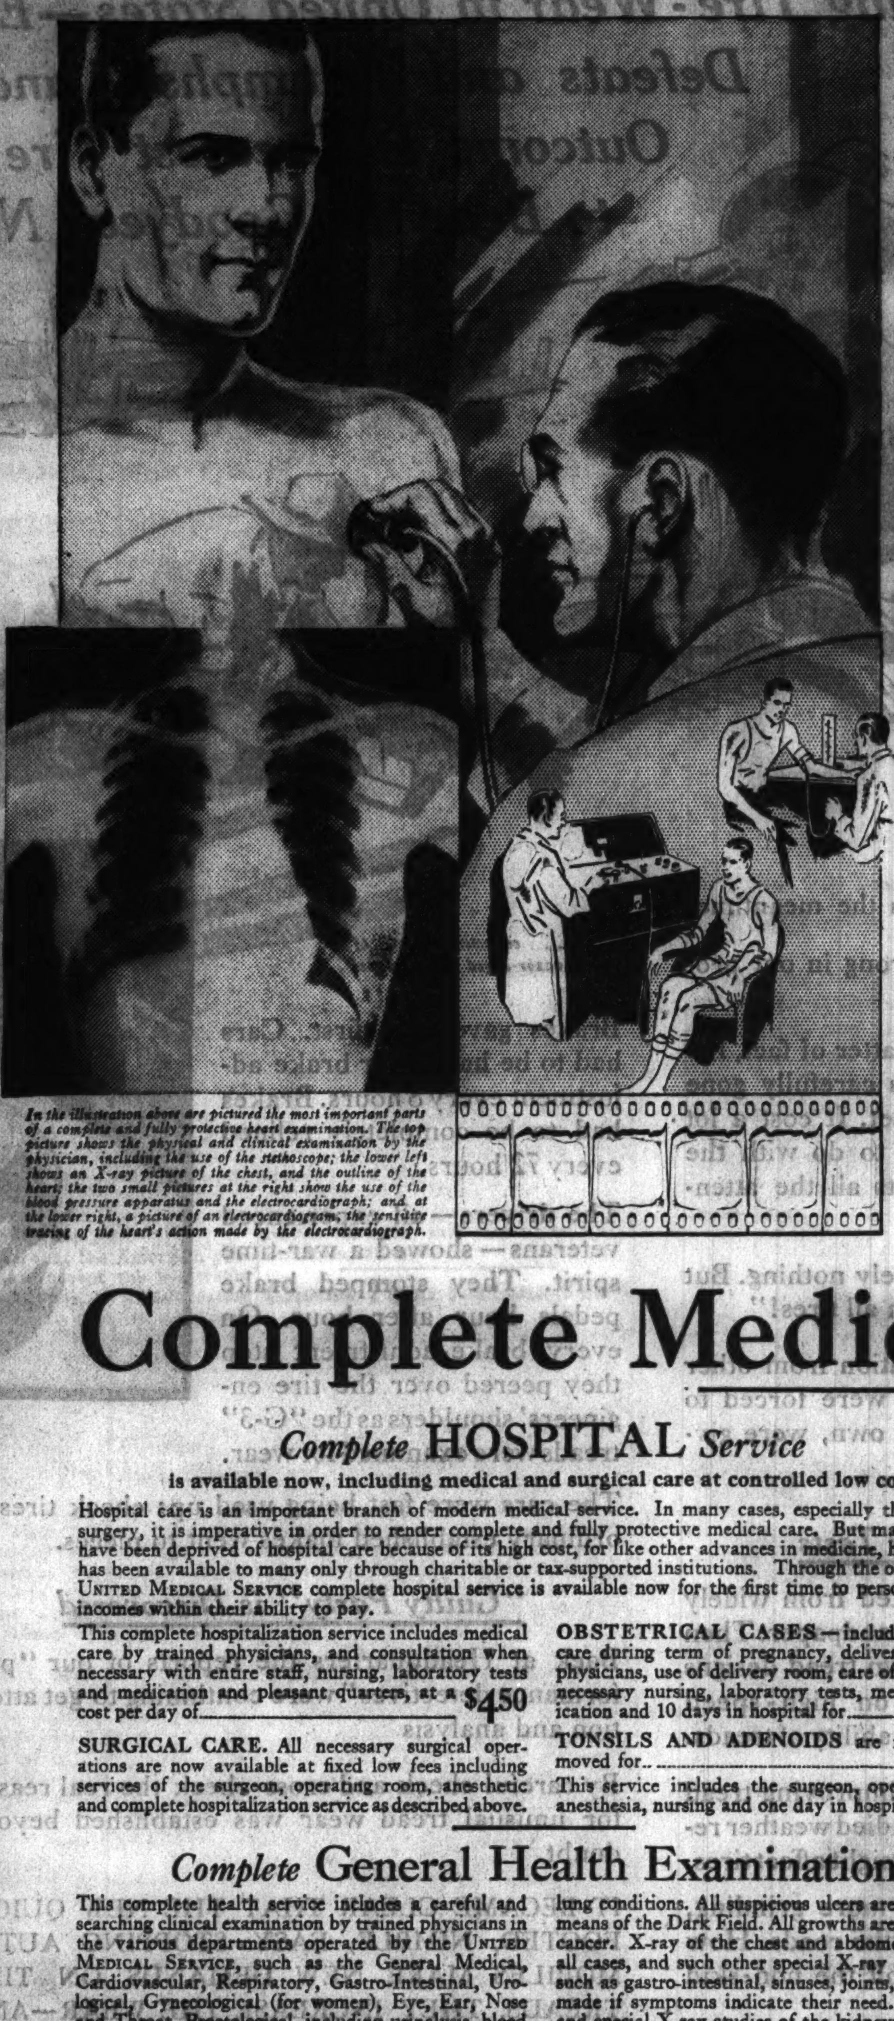
Heart Disease-
is the leading cause of Death yet it can be prevented largely by timely medical examinations and care!



In the illustration above are pictured the most important parts of a complete and fully protective heart examination. The top picture shows the physical and clinical examination by the physician, including the use of the stethoscope; the lower left shows an X-ray picture of the chest, and the outline of the heart; the two small pictures at the right show the use of the blood pressure apparatus and the electrocardiograph; and at the lower right, a picture of an electrocardiogram, the sensitive tracing of the heart's action made by the electrocardiograph.

Heart disease caused the death of more persons in Chicago during the past year than cancer, tuberculosis and pneumonia combined. And further, it is estimated that over two million persons today in this country have serious heart trouble, and are disabled to a greater or less degree.

This deplorable situation largely is due to the fact that most persons suffering from heart disease are unaware of its presence until serious damage has been done. Heart trouble is very often not primary but is the result of disease in some other part of the body. Among the outstanding causes of organic heart disease are rheumatism, certain contagious diseases of childhood, syphilis, diseased tonsils or adenoids, infected teeth and other focal infections including even a serious cold and improper habits of living, diabetes, kidney disease, high blood pressure. Rheumatic heart disease constitutes almost 40% of all cardiac ailments. Many persons come out of childhood with hearts that are potentially crippled and from which they will begin to suffer later in life without knowledge of their condition.

Medicine has adequate knowledge and scientific facilities to prevent a large percentage of cardiac fatalities through early diagnosis and medical supervision and care. Many cases of heart disorders are curable. Often serious trouble can be avoided for years if properly treated and cared for. The increasing number of deaths from heart disease can be attributed largely to lack of early medical supervision and care. And this lack of early medical attention in many cases is due to its high cost. In addition to the services of the physician for clinical and physical examinations, a complete and protective heart examination requires the use of the X-ray, electrocardiograph and medical laboratory tests. Because of the high cost of these scientific facilities, family physicians have not employed them routinely to substantiate their clinical findings and, as a result in many cases, full protection was denied the patient.

To be complete and fully protective an examination designed to detect beginning heart disease should include the following:—A special study of the patient, the family history, environment and habits of living, a complete physical and clinical examination by an experienced physician, including the use of the stethoscope and the blood pressure apparatus, a six-foot distance full size X-ray film of the chest showing an outline of the heart to reveal abnormalities of contour and allow it to be accurately measured, a fluoroscopic X-ray study when indicated, an electrocardiogram of the heart's action made by the electrocardiograph, a highly sensitive machine which picks up and records the electrical changes in the heart muscles for observation and study, and medical laboratory tests, including urinalysis, complete blood and serological examinations.

Complete Medical Care at Low Cost

Complete HOSPITAL Service
is available now, including medical and surgical care at controlled low costs

Hospital care is an important branch of modern medical service. In many cases, especially those requiring surgery, it is imperative in order to render complete and fully protective medical care. But many thousands have been deprived of hospital care because of its high cost, for like other advances in medicine, hospitalization has been available to many only through charitable or tax-supported institutions. Through the organization of UNITED MEDICAL SERVICE complete hospital service is available now for the first time to persons of limited incomes within their ability to pay.

This complete hospitalization service includes medical care by trained physicians, and consultation when necessary with entire staff, nursing, laboratory tests and medication and pleasant quarters, at a cost per day of _____ $4.50

SURGICAL CARE. All necessary surgical operations are now available at fixed low fees including services of the surgeon, operating room, anesthetic and complete hospitalization service as described above.

OBSTETRICAL CASES—including pre-natal care during term of pregnancy, delivery by trained physicians, use of delivery room, care of the child, all necessary nursing, laboratory tests, medication and 10 days in hospital for _____ $45.00

TONSILS AND ADENOIDS are removed for _____ $20.00
This service includes the surgeon, operating room, anesthesia, nursing and one day in hospital.

Complete General Health Examinations

This complete health service includes a careful and searching clinical examination by trained physicians in the various departments operated by the UNITED MEDICAL SERVICE, such as the General Medical, Cardiovascular, Respiratory, Gastro-Intestinal, Urological, Gynecological (for women), Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, Proctological, including urinalysis, blood examination, serological tests and microscopic examinations of all discharges. If necessary, as a result of symptoms disclosed there can be a metabolism test, stomach content analysis, stool examination, cerebrospinal fluid examination and microscopic examinations of secretions. Sputum is examined in all lung conditions. All suspicious ulcers are examined by means of the Dark Field. All growths are examined for cancer. X-ray of the chest and abdomen is made in all cases, and such other special X-ray examinations, such as gastro-intestinal, sinuses, joints, etc., are also made if symptoms indicate their need. Cystoscopic and special X-ray studies of the kidneys and bladder are made if necessary. In all cases there is a full-mouth X-ray of the teeth (14 films) with a dental examination by a registered dentist. This examination has been made specially complete to give adequate protection against the major causes of disability and death. The nominal charge for this complete service is $20.00.

Complete OPTICAL Service

Only an experienced physician can render the full and complete eye protection that is available in our own optical department. And in addition we offer style, quality and scientific accuracy in fitting and grinding at substantial savings. Charges for complete glasses, including a fully protected eye examination by a physician trained in diseases of the eye, and depending upon the type of lens correction needed and style and quality of frame selected, are as low as $5.50

Patients who have prescriptions obtained elsewhere or wish to duplicate or replace broken lenses, or to check those which they already have can obtain at no additional charge, the services of our registered optometrist, and complete glasses, depending on type of lens correction needed and style and quality of frame selected, as low as _____ $2.50

Complete DENTAL Care

Infected teeth frequently cause serious functional disorders in other parts of the body. Partial, even total disability, is not unusual in some cases. A few of the many disorders which may be caused by focal infection at the roots of bad teeth are—heart trouble, kidney disorders, arthritis, neuritis, appendicitis and disturbances in the gastro-intestinal tract. A searching examination of the teeth and gum tissue by our experienced and registered dentists, including a full mouth X-ray, is a necessary part of our complete General Health Examination. Complete dental facilities are available. We are also prepared through our dental laboratories and manufacturing departments, to furnish plates, bridges, and other dental replacements to the public and the dental profession at controlled low costs.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS should not delay treatment any longer

The greatest protection against Hay Fever is continuous all year round treatment. Those sufferers who have not had this medical care should not delay any longer. According to reliable statistics over two million persons suffer from Hay Fever, Asthma and certain skin disorders because of a disturbing reaction to pollen, food, dust and other foreign substances. These annoying, debilitating and frequently incapacitating diseases can be successfully treated when properly diagnosed. We are especially equipped to study the cause and to treat these and such other ailments as come under this classification. A very large percentage of Hay Fever sufferers can be relieved. Treatment should begin now before symptoms appear. Complete skin tests are $15.00. Individual treatments _____ 75c

A Special Heart and Lung Examination

includes a physical and clinical examination by a trained physician, blood pressure, urinalysis, microscopic examination of sputum, complete blood and serological tests, electrocardiogram, a six-foot distance full size X-ray film of the chest showing the outline of the heart and condition of the lungs, and fluoroscopic X-ray when indicated. The charge for this complete service is _____ $5.00

Where a stereoscopic study of the lungs is indicated, necessitating two full-size films, there will be an extra charge of $1.00.

A Special Eye Examination to be completely protective should include a medical examination of the eyes by a physician, refraction, and special tests for vision, urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests. The charge for this service here is _____ $3.00

A Special Ear, Nose and Throat Examination will include the tonsils, throat and larynx, the nose and connecting sinuses by trans-illumination, the ears and complete tests for hearing defects by a trained physician, also urinalysis and complete blood and serological tests. This complete examination can be had here for _____ $3.00

A Special Urological Examination for men and women for all ailments of an infectious or non-infectious character, includes a regional and clinical examination by a trained physician, microscopic examination of all secretions and discharges, urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests; the charge is _____ $3.00

Repeated visits $1.00. Six consecutive visits $4.00

A Special Gynecological Examination for women for all ailments of an infectious or non-infectious character, includes a regional and clinical examination by a trained physician, microscopic examination of all secretions and discharges, urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests for _____ $3.00

Special tests for pregnancy or sterility are available at low cost.

A Special Gastro-Intestinal Examination includes the following: Physical examination by trained physicians, urinalysis, a complete blood examination and serological tests for _____ $3.00

In addition, if necessary there is a laboratory examination of the gastric contents and of the stool for mucus, blood and parasites, for _____ $2.50

A fluoroscopic examination following a barium meal, repeated at intervals necessary to watch the barium pass through the entire gastro-intestinal tract, including a full size X-ray film of the abdomen, for _____ $4.00

A special X-ray examination of the gall bladder is _____ $3.00

A Special Rectal Examination includes a clinical examination by a trained physician, use of the anoscope and the proctoscope, urinalysis, complete blood examination and serological tests and microscopic examination of the stool for blood, mucus and amoebae. The charge for this service is $5.00

Modern medicine has developed a painless and effective office treatment for most conditions affecting the rectum. This can be had now at low cost.

Minor Surgery We are especially equipped to care for all surgical conditions, including those of an emergency and first aid nature, which can be done away from the hospital. A competent and experienced surgeon with special training in the diagnosis and practice of surgery is in charge of this important service. Every facility has been provided to aid in caring for this type of surgical case.
This department also is equipped to render valuable service in treating Varicose Veins.

Skin Diseases In our Dermatological Department we are prepared to diagnose and treat all types of skin disease and growths, also diseases of the scalp, some of which cause loss of hair and dandruff and are curable. This department is under the supervision of a trained and experienced dermatologist and is equipped with all facilities necessary for providing competent skin therapy. A special dermatological examination including urinalysis, complete blood and serological tests, is $3.00. Subsequent consultations are _____ $1.00

Some of the many X-ray and Medical Laboratory Services available to our patients and to the public through their own family physicians. Other services proportionately low.

SEEK NEW WAYS TO IMPROVE OIL FOR HIGH SPEEDS

Industry Spends Millions on "Cracking" Process.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A revolution is in progress in the oil industry due to new processes of making high pressure lubricants. Ten million dollars is being spent in new equipment, and research laboratories are working to perfect an ideal oil which will withstand the disruptive forces put upon it by engines which can be designed for still higher speeds than now.

Industrial chemists hold that the modern high speed, high pressure lightweight engines in automobiles, airplanes and the new type of railroad train are laboratory children, just as much as the new "test tube babies."

The film of oil on the working parts enables the engines to run; if the oil skin is broken the engine freezes, and the chemists maintain that modern high speeds are made possible by the new types of resistant oil films, in cylinders and elsewhere, and the fact that the oil industry has kept pace with engine designers.

Chemical Solvents Used.

New types of lubricating oils are being extracted by the use of chemical solvents. To the oil industry the new processes are held quite as revolutionary as was the cracking process which was put into commercial operation some twenty years ago in the making of gasoline. Out of this grew the modern engine fuel, without which the modern engines would probably not run so efficiently.

There are several solvents in use in the extraction of the new "oily oil." Among them is furfural, which is made from corn cobs and other farm waste.

It may be that the Iowa corn cob may make possible within the next ten years travel between Chicago and New York in two hours and a half by passenger airplane. So the technicians say.

Dr. Egloff Explains Needs.

Dr. Gustav Egloff, director of research, Universal Oil Products company, discussed yesterday the oil film on which high speed automobile and airplane trafic is traveling. He is rated a leading scientist in several specialized lines and is president of the Chicago Chemists club.

"Ten years ago," said Dr. Egloff, "a cruising speed of 35 miles an hour for automobiles was pretty good. It was a good average speed on a transcontinental run by experts. Today we travel in our cars at cruising speeds of 50 to 65 miles an hour with greater comfort and safety. It is due to improved brakes, to lighter motors in which alloys have been used, to wind resisting design and other factors, and to improvements in gasoline and oil.

Cites Plane Speeds.

"In airplanes ten years ago 90 miles an hour was good speed. Now we can travel to New York from Chicago at approximately 160 miles an hour, in five and three-quarters hours. In five or ten years we should be able to make the trip in less than three hours on passenger planes.

"This development of the high speed engine placed upon the research worker a mandate to produce higher grade fuels, and lubricating oils that will resist high temperatures in the cylinders and prevent the parts from sticking together.

"So the oil industry has been producing part of its lubricant oil by chemical means. It has been cracking oil and then by chemical treatment changing the nature of the hydrocarbons into a more resistant oil which will not oxidize or carbonize when subjected to the conditions of the high speed motors of today and those in sight.

Extraction Industry Grows.

"Also a solvent extraction industry has been built up in the last year or so which physically separates from lubricating oil the parts that are not satisfactory. These solvents take out the hydrocarbons which have high adhesion and high oiliness, and put a tough film structure on the steel portions to be lubricated.

"These solvents hand pick the high pressure oils and discard the hydrocarbons, which have poor lubricating quality. The lubricating oil industry is spending more than 5 million dollars this year on solvent extraction plants and another 5 millions is to be spent by solvent concerns.

Synthetic Solvents.

"These solvents are largely of a synthetic nature, such as chlorex, or dichloroethyl ether. This comes from ethylene in the gas produced by cracking oil. The ethylene is treated with chlorine and converted into the finished compound.

"Among other solvents are nitrobenzene, phenol, propane, and furfural. The latter may develop a substantial market for use of agricultural wastes in the subtraction of good oil.

"The toughness of the film of oil, on which the working of the engine depends, is dependent upon the nature and structure of the hydrogen and carbon chemically combined. The chemists rearrange hydrocarbons as produced by nature into another type which has this tough strength.

Describes Chemical Process.

"Excellent oily hydrocarbons are found in crude oil, but they cannot be separated by fractional distillation because they have the same boiling point as the poor hydrocarbons. So the chemical solvent is employed. It dissolves the oiliness of the tough hydrocarbons and leaves the poor hydrocarbons undissolved. They are poured off. Then the solvent and the extracted oil are subjected to distillation and the chemical solvent is separated from the good lubricating oil hydrocarbons. Great intensive research has been going on and the laboratories are busy everywhere.

"The ideal for which laboratories are striving is a lubricating oil which will have no change in viscosity as the temperature changes, which will have zero reaction between air and the lubricating oil, or high nonoxidizability, and which under service conditions will have zero carbon formation.

"When we get these three we feel confident that no machine ever designed to meet future demands of speed and pressure will ever break down due to failure of lubricating oil."

INVENTOR OF THE ROSS RIFLE SUED ON CHARGE HE CHOKED PLAINTIFF

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—Sir Charles Henry Ross, big game hunter and inventor of the Ross rifle, was sued for $200,000 today in the District of Columbia Supreme court by Paul Shapiro, who claims Sir Charles severely beat him recently.

Shapiro said in the suit he went to Sir Charles, home to discuss a business deal and that Sir Charles, a Scotch baronet, became enraged, beat him with his fists and choked him.

The Ross rifle was widely used in the world war. The patent later was sold to the Canadian government.

SHOOTS AT FRIEND; JAILED.

Joseph Lipo, 36 years old, 1212 Oregon avenue, was arrested yesterday by the Des Plaines street police after he had fired two wild shots at Walter Davis, 1311 West Congress stret, with whom he had been drinking.

FIRESTONE URGES U. S. MANDATE TO GUARD LIBERIANS

Akron, O., May 5.—(AP)—A belief that the United States should accept the leadership in the rehabilitation of Liberia under a league of nations plan was expressed today by Harvey S. Firestone Sr.

The Firestone Tire and Rubber company has a 99 year lease on 1,000,000 acres of rubber growing land in the African republic and already has 53,000 acres planted. First tapping of rubber can be made this year, Firestone said, if the governmental troubles are ironed out.

The league of nations plan calls for nine league appointees to be experts in government administration, finance, law, medicine, and education "to aid the Liberian government in rehabilitating the country in accordance with present day standards."

"There is a likelihood," the rubber company chairman declared, "of immediate and drastic action which may affect the political future of Liberia very seriously should Liberia maintain its opposition to the plan.

"We believe that the American government should accept the leadership in assisting Liberia to rehabilitation through the league plan, as the American people are responsible for the establishment of that country."

RUSSIA, POLAND EXTEND PEACE TREATY TO 1945

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, May 5.—The soviet government completed negotiations intended to assure peace on Russia's western borders with the extension today of the present nonaggression pact with Poland until the end of 1945.

The protocol extending the pact, which was executed in 1932, was signed at the foreign office here by Foreign Commissar Litvinov and the Polish Ambassador Lukasevich. The protocol provides for automatic extension of the pact for two year periods after 1945 indefinitly, unless either party gives six months' notice of its desire to end it.

The signing of the protocol is regarded here as solving several vexing and perhaps dangerous problems. Mainly it settles the question of whether Germany and Poland have had some secret agreement which might menace Russia.

MEDINAH CLUB'S REORGANIZATION PLAN APPROVED

New Name, Open Membership Features.

Reorganization of the Medinah Michigan Avenue club under the name of the Medinah Club of Chicago as the first step in increasing the revenue of the property by throwing it open to membership to all desirable persons regardless of creed or fraternal affiliations was authorized yesterday by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. The club was formerly the Medinah Athletic club, which is now in federal receivership.

Judge Woodward approved a petition submitted by Saul B. Optner, receiver, asking permission to organize a new club under the laws of the state of Illinois as a means of increasing the club's revenue by expanding its membership. Formal announcement of the reorganization, it was indicated, will be made tomorrow.

McKee to Be President.

J. L. McKee, vice president of the New York Central railroad, will be the club's president, the petition indicated. Other executive posts will be occupied by Thomas Hanlon, vice president of the Western News company; James Morrison, vice president of the Pullman company, and John W. Bingham, general trafic manager of the Corn Products company.

The petition asked permission to charge fees of $5 a month for resident members and $12 a month for nonresident members. A majority of the club's present membership, the petition stated, have agreed to remain under the new arrangement.

Organized New Club.

After the receivership was instituted the majority membership of the old club organized the Medinah Michigan Avenue club on a temporary basis retaining the restrictions—it was later charged—which characterized the original club. This group later sought permission from Judge Woodward through their counsel, Attorney Oscar Carlstrom, to lease the property at a stipulated rental on a permanent basis.

This move was bitterly opposed by Attorney Irving Herriott, counsel for the Seneca Securities company which instituted the receivership. He asserted at the time of the court hearing that "we are being asked to give the club back to the same crowd which ran it in the ground." He also charged the club had discriminated against otherwise desirable persons because of creed or fraternal connections.

The receivership of the club has been marked by frequent court wrangles over the membership. Outstanding debts against the 42 story building, which is valued at $8,000,000, totaled $5,781,000 when Judge Woodward made his report. These were made up as follows: First mortgage, plus accrued interest, $4,347,000; second mortgage, plus accrued interest, $710,906; unsecured notes, plus accrued interest, $512,000, and unsecured open accounts, $214,078.

Choose Their Victims, Then Rob Them in Hotel Room

Two armed men early yesterday approached the clerk in the Ansonia hotel, 2709 West Washington street, overpowered him, locked him in an elevator, took the key to the room of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Coulter, and entered their room. The robbers awoke the Coulters, took $326 and jewelry valued at $1,800, and escaped. The Coulters said they could not explain how the men had known they had registered at the hotel. The Coulter home is 5344 West Madison street.

Former Grid Star Made Evanston Juvenile Officer

Policeman L. W. Calderwood, a member of the Evanston police force for six years and a former Northwestern university football star, was appointed juvenile officer of the Evanston department yesterday by Chief William O. Freeman. Calderwood takes the place of Policeman Elmer Higley, who was killed in an automobile accident Tuesday. Judge Harry H. Porter of the Evanston Municipal court appointed Calderwood probation officer of the court and motion picture censor for the suburb.

DRIVER FLEEING POLICE STRIKES MOTHER, BABY

Both Are Believed Fatally Hurt; Ex-Convict Held.

A mother and her 7 month old daughter were possibly fatally injured early last evening when an automobile driven by an ex-convict who was fleeing from a police squad swerved onto the sidewalk at Leavitt and Augusta streets.

The victims, Mrs. Mary Borrisch, 45 year olds, 2347 Walton street, and the infant, Helen, who was in a baby buggy, were pinned by the car against a wall. Both were taken to St. Mary's hospital. Mrs. Borrisch suffered a fracture of the left leg and internal injuries. The baby had broken bones and internal injuries.

Although Mrs. Borrisch and her husband, Henry, have been married more than twenty years, the child is the only one born to them. Borrisch went to the hospital last night and slept in the room with the infant.

Driver Is Seized.

The driver, Bernard Dziakdzic, 22 years old, 1720 West Erie street, and two companions, who tried to flee after the wrecking of the car, were seized by Policeman Joseph Mocny of the West North avenue station. The others with Dziakdzic were his brother Walter, 24 years old, owner of the automobile, and John Hudzima, 18 years old, 2058 West Erie street.

Another police motor squad, commanded by Sergt. Joseph Morrison, caught sight of the three men at Grand and Damen avenues a few minutes earlier and attempted to halt and question them. Bernard Dziakdzic, seeing the policemen approach, put on speed in an effort to evade them.

On Zig Zag Course.

With Sergt. Morrison and his men in close pursuit, the fugitive traced a zig zag course through northwest side streets until, at Wood and Augusta streets, the police car was delayed by a truck which cut across its path. It war far behind the Dziakdzic car when the woman and her child were hurt, and the fleeing trio would have escaped had not Policeman Mocny been near the scene of the crash.

The driver of the car claimed he had run onto the sidewalk to avoid a collision with a truck. He and the other two men were taken to the bureau of identification, where it was discovered Walter Dziakdzic had once served a term in Pontiac reformatory.

Dies of Injuries.

Arthur Durkin, 20 years old, 3028 Arlington street, died yesterday in the county hospital of injuries received in an accident at South Western avenue and West Roosevelt road April 27.

Hugh Ryland, 24 years old, a member of the CCC stationed at Fort Sheridan, was charged with reckless driving following the accident, in which his car collided with one in which Durkin was a passenger. The case against Ryland has been postponed in trafic court until May 17.

Edward B. Dowd, 36 years old, Joliet road, La Grange, was fatally injured last night and Harry Hartigan, 41, also of Joliet road La Grange, was critically injured in a head-on collision between their automobile and a street car at 4700 Ogden avenue, Cicero. Several passengers in the trolley car were shaken. Dowd, superintendent of a stone quarry in La Grange, died later in the Berwyn hospital. Hartigan was taken there also. He may die.

The deaths of Durkin and Dowd raised the motor toll in Cook county to 403 since Jan. 1.

Milwaukee Driver Killed.

George Baumback, 34 years old, of Milwaukee, was killed yesterday when his automobile struck a culvert on the Lincoln highway five miles east of Joliet, skidded off the road and overturned. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Baumback, was only slightly injured. She was taken to the Silver Cross hospital in Joliet.

Ross Pouley, 26, son of Edward Pouley, a farmer who lives near Elburn, in Kane county, was fatally injured on his father's farm yesterday when he was run over by a heavy tractor. He got off the machine to kick a boulder out of the way, leaving the engine running. When the tractor started up, his foot caught in the flange of one of the wheels and he was dragged under the machine and crushed to death.

MORRIS FRIES, 63, IS DEAD; FUNERAL RITES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Morris Fries, 63 years old, who died Thursday night of a heart attack in his home at 2549 Ainslie street, will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Piser chapel, 3125 West Roosevelt road. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery.

Mr. Fries resided in Chicago for 49 years. He was a metal broker. An item yesterday incorrectly identified him as an owner of the Malwitz Fries Motor company. Mr. Fries is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Fries; one son, Jack, and four daughters, Estella, Jean, Mrs. Rose Lieber, and Mrs. Eleanor Gordon.

5,000 BOY SCOUTS STAGE BIG SHOW IN THE STADIUM

Chicago Boy Scouts, about 5,000 of them, showed what they can do in many ways in two big circus shows at the Chicago Stadium yesterday and last night. The Stadium was filled with spectators who fully enjoyed and cheered the Scout doings.

There was music. There were games, athletics, parades, drills, maneuvers, clowning, and dozens of other acts. Participating in many of the affairs were the Sea Scouts, who were well represented. One of the outstanding acts put on was an Indian ceremony, climaxed by a realistic war dance.

The finale was also impressive, with Scouts of many nations, and including representatives of the 600 Scout troops in Chicago.

Woman Killed in Auto; Others Do Not Know It

Logansport, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Pearl Dingledin, 35, was killed today when a car in which she was riding with her sister-in-law, Iva Dingledin, 32, and Charles Long, 60, sideswiped a truck parked at a curb here. Police said the car was driven about the city for 30 minutes before the sister and Long found that the woman had been killed. Indications are that she was leaning with her head outside the car window when the accident happened. No damage was done to the car or the truck.

Herman Schroeder, Church School Teacher, Is Dead

Herman L. Schroeder, 44 years old, of Palatine, a teacher in the Immanuel Lutheran school of Palatine, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial hospital following an operation. Mr. Schroeder had taught in church schools in Chicago before going to Palatine. He is survived by his wife and two daughters. DIOCESE FOUNDED 100 YEARS AGO IN VINCENNES, IND.

Vincennes, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—Thousands will throng this historic city tomorrow for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Catholic diocese of Vincennes which originally served the entire state of Indiana and part of Illinois, including Chicago.

The diocesan see was moved to Indianapolis in 1878 but the celebration tomorrow will commemorate the founding of the original diocese, which came into being only after pioneer priests had overcome innumerable obstacles.

The old St. Francis Xavier cathedral has been restored to its original beauty for the elaborate ceremonies and mass will be celebrated in front of the historic structure by the Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani, papal delegate to Washington, D. C.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana will deliver the address at the dedication of the site of the statue honoring Father Pierre Gibault, pioneer priest of the northwest. The sermon will be delivered by the Most Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the Catholic University of America.

EMILY MUNSELL, PIONEER CHICAGO RESIDENT, IS DEAD

Mrs. Emily M. Munsell, 84 years old, pioneer Chicago resident, died yesterday at her home at 4222 Oakenwald avenue, where she had lived for 63 years. Mrs. Munsell was a past president of the Illinois Circle of Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic. She is survived by the widower, Frank Munsell, past commander of the Lincoln post of the G. A. R.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the chapel at 4723 Cottage Grove avenue. Burial will be in Oakwoods cemetery.

Autopsy Reveals Paget's Death of Natural Causes

Attorneys G. Bernard Anderson and George F. Anderson, representing the estate of Harry E. Paget, former Chicagoan who died in St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 20, announced yesterday an autopsy showed death was due to acute inflammation of the pancreas and not to poison. At the request of George H. Paget, 41 East Schiller street, a brother, the attorneys obtained a court order for the exhumation of the body and Dr. Jerry Kearns of the coroner's office made the examination. The body has been sent here for burial in Oak Hill cemetery. Dr. Kearns made the finding of the cause of death.

Horner Pays Respects at Bier of Rep. Sol Handy

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—(AP)—Gov. Horner today motored to Marshall to pay his respects to the memory of Representative Sol Handy who was found shot to death Thursday. Funeral services, which the governor could not attend because of a previous engagement, will be held Sunday. Tomorrow the governor will attend a music festival at Herrin. He was accompanied to Marshall by Ernest Palmer, director of the state insurance department.

HUNGRY SCHOOL CHILDREN'S FUND SPENDS $74,272

No Contributions Needed in Last Year.

Without making a public appeal for contributions, the Hungry School Children's fund quietly carried on its work the last year providing free lunches to the neediest public school children in the city.

The fund was inaugurated by THE TRIBUNE in the fall of 1931, the peak depression year, when it was discovered that children were not only coming to school hungry but also were fainting in the classroom. Since its inception the fund has expended a total of $74,272.46.

121 Schools Served.

An audit made by THE TRIBUNE of the books kept by Miss Frances L. Swain, head of the household arts department of the Chicago public schools, who acted as treasurer for the fund, revealed yesterday that since the first audit was made Sept. 1, 1932, a total of $26,967.37 has been spent in this free lunchroom service in 121 schools. Three schools received more than $1,000 during this period—the Coleman school [colored], Montefiore, and Mosely.

Although the greater portion of the $26,000 was spent in the school year 1932-'33, funds were available during the last year for the schools in greatest need. Twenty such schools were benefited.

Express Appreciation.

Miss Swain, in a letter to THE TRIBUNE, expressed her appreciation for the fund and praise for the interest of this newspaper in the health of neediest pupils.

"The audit just completed closes the administration of the Hungry School Children's Lunch fund," Miss Swain wrote. "I wish to express our deep appreciation for the great benefits which this fund has brought to the pupils and to the families from which they come.

$3,000 Available This Year.

"Although there has been no appeal for contributions this year, we have had available nearly $3,000 which was used in localities where the need was most imperative. A generous part was used in schools where pupils from fresh air rooms are in need of extra nutrition, which is a part of their rehabilitation."

In commenting on the audit, D. M. Deininger, auditor and controler of THE TRIBUNE, said: "Miss Swain receives and deposits the Tribune company checks in the Northern Trust Company Hungry School Children's account and disburses checks signed by herself as treasurer against this fund. The checks were issued to the school principals. Every dollar was used for supplying food for the children in the schools."

Welcomed by Teachers.

Teachers, although unpaid, had fed the hungriest of their pupils out of their own funds, but with delayed salaries this became almost impossible. The fund was welcomed by many teachers who had witnessed the tragedy of pale faces and undersized bodies in their classrooms.

Through teachers and truant officers a fairly accurate count of the neediest pupils could be ascertained. After the emergency relief commission had begun functioning and a workable plan of rations for the children's families had been established the schools were able to concentrate particularly on the fresh air children who needed special diet and care in the classroom.

MISS ELLA SHEEDY FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Funeral services for Miss Ella Sheedy, 55 years old, 1053 East 47th street, who was an adult probation officer of Cook county for 25 years, will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in St. Ambrose Catholic church, 47th street and Ellis avenue. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Miss Sheedy, a native Chicagoan, was a social worker with the Juvenile court from 1909 until 1919. She died last Thursday at Mercy hospital from complications which set in from a fall. Miss Sheedy is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Delia Lamb, 1853 South Ashland avenue, and Mrs. Anna Welsh, 421 Berkeley avenue.

New York State Senator Dies; Friend of Roosevelt

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 5.—(AP)—State Senator J. Griswold Webb, a friend of President Roosevelt, died tonight at his Hyde Park estate, adjoining the President's home. Like the President, he recovered from infantile paralysis in an epidemic several years ago and gave some of his blood to help victims of the disease.

Death Beats Plane as Son Races to Mother's Side

Pana, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Virginia Niehart, 62 years old, died today ten minutes after her son, William Niehart, Los Angeles business man, had telephoned from St. Louis that he had flown east and would be home in two hours.

U. S. DISTRIBUTES 7 MILLION POUNDS OF FOOD IN STATE

Pork Leads March Relief Figures.

More than seven million pounds of federal surplus foodstuffs were distributed during March by the Illinois Emergency Relief commission to persons receiving relief from public funds in Illinois. Nearly 200,000 families and 50,000 unattached persons, living in shelters, were recipients of this food, which supplemented the regular food orders given to relief clients.

First Cheese Distributed.

Cheese, citrus fruits, sorghum, and wheat cereal were distributed during the month for the first time in this state, according to data supplied by the relief commission. Other commodities given out were pork, beef, flour, beans, butter, eggs, apples, and lard.

Pork led the list of items distributed, approximately 2,352,000 pounds of smoked pork and 1,303,000 pounds of salt pork having been delivered during the month. Recipients of smoked pork included 172,045 families and 42,471 unattached persons, while 106,380 families and 40,800 persons in shelters received salt pork.

Flour Ranks Second.

Flour ranked second on the list with 1,646,400 pounds distributed among 42,190 families and 31,137 persons to shelters. Beef was third with 172,459 families, and 41,047 nonfamily persons receiving 930,000 pounds. While butter ranked fourth in quantity distributed, it was first in the number of persons receiving it, approximately 745,100 pounds going to 182,000 families and 50,957 single persons.

Ten bushels of apples were distributed to ten families, and 76,820 pounds of citrus fruits were spread among 3,621 families. Sorghum was given to 321 families, the total distributed having been 327 gallons.

MRS. LUEDER, 81, EX-POSTMASTER'S MOTHER, IS DEAD

Mrs. Juliane Lueder, mother of former Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder, died yesterday at her home, 180 West Park avenue, Elmhurst, following a week's illness. She was 81 years old.

Mrs. Lueder, who has been a resident of Elmhurst for almost sixty years, had been ailing in health for the last two years. She became seriously ill following a stroke in her home last Tuesday. She is survived by her husband, Dr. John Lueder, retired minister and former professor at Elmhurst college; four sons, John, Arthur C., Walter, and George; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Mohrstadt of Dexter, Mo.; eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow at St. Peter's Evangelical church in Elmhurst. Burial will be in Elm Lawn cemetery.

Lain & Son
SINCE 1891—
A SIGN of SERVICE
Pioneers in protecting the public against high funeral costs, Lain & Son have always set the standard of service.
Today, Lain holds more services in a month than the average undertaker has in a year. No other Chapel in Chicago holds as many services as Lain's.
Because of this leadership, Lain includes these exclusive features with all services, even those as low as $110:
Conditioned Air
Protects the health of all who attend Lain Chapel services—provides an abundance of air washed and purified, and circulated at correct temperature.
Imperial Quartet
Lain was the first Chapel to include with all services—the Imperial Male Quartet, Organist and Organ.
Price Protection
Lain was the first to answer the price question by publishing the cost of 1,000 funerals; showing that more than one-third of Lain services actually cost less than $200. Also, to price-mark all merchandise.
Highest Quality
Lain's prices are lower because of volume. All merchandise is bought on a cash basis from reliable manufacturers only; we never offer "bargains" or "seconds" in merchandise.
Lain's personnel has few changes over the years, and with the most modern of facilities—render a service that cannot be equalled.
To secure this finer type of service, call Lain—no matter where you live in Chicago or Suburbs.

NEW YORK CITY'S CONTROLER DIES WHILE ON HORSE

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—City Controler W. Arthur Cunningham died today of heart disease while riding horseback on a beach near Northport, L. I.

The 40 year old official was riding with the young son of his week-end host, Borough President Raymond V. Ingersoll of Brooklyn, when suddenly he pitched from the saddle into soft sand. He did not recover consciousness.

Mr. Cunningham won distinction as a soldier, a lawyer, and a banker before his victory as the "dark horse" candidate of the fusion ticket in the last municipal elections.

He received his degree at Fordham Law school in 1915, and a year later he was admitted to the bar. In the first officers' training camp he earned his commission, then served with the 165th infantry, the famous old 69th.

Mr. Cunningham joined the Textile Banking corporation in 1919 on his return from France. He became vice president, secretary, and counsel, and it was this position that he left to become controler.

URGE CHICAGO CHANGE SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLAN

Ickes Engineers Say It Will Speed Work.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—A radical change in Chicago's sewage disposal program which will permit immediate construction of a southwest side plant to treat waste from the stockyards and industrial district was recommended to the public works administration today in the report of a special board of engineers.

The board was appointed four months ago by Public Works Administrator Ickes to review the problem after PWA had provided $42,000,000 to the sanitary district of Chicago for sewage disposal works.

56 Per Cent Average for City.

The original program contemplated only the further treatment of sewage already partially treated in the west side plant in Stickney. The new program would provide that final treatment be given at once to the southwest side of the district, including the sewage waste from the packing house district.

The former plan would have given only 56 per cent treatment on an average for the city. The recommended plan, it was said, immediately will give 72 per cent treatment to the entire sanitary district sewage.

The engineers drafting the report declared that the recommended plan will accord with the United States Supreme court's desire for sewage treatment as soon as possible and also will utilize the $16,000,000 west side Imhoff treatment plant which otherwise would have been used only to a limited extent.

New Program Summarized.

Summarized the new program embraces:

1. Higher purification of Chicago's total sewage at an earlier date.
2. Immediate construction of the southwest side plant with main intercepting sewers including those serving the stock yards.
3. Continued utilization of the west side Imhoff plant which might otherwise be largely wasted pending definite conclusions as to the best methods of supplementing this partial treatment.
4. Curtailment of water waste costing millions of dollars annually and resulting in the requirement of unnecessarily large sewers and sewage pumping stations.

Terrific Burden of Expense.

Concerning this last feature the report stated:

"A terrific burden of expense to tax payers for both Chicago's sewers and water works was revealed. Because of the flagrant waste of water far more expensive sewers and treatment facilities were required. The cost of this waste to Chicago would be 428 million dollars in a thirty-five year period or $12,000,000 per year which could be saved by water waste prevention methods, including meterization.

"The water additionally pumped at the present time exceeds a billion gallons daily and is almost double the amount which is reasonably necessary for domestic and commercial use as is demonstrated by the results of the use in other cities."

The report declared that this waste has resulted in poor water pressure and supply in many sections of Chicago.

The engineers on the board pointed out that the original program was apparently based upon an implied obligation to the United States Supreme court to complete the west side treatment plant by Dec. 31, 1935, and the southwest side plant by Dec. 31, 1938.

"While it is true," the report comments, "that these dates were suggested in the report of the master they are not embodied in the decree of the court, which is strictly limited to the amount of lake water that may be diverted after these specified dates. The changes are recommended in the belief that such an obligation, if it exists, can be readily amended."

Board to Approve Plans.

The engineers composing the board were Daniel W. Mead of the University of Wisconsin, W. B. Storey, railroad executive; Brig. Gen. C. W. Kutz, retired, United States army corps of engineers, and Joshua D'Esposito, PWA engineer for Illinois.

The recommendations are expected to be adopted by the sanitary district board, it was said, and a change of the existing contract between the district and the PWA will be necessary. The new contract may be presented to the Supreme court for approval.

"This is the largest and most extraordinary sewage treatment plan in the world," Mr. D'Esposito said. "Nothing of its size has ever been attempted before. The new program forwards the employment features of the PWA program without delay. The recommendations are so drawn that the board believes that no loss of time will result from their adoption and highly beneficial economies will be accomplished."

Discuss Program of PWA.

In discussing the PWA program thus far in Illinois the engineer declared that bids on construction work thus far had been an average of ten per cent lower than expected. This will effect a saving of between two and three million dollars on the state program, he declared.

Concerning the sanitary district Mr. D'Esposito declared that it had been necessary to "weed out a few inspectors" whose jobs were obtained through political influence. As it now stands the district has employés of high grade standard, he asserted.

Mr. D'Esposito explained that the sanitary district is divided into four major areas. The north side area has a 200 million gallon daily sewage treatment plant. The Calumet area will have a 136 million gallon plant upon completion of work now in progress. In the west side area a plant under construction will ultimately provide partial treatment for 500 million gallons daily. Under the new program a 400 million gallon daily activated sludge plant will be built to treat the southwest side sewage.

FATHER ACCUSED OF POISONING CHILDREN IS GRANTED HEARING

Sapulpa, Okla., May 5.—(AP)—A preliminary hearing May 9 has been ordered for Chester Barrett, 35, unemployed painter, who was charged with murder yesterday after signing a statement that he poisoned his family, causing the death of three of his eight children.

Barrett is held in jail without bond. He waived arraignment.

His wife and the five surviving children are being cared for by Creek county authorities.

The murder charge specified the death of 6 year old Betty Jo Barrett. Mark Kathryn, 3, and Wanda Marie, 2, were the other victims.

Barrett's statement declared he believed that "If we all went together in our sleep God would forgive me."

Unemployed and ill, he told County Attorney Sebe Christian that he couldn't bear to see his family starve.

O'BRIEN DEMANDS RECOUNT IN 29TH SENATORIAL RACE

Former State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien, who served 14 months in Leavenworth penitentiary for income tax fraud, yesterday filed a petition in the Circuit court contesting the nomination of the Democratic candidates for representative from the 29th senatorial district in the April 10 primary in which he was a candidate.

He asked for a recount and named as defendants the Democratic nominees, Edward P. O'Grady and Arthur J. Quinn, and two other candidates, Fred H. Hart and A. J. Muffoletto. O'Brien charged there were gross irregularities in the marking and counting of ballots and that more than 2,000 illegal votes were permitted to be cast in the district.

Quinn received 8,637½ votes in the official canvass; O'Grady, 8,552½, and O'Brien, 4,081½. Two Democrats were to be named. O'Brien cited a number of instances of fraud in the 42d ward, his home ward.

A similar suit was filed against Joseph E. Farina, winner of the Republican nomination for representative in the same district, by William C. Lewis, 169 Locust street.

Albert Erskine Sued for $20,000 in 1928 Auto Crash

Albert de Wolf Erskine, wealthy consulting engineer, and his son, J. B. Erskine, were sued in Superior court yesterday by Frank Hayes, 1124 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, a former employé of the Public Service company of Evanston, who asked $20,000 damages for injuries he incurred when he was struck by the Erskine automobile. The accident occurred Jan. 8, 1928, at Burton place and Lake Shore drive. Attorney Philip Rosenthal, who filed the suit, said Hayes has been crippled, unable to use his left leg, for more than four years. The Erskines live at 1367 North State street.

Mooney Attorneys Petition Court to Let Him Go Free

San Francisco, Cal., May 5.—(AP)—Attorneys for Tom Mooney, convicted of the 1916 preparedness parade bombing, announced today they will file a petition in District court Monday to obtain his freedom from San Quentin prison. Attorney George T. Davis said the petition will claim Mooney's constitutional rights are being violated and that he was convicted on perjured testimony.

Gas Station Is Robbed 53d Time in Eight Years

Sunbury, Pa., May 5.—(AP)—There is nothing like a good burglary of his filling station to start the day right for Samuel Heasey. In the eight years he has been in business his place has been looted 53 times. Things have got so now that Heasey doesn't leave things around anymore. The last visit of the burglar netted only six packs of cigarets.

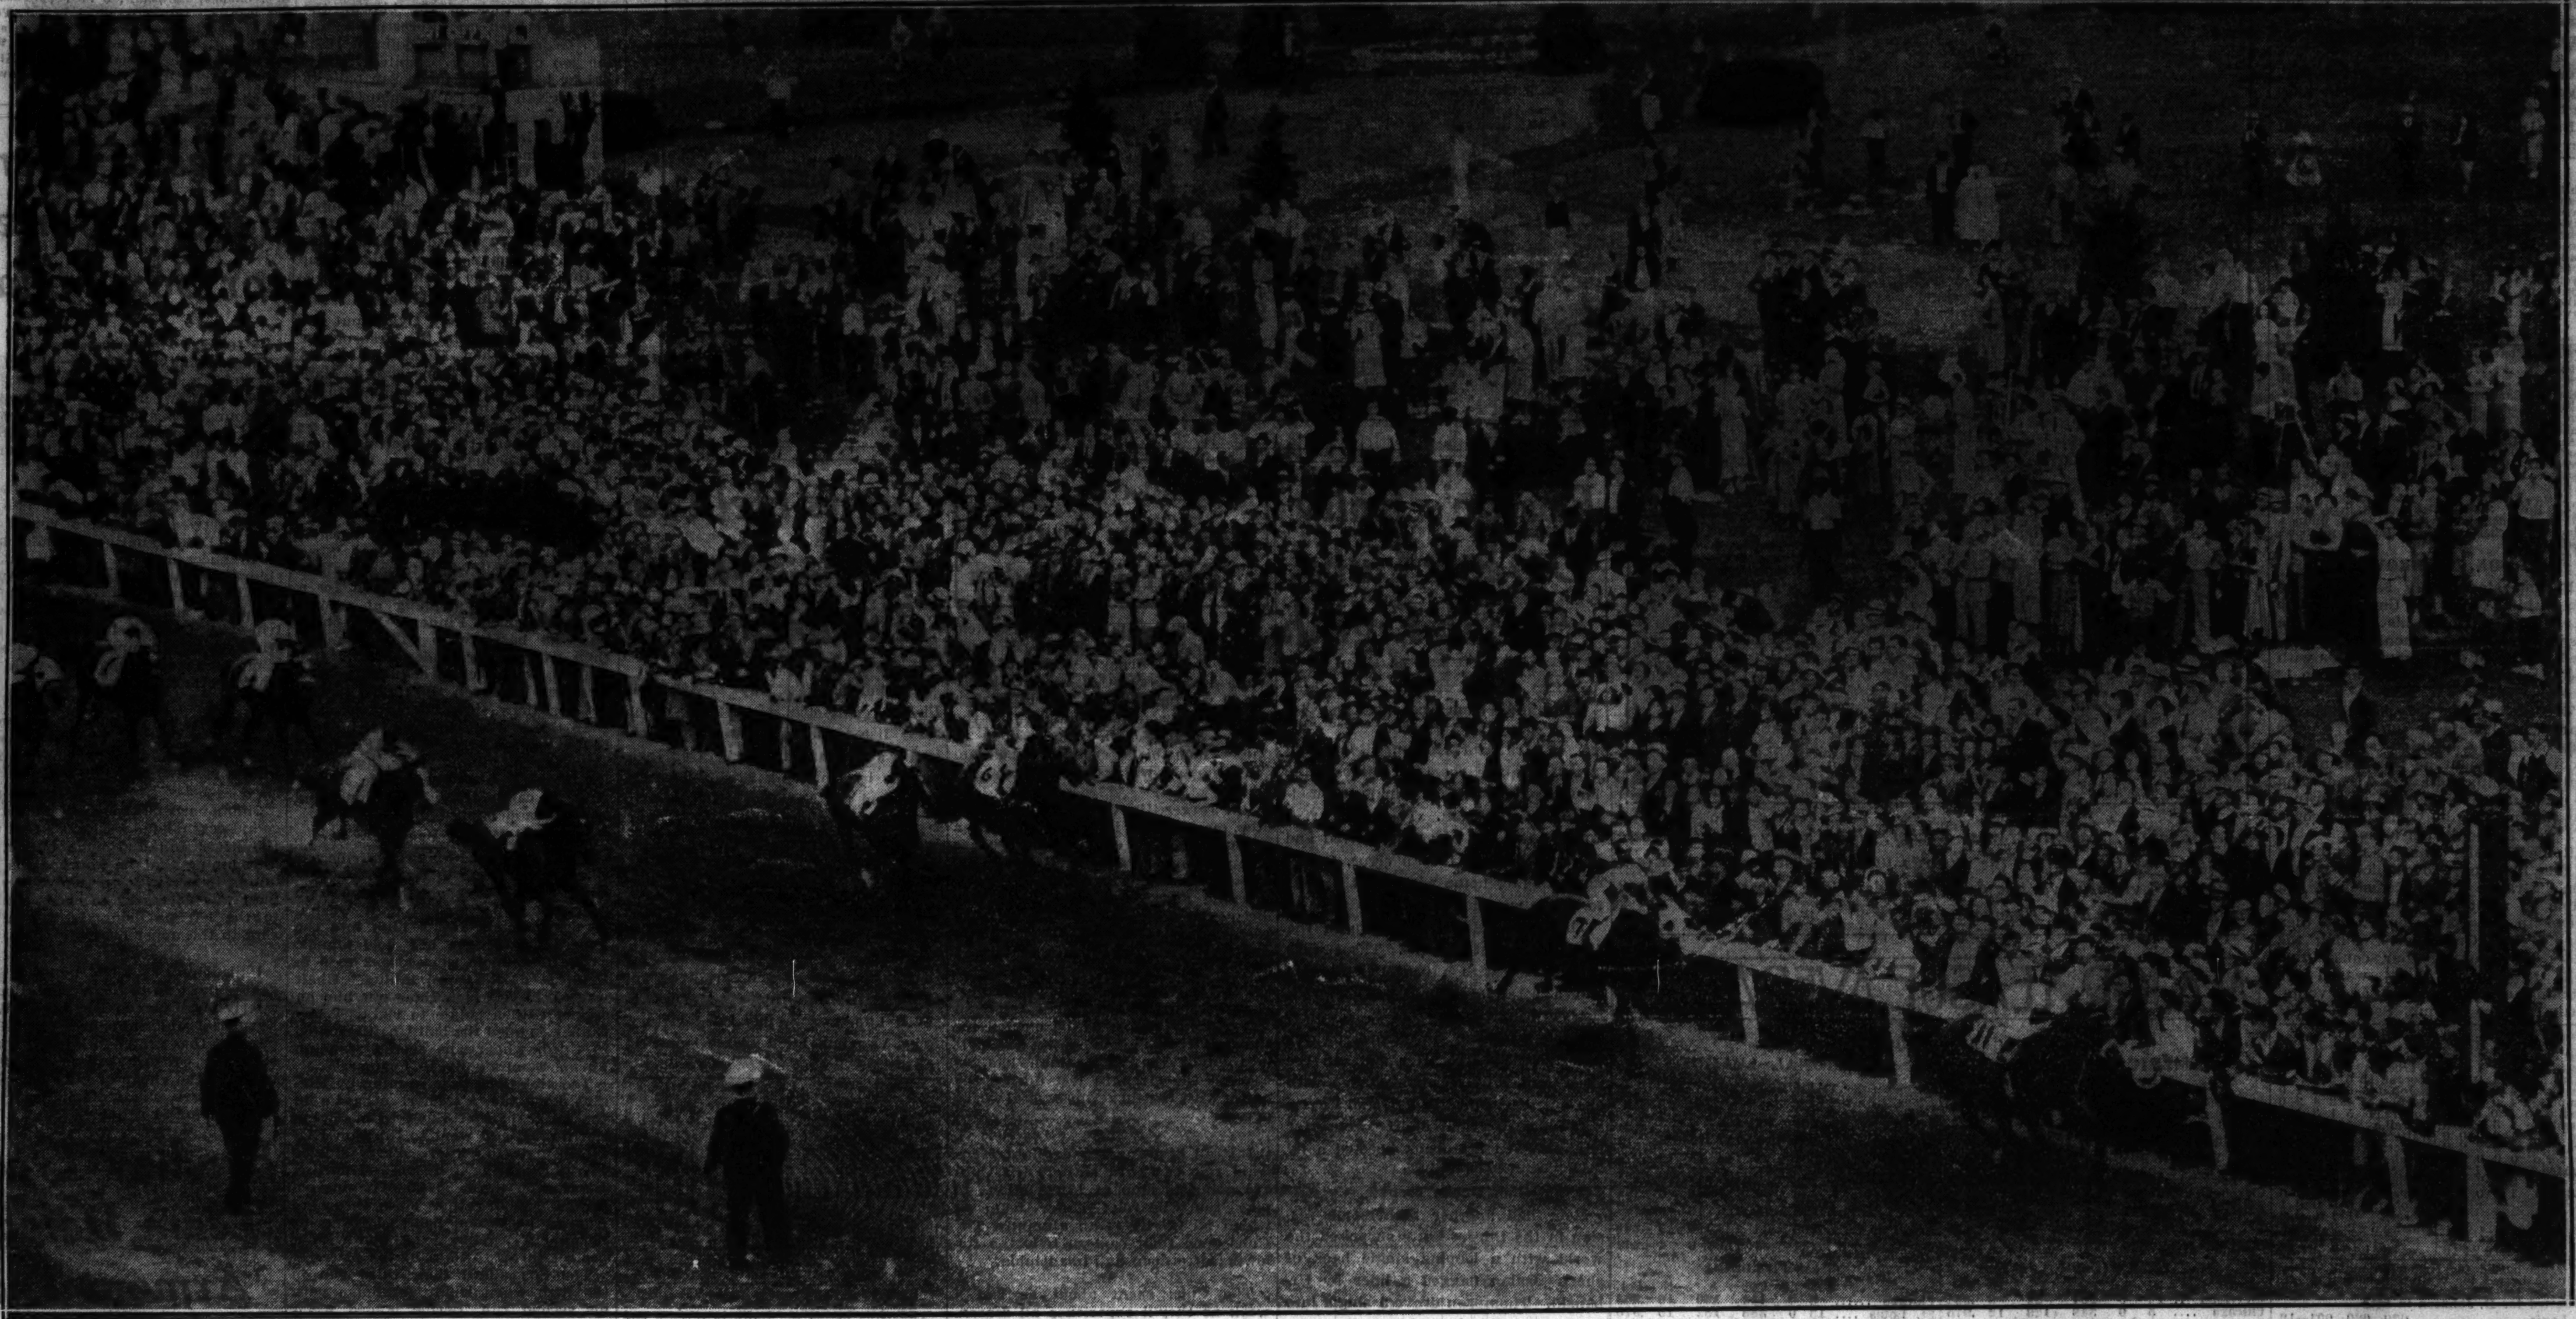
CAVALCADE WINS SIXTIETH KENTUCKY DERBY

BRAVES' 5 RUN RALLY IN EIGHTH KEEPS CUBS OUT OF LEAD, 5-4

AT THE FINISH OF THE DERBY—CAVALCADE BY THREE LENGTHS!



How the finish of the sixtieth Kentucky Derby looked to the crowd of 55,000 at Churchill Downs yesterday. Cavalcade, the 3 to 2 favorite, flying the colors of the Brookmeade stable, reaches the end of the mile and a quarter journey with an advantage of three lengths over Discovery, which is four lengths ahead of Agrarian. Mata Hari, one of the two fillies in the field of thirteen that started, is fourth, a half length back of the show horse. Cavalcade, which took command in the stretch, was timed in 2:04. Mata Hari faded after setting the early pace.

BOSTON ROUTS ROOT; ERROR BY W. HERMAN SEALS DOOM

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs were all set late yesterday to broadcast that they had returned to first place, but they never got on the air. The program was canceled on the insistence of the Boston Braves, who came up from nowhere with a five run eighth inning rally that was just enough to whip the Cubs. The final score was 5 to 4, and an additional aggravation was the fact that all the enemy runs were scored after two were out.

At the time the Braves started their big powwow the veteran Charley Root was pitching, but he didn't remain long enough to complete the party. For seven innings he wriggled his way safely through various perilous situations. He apparently wearied in the eighth, however, and a sudden shower of passes and hits tied the score with two still on base. Pat Malone then rushed in to the salvage job, but Billy Herman promptly erred and the winning run scored.

Heroes Go Unsung.

Root's last minute defection robbed at least two of his mates of major honors for the day. Ki Cuyler was one and Tuck Stainback the other. Their hits, preceding a safe tap by Dolph Camilli, broke down the somewhat obstinate Huck Betts in the sixth inning when the first run scored. And in the seventh the Cuyler-Stainback duo figured largely in the cluster of three runs that made 7,500 spectators believe Root had been amply protected.

The initial happening in the ill fated eighth was a pass to Berger. Root nailed the next two men, one because Cuyler reached into the stand for a one-handed catch of a long foul. The rest appeared easy, but Root immediately showed signs of weakening by hitting McManus. Then Old Lady Luck smiled on the Braves. Lee dropped a phoney single back of first base and Berger scored. Fat Man Hogan looped a single over Camilli to score McManus and put Lee on third. Even that didn't cause much alarm, but the worst was yet to come.

An Error Buries All Hope.

With two on bases a lad named Gyselman was ushered forth to bat for Betts. Root couldn't get the ball over and Gyselman walked. Root did get one over for Urbanski and the young man slapped it lustily for a single to right, scoring Lee and Spohr-

PRINCETON CREW WINS RACE FOR COMPTON CUP

Princeton, N. J., May 5.—(AP)—Princeton's varsity crew won the Compton cup race on Lake Carnegie here this afternoon, defeating Harvard by one and three-quarter lengths. Massachusetts Tech was third, two and three-quarter lengths back of Harvard. Princeton's time was 9:52; Harvard, 9:59, and Massachusetts Tech, 10:10.

Princeton won two other races on the four race program, meeting defeat only in the 150 pound event, in which Tech's crack crew scored by three lengths over the Henley course.

Garner Pales at 'Greatest Thrill' of Life

BY FRENCH LANE.
[CHART ON PAGE 4.]
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Was it Mack Garner or was it Cavalcade which won the 60th Kentucky Derby today?

The last race has just been run at Churchill Downs and darkness is spreading out over the premises which 55,000 holiday bent Derby visitors have soiled. Many thousands of these visitors are lingering on, having "just one more" before saying good-by for another year, and there's many a toast being drunk to "good ol' Mack."

Cavalcade, the English bred Derby winner, seems to have been forgotten. Had he been bred in old Kentucky it might be different. But tonight Garner, an idol of Kentucky racing fans for 19 years, is this year's Derby hero.

Mack to Celebrate at Home.

It should be that way. Cavalcade might have enjoyed the cheers and the posies and his supremacy, but he acted as if he were glad to get away from it all. Not Garner. Still pale from the thrilling ride he made coming down the stretch, overwhelmed by the riotous reception he got from those who it seemed had forgotten him in his less successful years, Garner was waiting to be off for Covington, Ky.

There he will spend Sunday with his family—Mrs. Garner, who hugged and kissed him after he weighed in, and his three daughters and 11 year old son, Mack Jr., who got the tidings of dad's triumph from their nurse at the Garner home.

Little Mack Jr. is reported to have strayed away from home two weeks ago with 100 pennies he had in his savings bank and to have wagered it against $10 that his daddy would win the Derby.

He Waited a Long Time.

Jocky Garner's career, dating back over those 19 years in which all the ups and downs of racing came to him, is the most colorful of all the jockies riding in America today. He is the real veteran of the top notchers.

Garner was born at Centerville, Ia., and it was natural that he should turn to the riding profession. His father ahead of him had been a jocky and so had three elder brothers.

From the beginning of his career Garner demonstrated he was to be the star horseman of the family and during those 19 years on the turf he had won nearly every famous stake race in America except the Kentucky

55,000 SEE IMPORTED COLT BEAT DISCOVERY BY 3 LENGTHS

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Coming with a rush in the final stretch run, Cavalcade, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane's great brown colt, today won the 60th Kentucky Derby from a field of twelve other starters.

A crowd of 55,000, one of the largest that ever has seen the race, packed historic Churchill Downs and brought back memories of predepression days by its size and by the freedom with which it wagered its money. A total of $999,940 was bet through the pari-mutuel machines. Last year the total was $745,000.

Discovery Runs Second.

Three lengths back of Cavalcade, a big brown son of Lancegaye and Hastily, bred in England but foaled in America, came Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery in second place, with a four length margin over F. J. Heller's Agrarian, which finished third. And only a half length behind, but out of the charmed circle of three, dashed the valiant little Mata Hari, Charles T. Fisher's entry, which had made a gallant but futile bid to inscribe her name on the Derby rolls as the second filly ever to win the Derby.

Cavalcade ran the mile and a quarter in 2 minutes and 4 seconds. Though his time was two and one-fifth seconds slower than the record which was set by Twenty Grand in 1931, it was fast enough to gain for his owner $28,175, the winner's share of the purse and the $5,000 gold cup which accompanies it.

Coupled in the betting with his stablemate, Time Clock, Cavalcade rewarded his backers with $5 for each $2 first place ticket, $4 for place, and $3.20 for show. Discovery's odds were $9.20 to place and $5.80 to show, while Agrarian rewarded his backers with $5 for each $2 show ticket.

Any One's Race for a While.

Despite the decisive margin by which Cavalcade demonstrated his superiority over the field, it was not until near the end of the grueling run that he pulled away under the competent handling of Jocky Mack Garner, and in the meantime first one and then another of that band of stout hearted horses had asserted itself and given the throng one of the greatest thrills of all Kentucky Derbies. And not the least of these early challenges was that of the filly, Mata Hari.

Not since 1915, when Regret achieved fame by becoming the first of her sex to win the Derby, has a filly made a genuine threat to capture the greatest honor in American turfdom. But this year, they were saying, was a filly year and there were thousands here today who believed it.

Eight Minutes at Post.

For eight minutes the horses were at the post, while the starters struggled to achieve that perfect alignment essential to a perfect start. Mata Hari was the most unruly of the lot and was largely responsible for the delay, but she broke well when the barrier sprang up and was away in second place. At the quarter post she was out in front, running smoothly, her delicate head just out in front of Sergt. Byrne, which was holding second by two lengths over Discovery. Cavalcade then was back in seventh place and Agrarian far away in tenth position.

On to the half mile post Mata Hari raced, still keeping her head out in front of Sergt. Byrne. Cavalcade, under the careful guidance of Jocky Garner, who, after 19 years of waiting, was riding to his first Derby victory, had by this time moved up to fifth, passing Col. E. R. Bradley's Bazaar and the fast failing Quasimodo. Garner was biding his time, holding his mount back of the crush at the head of the field, but still well within striking distance. Agrarian was eighth now and closing up fast.

Cavalcade Moves Up.

Mata Hari was going gamely, but as they thundered down the back stretch it became evident that after all she

TRACK WAS HEAVIER THAN HE SUPPOSED; ERRS IN FORECAST

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 5.—(AP)—Charles Bishop, veteran forecaster in sports events, published his prediction on this year's Kentucky Derby in the Colorado Springs Gazette this morning. It read:

First—Cavalcade.
Second—Discovery.
Third—Agrarian.

Bishop predicted the time would be 2:03 4-5. He shook his head when the figure was announced at 2:04 this afternoon. "The track was muddier than I expected," he commented.

RUTH HITS TWO HOMERS; YANKS BEAT TIGERS, 10-6

Babe Ties Ott, Klein for Majors Lead.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Babe Ruth led the Yankees to a 10 to 6 triumph over the Detroit Tigers today. Ruth clouted two homers, his fifth and sixth of the season, to take the undisputed home run lead in the American league and to tie Mel Ott and Chuck Klein, National league pace setters. The first homer came off Eldon Auker's delivery in the fourth with Charley Ruffing and Red Rolfe on base; the second came on the first pitch Lyn Rowe offered him in the seventh. Ruth sent in another run in the second on a grounder forcing Rolfe at second, Myril Hoag running home from third on the play.

Bill Dickey also delivered a homer for the Yankees. Score:

RED SOX, 13; BROWNS, 12.

Boston, Mass., May 5.—(AP)—Showing nothing of his old time form, Bob [Lefty] Grove made his 1934 start a dismal one today when the Boston Red Sox swept a two game series with the St. Louis Browns with a 13 to 12 victory.

The Red Sox's $125,000 southpaw star, who has been nursing a sore muscle in his pitching arm almost from the moment he reported at the training camp, had a 9 to 3 lead when he made his long delayed appearance on the mound by relieving George Walberg in the fourth inning.

Rollie Hemsley was the first batter to face him and Grove quickly passed him. Strange scored Hemsley with a triple to right and Coffman's single drove in the shortstop. Clift then doubled and Grove, after filling the bases by throwing four consecutive balls to Sammy West, waved his pitching arm in despair and voluntarily quit the mound. Score:

SENATORS, 9; INDIANS, 1.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—The Washington Senators pounded three Cleveland pitchers from the mound today and won, 9 to 1, behind Stewart's seven hit hurling.

Cecil Travis, Senator rookie, was knocked unconscious in the third inning by one of Lefty Lee's pitches. He was taken to a hospital where a preliminary examination indicated he did not suffer a fracture.

Travis' injury came in the midst of a five run Washington rally during which Hildebrand was taken out. Lee later yielded the Indians' pitching job to Clint Brown, who was followed in the eighth by Bean. Score:

Boston's Rally Defeats Cubs, 5-4, in Eighth

er, who ran for Hogan. Root went away to make room for Malone and Thompson poked an ordinary grounder to Billy Herman. The latter tried to play the ball before it arrived and it bounced away for an error, Gyselman dashing home with what proved to be the winning run.

There was plenty of action in the first inning, but no runs. The Braves half started with a pass to Urbanski and a scratch single by Thompson. Berger bounced into a force play, Whitney fanned and Jordan was tossed out by Billy Herman. In the Cubs' half Billy Herman singled with one out, Klein flied to left, and Cuyler singled. All this effort went for naught when Stainback boosted a fly into Thompson's hands.

Root Ducks Trouble.

Root had another bothersome session in the third. Betts surprised the world with a looping single back of short. Galan flagged a liner by Urbanski. Thompson drove a single into center and this brought up the powerful Mr. Berger. The powerful Mr. Berger hit a long foul to left field and the equally powerful Mr. Klein simply reached over the grand stand railing with his gloved hand and made the catch. Root celebrated this achievement by making Whitney roll to Galan.

The Braves were at it again in the fourth. Jordan singled, McManus struck out, and then Lee singled. Root had no trouble climbing out of this difficulty. The Cubs also stirred up some excitement in this inning. They got a man around to the plate, but the run didn't count and a lot of healthy cheering was wasted. Stainback beat out a bunt and Whitney threw wild over first. The ball rolled under a culvert in front of the grandstand and while a flock of Braves were engaged in a hasty excavation job Stainback was racing to the plate. When he arrived there he was told to return to second under ground rules. Neither English nor Camilli could bring him in.

Cubs Go Hunting.

Another pair of hits rose up in Root's path in the sixth. Whitney led off with a single past English. Jordan tried to sacrifice, but Root picked up the bunt in time to force Whitney at second. McManus singled to right on a hit and run play, Jordan taking third. Lee then fanned for the second time and Hogan rolled to Galan for a forceout.

Cuyler's single to center with one out in the home sixth inaugurated the day's scoring. Stainback singled to left, but English was awed by three strikes. Camilli rallied to the colors by blasting a line single into right, Cuyler scoring and Stainback dashing to third. Camilli went to second when his hit was fumbled by Thompson. The Braves decided the cheapest way to be rid of Hartnett was to walk him, filling the bases. It proved good strategy because Root lined to Berger.

And So to Defeat.

Galan's first big league hit opened the seventh and was the starter of the three run rally that put the Cubs four to the good for a few minutes. Galan went to second on W. Herman's sacrifice. Klein flied to left, but Cuyler doubled to the same precinct and Galan scored. Stainback whacked a triple to left center, scoring Cuyler. Stainback sauntered home on English's double to left. Camilli was hit by the slightly dazed Betts, but the inning ended with Hartnett flying to right.

5,000 SOFT BALL TEAMS SOUGHT FOR TOURNEY

The International Soft Ball league is striving to register 5,000 teams in the greater Chicago district for its tournament before May 15.

Approximately 4,800 squads have registered with the People's Gas company, Commonwealth Edison company, Telephone company, City Surface Lines, Rapid Transit Lines, City Hall, County, Police, and Fire teams joining 4,486 sururband free lance clubs.

Warneke to Pitch for Cubs Against Phillies Today

The Phillies will be at Wrigley field today for the opener of a three game series. Lon Warneke, winner of three while losing one this season, is all set to welcome them. The Phils own a couple of southpaw pitchers so the Cubs expect they'll have to look at one of them this afternoon. Snipe Hansen probably will get the job.

Bill Jurges, the Cubs' regular shortstop, may be back in action today after a couple of days confinement because of an appendicitis attack. Bill was released from the hospital yesterday morning and a few hours later was discovered taking batting practice. He was promptly chased to the club house and told to obey the doctor's orders.

Bill Lee, the Cubs' high priced purchase from the Columbus American Association team, may be started for the first time in tomorrow's game. It is thought the young man has recovered the strength lost during the battle with the flu germs several weeks ago.

Instead of using the daylight for a train ride eastward May 16 the Cubs are going to stop at Flint, Mich., to play the Chevrolet Motor team of which Ki Cuyler is an alumnus. The Cubs open their eastern tour the following afternoon at Philadelphia.

The Cubs spent about as bad a week as they'll experience all season. They lost five of seven games. Their victories were recorded in the three game series with Pittsburgh and the three game set with the Braves.

Semi-Pros to Start League Season Today

Games Today

Alexander's House of David club at Logan Square park, Kedzie and Elston avenues, 3 p. m.

American Giants at Mills stadium, Kilpatrick avenue and Lake street, 1:30 p. m. [2 games].

Chicago Firemen vs. Duffy Florals, Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, 3 p. m.

The Wisconsin-Illinois Baseball league opens its season today with games at the Logan square, Mills, and Duffy parks. Niesen's Colored All-Stars and Spencer Coals, two traveling teams, will be idle.

Heading today's card will be Mildred [Babe] Didrikson, star of the 1932 Olympic games, in the rôle of a baseball pitcher. She will pitch for the House of David aggregation against John Callahan's Logan Squares. Jim Vaughn will be her opponent.

At Mills stadium Bill Harley will send his Wisconsin-Illinois league champions against the American Giants, the colored team which has dominated the Negro National league for so many years. Lefty Sullivan and Malcolm Moss will pitch for the West Siders, while Willie Foster will draw the assignment in one of the games for the American Giants.

The Duffys will meet Chester Sullivan's Chicago Firemen.

Birks' Goldecks, who last year won the Sweitzer trophy as the Al Cress Boosters, will open their Midwest Baseball league schedule today. The Goldecks will perform against Maywood at First avenue and Washington boulevard in Maywood.

The schedule follows:

CLASS A [SEMIPRO].

Miller's High Life at Sycamore, Ill.
George Forth Boosters at Chicago Heights.

Falcon Union Giants vs. South Ends at Blue Island.
Larry Deny's Boosters at Morgan park, 113th and Western.

Giants Held to 7 Hits; Pirates Triumph, 6-3

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 5.—(AP)—The Pirates completed a week in which they listed three of the National league's outstanding pitchers as their victims by trouncing Freddy Fitzsimmons and the New York Giants, 6 to 3, today. The other losers were Lon Warneke of Chicago and Carl Hubbel of New York.

An error by Hughey Critz on a double play ball in the first inning gave the Pirates their start and they put over three runs to gain a lead which they never lost. Ralph Birkofer went the distance, limiting New York to seven hits, to gain his third victory. Arky Vaughan hit a Pirate homer in the third. Score:

SOX PITCHERS GO TO PIECES; A'S WIN IN 8TH, 10-4

Four Hurlers Pounded for 7 Runs in Inning.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5. — The White Sox, apparently in a position to pop out of the American league cellar into sixth place, curled up in piteous fashion in the eighth inning of their game with the Philadelphia Athletics today. They allowed seven runs to score, producing a 10 to 4 victory for the A's, who had been on the brink of the cellar prior to the riot.

Until the time of the blowup the game had been an interesting affair, with George Earnshaw doing a right fine job of pitching, despite the fact that he had thrown home run balls to Eric McNair and Ed Coleman.

The Sox led 2 to 0 at the end of the third inning, their first run having been made on Al Simmons' No. 4 homer of the year. They led 3 to 1 at the end of the 5th, Simmons having driven home a run with a double. And at the end of the sixth they were leading, 3 to 2, despite McNair's homer. Coleman's homer tied it up at three all in the seventh inning.

From Then On, Phooey!

A homer by Jimmy Dykes put the Sox ahead again in the first of the eighth, but when Earnshaw walked Foxx to start the home eighth, Manager Fonseca felt called upon to do some master minding. He sent in the inevitable Wyatt and the contest forthwith went to pot, getting worse as miscellaneous pitchers staggered on and off the scene.

Earnshaw showed his mettle under all manner of discouragement in the first inning. He walked Warstler on four pitches, and when Shea slipped and fell while trying to handle Cramer's bunt, it went for a single, Warstler stopping at second. Dykes fumbled Finney's hard bunt and the bases were full. Simmons then ran so far under Foxx's foul that he wasn't close enough to draw an error, but even this failed to ruffle Earnshaw. On the next pitch, a snap throw, Shea to Bonura, plucked Finney off first, after which Foxx was given an intentional pass, again filling the bases. Dykes made a nice running catch of McNair's long foul and Johnson popped to Appling.

Al Wasn't Fooling.

Simmons missed his first terrific cut when he came up to lead off the second inning. This should have been a warning to Cain. But it wasn't. Al drove homer No. 4 high into the upper deck of the left field stands.

The Sox made the score 2 to 0 in the first of the third inning. Uhalt walked, after which Haas put him on second with a single to right. When Finney juggled the ball Uhalt sprinted to third, whence he scored standing up on Bonura's fly to Cramer.

Too ambitious base running by Higgins kept the A's short of a tie in the latter half of the fourth. Johnson walked and went to third on Higgins' single to center. Berry singled to right, scoring Johnson and putting Higgins on third. When Higgins observed Haas' rather slow throw to Appling at second he tried to sprint home, but Appling sank him with a perfect throw to Shea at the plate.

The Sox added their third run in the fifth when Uhalt got home with his second run. Bernie landed when his hard smash got past Higgins for an error, reached second on Haas' sacrifice, paused on Bonura's foul to Berry, and scored on Simmons' double to right center.

Matuzak got the Sox out in order in the sixth, but Earnshaw was not so fortunate in the A's half, for McNair pushed off with a homer into the upper deck of the left field stand.

The seventh also started out with a homer. Coleman, batting for Matuzak, lined the score tying drive into an open window in the second story of a house across the street from the right field wall.

The Big Parade Starts.

Kline came in to pitch the eighth inning and his first act was to fan Simmons. Appling popped to Berry. Then Dykes put the Sox in front again with his first home run of the year, a low drive into the lower deck of the left field stands.

Foxx walked to start the home eighth, whereupon Wyatt relieved Earnshaw. McNair sacrificed, Bonura to Hayes, and Johnson walked on five pitches. Higgins then knocked his homer over the right field wall, scoring Foxx and Johnson ahead of him. Berry walked and Pomorski momentarily took over the wreck.

Kline bunted and apparently forced Berry, Shea to Appling, but the decision was reversed when Appling juggled the ball. The runners moved up on a wild pitch, then Warstler walked, filling the bases. Pomorski threw two low ones to Cramer and was relieved by Gallivan, who finished the pass, forcing in Berry.

Finney's potential triple was held to a double by ground rules when it bounced behind the scoreboard, Kline and Warstler scoring and Cramer stopping at third. Foxx got credit for a single when Appling and Simmons let his pop fly drop between them, Cramer scoring. McNair and Johnson then humanely furnished the last two putouts.

Jones to Open Senator Series for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 5.—The White Sox took a 6 o'clock train today for Washington where they will compete for four days against the somewhat upset Senators. Sam Jones is scheduled to pitch the opener tomorrow.

Philadelphia authors were busting during the two rainy days here to revive last year's persistent rumor that Jimmy Dykes, native Philadelphian, is to succeed Lew Fonseca as Sox skipper. While observers are shadowing the movements of Owner Lou Comiskey, making the first eastern trip with the Sox in 22 years, they withheld any comment when discussing managerial matters with the Philly scribes.

Though he has several unknowns in his cast, Connie Mack stubbornly refuses to put numbers on his home uniforms.

Simmons was so mad at having completely misjudged Foxx's foul with the bases full and none out in the first inning that he knocked his first inning homer with greater viciousness than was necessary to carry the ball to the left pavilion. It was a line shot to the upper deck.

Philadelphia's loud mouthed fan gentry lived up to their reputation for utterly mean personal comment. When Earnshaw was announced as the Sox pitcher the group bawled "Sweepstakes." Sweepstakes is the brand name of the cheapest glug on sale at the Pennsylvania state liquor stores, retailing for $1 a quart.

Sixtieth Running of Kentucky Derby Attracts Throng of 55,000 to Churchill Downs

HIGH STRUNG HORSES, THEIR JOCKIES TENSE WITH EXCITEMENT, GET SIGNAL TO GO AND THE KENTUCKY DERBY FIELD IS OFF ON ITS MILE AND A QUARTER RACE AT LOUISVILLE TRACK WHILE 55,000 CHEER.
At the rise of the barrier the field leaped away to a good start. The alert Jocky Mack Garner sent Cavalcade (sixth from the left) off at a good clip but restrained his mount from dangerously close crowding. Then he brought him on in the final drive to win handily. Discovery, which finished second, is fifth from the right in this picture, and Agrarian, which ran third, is fifth from the left.

At this early stage of the first big 3 year old fixture of the year backers of the fleet Fisher filly were hoping, though none too confidently, that she would be able to carry her speed throughout the grueling test of a mile and a quarter, but at the three-quarter pole Mata Hari had to relinquish the lead to Discovery, which in turn succumbed to the strong stretch run of Cavalcade, the ultimate winner. At this point Cavalcade was being restrained off the pace.

ZEKIEL IMPROVES HIS OWN SPRINT MARK AT AURORA

Defier Also Makes Good for Seremba Stable.

BY BRUCE DENNIS.

Zekiel, the 5 year old son of Zev-Royalite which races for Frank Seremba, wasn't fooling the other day when he broke the Aurora track record for six furlongs. He proved it when he broke the record again yesterday in winning the $1,000 CHICAGO TRIBUNE handicap which featured the card of eight races.

Zekiel skipped over the distance in 1:11. When he started running for the record last Tuesday he shaved it down from 1:11 2-5 to 1:11 1-5. Taking another fifth of a second off the mark is becoming a habit with the big bay gelding and there's no telling how long this may go on, for he didn't have to extend himself to win yesterday.

Zekiel Is Favorite.

The crowd, which numbered more than 8,000, made Zekiel the odds-on favorite and nobody who backed the Seremba horse had even the slightest cause to sprout grey hairs or develop wrinkles in the brow. Zekiel, breaking fast, jumped out into a lead of six lengths as they were racing down the back stretch. The horses rounded the turn for home and he still was six lengths to the good.

By this time Our Justice had moved up second and Miss Melody was running third. But the killing early pace was too much for them. Navanod and Flying Cadet came along to try to overtake Zekiel, who was getting a little tired, himself, along about that time. Jockey Joe Guerra, however, had no trouble steering Zekiel home my a margin of two lengths.

Navanod was second and Flying Cadet third. Zekiel paid $3.86 to win, $3.28 to place, and $2.40 to show. Navanod paid $13.06 to place and $3.92 for show, while Flying Cadet's show price was $2.62.

Seremba Stable Wins Two.

Zekiel's victory completed a double for the Seremba stable, for Defier won the fourth race, the La Salle purse, by 2½ lengths from a field of five other fair sprinters.

In many ways the victory of Defier was better news to the Seremba forces than was the triumph of Zekiel. Defier is the horse that Zeremba paid $12,500 for at the dispersal sale of the Harry Sinclair's Rancocas stable in 1931. Defier, at that time regarded as a promising 2 year old, had been entered in the Belmont futurity. The night before that stake, somebody offered Seremba $25,000 for Defier. He wouldn't sell.

Next day, Defier ran a miserable race. A little while after that, he broke down. He spent one whole year grazing around the infield at Jefferson Park, New Orleans. Finally it was decided his ailing legs had mended and he was put back into training.

Defier Second Choice.

Yesterday Seremba began collecting back some of that $12,000. Defier went to the post in the La Salle as the second choice in the betting. Altmark, which had a good record on the winter tracks, was the 7 to 5 favorite.

Altmark was left at the post. Defier started fast. Jockey Guerra brought him over to the rail sharply and he galloped into a comfortable lead. There never was much doubt about the outcome.

Time, :24 4-5, :49, 1:18 3-5, 1:40, 1:47 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Donie, $40.40 straight, $21.28 place, $12.18 show; Lion Hearted, $7.88 place, $5.52 show; Our Sandy, $4.90 show. Winner trained by E. F. Morris. Went to post at 5:16. At post ½ minute.

DONIE, reserved for three-quarters, moved up stoutly thereafter, wore down the leaders and won going away. LION HEARTED, never far back, closed strong in the stretch and finished gamely. OUR SANDY forced the pace to the final eighth, then weakened.

EIGHTH RACE—One mile. Purse $500. Net value to winner, $375; second, $75; third, $35; fourth, $15.

Time, :24 3-5, :48 3-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:40. Two dollar mutuels paid: Balthasar, $7.22 straight, $4.90 place, $4.16 show; Athens, $8.94 place, $6.42 show; Lilac Bloom, $4.14 show. Winner trained by F. A. Kelly. Went to post at 5:45. At post ½ minute.

BALTHASAR, reserved off the early pace, came to the outside in the stretch, wore down the leaders, weakened near the end and just lasted to outfinish ATHENS. Latter, widely outran early, gained rapidly in the final quarter, closed fastest and probably would have won in another stride. LILAC BLOOM, taken out of it at the start, saved much ground while gaining and probably would have been a stronger contender with better handling.

George Williams Beats Mooseheart in Track

Aurora, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Athletes of George Williams college of Chicago triumphed in a dual meet at Mooseheart field this afternoon, 78 to 44. In the outstanding exhibition of the afternoon Hanocher of Mooseheart ran the 120 high hurdles in 16 4-5 seconds.

FASHION WINS SHARE OF 60TH DERBY HONORS

Brightly Colored Attire Paints Scene.

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—[Special.]—While the sixtieth Kentucky Derby was run on the Churchill Downs course today, another annual contest that started with Mother Eve was being waged in the clubhouse, along the verandas and on the lawns and as usual fashion was the winner.

The clubhouse was never more crowded with smartly dressed women, whose brightly colored costumes, topped by huge cartwheel hats, made a fascinating picture.

Every Type of Ensemble.

This year the women displayed every type of ensemble, and wore charming imported prints, suits, dresses, and coats of net doucle, knitted suits, and sport suits of tweed and silk. Off the face hats, perched back on many youthful heads, while variety was added by others who wore sailors and cartwheels. Many forgot the threat of Derby rainfall and appeared in all white, while others combined white with navy, blue or brown.

Black and navy blue, always favorites, were smartly combined with yellow, delft blue or white, with here and there a gray or beige.

Chic Chicago Contingent.

The Chicago contingent was, as always, chic indeed. Among those observed in fashionable gowns were:

Mrs. Claude Baker, white ensemble, white hat; Mrs. Katrina McDonald, navy blue and white ensemble, hat to match; Mrs. Harry C. Daniels, Evanston, Lanvin model, mustard colored tailored suit, white and red dotted blouse, matching hat; Mrs. A. C. Deverell, skipper blue swagger suit, large blue hat trimmed in red.

Attractive Black and White.

Mrs. Horace W. Armstrong, black with white ruching, black hat; Miss Harriet McLaughlin, brown and white print, brown cartwheel hat.

Mrs. Francis Manierre, blue print with white pique, blue hat; Miss Ethelyn Ann Chittick, black and white print, black and white hat; Mrs. J. T. Gallagher, gray tailored suit, red accessories; Miss Esther Applebaum, navy blue silk ensemble, white accessories; Miss Rose Applebaum, pink ensemble, brown accessories; Mrs. H. Norwind, pink dress, white accessories.

Mrs. Margie Held, honey color and burnt orange ensemble, matching hat; Mrs. Joseph Toole, navy blue two-piece suit, small blue hat; Mrs. Warren Wright, Hattie Carnegie model—brown and yellow suit; Miss Elizabeth Gorman, pink and navy ensemble, navy hat; Miss Mary Bennam, white and yellow ensemble, white hat: Miss J. A. Bennam, black and white ensemble, black hat; Mrs. Darrow B. Fulton, black and white ensemble, black hat.

Hat and Suit of Blue.

Mrs. F. Hampden Winston, navy blue suit and hat; Mrs. James R. Brown, blue ensemble with white organdie trimming, blue hat; Miss Nan O'Malley, brown ensemble, brown straw hat; Mrs. Joseph Leiter, navy blue georgette ensemble, blue hat; Mrs. Robert Hixon, navy blue daisy print, blue cartwheel with daisies; Miss Clara Winn, gold coat with beige fox fur, gold and brown hat, brown shoes and gloves; Miss Marie Shelley, cream and green sports suit, brown and cream accessories; Mrs. James Smith, all white swagger suit, white hat and shoes.

Mrs. F. W. Boulton, beige wool Schiaparelli model trimmed in sable, matching accessories; Mrs. Claude F. Baker, white suit and hat; Mrs. Ruth Allen, navy dotted swiss dress with linen coat, red accessories; Mrs. James Bryant, brown swagger suit, brown hat.

Derby Pictures for Tribune Set Transit Record

Pictures of the Kentucky Derby, appearing in today's TRIBUNE, were brought to Chicago from Louisville in a record plane run last night. The journey, estimated at 275 miles, was made in one hour and 47 minutes, partly in bad weather, by Bill Richert of the Monarch Air service, in a Warner motored Cessna monoplane. The time required for the flight is said to be the record for the carrying of Derby pictures to Chicago.

To the scores of attaches and employés at the Chicago airport, where Richert landed, the flight was more interesting than the Derby itself. Each year various pilots hired to fly Derby pictures to Chicago tacitly stage a race out of the affair. Only two ships were involved last night. One, the winner, represented THE TRIBUNE. The other a Bellanca piloted by Cliff Condit, of the Bluebird Air service, represented the Associated Press. His trip took one hour and 54 minutes.

Condit left Louisville a few minutes before Richert, but lost this advantage by detouring around a rain storm. Richert made up the lost time by flying through the storm. Both appeared over the Chicago airport at the same time. Condit landed 10 seconds before Richert, but Richert, by quicker maneuvering, taxied to the goal—the airport administration office—60 seconds ahead of Condit, thus delivering his pictures first.

Time, :23, :47 1-5, 1:12 1-5, 1:37 2-5, 2:04. Two dollar mutuels paid: Cavalcade, $5.00 straight, $4.00 place, $3.20 show; Discovery, $9.20 place, $5.80 show; Agrarian, $5.00 show. Winner trained by R. A. Smith. Went to post at 6:13 [Chicago time]. At post 8 minutes.

CAVALCADE, slow to begin and carefully ridden, was kept clear of interference the first half mile. He moved up rapidly after straightening out in the back stretch, followed DISCOVERY and MATA HARI into the stretch and, coming at his rider's call down the middle of the home stretch, he passed DISCOVERY and drew out to win well in hand.

DISCOVERY, well rated close to the pace, moved into a commanding lead with a fine burst of speed after seven furlongs and held on well, but was overmatched.

AGRARIAN improved his position steadily and, closing fast, passed MATA HARI.

MATA HARI, fractious at the post, caused a long delay, broke well, raced SERGT. BYRNE into submission, but tired in the final test.

PEACE CHANCE, far back early, closed an immense gap, but hung in the final furlong.

SPY HILL improved his position slightly and held on evenly in the drive.

TIME CLOCK, away poorly, made up considerable ground. BAZAAR had no excuses, tiring when put to a drive. SINGING WOOD could not keep up. SERGT. BYRNE was through after five furlongs due to racing with MATA HARI. SIR THOMAS always was far back.

Motorcycle Escort Heralds Farley's Arrival at Derby

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 5.—Postmaster General James Farley, paced by four motorcycle policemen and trailed by half a dozen other cops all with sirens screeching out an unwelcome note to Kentuckians who were trying to take things easy, arrived at Churchill Downs today in time for breakfast at 11 o'clock. The small wager he made on the Derby was on the Brookmeade entry.

Mae West promenaded up and down the clubhouse lawn with Clark Gable and was almost unnoticed until she registered a loud complaint when the California horse Riskulus was scratched. She, too, had gone along with the native sons and backed this colt, whose price in the future books dropped from 80 to 1 to 10 to 1 a few weeks ago.

George Burnner, a barber from Lexington, spent the night at the Churchill Downs grandstand general admission window and was the first paid customer to pass through the Kentucky Derby turnstiles.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson didn't arrive until a short time before the running of the Derby. He traveled by plane from Columbus.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes of Illinois and Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet were around early buying tickets on Col. Bradley's Bazaar.

Col. Bradley, who entertained a party of ninety from Lexington, New York, and Palm Beach, admitted in the middle of the afternoon that he stood to win a big wager if Bazaar captured the Derby. Bradley was so confident he confided to a few friends that if Mata Hari wasn't in the field he would be willing to take even money on Bazaar against the field.

B. E. Buckman, lumber magnate of Madison, Wis., brought 26 guests in two private cars.

Patrick H. Joyce, president of the Chicago Great Western; Ed Fleming and Art Haley, the Notre Dame football ticket manager, were arm in arm looking for a horse with an Irish name to bet on. They were disappointed when Fogarty was scratched out of the Derby.

The two Derby regulars everybody missed were John Schank, late president of the Hawthorne track in Chicago, and E. Phocion Howard, late publisher of the New York Press. Both died last summer. There was no fashion plate in this Derby crowd that could equal the late Mr. Howard, although Peter B. Carey, chairman of the Illinois racing commission, made a strong bid for honors.

Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to former President Woodrow Wilson, and J. W. Morrill, the head of the alcoholic beverage unit of the department of justice, bought their tickets on Cavalcade.

The favorite players in the crowd got away to a flying start when the heavily backed St. Bernard, owned by E. D. Shaffer of Chicago, was the winner of the Springtime purse which opened the program. He beat Ross, owned by Dick and Pat Nash of Chicago, by an inch. Chicago Democrats groaned when the official numbers went up.

Andy Frain's ushers from Chicago in their smart blue uniforms handled the high priced seat customers with great dispatch and came in for much praise.

Ed Doern, the caterer who serves the Derby breakfast parties in the Churchill Downs clubhouse, reported the biggest business since 1929.

Riley Wilson, noted raconteur of Charleston, W. Va., reported that pickpockets had relieved him of his wallet containing $409 at Fourth and Walnut streets while he was waiting to take a cab to the track. As he put it, he arrived on the Derby scene "C. O. D."

One of the gayest parties drove over from Slickaway farm near Lexington, which is owned by Roy Carruthers, executive director of the Arlington Park Jocky club. It included Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. Otto W. Lehmann, Mr. and Mrs. H. Teller Archibald, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lobdell, all of Chicago.

Chicago's medical headliners were prominent in the crowd. Dr. John Mitchell and Dr. Glenn Greenwood of Evanston liked the Brookmeade entry. Dr. Charles Lowry bought his $2 ticket on Bazaar; Dr. Dorrin F. Rudnick and Dr. Arthur F. Conley were shouting for Mata Hari.

Barney Gimbel, the department store chief, of New York, wagered on Cavalcade; Harry Richman, the night club entertainer, strung with Bradley's Bazaar; Al Sabath, the new president of Hawthorne, was betting on Discovery, and so was Quinn Ryan, the radio announcer. Tom McHale, chairman of the board at Hawthorne, liked Singing Wood.

Stuyvesant Peabody made his bet on Agrarian with a little "saver" on Singing Wood. Stuyvesant Jr., bombared the $2 windows with wagers on the Brookmeade entry.

Gerald Cudahy of Chicago had a lot of smart looking folk whispering into his ears, but finally decided he wanted a ticket on Peace Chance.

The owners of every horse in the Derby were present in the paddock at the time the saddles were put on. The rich folk then pushed and shoved their way up to the windows to wager on their horses.

Former Senator Johnson N. Camden who didn't have a Derby color bearer and Arthur B. Hancock, the noted producer of thoroughbred horses, mingled in the paddock with owners of the Derby candidates.

The crowd stood with heads bared when the national anthem was played ten minutes before the horses left the paddock.

Gov. Ruby Laffoon, carrying a malaca cane and accompanied by two rather big men whose hips bulged with firearms or bourbon whisky, visited the Derby paddock and shook hands with each owner, trainer, and jocky.

All of Kentucky's best bourbons were on sale at three bars at the track. Most of the folk patronizing them seemed to be good two fisted drinkers. The crowds arriving early this morning stormed downtown barrooms and most of the visitors got the breakfast under way by sipping a delicious mint julep.

MICHIGAN GOLF TEAM DEFEATS ILLINOIS, 23½-3½

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 5.—[Special.]—University of Michigan golfers, Big Ten champions for the last three season, won a dual match from Illinois today, 23½ to 3½. The Wolverines won all three doubles matches and all the singles except that halved by Kocsis and Hoffman.

Low medal score, two strokes under par for the university course, were turned in by Capt. Eddie Dayton and Chuck Kocsis of the Michigan team, Kocsis getting a 70 in his foursome round and Dayton using the same number of strokes in his singles match with Hill.

GARNER PALES AT GREATEST THRILL IN TURF CAREER

Kentucky Cheers Veteran Jocky.

Derby. He had sought a taste of Derby victory a dozen times before he climbed on Cavalcade this afternoon.

It was the realization that his first Derby victory was within reach when Cavalcade started running in the stretch that caused Garner to turn pale and to be almost overcome by what he says was the "greatest thrill" of his career.

Garner is 34 years old, and streaks of gray course his temples. He weighs 108 pounds and has never scaled more than 110. He had to carry 14 pounds of lead in his saddle this afternoon to bring Cavalcade's impost up to the required 126 pounds.

"I perhaps never won an easier race," Garner said tonight. "I hit Cavalcade with the whip once. I shouted into his ears 'Come on, we're going places.' Trainer Smith had told me to take it easy and stay off the pace until we started turning into the stretch. From the way Cavalcade was running I knew we were going to be running hard at all those horses in front of us when the real battle started.

Not His Best Mount.

"When we caught Discovery I knew the race was over and we perhaps could have run the last quarter of a mile a little faster if there had been any need of it."

"Was this the best horse you have ever ridden?" Garner was asked.

"I don't believe so," he replied. "The day In Memoriam beat Zev at Latonia and the day Zev beat us by a whisker at Churchill Downs In Memoriam was just about as good as any horse that ever went to the races. Cavalcade is a nice colt; he has done everything we asked him so far and we really don't know how good he might be."

Garner's contract with Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan provides that he receive 10 per cent of all the stake money his mounts win. Friends of Garner said tonight Mrs. Sloan had given him a present of $7,500 for winning today's Derby.

"How long are you going to keep at it?" reporters asked.

"Until Little Mack gets old enough to start galloping horses," he answered.

Garner at times has failed to follow riding instructions, but it doesn't happen often. In the $100,000 Belmont Futurity of 1927 Garner was up on Reigh Count, running coupled with Anita Peabody. Both were owned by Mrs. John Hertz, who preferred that Anita Peabody win.

Lets Anita Peabody Win.

A sixteenth of a mile from the finish, when Reigh Count was smothering horses with his speed, he got up on even with Anita Peabody.

"How about it, can you win, Chick?" Garner shouted to Chick Lang on Anita Peabody. Lang assured him he could, so Garner pulled up Reight Count and finished second.

Mrs. Hertz was reported to be so well pleased with this display of sportsmanship that she paid Garner just as big a fee as she did Lang.

EQUIPOISE WINS DIXIE HANDICAP; TOTALS $332,960

Baltimore, Md., May 5.—(AP)—C. V. Whitney's Equipoise took another step in his campaign to supplant Sun Beau as the world's leading money winning thoroughbred when he whipped three ordinary performers in the Dixie handicap at Pimlico today.

The victory, worth $4,190, sent Equipoise's earnings to $332,960, $710 more than was won by the late Phar Lap. Only Sun Beau's mark of $376,744 stands in front of the Whitney colt.

The one and three-sixteenth mile trip lost much of its interest when Mrs. John Bosley Jr. withdrew her unbeaten Chase Me, winner of seven straight races since making his debut last fall as a four year old. No excuse was furnished by Mrs. Bosley other than she did not think her charge ready for a hard race.

Though he carried 130 pounds, the six year old son of Pennant had no trouble in justifying the short odds. Sonny Workman, up on the Whitney champion, let J. B. Belk's Flaming Mamie, a lightly weighed plater, set the pace to the three-quarter pole. He then shot Equipoise to the front and once in command it was a mere breeze for the horse that holds the world's record of 1:34 2-5 for one mile.

RECEPTION FOR POLISH BOXERS TO SET RECORD

Overseas Fighters Arrive in Chicago May 14.

BY ARCH WARD.

Chicago's 500,000 citizens of Polish extraction are preparing the biggest reception ever accorded visiting athletes when the amateur boxing champions of Poland arrive at the Union station on the afternoon of May 14. The fighters from Warsaw will have traveled more than 4,000 miles when they reach the west side terminal, but they will be made to feel at home the moment they step off the train.

Every Polish society in the metropolitan district will have a hand in extending greetings to the young men who are coming to battle Chicago's Golden Gloves champions May 23. After the ceremonies at the station the team will be taken to the city hall where Mayor Edward J. Kelly will give them Chicago's official word of welcome.

Reception in Humboldt Park.

On the following evening, May 15, they will be guests of the Polish people of Chicago at a huge outdoor reception in Humboldt park. More than 200,000 turned out on a similar occasion last year to greet the champions of Ireland in Garfield park, and the men sponsoring the Polish gathering predict theirs will be larger.

The honorary committee in charge of reception arrangements includes Dr. Tytus Zbyszewski, consul general of Poland; the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago; Francis X. Swietlik, censor Polish National Alliance; John J. Romaszkiewicz, president of the Polish National Alliance; John J. Olejniczak, president of the Polish Roman Catholic Union; Miss Emily Napieralski, president of the Polish Women's Alliance; Albert Soska, president of the Polish Alma Mater; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas Bona; the Rt. Rev. Thaddeus Ligman; Anton Wojdyga, president of the Polish Falcons.

Personnel of Executive Committee.

The reception at Humboldt park and another at Douglas park on the following Sunday evening, the latter to be sponsored by the Southwest Polish Business Men's association, are the only engagements arranged for the visiting boxers in advance of the bouts with Chicago's Golden Gloves champions at Chicago Stadium May 23.

Training Plans Completed.

The two teams will begin training in Chicago almost simultaneously. There is a possibility the Poles will have time for a workout Monday afternoon after their arrival. That is the time set for the first session in the Chicago team's camp at the Illinois Athletic club.

Meanwhile the demand for tickets breaks all records for international boxing shows. The Tribune Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower will be prepared tomorrow to sell tickets across the counter. Heretofore the business has been by mail. For those who cannot get to a ticket booth arrangements have been made to accept mail orders for another week or ten days.

Parade to City Hall.

The Pennsylvania train bearing the Polish fighters to Chicago will arrive at the Union station at 1:15 p. m. on May 14. A parade headed by the Board of Trade band of the American Legion will escort the boxers up Jackson boulevard to La Salle street and north on La Salle to the city hall. The fighters will ride in open cars so pedestrians may see them. Hundreds of committee members and as many Chicago sportsmen as care to participate will follow the boxers to the city hall. Only officials with proper credentials, which will be supplied by THE TRIBUNE, will be admitted to the mayor's chambers.

The reception in Humboldt park will begin at 8 o'clock. There will be a program of Polish and American music, talks by prominent Polish citizens and a few words of greeting from each of the Polish boxers. After the entertainment every one will be invited to remain for outdoor dancing, one block north of the monument. It is all free.

NAME MURPHY FOOTBALL COACH AT ST. VIATOR

Bourbonnais, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Ray Murphy, former star half back at Fordham and St. Louis universities, today was named football coach at St. Viator college here. Murphy is employed by the Ed A. Garvey company of Chicago and plans to commute while handling spring practice, which will start soon at St. Viator.

RAY MURPHY.

Murphy played half back under the late Maj. Frank Cavanaugh at Fordham in 1927 and went to St. Louis university in 1928 and 1929, where he played under Hunk Anderson. When Anderson left the school Murphy transferred to Duke university. Murphy, however, did not play for Duke, as a new transfer rule made him ineligible.

Murphy, whose home is New Haven, Conn., played for the Massee Prep school at Stanford, Conn., in 1926, gaining a reputation as the outstanding prep player in the east. In 1932 he coached the Samuel Johnson academy eleven at Stratford, Conn. He also played baseball at Dorchester, Mass., under Bill Stewart, a National league umpire this year.

Polish Boxers Sail for U. S. After Paying $1 for a Shave

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHERBOURG, France, May 5.—With the exception of Sipinski, lightweight champion, who is suffering from a stiff neck, the Polish amateur boxing team arrived at Cherbourg today feeling fit after its long train journey from Warsaw. The team sailed tonight for New York enroute to Chicago for its International Golden Gloves match May 23.

The sweltering weather in Poland and Germany tempted the boxers to sleep with Pullman windows open last night and the sudden drop in temperature in France put Sipinski on the sick list. He insisted, however, on accompanying the team on its sightseeing trip in Paris, when the boxers were the guests of the Paris edition of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Good Old French Custom.

The team asked to see Notre Dame cathedral, the grave of the Unknown Soldier, and the Eiffel tower, which were visited in the course of a three hour drive. Several of the boxers visited a barber shop where a Frenchman, learning they were Poles, decided to recoup his losses in the Stavisky scandal by charging them a dollar per shave. Even the capable Cunard line interpreters assisting the party in its travels were unable to save the Poles from the usual Paris initiation of foreigners.

The happiest boy in the party was the bantamweight, Rogalski, who a month ago was called for military service. Officers had refused to grant him leave. The energetic plea of Majchrycki, middleweight champion, who called on the Poznan garrison commander, accompanied by several members of the team, Thursday evening resulted in the granting of special leave. His teammates found Rogalski lying in a bunk overcome with disappointment and stripped of all hope of seeing Chicago. Rogalski was 10 pounds overweight when he entered the army, but a month's drilling and the simple fare of a Polish soldier made him underweight. He is the only member of the team whose diet is not being carefully watched.

Pals Give Rotholz Some Zloties.

Rotholz, who comes from Warsaw and is Poland's most notable Jewish boxer, received an ovation at the station Thursday night. Knowing that his job as an apprentice printer did not provide sufficient pocket money for the trip, his pals, who are as poor as he is, pressed upon him one or two zlotys apiece [a zloty is 20 cents] from their wages.

Rotholz caused a near panic in Berlin Friday morning when teammates discovered he was covered with a rash. The boys feared he had contracted chicken pox. Trainer Sztam decided it was nestle rash and Rotholz was permitted to have dinner. In the afternoon the rash had disappeared.

The Poles, fearing seasickness, asked me to buy plenty of remedies in Paris and I found the latest discovery which, if a storm is encountered, will receive a thorough test. It is a big plaster which, if attached to the abdomen, is guaranteed to keep away seasickness for five days.

How About Chicago.

The sight of the liner Berengaria awed the team and restored its confidence. The boxers now have decided that since they have survived the rollicking, rolling ride aboard the boat train from Paris, it will take bigger waves than those on the Atlantic to compel the use of the new fangled plasters purchased in Paris.

With the passing of the first thrills of travel, the boxers now are turning their thoughts to the Chicago Golden Gloves team they will meet May 23. They are anxiously awaiting their arrival in New York where friends who saw the Chicagoans fight the New New York team in the annual intercity bouts, will provide them with the first intimate knowledge of their opponents. The prospect of fighting before 22,000 in the world's largest indoor arena, the Chicago Stadium, holds no awe for members of the team. They are certain they will be cheered by many friends in the vast crowd and they are interested only in fulfilling their pledge to bring home Europe's first victory in the four year old International Golden Gloves series.

3 Ring Shows Carded Here During Week

Three shows will top this week's Chicago boxing schedule. Solly Dukelsky, middleweight, opposes Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., at Marigold Gardens and Henry Rothier clashes with Meyer Grace, Indianapolis, Ind., welterweight, at Midway arena tomorrow night. On Friday Leo Rodak and Sammy Levine will meet at the Rainbo Fronton. All three bouts are set for eight rounds.

Dukelsky will attempt to avenge a defeat by Stuhley April 6. It was the Kewanee boxer's third triumph in four efforts. He then defeated Karl Ogren in an eight round fight at White City April 13.

Dukelsky points to his conquests of Jack King and Ogren and his draw battle with Johnny Phagan prior to facing Stuhley as a basis for predicting a victory against Stuhley tomorrow. Solly maintains that he was stale in their last battle.

The Rothier-Grace bout at Midway promises to bring out some terrific fighting. The former was awarded an eight round verdict over Grace at the Fronton Jan. 5. The Indianapolis boxer contended that this was a mistake and to prove it he whipped Johnny Phagan at the Midway three days later. Inasmuch as Phagan is the only boxer who has been able to win from Rothier in 22 pro starts, Grace's contention carries some weight.

Sammy Levine will make his first appearance here since Jan. 15 against Leo Rodak at the Fronton. He liked Minneapolis so well after knocking out Art Mitchell in five rounds on March 23 that he remained there to fight Jackie Sharkey on April 6 and Everett [Young] Rightmeier April 20.

Rodak will be seeking his 18th straight triumph. He has beaten Eddie Shea, Paul Dazzo, Winfrid [Moon] Mullins and Jackie Sharkey in recent weeks. Prior to the Sharkey victory Rodak took six rounds to defeat Mitchell Dec. 18. The supposition is that Johnny Coulon arranged the combat on Rodak's and Levine's performances against Mitchell.

Petey Hayes and Mike Belloise, New York featherweights, are to battle 10 rounds at New York Friday. . . . Another tussle Friday will bring together Kid Chocolate, Cuban junior lightweight, and Pete Nebo, Key West, Fla., at San Francisco.

Mickey Walker, veteran Elizabeth, N. J., boxer, expects to obtain revenge for a previous trimming by Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, when they meet again Tuesday at Los Angeles, Cal., in a 10 round nontitle bout.

Rosenbloom, who successfully defended his crown in 15 rounds against Walker at New York Nov. 3, may not be in tiptop physical condition Tuesday. He does little training when his championship is not at stake and usually loses.

The champion has engaged in 11 contests since the first one with Walker. He was held to draw battles by Clyde Chastain, Bob Godwin, Joe Knight, and Al Gainer. Rosenbloom beat Wilson Dunn, Gordon Fortenberry, Le Roy Brown, and Johnny Miller. He in turn was whipped by Charley Massera, Godwin and Chastain in overweight bouts.

Walker appears to be fighting in good form since his failure to dethrone Maxie. He knocked out Les Kennedy in two rounds at Newark, N. J., Dec. 4. Mickey fought a draw with Godwin at West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 29 and handed a lacing to Tom Patrick at Hollywood, March 29. Then he knocked out Max Maxwell at San Diego, April 6. In his latest he battled to another draw with Godwin at San Francisco, April 13.

KOZELUH SIGNS AS TENNIS PRO AT KNOLLWOOD

Began Career When Only 14 Years Old.

Karel Kozeluh, internationally known Czechoslovakian professional tennis player, will serve as coach at the Knollwood club, Lake Forest, during the coming season, it was announced yesterday by club officials. The signing of the star player-instructor is expected to stimulate interest in the game in and around Chicago.

Starting his brilliant professional career when only 14 years old, Kozeluh since then has held most, if not all, of the important professional championships. He was at one time holder of the world title, and in addition was once American professional champion. Kozeluh also won six championships of Europe. Tennis, both as an active participant and as an instructor, has occupied most of his time since making his professional debut. The only major break in his record came during the years he was in war service.

Knollwood's six courts will be under Kozeluh's personal supervision this summer.

Dutch Girl Swims 220 in 2:34.6; Claims Mark

DUNDEE, Scotland, May 5.—[UP]—Willy Denouden of Holland, tonight claimed the world women's swimming record for 220 yards. She covered the distance in 2:34.6, bettering by 7 2-10 seconds the mark of Helene Madison, Seattle.

LYMAN BREAKS SHOT PUT MARK AS TROJANS WIN

Los Angeles, Cal., May 5.—(AP)—Southern California turned its annual track and field meet with Stanford into a rout today at the I. C. A. A. champions won, 82 2-3 to 48 1-3.

Fifteen thousand witnessed the meet in which John Lyman, Stanford, put the 16 pound shot 54 feet ⅝ inch to eclipse the accredited world record of 52 feet 7⅞ inches set by Z. Heljasz, Poland, in 1932. The mark, however, is more than a foot short of that set by Jack Torrance, Louisiana State, at the Drake relays last Friday. Torrance threw the ball 55 feet 1½ inches. Three meet records also were broken and two others tied.

Woman Wins Chile Net Title for First Time

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 5.—(AP)—Anita Lizana defeated Juan Aribe, 6—3, 6—2, 6—3, today to become the first woman in history to win the singles tennis championship of Chile.

MICHIGAN WINS, 4 TO 1; ILLINOIS HELD TO 3 HITS

Whitey Wistert Fans 10; Artz, Oliver Lead Attack.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 5.—[Special.]—Whitey Wistert limited Illinois to three hits and fanned 10 as Michigan scored a 4 to 1 victory over Illinois today. The defeat was Illinois' first in Big Ten competition.

Capt. Avon Artz and Russ Oliver of Michigan each got three singles. Masek of Illinois left the mound in the seventh inning after the Wolverines had bunched hits on him for the third successive time.

Two of Illinois' hits were combined with an infield out for a run in the second. Michigan tied it up in the fifth when Wistert walked, advanced on an out and scored on Ratterman's single. Successive hits by Artz, Oliver and Petoskey, and an infield out counted two more in the fifth. Artz' third hit, a stolen base and another hit by Oliver counted the final run in the seventh. Summaries:

PURDUE, 10; CHICAGO, 6.

Lafayette, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—Purdue pounded Langford for five runs in the seventh inning today in defeating Chicago, 10 to 6. It was Purdue's third Big Ten victory. Although touched for 16 base hits, Tim Griffin, Purdue southpaw, lasted the route.

Dutch Fehring of the Boilermakers got a homer and two singles to drive in three runs and scored two himself. Cochran led the Maroons with four singles in five trips to the plate. Bill Haarlow poled out a home run in the second inning and Lauerman connected for a double for Chicago's only extra base hits.

Griffin fanned seven to three for Langford. Score:

Chicago ....020 012 010— 6 16 5
Purdue ....012 101 50*—10 14 2

Batteries—Langford, Novak and Offill; Griffin and Fehring.

GOPHERS TRIUMPH, 8 TO 4.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—Minnesota evened a two game series by scoring an 8 to 4 triumph over Iowa today.

Until Stanton led off with a home run to open a six run rally in the sixth inning, Gene Ford had the Gophers under control.

Grossman went the route for the Gophers, although he weakened in the late innings, and got out of a hole in the eighth when the Hawkeyes filled the bases after scoring twice. Score:

Iowa ....000 000 220—4 7 2
Minnesota ....000 206 00*—8 13 1

Batteries—Ford, Frohwein and Schmidt; Gross and Bruhn.

NOTRE DAME WINS.

Columbus, O., May 5.—[Special.]—Notre Dame's baseball team avenged an early season defeat by Ohio State by defeating the Buckeyes, 5 to 3, today. The Buckeyes committed six errors.

Notre Dame scored in the first inning when Cunha singled and scored on Rasche's double. The Buckeyes got two in their half of the first.

Notre Dame scored twice in the fourth when Dunn reached second on Lewis' error. Beach sacrificed and Dunn scored when Lewis committed another error on Underkofler's grounder. Leonard's single brought home the catcher. Score:

PURDUE TRACK TEAM DEFEATS MAROONS, 84-47

Boilermakers Win Relay, Nine Other Events.

Lafayette, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—Taking firsts in nine of fourteen individual events and winning the mile relay, Purdue's track squad won, 84 to 47, from Chicago here this afternoon.

Capt. Charles Popejoy and Harry Hollis were double winners for the Boilermakers. Popejoy scored easy victories in the mile and two mile runs, while Hollis won the 100 yard dash, in which Purdue scored a slam, and took first place in the broad jump.

Berwanger Leads Scoring.

Jay Berwanger, the Maroons' all-around star, won high point honors, although his only victory came in the 220 yard low hurdles in which Kenneth Sandbach, Boilermaker star, did not compete because of a sore tendon. Berwanger scored 18 points, adding seconds in the shot put, high hurdles, discus, and broad jump, and a third in the pole vault to his low hurdle triumph.

Purvis Wins Easily.

Duane Purvis, national collegiate javelin champion, had an easy time outdistancing the field with a toss of 200 feet 4 inches, while Sandbach loafed to an easy victory in the high hurdles.

Triangular Track Meet Is Won by Iowa

Iowa City, Ia., May 5.—[Special.]—The University of Iowa track team totaled 55 points today to win a triangular track meet with Northwestern and Wisconsin. The Wildcats and the Badgers made 54 points each.

In the first tabulation of the results, Wisconsin was given a tie with Iowa at 55 points, while Northwestern was credited with only 53. An hour after the end of the meet, however, the judges discovered that one point which should have been credited to Ollie Olson of Northwestern for fourth place in the javelin throw had been entered in Wisconsin's account. The point was transfered to Northwestern, leaving Iowa on top.

N. U. Wins Mile Relay.

Northwestern kept the Badgers from winning the meet in the last event when Odcock picked up a two foot lead in the mile relay and Fleming held it to the tape for second place as the Hawkeyes won the event easily.

The Hawkeye victory was won on superiority in the track events. The Badgers were far superior in the field. Iowa won both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, the quarter mile and scored in both hurdle events. Mark Panther who won the javelin throw, was the only Iowan to win in the field competition.

Wisconsin scored nine points in the discus throw, and took first in the pole vault and shot to remain in the championship race. Olson made probably the most outstanding mark of the day in winning the high jump. He cleared six feet 2⅝ inches.

Badgers Win at Two Miles.

The Badgers also won the two mile run, Schwalbach sprinting to the tape 30 yards ahead of the field after running in third place most of the race. Ledman of the Badgers cleared 12 feet to win the pole vault, while Robow put the shot 46 feet 8⅜ inches, and the discus 131 feet 10 inches for two other Wisconsin firsts.

Capt. Sidney Dean of the Hawkeyes stretched a five yard lead to 15 yards in winning the mile relay, while Ed Becker won both the 100 and 220 yard dashes for the home school.

Duggins of Northwestern captured high point honors by winning the low hurdles and broad jump, and winning fourth in the 220 yard dash.

It was the last meet on the old Iowa field track.

ONE MILE RUN—Won by Farley [N. W.]; Kleinschmidt [W.], second; Kruger [W.], third; Gordon [Ia], fourth. Time, 4:24.3.

440 YARD DASH—Won by Dean [Ia]; Fleming [N. W.], second; Kaumanns [N. W.], third; Kay [W.], fourth. Time, :49.3.

100 YARD DASH—Won by Becker [Ia]; Smith [Ia] second; Jeniki [W.], and Albright [W.] tied for third. Time, :10.3.

120 YARD HURDLES—Won by Jens [N. W.]; Cretzmeyer [Ia.] and Moulton [Ia.], tied for second; Stuewe [W.], fourth. Time, :15.2.

Hillsboro Wins South Central Conference Meet

Taylorville, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Hillsboro High school made 45 points to win the South Central conference track and field meet today. Other schools finished as follows: Litchfield, 8½; Pana, 27½; Taylorville, 27; Carlinville, 24½; Staunton, 23½; Nokomis, 16½; Gillespie, 14½.

Cavalcade Wins Kentucky Derby by Three Lengths

was just a little girl out with a crowd of sturdier, speedier boys. Her heart was there, but her legs couldn't match it. At the three-quarters post she had slipped a little and Discovery was bringing the roars from the crowd as he forged to the front and left the little heroine three lengths behind. Mata Hari was struggling gamely, but Cavalcade was starting his rush and was only half a length behind her. Sergt. Byrne had fallen back to eighth now and was out of it. Agrarian had kept up his steady push toward the front and was fifth, with Singing Wood running fourth, by a length.

Then into the stretch. It was Cavalcade now who was getting the cheers. Garner brought him up steadily and they made the turn with the favorite a half length out in the lead. Discovery was second, a good four lengths ahead of Mata Hari, but the filly, with a five length lead over Peace Chance, which had popped out of the ruck to pull into fourth place, seemed sure of third. Agrarian was still galloping along in fifth place, a length away.

Wins Going Away.

From there on in it was Cavalcade. With a rush he came down the stretch, hoofs thundering. Jocky Garner, knowing what was under him and sensing Cavalcade's finishing power, made the issue safe. Waving his whip, he struck it once, just once, across Cavalcade's flanks. The favorite took the hint, bounded away from the lash, and the 60th Kentucky Derby was over so far as contention was concerned. Cavalcade won going away.

Agrarian Finishes with a Rush.

Discovery was equally secure in second place. Meantime Agrarian, second in the Florida Derby, second in the Chesapeake stakes, and otherwise a consistent performer, was weaving through the field at fifth position. He pushed past the tiring Mata Hari in the last 50 yards to take third place by a half length with Mata Hari fourth.

Following in order were Peace Chance, which had started slowly and couldn't reach the leaders despite his Derby trial mile of 1:35 3-5; Sergt. Byrne, Time Clock, which finished strong from a sulking start; Bazaar, which faded in the final test; Singing Wood, Speedmore, Spy Hill, Sir Thomas, and Quasimodo.

Quiet for Parade.

Perhaps in deference to the nervous whims of the two well regarded fillies in the race, no band discoursed music as the Derby candidates were led through the infield or around the track from their stables to the paddock. Likewise no bugle sounded "Boots and Saddles" to summon them to the post.

Therefore it was somewhat unexpected to the crowd in clubhouse and grandstand, on lawn and brick terrace, overflowing and lining the infield rail the entire length of the stretch when the field of 13 filed on the track without the usual preliminary announcement. Mata Hari was with the lead pony as they came through the paddock gate. Peace Chance took the other side after showing signs of nervousness. Others followed in numerical order, with Spy Hill occasionally making a nervous jump, the others on their good behavior.

Bradley's Reign Ends.

The traditional gold trophy which goes to the winner was presented to Mrs. Sloane by Postmaster General Farley, who saw the race as the guest of Col. Matt J. Winn, president of the American Turf association. By her victory today, Mrs. Sloane, a daughter of Horace Dodge, automobile manufacturer, became the only person ever to win both the Florida and Kentucky Derbies. Cavalcade won the Florida Derby on March 17 for Mrs. Sloane. She also was the first woman to win the Kentucky Derby since Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand galloped to victory in record breaking time in 1931.

Besides bringing a sweeping victory to the east, Cavalcade broke the domination of Col. Bradley over the Kentucky Derby. Col. Bradley had won in 1932 with Burgoo King and again last year with Broker's Tip. This year Bradley was represented by the filly Bazaar, which with the game little Mata Hari, had carried the hopes of the west, after Norman W. Church's Riskulus had been scratched an hour before post time.

Second Imported Winner.

Cavalcade became the second imported racer to capture the Derby, the first imported winner having been Omar Khayyam in 1917. Hastily, Cavalcade's mother, was bred to Lancegaye in England and was brought to the United States before Cavalcade was foaled. He was sold to Mrs. Sloane at the yearling sales at Saratoga in 1932 for $1,200.

Mrs. Sloane, although ill until recently, made the trip to the Derby and when she walked down onto the track to receive her trophy she was cheered by the great throng.

The crowd cheered also as Mack Garner and his mount were decorated, but, after all, it was a Kentucky crowd, and its cheers, though enthusiastic, were not as wildly so as in some leaner years, when a Kentucky bred colt had trotted up to receive the honors of the victor.

Betting Is Brisk.

The crowd was one of the most colorful since before the days of the depression. It packed the grandstand and the clubhouse, it overflowed onto the lawns, and it covered the infield, where many early arrivals stretched out to sleep through the early races before the Derby was run. Long lines of betters stretched away from the pari-mutuel windows and even blocked the entrance to the clubhouse inclosure at times. Many had made their choices long before post time for the Derby and the windows at which tickets on the Derby only were sold were busy from early morning until the betting closed.

Though there always have been celebrators who make of the Derby an occasion for overindulgence, regardless of existing statutes, there was no more inebriation today—the first post-repeal Derby day—than during prohibition.

The usual Derby day high prices prevailed, however, and a bottle of beer sold for 25 cents, with thousands of buyers. Hard liquor was much higher in price.

MICHIGAN FRUIT BLOSSOMS LURE AUTO TOURISTS

Gorgeous Displays Only a Few Hours from Chicago

BY HAL FOUST.

Western Michigan is making a strong bid for Chicago tourist trafic for the next two weeks. Blossom week, celebrated in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, will open today. The annual tulip festival will be held in Holland, Mich., during the week starting next Saturday.

Indiana's broad pavement on the Dunes Relief road has brought this eastern shore of Lake Michigan within easy driving distance of Chicago. Benton Harbor and its twin city, St. Joseph, are 96 miles from the loop. Holland is 160 miles.

The Tribune roadster last week swung around the foot of Lake Michigan for the tour that will be followed by thousands this spring and summer. The orchards in the vicinity of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph were still without flowers but a warm sun was swelling the buds.

Trees About to Bloom.

John G. Cox, secretary of the St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce, predicted that the blossoms would begin to show by today and that the countryside would be in full bloom by next Saturday.

The tulips of Holland likewise were tardy, but warm weather is swelling the buds and promising to make a flower garden of the Dutch city.

The drive from Chicago was a pleasant one. The trip is well worth the gasoline even when the destination is not a floral festival. There are some annoying bumpy and narrow streets through the industrial districts of South Chicago and northern Indiana, but once through Gary the highway becomes something to write a song about.

The Dunes Relief road east from Gary swings in gentle curves through wooded sandhills on a broad right of way that is just beginning to be marred by billboards. The trees are turning green and the song birds in the migrations northward are loitering in this refuge.

North Into Michigan.

North into Michigan, the highway continues in sand dunes near the shore of Lake Michigan. The state has just awarded a contract for landscaping this section of road with federal "easy money."

The mouth of the historic St. Joseph river is approached through an arch of large maple trees that border both sides of the pavement. This is through the village of Shoreham, a string of cottages along the beach that incorporated to ban billboards and hot dog stands.

The U. S. 12 markers carry trafic into St. Joseph just east of a parked bluff that overlooks the harbor visited by Father Marquette in 1669 and explored by Marquette and Joliet in 1673. In 1676 Fort Miamis was built here by La Salle.

The Automobile Club of Michigan has outlined five routes for jaunts through the nearby orchard country for views of the blossoms. However, almost any road west from the twin cities will find the flowering trees that perfume the air.

Twenty-Six Miles of New Road.

North from Benton Harbor following the U. S. 31 markers is twenty-six miles of new pavement, mainly through state park. There is a heavy second growth of a wide variety of trees covering hills of sand. Maples are pink. Poplars are dropping their wormlike flowers. There are glimpses of Lake Michigan between dunes of clean yellow sand.

North of South Haven U. S. 31 has stretches of bumpy black top and rough old concrete that are no help to Michigan's second largest industry, the tourist trade, but the natural attractions of the country compensate for this annoyance. Holland is reached after four or five hours of driving from the loop if any one wants to make a job of steady duty at the wheel.

The Tulip Festival.

Holland, with its annual tulip festival, retains its individualism in a country with few distinctive towns. There is no carnivalism in this holiday week. The town, still mainly Dutch, is paying its respects to its founders, the colonists who followed Dr. A. C. Raalte from the Netherlands in 1847.

CULVER TRACK SQUAD DEFEATS SENN, 84 TO 38

Culver, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—Culver Military academy defeated Senn High school, Chicago, in a track meet, 84 to 38, today. The Cadets won eight firsts and scored slams in the pole vault and 440. Osweiler of the visitors was the high point man with 19 points scored in the hurdles and weight events. Kobak of Senn won the high jump at six feet. Summaries:

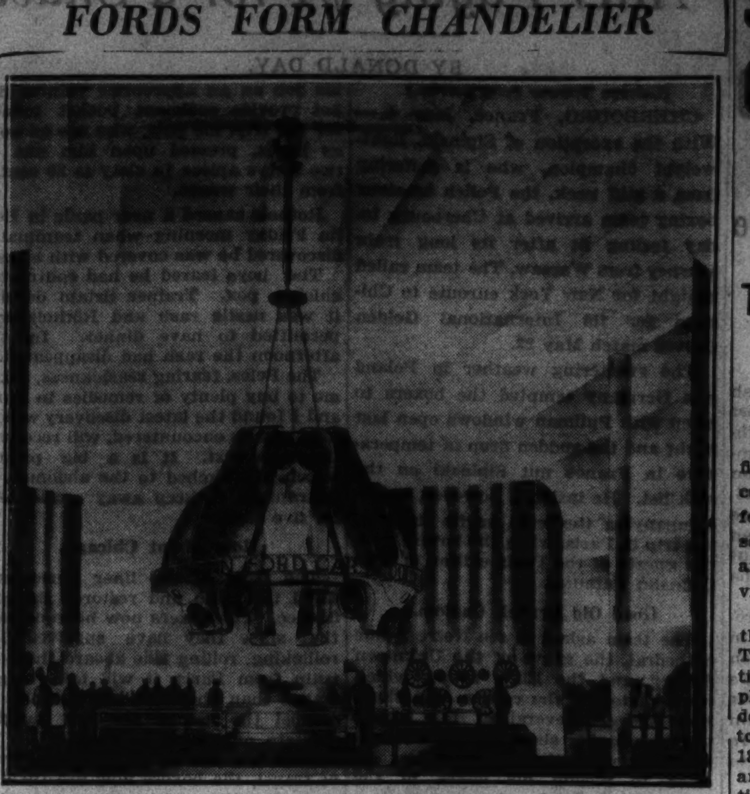
MOTORS—TRAFIC—HIGHWAYS

FORDS FORM CHANDELIER



Three full size automobiles suspended from a standard welded steel spoke wheel of a Ford V-8 will form this chandelier in Henry Ford's $1,000,000 exhibit at the World's Fair this year. Engineer tests showed that the wheel was strong enough to support the weight of fourteen motor cars.

VOICE OF TRAFIC

WHAT STREET SIGNS!

Chicago, April 28.—I noticed in the Tribune where Mayor Kelly remarked that the city was without funds to change the street signs from "Crawford avenue" to "Pulaski road." May I go on record, as a motorist, in asking "What street signs?"

JAMES T. PETTINGELL.

1933 LICENSE.

Chicago, April 26.—I have not driven my car for the past six weeks on account of not having my license and believe me I need it in my business every day, being a commission salesman.

Yesterday while riding east on Lawrence avenue in the car of a friend of mine, we were following a coal truck which not only had a 1933 license but also hard tires—two violations.

How come? J. McMAHON.

SLOW LICENSE SERVICE.

Chicago, April 13.—Why cannot the secretary's office in Springfield employ more people in the automobile license department? I am employed by a large automobile concern, and we are having a most difficult and disgusting time convincing automobile purchasers we have sent in their application for licenses and transfers, in order that they may get their certificates of title.

We have this date checked up our canceled checks and find checks dated Jan. 28 came through the bank at Springfield on March 31, and checks dated Feb. 7 came through on April 5. Still these people have not received their titles or license cards.

Where people have purchased used cars, we cannot make deliveries because the deal is incomplete until the certificate is received.

This all tends to slow our business, and make enemies of the customers that do not understand the certificate of title idea.

If Springfield is working under the NRA they should employ more people to enable them to do their work in record time, which certainly will aid the unemployment situation, and tend to keep myself and others good natured.

A. E. O'LEARY.

VIOLATIONS.

Chicago, May 3.—Is our city administration too busy to see to it that our laws are enforced? Cars parked all over the loop. Drivers going through red lights and notwithstanding Commissioner Allman's order to pick up the cars with 1933 license plates or no plates at all I counted 14 such cars in a very short time. Thanks to The Tribune for publishing some of these violations, and to the city administration "for shame."

NEWS AND VIEWS

Harlow H. Curtice, president of Buick, yesterday confirmed rumors that this veteran manufacturer of medium priced automobiles will soon announce a model in the lower price bracket. A vigorous production and distribution program is already under way. Details of the new car are to be made public next week-end.

W. E. Delaney and F. F. Knoerzer have taken over the management of the Broadway Nash company, 5200 Broadway. Dwight K. Vogeding, president of the Evanston Nash company, is treasurer of the north side agency.

For the first time in the history of the great automobile industry mechanical and technical subjects have been told about and described in a "Mother Goose" simplicity of manner. This entirely new type of automobile merchandising booklet, describing the features of the new 1934 Auburn models in story book form, has been prepared for the company by the P. P. Willis corporation advertising agency for public distribution. The mysteries of mechanism, the intricacies that puzzle the layman, are now made as easy to understand as the story of the "Three Little Pigs." The booklet is illustrated with three color drawings similiar in treatment to those used in a child's story book.

Every Terraplane and Hudson turned out from now on represents a gain over last year's production. On Wednesday, April 18, just before 11 a. m., car No. 2160368, a Terraplane, came off the end of the line. This Terraplane sedan made some interesting history because, although it was only the third week of April, it passed the total production for the entire year of 1933.

"Every car we make for seven and a half months will represent a gain over last year," stated Chester G. Abbott, general sales manager of the Hudson Motor Car company, "and we are looking forward to mighty fine business for the rest of this year."

Announcement of a new tire designed to meet the severe conditions imposed by modern cars has been made by P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company. The new tire, which has been named "G-3," has 43 per cent longer nonskid wear; a wider, flatter tread; 16 per cent more nonskid blocks in the center of the tread for traction and safety; more than 11 per cent wider riding ribs; narrower grooves, and an average of two pounds more rubber in the tread of each tire.

According to Reuben E. Hedland, local Firestone district manager, the new Firestone high speed tire for 1934 is the last word in tire construction—it is the greatest tire Firestone ever built.

"Gum dipping the high stretch cords gives the adhesion which welds the tire into one strong unit," Mr. Hedland said. "This made it possible for Firestone to develop the first successful balloon tire in 1923, and has made possible other developments. With the amazing advancement of tire safety and mileage, Firestone has always sought efficient production so that the motorist would pay no premium."

GOPHERS TAKE TEAM TITLE IN COLLEGE MEET

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—The University of Minnesota, accumulating 11 first places, won the team championship of the invitational state college track meet today at Memorial stadium with 81 6-10 points. Carleton was second with 41 6-10 points and Macalester was third with 20. Scores of other teams in the meet were: St. Olaf, 10 6-10; Hamline, 4 6-10; St. Thomas, 1 6-10, and Gustavaus Adolphus, 1.

Schmeling, Uzcudun Start Last Week of Drill for Bout

BARCELONA, May 5.—[U. P.]—Max Schmeling of Germany and Paulino Uzcudun of Spain entered the final week of training today for their heavyweight battle May 13. Schmeling is training at sites on the Spanish Rivera, near here. Paolino is in San Sebastian. Anny Andra, Schmeling's German film actress wife, said she will see her husband box for the first time.

Western Association to Open Season Wednesday

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—(AP)—The Western association will open its season next Wednesday with Hutchinson playing at Ponca City, Bartlesville at Muskogee, and Springfield at Joplin.

Colgate Elevens Experiment with 12 Men, 5 Downs

Hamilton, N. Y., May 5.—(AP)—Andy Kerr, exponent of football magic, today used two Colgate university teams to test out his ideas for making the game more spectacular through the use of 12 men on a side, five downs, no limitation of passes, and the award of a point for first down.

Colgate's varsity had a bit more stamina and finesse for the alumni team, winning 16 to 5. One touchdown was made, Kern of the varsity passing to Billings, who crossed the line. All the other points, 15, were made on first downs.

Ellery Huntington, quarter back of 1913, was the twelfth man or field general of the alumni eleven. Andy Kerr Jr., son of the coach, was the extra man for the varsity. It was during young Kerr's time in the game that the varsity scored its touchdown.

During the first half the two teams played under the new rules with the innovation of five downs, the last down being used only for kicking. In the last two periods the teams were made up of 12 men. Huntington and Kerr were dressed in white and did not take part in scrimmage. They sauntered along behind their teams, diagnosing the opposition and directing the plays to be used on the offensive.

SURVEY OF COOK COUNTY'S MOTOR TOLL COMPLETED

Tribune to Print Series on Findings.

Automobile accidents during the first quarter of 1934 caused 25 per cent more deaths in Cook county than for the same period of 1933. Yet the season of heavy trafic is just opening and the large crowds of World's Fair visitors are yet to arrive.

To caution motorists against tactics that are causing these deaths, The Tribune in coöperation with the National Safety council has just completed a detailed study of 16,171 accidents in Cook county last year which took a toll of 1,131 persons killed and 18,705 others injured. The findings are to be published in a series of articles in this section of the Sunday newspaper.

Hits, Runs, Deadly Errors.

In a certain desk drawer in the office of Coroner Walsh a card index gives the official box score of hits, runs, and deadly errors. Here can be followed the trail of the speeder, the hit and run driver, the motorists who insist on the right-of-way, the drunken driver, and those who crash railroad trains, run stop lights and try to pass on hills and curves. Here also are official epitaphs for victims of drivers who hogged the road, who failed to dim lights or to fix defective brakes, and here are innumerable stories of inattention.

Inattention was the outstanding sin, the coroner records and police reports reveal. The hit and run driver played an all too important part in the drama. He is the villain in 104 of the 189 manslaughter verdicts returned by coroners' juries last year. In 30 of these cases speed was the factor and in 16 instances the motorist disregard stop signs or signals.

Hit-Run Driver Elusive.

Unfortunately the hit-run driver is about as elusive as Dillinger, although every effort is made to apprehend him. According to A. L. Brodie, assistant chief deputy coroner, in many cases the life of the victim could have been saved had the driver given as much consideration to his victim as would be given a wounded dog.

The records also disclose that human selfishnesses was much in evidence too. Lack of courtesy and good sportsmanship is shown in the treatment of pedestrians. The right-of-way was insisted up on by both parties so many times.

In subsequent articles will be discussed the inattentive driver, the speeder, crashes involving standing or parked cars, driving on the wrong side of the road, failure to heed stop signs, weaving, and other factors in the toll of automobile accidents.

Soccer Teams Play Today in Cermak Final

BY OFFSILE.

The 12th annual final soccer match for the Cermak Memorial cup will be decided this afternon at Sparta stadium, 21 street and Kostner avenue, when the Scandinavians and Bohemians clash. Both squads appear well fortified for battle.

With Pierson returned from Wisconsin and ready to start at left back, the Scandinavians have their strongest lineup since they won the cup in 1928 and 1932. They will make every effort to continue their cup victory string to three, which will give them a tie with the British team, present possesors of the trophy.

Winners of the cup six times, the Bohemians have a promising group of youngsters in their lineup in addition to several capable veterans.

A preliminary game between the British and Jewish teams will open the Sparta stadium program today. The Jewish squad may use Fischer, the New York Kakoah goal. The British aggregation will include many members of the Wieboldt Wonderbolts.

Three soccer matches will be played today in the Peter J. Peel cup series, all being of the interleague variety. The Hungarians will meet Vienna at De Paul university field; the Ravenswood Scots are scheduled to face the Harvey Uniteds at Kuppenheimer stadium, and Calumet Park will engage the Norwegian-Americans in South Chicago, at 100th street and Avenue N.

President Tarpey of the State association has named a committee to plan a program of operating one big soccer league. Tentative plans would have eight or ten divisions to be known as the Illinois International State Soccer circuit. Eight teams would be grouped within each division under the proposed plans.

One of the paramount ideas behind the proposed project would be the doing away with tiresome benefit games and permit teams to play each Sunday against opponents of commensurate strength—both amateur and professional. If the new program is formulated and adopted, all teams will be under complete control of the state governing body.

Two major league matches are carded for this afternoon at 59th street and Damen avenue. The Armours will battle the McDuffs at 2:15 o'clock, after which the British Legion will meet Indiana Harbor.

Iowa State Teachers Win Triangular Meet

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 5.—[Special.]—Iowa State Teachers' college teams defeated Coe and Cornell colleges in the fifth annual triangular track meet today. The Teachers' varsity scored 77 points, Coe 49½, and Cornell 36½. The Teachers' freshman squad won its division with 66½ points. Cornell had 58½ points and Coe 40. Five freshmen and three varsity meet records were broken and another tied.

START WALKER CUP PLAY FRIDAY AT ST. ANDREWS

Americans Seek 8th in Row Over British Golfers

Unbeaten

THE record of the Walker cup series between the United States and Great Britain since its official inception in 1922 follows:

1922—United States won, 8 to 4, at the National links, Southampton, N. Y.

1923—United States won, 6½ to 5½, at St. Andrews, Scotland.

1926—United States won, 6½ to 5½, at St. Andrews.

1928—United States won, 11 to 1, at Chicago Golf club, Wheaton, Ill.

1930—United States won, 16 to 2, at the Royal St. George's club, Sandwich, England.

1932—United States won, 9½ to 2½, at the Country Club of Brookline, Massachusetts.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

CYRIL TOLLEY.

The spotlight of big time golf for 1934 will be focused on the hills and dales of the Royal and Ancient club of St. Andrews, Scotland, on Friday and Saturday when the biennial competition for the Walker cup between the United States and Great Britain will be held. Seven times have the two teams struggled for the trophy donated by George Herbert Walker of St. Louis 12 years ago, and each time the Americans have come off victorious, whether the series was held here or abroad.

The American team this year, captained by Francis Ouimet, a Walker cup veteran who has competed throughout the series, is acknowledged one of the best ever to go across, but they will be facing a band of Britons who are of a mind to break the chain of Yankee victories. Leader of the home forces will be the Hon. Michael Scott, who last year, at the age of 55, astounded golfing fans throughout the world by winning the British amateur championship.

Two Champions in List.

The United States team's hopes are based on nine players selected from as many states throughout the country, and including not only the present national amateur champion, George T. Lunlap Jr. of New York, but the open title holder, Johnny Goodman of Omaha, as well. The British bank their chances on the fact that the two closest shaves an American team has had during Walker cup play were experienced at St. Andrews, when the home players lost the decision by only a half of a point on each occasion.

Although the Americans have arrived and have been practicing daily, no pairings for the two days' play have been announced as yet. The railbirds at St. Andrews are reported to be speculating on a possible meeting between the elders of the two teams—the 56 year old Scott and the 50 year old Chandler Egan of Oregon, who is making his debut as a Walker cup player after having made a sensational comeback to national golf last year. Even though they are not paired, there are still two other possibilities for important matches involving Scott. One of these might be against Goodman, and the other against Dunlap, whom Scott defeated in the semi-finals of the British amateur last year.

Jack Westland to Play.

The American team is composed of Ouimet, Goodman, Dunlap, Egan, Jack Westland of Chicago, Max Marston of Philadelphia, Gus Moreland of Dallas, Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, and Lawson Little of San Francisco. Thus far the British have named Scott, Roger Wethered, Cyril Tolley, T. A. Torrance, Eric Fiddian, Jack McLean, S. L. McKinlay, and H. G. Bentley. Two others also will be chosen.

A glance at the records of the American cast indicates that each member has played an important rôle in national golfing dramas. Ouimet, who won the 1913 United States open in a playoff with two of England's greatest, Ted Ray and Harry Vardon, captured the amateur the following year, and then made a comeback similar to that of Egan by winning the amateur again in 1931 after 17 years of persistent effort.

Dunlap, who was waggling an old putter at Pinehurst before he was 6 years old, scored his first major victory at Cincinnati last year when he won the amateur, although he was well known to galleries before that, having starred with the 1932 Walker cup team and won the national intercollegiate twice in succession while at Princeton.

Goodman Beats Pros.

Goodman, who appeared to be destined to go down in golf history merely as the boy who once knocked out Bobby Jones in the amateur, came back to be runner-up in the 1932 amateur, and then last year stole the national open show from the best professionals and amateurs in the country. Marston, no stranger to Walker cup competition, won the amateur title in 1923 and was runner-up to Dunlap last year. Westland, also a member of the 1932 Walker cup team, has held the French amateur crown, was runner-up to Ouimet in the 1931 amateur and is the present holder of the western amateur championship.

Moreland, who was chosen for the last Walker cup team two hours before he had won the western amateur, has held the trans-Mississippi title and is probably the best practicing amateur golfer in the south since the retirement of Jones. Lawson Little was a sensation in the 1933 amateur, eliminating Ross Somerville, the defending champion, and going to the semi-finals before losing to Dunlap. Fischer has won the national intercollegiate and in the amateur at Cincinnati set an all-time qualifying record of 141.

Friday's play is expected to be devoted to Scotch foursome play, with the eight 36 hole singles matches being reserved for Saturday.

PLAYGROUND ROLLER SKATING MEET DRAWS FIELD OF 528 GIRLS

Girls under 12 years of age start their race in the board of education playground roller skating meet held yesterday in front of Soldiers' field. The meet, which was won by Mozart playground, attracted an entry of 528 girls. Winner of the event for the above girls was E. Ellerman of Cameron playground.

Birds to Seek Nesting Sites; Need Houses

BY BOB BECKER.

It's getting close to "last call" for birdhouses. Bird fans in Chicagoland should have nesting boxes cleaned and in location if they wish to sign up the peppery wrens which fill the air with music during the month of May.

Although wrens do not nest immediately as they arrive in Chicagoland, you'll see them snooping about, inspecting the box, and then darting in and out of another possible summer home soon after their arrival. In fact this stunt of looking at everything which may do for a nesting site is one of the thrills bird fans receive every spring. You can't tell what the nervous, high strung, musical wrens are going to do.

Wrens Are Erratic.

The popular house wren is quite apt to "sign a lease," move in what [to the wren] is part of the "furniture" [a collection of twigs for the nest], and then, without warning, walk out of the place to start housekeeping elsewhere. Such was the way a pair treated us last spring.

They started to build in a big gourd we had hung in the back yard. This was a well traveled gourd—we brought it from Georgia. After the wrens had started a nest they quit the place and moved into a birdhouse atop our kennel yard fence, 20 feet away. The wrens stayed in this nesting box and raised a family, although the yard was occupied at times by a wire-haired terrier.

Middle western bird students who want ideas on how to build wren houses at home, the use of gourds for bird homes, or information on where to place nesting boxes around a home will find these subjects covered in THE TRIBUNE'S handbook, "Birds and Birdhouses." This handbook contains 96 pages of pictures and articles on bird life in the middle west.

Booklet Aids Builders.

The book is on sale at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago. By mail "Birds and Birdhouses" costs 32 cents. All orders should be sent direct to the Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street. [When sold over the counter the book costs 25 cents.]

One of the features of this book is a bird calendar which gives approximate arrival dates of May birds. For example, if you are wondering when that brililantly exotic bird, the scarlet tanager, can be seen in woodlands of northern Illinois, the bird book tells you the average arrival date of this migrant is around May 10.

There have been years when the scarlet tanager came to Chicagoland the first week in May. Then there have been years when the scarlet and blackbird delayed his arrival until the third week in May. In between we locate the average arrival date.

RAND, HYND WIN NET DOUBLES IN JOLIET TOURNEY

Bill Rand and Charlie Hynd of Glenbard High school, Glen Ellyn, won the doubles title at the Joliet district tennis meet yesterday, qualifying for the State High School association tournament at the University of Illinois May 18 and 19. Rand and Hynd defeated Charlie Hitt and Jack Burke, both of Glen Ellyn, 6-4, 6-3, for the district title.

Finals in the singles were postponed until tomorrow, due to darkness. Bob Hitt and George Grunert, both of Glenbard, will meet in the singles final to be played at Glen Ellyn. Hitt defeated Du Bois of York Township, Elmhurst, 6-1, 6-2, in a semi-final match, while Grunert won from Chudzik of East High, Aurora, 3-6, 8-6, 6-2.

Carnera and Baer Go Into Training Quarters

New York, May 5.—[U. P.]—Primo Carnera, heavyweight champion, and Max Baer, challenger, arrived at their respective camps today to start training for their 1g round battle at Madison Square Garden June 14. Carnera, accompanied by his manager, Louis Soresi, his trainer and chef, moved into Pompton Lakes, N. J. Baer took a site at Asbury Park, N. J.

Naperville Preps Beat Joliet in Track Meet

Naperville defeated Joliet High school, 88 to 33, at Naperville in a dual track meet today. G. Clark of Naperville won the 100 yard dash and quarter mile run in addition to running anchor on the winning relay team.

Edna Friedl of Ryde playground, left, and Juliet Anderson of Waters were two of the contestants in the girls' senior race. They are good skaters, but neither won an event.

Girls competing in the roller skating races displayed many attractive costumes, but this outfit worn by Juliet Anderson was one of the most striking.

Zaharias Invents Mustache Hold for Hindu Mat Foe

GEORGE ZAHARIAS.

Opportunity comes to a burly young man called George Zaharias exactly one week from tomorrow night. On that evening—Monday, May 14—he will climb into the ring at the Chicago Stadium with the Hindu, Jagot Singh, for the only wrestling match of his career which promises to give him full play for his peculiar talents.

For the benefit of those who have not seen enough wrestling matches to acquire the thorough hatred of George Zaharias, which is the mark of the true wrestling fan, it should be explained that the Colorado Greek is no ordinary grappler. He came to the sport only a few years ago, but before he had risen above the preliminary ranks he had acquired the name of the Colorado Cry Baby because of his practice of protesting volubly against the tactics of each of his opponents.

George, the Artist.

The tweaking of an opponent's sensitive cauliflower ear, the heeling of an opponent's flattened nose, the thumbing of an opponent's bloodshot eye—all these little niceties of the wrestling trade were brought to a high point of perfection by Zaharias.

But of late Zaharias has come to have a look of sorrow upon his round and lugubrious face. For there are only a certain number of refined cruelties which can be used against a standard wrestler, and George had used them all.

Just when it looked as though the Zaharias wrestling career was going to be reduced to the boredom of routine, along came Jagot Singh. Jagot is a real Hindu, caste marks, turban, and all. Being tossed in against Jagot has revived Zaharias' interest in the noble sport of wrestling; the new conditions which he will encounter in wrestling the Hindu have prodded the Greek's creative urge. He will demonstrate, he promises, at least nine new ways of annoying or mistreating his opponent.

Boy, What a Chance!

Any observer who has studied Jagot's peculiarities of physique and ring apparel, as Zaharias has, can see three major points upon which the Colorado Greek's attack can concentrate. They are:

1. A flowing mustache of the manderin type which has a wingspread of 8 inches from tip to tip, and thus permits an ample handhold for either left-handed or right-handed, or two-handed pulling.

2. A leather collar, studded with semi-precious stones, which Jagot has worn since childhood in the belief that it brings him luck. This offers a perfect handhold from either side, and no more than a slight twist of the wrist is required to make it a perfect strangling cord.

Watch Those Dogs!

3. Bare feet. Perhaps the most vulnerable point which the Hindu offers. Zaharias habitually wears heavy ring shoes, known to the trade as stampers, upon his large feet, and it is obvious that when he treads upon the Hindu's nude toes and insteps with them Jagot will experience considerable pain.

Temporary Writ Stops Broadcast of Ball Games

Birmingham, Ala., May 5.—(AP)—A court order was issued today to stop a long range broadcast of baseball games here by radio station WSGN. The station plans to ask higher courts to dissolve the temporary injunction.

The Birmingham Baseball association applied for the restraining order to Judge J. Russell McElroy in Jefferson circuit court, complaining that an announcer from WSGN perched himself in a tree outside Rickwood park and with field glasses described the play.

Judge McElroy issued the restraining order on a temporary basis, but has not set a date for a hearing on a permanent order.

The petition asking the injunction set forth that Rickwood park, home of the Barons in the Southern association, is surrounded by a 12 foot fence, and that the announcer was outside this enclosure.

It said further that broadcasting of games in the city where played had been banned by directors of the Southern association.

Steve A. Cissell, manager of WSGN, said he would take steps to test the validity of the order in the higher courts.

Boat Show to Start Today at Navy Pier

The fifth annual Chicago National Boat and Sports show opens today at Navy pier at 1 p. m. Originally an exhibition of boats, the event has grown until it embraces hunting, fishing and archery. The show will run eight days and will be open from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m. each day. It is sponsored by the American Outdoor Life association and the National Outboard association.

The state of Michigan, with over 600 feet of space, and with officials and citizens on hand in large numbers, will play a leading part in the show. The blossom queens will visit the exposition Monday afternoon, and Gov. Comstock will be here Wednesday. A large shipment of the prize rainbow trout are in the pier pool to be given to distinguished guests today.

States Have Displays.

Minnesota and Wisconsin, too, have extensive displays at the show, with Indians, log rollers, moose callers, and noted guides on hand. Indiana is interested, and representatives of the Michigan City Yacht club will visit the show. Downstate yacht clubs from Peoria, Joliet, La Salle and Peru will attend. The province of Ontario, Canada, has erected a large display, including a north woods log cabin.

The official opening of the show occurs at 4 p. m. today with leaders in the world of boats and sports on hand. These will include Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, Commodore Eugene F. McDonald Jr., Dr. Preston Bradley, president of the Izaak Walton League of America; Capt. Edward A. Evers, Corwith Cramer, and others.

According to Hubbard H. Erickson, manager of the show, the largest number of exhibitors ever to participate—110—are in the show. A varied program of competitive sports is planned. There will be horseshoe pitching, bait casting contests in a special pool, rifle and pistol shooting tournaments, archery, championship billiards, badminton and table tennis.

Tribune Sponsors Casting.

A bait casting contest, sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, will begin Monday evening when preliminaries in the boys' division are to be held. The events for girls and women are scheduled for Wednesday night. Cups and fishing tackle will go to the winners.

The new boats range from large cabin cruisers to canoes, with runabouts, marine motors, sailboats, outboards, and speed boats in the display.

TOURNEYS SHOW END OF BOWLING SEASON'S NEAR

Birks Lead for Title in North End League.

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

The bowling retreat is continuing before the steady advance of spring, but a few leagues and the state tournament at Aurora are holding the scattered outposts which soon will have to be abandoned until fall.

Still fighting stubbornly to keep up interest and activity in the tenpin sport are the North End Traveling league, the Woodlawn Major league, the Monte Cristo Women's league, and a few tournaments that signalize the waning of the season.

North End League.

The Birk Brothers are coasting along with a three game lead in the North End circuit, and if they can bump off the Edelweiss five tomorrow night at Samuelson's they will clinch the championship. At the last session the Birks shot two series, 3,235 and 3,141, the best of the week in the league. Individual honors went to Jules Lellinger of the Birks with 702, Art Golchert of the Kaads rolled 693 and Otto Goldammer of Edelweiss clicked with 676.

Tomorrow's schedule:

Woodlawn League.

Second high series of the season fell to Dick Winsberg when he rolled 235, 267, and 269 for 771 with the Oofondaliers in the Woodlawn Major league. Knopka of the Young Boosters shot games of 233, 276, and 191 for an even 700. New members were added to the 400 club with Plant getting 484, Hap Miller 499, Lassen 485, and Swanson 499.

Classic League.

Eight games were the margin by which the Baby Ruths walked off the second half championship of the Classic league. Since the Baby Ruths also won the first half, there will be no roll-off. Ad Carlsons, the individual champion, finished with a 221 average, two more than that of Dick Winsberg. No perfect games were rolled during the second half, R. Johnson's 298 being high.

Windy City League.

Prizes totaling $3,040 were distributed at the close of the 29th Windy City league season. The Mineralites, in addition to taking the team championship by a three game margin, had the honor of grabbing the individual title on F. Wright's 211 average. E. Fragel and J. Hradeh each had high game of 288. Jerry Peck already is looking forward to make this circuit as strong as ever next season.

Here and There.

The eighth annual tournament of the Royal league opened at the Schueneman Lake View alleys last night and will be continued today. Charles Rube, secretary, announces that 250 men, women, boys and girls will participate. Bowlers are entered from Kenosha, Milwaukee, Racine, and Hammond, along with those from Chicago. . . . Eddie Embick's Cardinals won the championship of THE TRIBUNE afternoon league by staging a strong finish. The finale handicap was by Eddie Herbeck. High series went to Gene Coughlin, 684; second to Theroux, 639, and third to Martin, 636. Becky Koeller's 276 was high game. . . . Mrs. J. Consier blasted out a 637 series in the Monte Cristo Women's league, and Miss Deedie cashed in with 622. Mrs. Anderson's team is in first place.

State Tournament.

The Edelweiss team is leading the five man event of the state tournament at Aurora by virtue of a 3,071 series shot Thursday evening. Dick Winsberg was high with 685, a series that contributed toward earning him the all-events leadership with 1,950.

North Central Baseball Team Beats Armour Tech

The North Central baseball team defeated Armour Tech of Chicago at Naperville yesterday, 4 to 3. It was their third victory in the Northern Illinois conference. Young's double in the eighth drove in the winning runs. Wendt Land, North Central portsider, gave only five hits and fanned 13.

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR CAR'S PERFORMANCE

All spark plugs, even Champions, gradually lose efficiency, finally reaching the point at which engineers recommend that they be replaced at 10,000 miles by a new set. A new set of Champions restores maximum engine performance—ease of starting, power, speed, acceleration—and what's more, quickly saves enough to pay their cost in gas and oil alone.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—Domestic bond prices were about steady today. Foreign loans pointed higher and the rails showed the best strength in the domestic corporation group.

United States government bonds were irregular with the recently listed Federal Farm Mortgage corporation 3¼s and the Home Owners' Loan corporation 4s establishing further new highs.

German Issues Higher.

German bonds closed generally higher with the maximum advances amounting to a point or more. French government and municipal loans moved up fractionally to 1⅛ points, the government 7½s and 7s establishing new record highs at 183¾ and 183, respectively. Dutch East Indies and most of the Scandinavian loans were fractionally higher on the day. Latin American bonds were dull.

Aside from strength in rail bonds in the domestic group, the various issues of Paramount Publix group jumped 1 to 2¾ points in heavy trading. Utility issues were slightly lower on the average.

Sales at Usual Total.

Trading was just about as dull as on the preceding Saturday. Transfers totaled only $6,286,000, par value.

News of importance to the market was again scarce. While signs of seasonal recessions in business and industry were beginning to appear, there were few indications thus far of serious setback in the recovery movement.

A Typical Promotion.

Frankness is an admirable quality on the part of underwriters of stock issues. Ordinarily it rarely figures in an original offering. Surprising, therefore, is the prospectus of a promotional gold mining issue, War Eagle Gold Mines company, which is brazen in its frankness.

The company owns two claims, Eagle Lode and a portion of the Cardinal Lode, in Gilpin county, Colorado. It also has leases on the Benton, Detroit, and Ezra White properties.

To John Ilgaudas there were issued 250,000 shares of 10 cent par stock of the company as part consideration for assignment of the three leases and his expenses in obtaining them. His expenses were estimated at $1,200 and his time in obtaining the leases at $2,800—$25,000 par value of stock for $4,000.

H. F. Hines fared more fortunately. He spent an estimated $1,500 in cash in investigation and $1,500 in time and still received 250,000 shares — $25,000 par value of stock for $3,000.

The company proposes to raise cash by sale of one million shares of stock, of which 500,000 will be sold through dealers. Hines & Co., Inc., a Denver house, is handling the distribution. The mining company receives only 60 per cent of the proceeds of the sale. Hines' commission appears to be 40 per cent.

Hines & Co. has also agreed to "rig" the market on the shares. The exact wording in the prospectus is as follows: "Hines & Co., Inc., agrees as a dealer to buy and sell shares and by proper advertisment and other publicity, at its own expense, to attempt to create a market for shares of the company."

Assets on Jan. 15, 1934, consisted only of mining property, which was not yet in production, and cash of $200.30. Still to be done were development work, purchase of equipment, and actual operations. It would appear that the job of selling sufficient stock on a 60 per cent yield basis is a little too big under present conditions to carry the company through a long and expensive development program.

Furthermore, no mention of salaries to be paid to the officers is mentioned in the prospectus. No estimate as to the yield of ores actually brought out has been made. In other words, prospects are invited to pay a 40 per cent commission to go into a practically unknown mining development, even the best of which are hazardously speculative.

This stock issue has been registered by the federal trade commission under the federal securities act of 1933 according to the prospectus.

REVOLT AGAINST PORK TAX SENDS PRICES LOWER

Beef, Lamb Values Rise as Demand Grows.

The consumer revolt against taxed pork has made this meat relatively the cheapest on the market during the last two or three weeks despite the processing tax. Pork packers have almost steadily been marking down prices of hogs since the last increase in the tax rate early in March.

Various cuts of fresh pork were made available in the wholesale trade late last week anywhere from 1 to 2 cents per pound cheaper than similar cuts could be bought early in March. These reductions were made in the face of a rise of from 2 to as much as 7 cents per pound in beef and lamb cuts, amounting to increases of 13 to 20 per cent in most instances.

Fresh pork loins were moved at 10½ to 13 cents wholesale at the close of the week, against 12½ to 15 cents early in March.

Beef Scores Sharp Rise.

The sharpest rise in beef came in the last four weeks. Ribs of yearling beef that packers sold at 14 cents a month ago met ready sales at 17 cents last week, while 24 cent loins are comparable to the 20 cent grade a month ago. Top lamb carcasses came up from 16 cents to 19 cents in a month's time. The boycott pressure on pork is reflected in the deplorable condition of the market farmers have for their hogs, entirely the result of consumers turning to beef and lamb. Receipts are light for this time of year, with offerings of hogs at the eleven leading markets during the last week smallest for any corresponding period in more than 20 years.

Yet the general average price lowered 10 cents more, to the $3.70 line, making it the ninth consecutive week that the market price of hogs has declined. Losses in this time ranged from 5 to 15 cents weekly, with current quotations 75 to 85 cents lower than on March 1, and 15 to 25 cents lower than in 1933.

At the same time cattle show a gain of 33 per cent over a year ago and lambs are selling 68 per cent higher than in 1933.

Hog Demand Is Light.

Demand for hogs was not only light here but at all leading eastern distributing centers. Local shipments of hogs to eastern packers for slaughter were among the smallest on record at only 6,000, against 14,397 the previous week.

Sales yesterday were steady to 10 cents lower. Hardly enough were available to establish a fair list of quotations. Two lots of hogs averaging 201 and 231 pounds sold at $3.70, the highest sale of the day, but the trade is carrying a nominal quotation of $3.80 for fancy light.

The cattle and lamb markets fluctuated nervously after midweek as packers reduced their buying orders pending effects of the sensational rise in beef and lamb. Some classes of bovine stock beat a hasty retreat toward the end of the week, but cattlemen immediately curtailed the supply of top classes, and any sharp revisions of quotations toward a lower level were confined mostly to lighter weights.

Cattle Values Decline.

At the close unevenness ranged from 25 cents lower in the lightest classes to as much as 75 cents higher in prime beef steers over 1,200 pounds in weight in comparison with a week ago. The average for the week at $7.00 was 35 cents above a week ago, $1.75 higher than a year ago, and 80 cents over two years ago. Cows and heifers closed anywhere from 15 cents lower to 35 cents higher.

Lamb prices dropped sharply Thursday but recovered most of the loss Friday and finished about 25 cents above a week ago. The general average for the week at $9.85 equaled the highest since July, 1930, and stood $4.00 higher than in 1933.

BILL ASKS U. S. FIX MINIMUM PRICE FOR HOGS

Eicher Proposes Base of 6¾ Cents.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—A bill to require the secretary of agriculture to fix a minimum of 6¾ cents a pound for hogs on the Chicago market base was introduced today by Representative Eicher [Dem., Ia.].

"I have supported the administration in all of its efforts toward recovery but the time has come for the department of agriculture to stop its ballyhoo and do something that will bring results to the hog producer," said Eicher. "The top price at Chicago yesterday was so far below the cost of production as to be laughable were it not so tragic in its effect upon the individual farmer and in turn upon the hopes for business recovery throughout the nation.

Sees Hog Producer Gouged.

"The hog producer is being gouged, and there is no resulting benefit even to the consumer, for he is paying as much for his pork products today as he did when the hog raiser was getting 8 cents a pound.

"We are still met with the objection that the supply cannot reasonably be absorbed at an arbitrary price. The proof is strong, however, that the present low price is the result of monopolistic practices by the packers, and the government should do no less in this most serious of all emergencies confronting the hog raiser than to try its hand in preserving a cost of production price level in this essential industry.

"Distributors of gasoline are doing a most successful job of fixing their price and collecting it. The government can be equally successful in connection with such a vital necessity of life as hogs if it will only make the effort."

Direct Marketing Curb Unlikely.

Restriction of direct marketing by legislation appeared doomed today as far as action in this session of congress is concerned. Representative Hope [Rep., Kas.], who first introduced an amendment to the 1921 livestock act this session, expects committee consideration of his bill next week, but is by no means optimistic of a favorable report.

Hope feels that Representative Jones [Dem., Tex.], chairman of the house agricultural committee, is hostile to the bill, which is opposed by the Texas cattlemen. Kansas cattle interests are united in favor of the bill.

The act, however, would effect more vitally hog producers, and it is in Iowa, the leading hog producing state, that the chief opposition has developed among the farmers. Despite this opposition, Representative Wearin [Dem., Ia.] still is hopeful of enactment of the Hope-Wearin act.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Mass., May 5.—Despite the lack of interest in wool on the part of many buyers during the last week, quotations in the Boston market were mostly steady to firm. Some grades of fleeces continued weak, but territory and Texas wools were held quite firmly at unchanged quotations, except on occasional odd lots. Opening prices at London were the source of some encouragement, even though lower than the many had expected. Some reports of more hopefulness regarding the goods market were credited to worsted manufacturers, although fewer than usual advance orders on fall goods were reported to have been placed.

ADDRESS B E 508, TRIBUNE

STATE NRA MEASURE TERMED THREAT TO RETAILERS' FREEDOM

Enactment of the Illinois NRA measure, now pending in Springfield, will necessitate sharp increases in hardware prices because of higher costs of operation, Paul M. Mulliken, managing director of the Illinois Retail Hardware Dealers' association, warned yesterday.

He said this experience would be representative of all other mercantile lines, irrespective of the business in which they are engaged.

"If retail merchants appreciated the very grave dangers in this bill to their individual businesses, they would be at Springfield en masse to protest against its passage," he declared.

Mulliken expressed particular alarm over the amendment adopted in the house last week providing that the federal NRA director for the state and the Illinois attorney general shall have the exclusive right to decide whether one alleged to be guilty of violating a code shall be prosecuted. He termed the act the most dangerous threat to the freedom action of merchants that could be conceived.

AAA CONSUMERS' COUNSEL FAVORS U. S. MARKET UNIT

Declares Farmer Hurt by Price Fixing.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—Picturing the farmer as a helpless victim of a price fixing system over which he has no control, Dr. Frederick C. Howe, AAA consumers' counsel, told a senate subcommittee today "each one of us pays the farmer somewhat less than $1 a week for the food we consume."

Howe was testifying at a hearing on the Frazier-Sinclair bill to establish a federal marketing corporation to deal in the purchase and sale of farm products.

The producer, according to Howe, received only 33 cents of the consumer dollar in 1932, while the balance of 67 cents went to the processor and distributor. He submitted figures to support his contention that the gap between producer and consumer prices was far too wide.

Indorsed by Several Leaders.

The measure was indorsed by Norman Thomas, well known Socialist; Felix Piseck, secretary of the New York Milk Producers' federation; Dr. Emanuel Stein of New York university, and William E. O'Donnell, representing the emergency conference of consumer organizations.

Piseck said he represented 25,000 independent milk producers in support of the bill.

"We find the need of a similar aid in one of the counties in which this organization has a large representation," Piseck said. "The county I have in mind is Herkimer county, N. Y., at one time the greatest cheese producing county and known throughout the world.

Would Restore Cheese Plants.

"Some years ago, the so-called milk trust purchased all cheese factories throughout Herkimer county and abandoned them. In the last three years the price of milk has dropped so that last August there was the biggest protest New York state ever had through a milk strike.

"We find we can get very little relief through our state body milk control board. We ask federal assistance through a bill of this type which would enable us to rebuild these cheese plants and manufacture again world known Herkimer county cheese."

WANT TO BORROW $40,000

on 140 ft. of Chicago North Side Lake frontage, including riparian rights. There is only one crop of riparian rights property. The amount still remaining in private ownership is very limited. When it is gone there will not be any more. No one can dig another Lake Michigan, consequently such property must constantly increase in value. Will pay liberally for this loan.

SECURITIES ACT CHANGES HINGED TO STOCK BILL

Demand for Amendments Used as Lever.

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—The objections of big business to the securities act of 1933 were capitalized today by senate administration leaders to assure quick enactment of the stock exchange control bill.

For months business leaders have complained, individually and through their trade organizations that the severe penalties which the former provides for the issuers of faulty securities was an impediment to recovery. Pending in the senate are amendments to the stock exchange bill intended to decrease materially the severity of the securities act and expected to attract conservative votes which would push the former through virtually unchanged.

The plea of industrial leaders for modification of the securities law has been based upon a contention that the severity of its penalties was not only stopping the issuance of bad securities but of honest and sound securities as well. Directors of corporations, they argued, were issuing no securities at all rather than run the risk of innocently violating the securities act. This, they said, was preventing flotations of corporate loans which would help recovery.

Conservatives of both houses of congress have joined with the business leaders in demanding modification. They have also opposed many provisions of the stock exchange control bill, and while eventual passage of the latter has never been in doubt, administration leaders by offering the two together believe the market control bill can be enacted almost as it stands.

GUARANTY UNIT WILLING TO AID CLOSED BANKS

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation today informed house banking committee Democrats it would be willing to accept the increased power proposed by Chairman Steagall [Dem., Ala.] to let it aid depositors in closed banks.

Appearing before the committee Democrats, Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the corporation, told them he thought the Steagall plan would be of considerable benefit.

Under the Steagall bill the corporation would be permitted to expand its capital and use the money to buy or lend on assets in closed banks. The assets would be appraised at "normal" instead of depreciated values.

The committee early next week will take up the bill, which, besides expanding the corporation's powers as to closed banks, postpones for a year the inauguration of the permanent deposit insurance plan.

PICK NEW GROUP TO STUDY GERMAN DEBT PROBLEMS

BERLIN, May 5.—(AP)—A technical investigation was completed today regarding Germany's debt problem by representatives of foreign bondholders. Immediately a new committee was appointed by the creditor's agents and Reichsbank officials to study possible solutions of the tangled question of German debt transfers.

It is believed that the debt conference will move rapidly next week toward a general showdown on whether Germany can continue payments on interest and redemptions. Reports were current after today's meeting that representatives of Swiss and Dutch creditors were preparing to carry their fight for a continuance of discriminatory treatment in their favor into the new committee.

GRAIN TRADERS

We are just as bullish on wheat for the long pull as we were bearish in July and February.

At the present time there are three potential bullish factors that could easily bring about a major advance in wheat from present low price levels. These factors are crop damage, government efforts at acreage control and currency inflation. In the event all of these factors work together, wheat will sell at prices as high as the best prices made last Summer.

Our bulletins of May 7th and 14th discuss these price lifting forces in detail. They will be sent when issued on receipt of $1.00 in stamps, currency or personal check.

MIDDLE WEST NET EARNINGS LOWER IN 1933

Reorganization Plan Is Progressing.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

CHARLES A. McCULLOCH.

While creditor groups went ahead yesterday formulating their proposals for reorganizing the Middle West Utilities company, Charles A. McCulloch, receiver, issued a preliminary statement on earnings of the system in 1933. At the same time Mr. McCulloch explained his position in bringing creditors together to discuss reorganization.

Attorneys for the preferred stockholders also issued a statement during the day in which they declared in substance that if owners of the senior stock are asked to put up any money into the new company they would demand in exchange a prior lien security, secured by collateral, as well as a share of the common stock. It had been indicated earlier that the preferred stockholders would be given a chance to buy new common stock, but that the new company would issue no senior securities.

Operating Revenues Down.

Mr. McCulloch reported that operating revenues of the system were $63,526,415 last year, a decrease of $5,582,754 as compared with the $69,109,170 shown in 1932. Operating expenses under the control of the receiver were cut $2,479,634 during the year to $35,297,575.

Depreciation allowances, on which the old Insull management skimped notoriously, were increased 57 per cent last year over the former rate. The total allowed was $7,159,688 against $4,556,221 in 1932.

Net income available for preference stock dividends of subsidiaries was $4,951,065 against $10,715,812. This figure is calculated after deductions for interest on funded debt of subsidiaries, general interest, amortization of debt, and other items.

Mr. McCulloch stated that operating properties had shown uniform improvement in revenues in the first quarter this year. The earnings trend indicates that an early reorganization is possible, he added.

Negotiations Are Reviewed.

The receiver then reviewed the negotiations that have been carried on toward a reorganization. Early in March, he said, he called a meeting of common and preferred stockholders and secured creditors and urged them to expedite reorganization plans. All groups showed a willingness to work together, he said.

As conservator of the interests of the various groups, he said, he had made available to them all relevant information. Conferences were held in Chicago and New York and it is his intention to call another meeting to consider concrete proposals.

Until drafts have been made it is impossible to determine the participation of the stockholders. He said that so far as he knew there was no intention to exclude stockholders from the reorganization. It had been previously reliably learned that the current proposals limit stockholder participation to options to buy stock in the new company.

The declaration of the preferred stockholders group that they must have a senior security if they put up money was made by Attorneys Donald F. McPherson, Chicago, and Martin Taylor, New York.

Preferred Stock Demands.

The security must be a senior lien and adequately secured, whether it is called a "bond, a note or a debenture," the attorneys asserted.

While the preferred holders include many small holders, substantial blocks are also held by "strong" financial interests in Great Britain, Holland, and Switzerland, they added.

"In any event," the statement continued, "the preferred stock is entitled to consideration in that it has been estimated that the asset value of Middle West Utilities [including both the pledged and the unpledged securities owned by it] on what is said to be a conservative basis, is at least $35,000,000 in excess of its combined debt, or something over $64,000,000, which includes secured and other loans in excess of $27,000,000 and serial notes of approximately $40,000,000."

Chicago Stock Exchange Seats Rise to $3,100 Bid

In the face of the passage by the house of representatives of the stock exchange control bill, the bid price on Chicago Stock exchange seats advanced $100 yesterday to $3,100. The lowest offering is at $4,500. The last sale was made at $3,500.

Vote on Stock Control Bill Jars Finance

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The financial community yesterday appeared to be completely baffled by the action of the house of representatives in passing the much advertised stock exchange regulation bill, 280 to 84.

The stock exchange members and their cohorts are still hopeful that the rigorous provisions of the house bill will be softened in conference after the senate passes its own bill, which is very much more to their liking. Nevertheless the great majority who voted in favor of the house bill was as discouraging as it was surprising to most of the stock exchange members. They suddenly realized that their resistance had been largely ineffective.

Some observers found irony in the fact that on the very day that the house was passing a securities bill "with teeth" administration leaders in the senate were rushing legislation to extract some of the "teeth" from last year's securities bill. The 1933 securities bill affected bonds. This year's bill has more to do with stocks. Both are examples of the administration's "trial and error" method of reforming industry and the capital market.

The 1933 bill practically destroyed the capital market. Since it went into effect new bond issues have been limited almost entirely to municipal and government issues—exempted under the act—reorganization financing, and a dribble of wildcat mining and liquor issues.

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], chairman of the senate banking committee, has brought forth suggested amendments which should do much toward relieving the jam in the capital markets and releasing the flow of long term credit, particularly for the heavy industries. The bond market, however, is not expected to recover fully from its present anemic condition until the currency is definitely stabilized.

The senator's amendments, presumably sponsored by the administration, more clearly define the liabilities of officers of issuing corporations and underwriting firms. Blackmail suits are made more difficult and the liability of each officer is more strictly limited to mistakes or missteps for which he is responsible.

These changes strike the financial community as reasonable and logical. Therefore, it is all the more amazed at the radical provisions of the stock exchange regulation bill as passed by the house.

Under the terms of the house bill the federal trade commission would get control not only of the securities business but of practically all industry and commerce. The bill provides that only listed securities shall be traded on any national exchange and that listings shall be strictly under the control of the trade commission.

The chief result of the securities act of 1933 to date has been the diversion of long term credit from private channels into the RFC. The result of the proposed stock exchange control measure, say the securities experts, would be not only contraction of the free market for securities, but trade commission domination of industry.

The federal trade commission would become one of the most powerful agencies in the country. It would regulate everything from the destiny of great corporations to the sale of unkinkers for curly hair.

The commission's membership would be expanded from five to seven, but the actual direct contact with business and the public would be through clerks and examiners.

Already the trade commission's functions reach into almost every phase of life. It runs the capital market. It pries into the chain stores and the utilities. It determines what is unfair competition and it decides whether flesh reducers actually reduce flesh.

STEEL INSTITUTE FINDS BENEFIT IN INDUSTRY'S CODE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—A return to the destructive cutthroat conditions that prevailed in the steel industry before it adopted its code of fair competition might be fatal to the entire recovery effort in this country, Walter S. Tower, executive secretary of the American Iron and Steel institute, declared today.

Since last June, Mr. Tower said, the steel industry has reëmployed more than 80,000 persons; has raised wages approximately 36 per cent; has eliminated unfair practices and price discriminations, and has increased prices moderately to support the labor provisions of the code.

Despite the fact that the steel industry as a whole has not been able to earn profits for its stockholders, it has raised the wages of nearly 500,000 persons, he said. The general advance in wages in April added approximately $36,000,000 to the industry's annual pay roll.

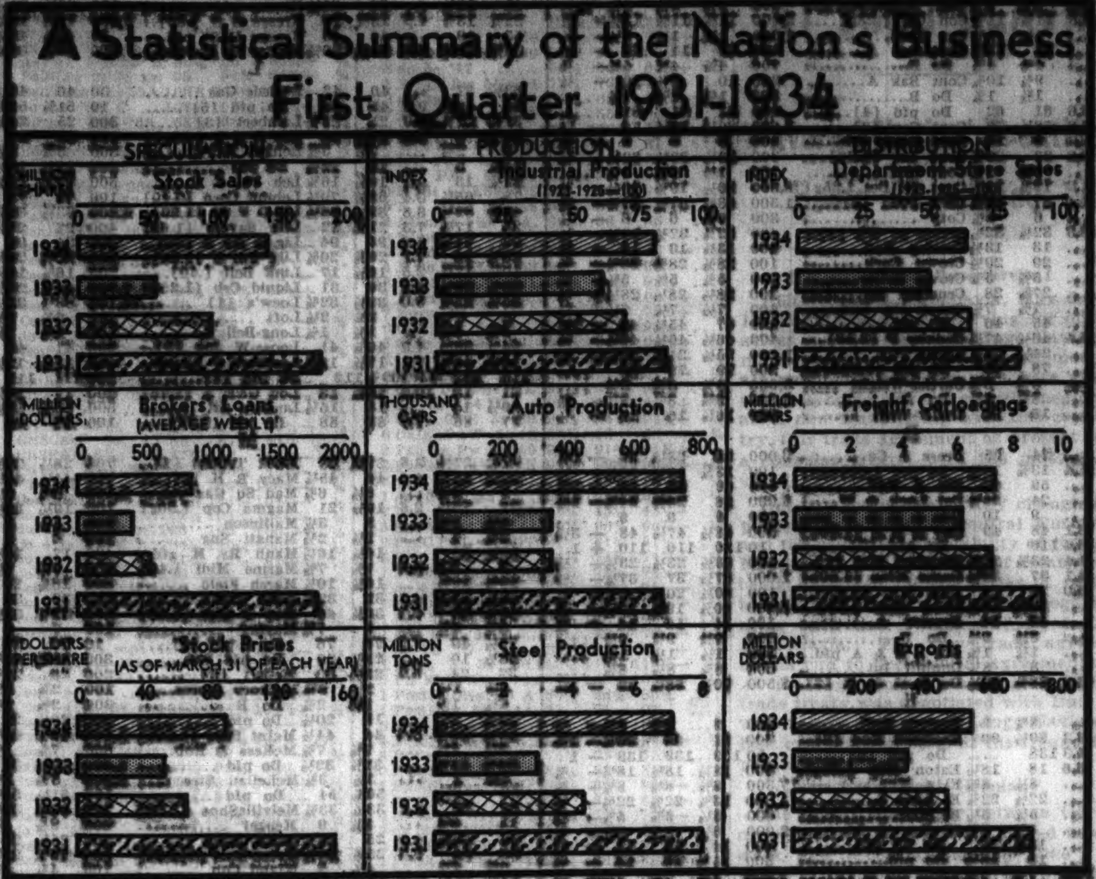
Michigan Av. Space Leased by B-G Sandwich Shops

B-G Sandwich Shops, Inc., has leased space embracing 5,200 square feet in the lobby of the Carbide and Carbon building, 230 North Michigan avenue, where it will open the forty-fifth unit of its national chain June 1. The restaurant will be the thirteenth in Chicago and marks the initial step in an extensive program of expansion, according to Ray G. Johns, vice president. The lease extends for an undisclosed term and rental. It was negotiated by John Trainer Jr. of Clark & Trainer.

Timken Oil Burner Sales Top 1933 by 91 Per Cent

Walter F. Rockwell, vice president of the Timken Silent Automatic company, said yesterday that unit sales of the company for the first four months of 1934 were 91 per cent ahead of last year. April sales were double 1933. He credited the increased volume to the newspaper advertising.

A Statistical Summary of the Nation's Business First Quarter 1931-1934



VanSweringen Holding Unit Shift Rumored

Cleveland, O., May 5.—(AP)—Financial circles buzzed here tonight with talk of a big deal being planned by the Van Sweringen railroad interests to improve the status of their huge holding companies, the Alleghany and Chesapeake corporations.

O. P. VAN SWERINGEN.

The deal, said locally published reports, is understood to be predicated upon the fact that at present, Alleghany, owner of 70 per cent of Chesapeake's stock, can capitalize only on its market value, and not on the higher actual value of the assets in Chesapeake's portfolio.

Dissolution Plan Denied.

Banking circles drew the deduction that the brothers, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, might decide to pay all of Chesapeake's indebtedness, now about $55,000,000, by selling part of its assets and then dissolve this $150,000,000 corporation, turning over 70 per cent of its remaining assets to Alleghany. On this point, reliable sources in touch with the brothers asserted no such move was contemplated at all.

The reports here had it that an alternative step would be for Chesapeake to clear its debts and then help Alleghany either by a loan on Alleghany security or purchase of a part of its assets.

The published rumors point out that Chesapeake now owns 3,687,237 shares of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, currently quoted around $46, but with a break-up value nearer $70.

Chesapeake's Holdings.

Chesapeake corporation now owns 27,000 shares of Pere Marquette and 69,000 shares of Erie. Through ownership of Virginia Transportation corporation, it also has 25,100 shares of Nickel Plate, 196,172 shares of Chicago and Eastern Illinois, and 381,250 shares of the Pittston company.

In the last fifteen months, Chesapeake corporation has paid off about $13,000,000 of its bank loans, which now remain at about $18,000,000, in addition to $37,000,000 of bonds.

Current moves on the Van Sweringen schedule include the present effort to convert $24,532,000 of Alleghany 5 per cent bonds, due in 1950, into common stock and the liquifying processes revealed by recent quarterly reports of the Chesapeake corporation.

CHICAGO BANK STOCKS DECLINE IN LAST WEEK

Chicago bank stocks developed a weaker trend last week. Northern Trust closed 25 points lower at 375 bid, 390 asked; Harris Trust was 7 lower at 240 bid, 246 asked; First National 5 lower at 110 bid, 112 asked, and Continental Illinois 3 lower at 44¼ bid, 45 asked.

American National held firm at 100 bid, and Terminal National was unchanged at 10 bid, 11 asked. In the miscellaneous group Chicago Title and Trust was steady at 76 bid, 78 asked.

New York Exchange Short Interest Off 18,753 Shares

New York, May 5.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange reported today the short interest at the opening of business April 30 was 910,742 shares, a decrease of 18,753 since March 29.

PUBLIC SERVICE HOPES TO RESUME DIVIDENDS ON COMMON SHARES

The hope that dividends on the common stocks of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois may be resumed is held out to stockholders in the statement issued by the company accepting the Illinois commerce commission's rate cut.

"The company management, given a respite from rate hearings before the commission, will continue to wage its vigorous campaign for new business," said the statement. "It hopes that increased earnings from this source will justify the directors giving favorable consideration in the not too distant future to the resumption of dividends on the common stock.

"The company's staff thus will be relieved from devoting time and energy to defending our rate structure before the commission and the federal court, and will be enabled to address themselves not only to a continuation of the high degree of service rendered to its customers and commented on favorably in the commission's order, but to the development and expansion of the consumption of electrical energy and gas in the growing territory served by the company."

These advantages will accrue, the statement made plain, only if the commission makes the present cut permanent and does not continue hearings looking toward a further rate reductions.

DOLLAR STEADY AGAINST FRANC; POUND RISES ½C

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—The dollar held practically steady today against principal currencies with the exception of the British pound. The latter rose ½ cent to close at $5.12. In terms of the French gold franc the dollar was again unchanged at 59.09 cents, or three points above parity.

The Canadian dollar, German mark, and Italian lira advanced a small fraction, while the Swiss franc and the Dutch florin were a shade lower.

The price of gold in the British open market was advanced 4 pence to 136 shillings 2 pence an ounce [$34.81] on the basis of sterling's opening at 5.11¼ and $823,337 of the metal was sold.

Today's gold statement of the New York Federal Reserve bank showed no imports or changes in earmarkings.

WALGREEN SALES FOR APRIL 22 PCT. ABOVE LAST YEAR

Sales of the Walgreen company for April totaled $4,210,979, against $3,452,180 in April, last year, an increase of $758,799, or 22 per cent.

This carried the aggregate for the first four months of 1934 to $17,212,653, compared with $13,778,221 in the same period last year, an improvement of $3,434,432, or 24.9 per cent.

The F. W. Woolworth company reports April sales of $19,787,540, or 1.8 per cent less than the total of $20,159,295 for April, 1933. This is the first time since May, 1933, that sales have been less than those of the same month in the preceding year. For the first four months of 1934 sales aggregated $79,821,466, against $69,758,806 in the corresponding period of 1933, a gain of 14.4 per cent.

Mart Furniture Show Attendance Above 1933

Attendance at the midseason furniture show last week in the Merchandise Mart was much greater than at the same exhibition last year, according to George B. Atkinson, manager of the furniture division. He said the show was highly successful in all respects and that prospects are bright for the regular summer market from June 25 to July 14.

Anyway, It's a Good Alibi for Farmers

Who owns the crop when a wind storm blows the seed from one farm to another? One farmer told of having rented a field to the government and having seeded it to rye later to be plowed under. Now it is growing a mixed crop of oats and rye, the oats coming via the air route from the farm across the road.

Mother Nature is making the AAA production curtailment program appear rather amateurish. Hundreds of alarming drouth reports are being received daily from the corn and hog belt, and from the western sheep and lamb country. Virtually the whole country is thirsting for water. Wells are being driven in some parts of the west, and water is hauled to other sections not so fortunate in the search of water.

Even the congressional sponsors of government regulation of business will admit that it has its handicaps. Judging from the wording of a bill introduced recently for the regulation of natural gas pipe lines.

The preamble of the bill, introduced by Representative Stokes of Pennsylvania, has this statement referring to natural gas: "It has been allowed to exist outside the regulations which have handicapped its competitors."

Robert Sevey, head of the Chicago branch of the United States department of commerce, walked into his office the other day to find an elderly man sitting at a table engrossed in some reports. The man was poorly clad and possessed a profuse white beard, which apparently hadn't received any attention from a barber in years. Interested in him, Mr. Sevey asked his secretary what the visitor was looking up.

"You may not believe it," the secretary said, "but he is studying statistics on the safety razor industry in this country."

A stockyards man who has an interest in a Chicago butcher shop believes he has discovered the explanation for the extremely low level of the hog market and the fact that beef is meeting such widespread sale, whereas pork is in narrow demand. On a visit to the shop a few days ago, he came in just as the butcher was discouraging a customer from purchasing a few pork chops, finally selling a piece of beef instead.

Here was the butcher's argument. "Pork has an outrageous tax levied on it, which the consumer and the retail butcher can force the government to reduce by boycotting pork." He even admitted that he had encouraged other butchers to do likewise.

JAPANESE WANT STOCK IN UNIT OF GENERAL MOTORS

TOKYO, May 5.—(AP)—Negotiations whereby the Japan Industry company, a big investment and holding concern, would acquire 50 per cent of the stock of General Motors of Japan, Ltd., a subsidiary of the American General Motors corporation, are nearing conclusion, newspapers said today.

Japan Industry owns an automobile parts factory at Yokohama which the deal is expected to link with the General Motors assembly plant at Osaka. Business men consider the deal evidence of an increasing tendency by Japanese to absorb foreign enterprises in Japan.

Place Southern Pacific April Gross at 13 Million

Gross earnings of the Southern Pacific railway in April are estimated to have totaled $13,000,000. This would compare with $9,545,666 for the same month last year and $11,774,412 in March, 1934. New York Central's current assets March 31 totaled $79,332,157 and current liabilities $112,955,619, against $74,728,406 and $112,080,863, respectively, a year earlier.

WHEAT, OATS RECOVER LOSS; CLOSE HIGHER

Dust Storm Reports Result in Buying.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat and oats resumed their upward course yesterday after a brief period of early hesitation, the former soaring 3 cents from the low figure and closing at the top. The upturn was accelerated by reports of severe dust storms in southern sections of the three Canadian provinces and the forecast which suggested little or no precipitation over the grain belt.

Wheat closed at net gains of 1⅞ to 2 cents. May finished at 81⅝ cents, the best price since April 16. Oats jumped 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents with May closing at 32 cents. Corn was ½ to ¾ cent higher with May at 46⅝ cents. Rye advanced 1 to 1⅛ cents, selling of that grain against purchases of wheat to close spreads restricting the upturn. Barley was ⅝ cent higher to ¼ cent lower.

More Rain Widely Needed.

Drouth this season is not confined to the United States and Canada. Apprehension is growing over the new wheat crop in the Danube basin in Europe and in the Ukraine, middle Volga, and Ural districts in Russia. Bulk of the wheat exported from Black sea ports normally comes from the area affected by the dry weather.

A sharp reduction is forecast for the Australian wheat acreage for the crop which will be harvested next November. Prevailing prices are said to be satisfactory to Argentine farmers and no reduction of consequence is looked for there this season.

Grave fears that heavy damage will be done by chinch bugs in Illinois and parts of other states this season were reported yesterday.

Corn Affected by Wheat.

Corn was affected to a considerable extent by the action of wheat yesterday with fair support appearing through commission houses on minor dips. Traders are uneasy because of the large amount of grain pledged as collateral for government loans in the central west. No increase of consequence in the movement to terminal markets is expected unless there is a sharp upturn in prices.

Dry weather reports are increasing in the main oats belt. Claims of irreparable damage are being received from parts of Illinois and Iowa where the grain sprouted and then died due to insufficient moisture. The prospective shortage in the hay crop has also become a factor in the market.

BUSINESS DONE BY CHECKS GAINS IN MIDDLE WEST

The volume of checks cashed in the seventh federal reserve district last week increased over that of the preceding week and maintained a strong margin over that of the corresponding week of 1933.

One hundred and fifty-two banks in 40 leading clearing house cities reported to the Chicago Federal Reserve bank for the week ended May 2 aggregate debits to individual deposit account of $1,013,203,000, or 13.2 per cent over those for the preceding week, which amounted to $895,172,000. For 37 cities a total of $1,010,325,000 for last week compared with $755,647,000 for the corresponding week of 1933, an increase of 33.7 per cent.

For Chicago the debits to individual deposit account amounted to $639,590,000 for the week ended May 2, against $506,706,000 in the corresponding period of last year: Detroit, $166,619,000, against $74,679,000; Milwaukee, $48,422,000, against $44,842,000; Indianapolis, $30,355,000, against $29,016,000.

PUBLICLY PAID CONSTRUCTION IS OFF 40% IN APRIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Contracts awarded for publicly financed construction dropped 40 per cent in April from the March figure, but still stood at a figure four times as great as that for April last year. However, privately financed contracts for construction were the highest since August, 1933, and increased over March, a report of the F. W. Dodge company to Secretary Ickes showed.

The survey made every month by the corporation and covering thirty-seven eastern states showed a total of $75,158,900 worth of publicly financed contracts awarded for the last month as compared with $17,639,200 for April, 1933, and $125,940,700 for March of this year.

Privately financed construction contracts awarded totaled $56,252,900 as compared with $52,405,600 for March of this year and $38,933,800 for April, 1933.

U. S. May Lose Part of Wheat Export Quota

[Copyright: 1934: By the Associated Press.]

LONDON, May 5.—Indications that the United States may be forced to surrender a part of her wheat export quota to Argentina for the current year so as to save the international wheat agreement were apparent tonight with the approach of another conference of world experts.

ROBERT W. BINGHAM.

Canada also may be persuaded to make substantial concessions to Argentina in the hope that those three countries and Australia may present an undivided front in the battle for price stability in the wheat market.

The largest wheat conference since the world export pact was signed last August will open here Monday. American Ambassador Robert W. Bingham will preside. All 21 nations signatory to the agreement were invited to send delegates so that a final showdown may be had on an international minimum price scheme.

Seek Decision on Prices.

A draft of this project was sent to all governments at the conclusion of a recent smaller parley in Rome with the request that delegates be sent to next week's conference qualified to make a final decision.

Argentine representatives asked a larger export allotment at the Rome meeting on the grounds that a large crop would interfere with export and acreage limitation plans. In the August pact the following quotas, in millions of bushels, were set for the so-called "Big Four" producers: Canada, 200; Argentina, 110; Australia, 105, and the United States, 47.

American experts declared at Rome that Argentina should complete an acreage reduction plan before her quota is changed, but delegates already here for the coming conference described the Argentine situation as the most urgent on the agenda.

Must Settle Argentine Quota.

The Argentine quota problem is one that will have to be settled privately by the "Big Four." That it has become an emergency issue is shown by grain trade statistics revealing Argentine exports totaling an estimated 96,800,000 bushels for the quota year ended April 28. At this rate she will exceed her allotment by about 20,000,000 bushels by the end of the quota period on July 31.

Experts said that unless other countries surrender portions of their export quotas to Argentina it was probable that the terms of the pact would not be met.

The United States, Canada, and Australia are all shipping substantially less than allowed under the quota agreement. American and Canadian shipments together up to April 28 were estimated at 168,500,000 bushels. Argentina's shipments for the week ending today were estimated at only 1,600,000 bushels, but even with that addition Argentina could ship only 11,600,000 bushels in the next 12½ weeks in order to keep her pledge.

BUSINESS BETTER, LEADING TRADE INDICES REVEAL

New York, May 5.—Statistics appearing last week indicated a rising business tendency, according to Moody's figures for freight car loadings, electric power production, and steel ingot output.

These indicies are adjusted for seasonal variation—that is, if the change from the previous week should coincide with the normal seasonal change, the index figure would be unchanged.

HEAVY SELLING SENDS STOCKS SHARPLY LOWER

'Inflation' Issues Are Hit Hard.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—For no particular reason that the average onlooker could make out the Wall street speculative community was in one of its moods of despondency today.

The stock market was under selling pressure throughout the two hours of the week-end session, and toward the close the liquidating movement attained substantial volume. Selling orders clogged the ticker and the meager gains run up in the last few days in certain spots of the list were wiped out and replaced with net losses of varying amounts. Some of the leaders to new lows for the year.

There was nothing clear in the news to account for the selling movement and brokers guessed that the bearishness was engendered as much as anything else by the overwhelming house approval of the stock exchange control bill yesterday and a growing belief that congress will adjourn without enacting inflationary measures.

"Inflation Shares" Fall.

Some of the so-called inflation stocks—the farm issues, for example—were among the hardest hit groups of the list. Case gave up nearly four points on the common and 5⅜ on the preferred, and International Harvester eased fractionally. Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, both of which usually trail with the implements, were sold freely.

In the silver group, American Smelting and Cerro de Pasco were in liquidation, but U. S. Smelting which has been on the downgrade for the better part of the week braced up a point or so, probably due in some measure to week-end evening up of accounts.

The break started in the alcohol shares. American Commercial Alcohol and U. S. Industrial Alcohol ran into a veritable squall of selling orders and tumbled more than four points each, dragging down others. Reports of impending cuts in liquor prices were the cause of this group's undoing.

American Telephone Lower.

American Telephone was again offered freely, but apparently was able to stave off a complete route by covering orders. This stock has been on the run for several days due to the Illinois rate decision and the public service commission's move to cut phone rates in New York state. Its loss on the day was nearly 2 points. Western Union hit a new low with a loss of 3 points, one of which it later recovered.

Rubbers showed a disposition to forge on ahead on the early trading, but in the last half hour the avalanche became too formidable and they joined in the retreat.

Most of the chemicals had their troubles, Du Pont and Allied Chemical both breaking a point or more, the former to a new low.

ROTHSCHILD SEES STEADY UPTURN FOR BUSINESS

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—"Business is going ahead," Maurice L. Rothschild, Chicago and Twin Cities clothier, said in an interview here today.

"All American business men want to be constructive. There are a few who are selfish, but, as a whole, the American business men want to help any forward movement that will improve the status of their country," he said.

TRADE FORGES FAR AHEAD, NET PROFITS SHOW

Study of Quarter Reports Measures Gains.

Business has moved far out of the depths of the depression, a compilation of March quarter earnings statements by Eastman, Dillon & Co. reveals.

Net earnings of the 166 concerns included in the survey aggregated $153,814,934, compared with only $16,180,815 for the same three months last year.

Automobile companies recorded the greatest improvement among industrial classifications, net income of the group soaring from $220,000 last year to $24,222,000 in the first quarter of 1934. Automobile accessory companies show a similar though less spectacular growth, having converted a loss of $1,500,000 in 1933 to a profit of more than four millions this year.

Oil and Chemical Position.

Oil and chemical groups follow, with nine petroleum companies revealing net income of $4,740,000, against a deficit of $8,174,000, while ten chemical corporations reported profits of $22,192,000, compared with $9,485,000.

"Irregularities naturally prevail," says the survey, "in every period of recovery. While the auto, chemical, and oil divisions registered a healthy recovery there are numerous groups which were able to do no more than reduce the size of their deficits. In the heavy industries group represented by the building, machinery, steel making and railroad equipment divisions, the machinery unit was the one able to work into black figures.

"Performance of the food group is particularly interesting. This division suffered less from the ravages of the depression and as a result profited less from the recovery. Fifteen companies included in the survey had net profits totaling $19,898,000 for the quarter compared with $17,385,000 last year."

*Deficit.

While the number of corporations included in the survey is small in comparison with the total number of corporations listed on the New York Stock exchange, the study is representative and gives a fairly concise idea of the progress made in the last year, Eastman-Dillon asserts.

SHARP RISE IN RUBBER PRICES IS FEATURE OF COMMODITY MARKETS

A sensational advance in rubber which carried prices up over 2½ cents per pound from the finish of the previous week and to the highest level since March, 1931, featured the commodity markets last week. Speculative trade in rubber and also in cocoa was the heaviest in many months. Proposals for restriction on production of rubber were the bullish influence. Cocoa gained around one-third cent per pound.

Grain markets staged a strong comeback from the sharp break of the previous week, registering substantial gains. Sugar also moved up rather sharply. Lard, butter, and hides went against the trend of other commodities and closed lower. Closing prices the last two weeks compared with the lowest levels of the season follow:

COTTON FINISHES HIGHER HERE, OFF IN EAST, SOUTH

A sharp break in stocks tended to unsettle the cotton market yesterday following an early advance. The trade, Wall street and commission houses bought early, but later there was increased pressure with some week-end evening up, and New York closed .10 cent to .14 cent lower, while New Orleans was .06 to .07 cents lower.

Chicago, however, was affected by the late rally in grains, which came after the eastern and southern markets had closed, and the finish was .01 to .05 cents higher. Spot cotton dropped .05 to .10 cents with New York and New Orleans quoted at 11.20 cents, and Galveston and Houston, 11.15 cents per pound. Prices:

LONDON SHARES STEADY; AWAIT TRADE MOVES

Definite Promotion Plan Declared Need.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—Ordinary shares and fixed interest issues on the London Stock exchange have held on an even keel for some time awaiting developments in the business and industrial situation. Recently news from these fields has been mixed.

The Federation of British Industries came out during the week with a rather bearish statement to the effect that if a definite plan for the promotion of British trade is not adopted, industry is ready to skid again.

British wholesale prices, as measured by the Board of Trade index, slid from 105.3 for February to 103.8 for March—a biggish decline and a bothersome one. The index for April is not likely to show more than a moderate recovery, if any.

Steel Tarif May Be Retained.

Perhaps the biggest development of the week was the intimation that the import duties advisory board is favorably impressed with the scheme for reorganization of the iron and steel industry and will recommend to the government that the 33 1-3 per cent tarif—due to expire automatically Oct. 25—be continued.

President Roosevelt's doctrins that the hours of work should be shortened as one method of starting general recovery have met a stone wall here in the shape of employers in the British engineering trades. Employers circulated to all trade unions an argument that reduction of hours would so raise British costs as to make exports impossible, thus creating unemployment.

While the stock market was pleased with Chancellor of Exchequer Chamberlain's reduction in the tax on horsepower for passenger motor cars, from 1 pound per horsepower to 15 shillings, there is now considerable curiosity as to whether this conclusion has not, inadvertently, played into the hands of American producers of expensive cars. It is believed the heavy tax operated even more effectively than the tarif to keep out of the British market big American cars. The market is rather impatient to see the April figures for imports.

Face Japanese Problem.

The biggest problem facing this nation of merchants and manufacturers is the Anglo-Japanese trade deadlock. The problem is, can Japan be persuaded to moderate its slashing trade competition with the western world? If she continues to refuse, then the situation, it is felt, will get more and more serious. The schools of thought on the proper course for the British government are divergent. One group, known as the "ginger" group of Lancashire, wants the door slammed in Japan's face with no further ado, using both tarifs and quotas to reduce Japanese exports to the dominions and British colonies.

Another group strongly deplores the breach with Japan, "the world's most effective bulwark against communism," and argues that every week that passes is actually moderating the impact of Japanese competition.

Their argument here is that the world is overimpressed by the huge figures for Japanese exports, forgetting that these are calculated in the depreciated yen and that the gold value of her exports has been steadily declining for several months; furthermore that camphor and raw silk are the only raw materials she possesses and she has to buy abroad with the depreciated yen almost all the raw materials she uses.

French Stocks Rise.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 5.—The stock market continued to rise during the last week except when checked by profit taking on Thursday. After the decline that day, the bourse picked up all along the line, led by rentes, and most stocks were highest at the close, though the market was facing two days of idleness as the summer's bourseless Saturdays begin.

However, the feature of financial developments was the market decline in hoarding of gold as revealed by the rise of the Bank of France's reserves. Between March 2 and April 27, 1,800,000,000 francs in gold were returned to the bank, and the influx continues.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 2.78c for spots and 2.80c for June arrivals. Buyers were believed to be interested at these prices, but offerings were comparatively light, with holders generally asking higher levels, although there was a sale of 9,000 bags of Philippines, due June 10, to an outport refiner at the 2.80c level. Futures were higher on increased covering and buying by Cuban and commission houses, influenced by the firmness of the spot market, and expectations that the sugar bill will be signed by the President early next week. Final prices were 1 to 2 points net higher. Sales, 13,400 tons. Prices:

There was no change in the list price of refined sugar, which was held at 4.30c, but the market was unsettled, and orders were being accepted at 10 points below this level.

BUTTER DECLINES; EGGS FIRM ON STORAGE NEWS

Butter futures declined ⅛@¼c on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. White eggs closed unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Movement of butter out of storage dropped, and receipts increased. However, the storage surplus was cut 166,000 pounds. New selling appeared and found support slow.

Storage reports on eggs were bullish. The four markets put in 15,600 cases less than last year. The market showed a fairly firm tone at the opening, but the break in stocks halted buying activities.

LARD SPOTS AND FUTURES STEADY IN DULL TRADING

Trade in provisions was decidedly slow yesterday. Only a few lots of July lard changed hands, at the same price as prevailed at the finish on Friday. Other deliveries were nominally steady, while bellies were unchanged to 2½ cents higher, the latter on old May.

Cash lard, regular, was unchanged at $5.70, with loose and leaf steady at $5.25. Cash bellies showed no change at $7.75. Prices:

NEW TRADE PACT WITH U. S. URGED BY JUGO-SLAVIA

'Favored Nation' Treaties Being Abandoned.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, May 5.—In the interests of conserving for ourselves an even break in Jugo-Slavia's markets along with her more immediate neighbors business men here say that we could advantageously negotiate a new trade treaty with this country. Our trade agreement at present is a consular treaty, with the most favored nation agreement.

But in view of the swiftly changing political panorama in central Europe and the consequent instability of trade for the moment this kind of treaty is being discarded for the series of new trade treaties which Belgrade is negotiating with the countries adjacent to Jugo-Slavia. The new trade agreements run to preferential agreements. At the beginning of the year a new trade treaty was negotiated with Italy, which now stands as Jugo-Slavia's best customer, in spite of the frequent political friction.

New Treaty with Germany.

The new trade treaty between Germany and Jugo-Slavia was signed this week and becomes effective June 1. It is on reciprocal preferences and takes the place of the most favored nation agreement which the two countries concluded last July. It provides for intensified exchange of German industrial products for Jugo-Slav agrarian products. Germany grants considerable advantages for imports of Jugo-Slav fruits, vegetables, tobacco, lumber, and oil seed, while Jugo-Slavia grants full most favored nation treatment and in addition a series of preferential tarif rates for German manufactured goods.

Negotiations were also begun in April on a new complementary trade accord between Jugo-Slavia and Hungary, Austria, and Bulgaria. Also last month a Jugo-Slav trade delegation went to Angora to negotiate a new trade pact with the Turks. In nearly all these cases the new treaties are reciprocal agreements, and they also carry clearing agreements to eliminate exchange of money payments as much as possible.

Much Foreign Capital Invested.

A study has just recently been published here by Dr. Mirke Lamer of the enormous amount of foreign capital invested in Jugo-Slavia. This shows how the country in many respects resembles the South American countries economically.

American capital is invested in the country to the extent of 300,000,000 dinars, or a little over $6,000,000. It is invested in the mineral oil industry and in sewing machine and electric machine manufacture and in street car lines. The French head the list in foreign capital placement here with eight hundred million dinars, the British next with seven hundred millions, the Austrians third with five hundred millions, Switzerland three hundred and fifty millions, Czechoslovakia three hundred millions, Belgium two hundred and fifty millions, Hungary two hundred millions, Germany one hundred eighty millions, and Italy one hundred millions.

This capital is invested over a large range of industries, from the hotel business to the manufacture of electrical and chemical goods and the exploitation of the forests and mines. Jugo-Slav banks are also mostly dominated by foreign capital, with the French leading.

LATIN AMERICAN BUSINESS GAINS, SAY U. S. REPORTS

Conditions Improve in Poland.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 4.—Generally favorable business conditions in Latin America were reported by the department of commerce today in its weekly review of the foreign trade situation. Of those countries for which reports were received, only three could be said to show a preponderance of distinctly unfavorable factors.

Conditions in Poland also were shown to be better, and Switzerland's trade balance improved. Japanese reports were moderately favorable, but the Philippines betrayed no enthusiasm.

In Poland the upward trend visible at the beginning of 1934 continued throughout the first quarter of the year, with foreign trade, industrial production and the position of the Bank of Poland all showing signs of strengthening as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1933.

Swiss Trade Balance Improves.

Swiss foreign trade in the first quarter has declined somewhat in value as compared with the corresponding quarter of 1933, but the balance has improved slightly.

In Mexico there was a slowing down in the business pace in April, which is usual after the Easter holidays, and it was reported that credits were being scrutinized with greater care. However, business in practically all lines continues on a substantially higher plane than during the corresponding period a year ago.

Business conditions in Panama were slightly better in April, due to the temporary artificial stimulus caused by preparations for the visit of the American fleet and by a tendency of merchants to increase stocks before the new tarif went into effect.

Satisfactory in Argentina.

Argentina reported maintenance of a relatively satisfactory export movement. Total exports during the first quarter of 1934 amounted to 3,995,000 metric tons, with a value of 395,899,000 paper pesos, increase of 6.3 and 39 per cent, respectively, as compared with the same quarter last year.

Brazil's retail trade held up well during the latter half of March and early April.

The economic and commercial situation in Chile during April continued to improve as all phases of industry were generally satisfactory.

Japanese business in some industrial lines continues favorable, but the general agricultural situation is unimproved due to greater weakness in raw silk prices. Foreign trade during the second ten days of April was usually large, with imports at a record level, while exports of cotton textiles gained 30 per cent, silk textiles 20 per cent, and Rayon textiles 94 per cent over the same period last year.

FRANKLIN URGES PASSAGE OF OIL CONTROL BILL

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—Early passage of the administration petroleum bill, designed to continue the oil code by statute, was urged tonight by Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America. Chairman Dill of the senate commerce committee said yesterday he believed the measure would not be passed this session.

Franklin said in a statement it was "imperative that some legislation of this character be enacted at this session of congress if the industry is to be permanently stabilized."

"This bill," he said, "embraces principles for which the independent division of the petroleum industry has long contended. Especially vital to the American oil producer is that provision of the proposed bill definitly limiting the monthly imports of foreign petroleum. The whole program for recovery of the American petroleum industry will be destroyed if the importation of foreign oil is not restricted as definitly as the domestic production of petroleum."

Red Top Grass Seed Rises; Federal Buying Reported

Red top grass seed prices have advanced $1.50 to $2 per hundred pounds in the Chicago and other markets in the last few days, and around $3 per 100 pounds from the recent low point. According to reports in the trade operations by the government surplus control agency are responsible for the upturn. It was recently announced at Washington that around $2,000,000 would be expended in operations in the various seed markets.

NEW YORK MORTGAGE FIRM ENJOINED FROM SALE OF SECURITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—The state struck through the courts today at further sale of allegedly dubious mortgage securities when it brought action against twenty officers, directors, and employés of the Lawyers Westchester Mortgage and Title company. They were enjoined by Supreme Court Justice Alfred Frankenthaler from further sale of the company's securities pending a hearing.

George S. Van Schaick, superintendent of insurance, took possession of the assets of this company late in August, as rehabilitator. From February, 1906, to December, 1932, the Lawyers' Westchester sold mortgages and certificates totaling $106,757,690, it has been shown.

Justice Frankenthaler's injunction is based on fraud charges made by the state, through Attorney General Bennett. Mortgages, or certificates based on them, were sold when the securities were in default as to taxes and interest, the attorney general's office charged. Bonds and mortgages also were sold before the full amount of the principal of loans had been advanced to the mortgagors, it was alleged.

The state further recited the use of an allegedly fraudulent financial statement to promote security sales and to induce investors to retain the securities after buying them. A hearing was set for May 14.

CAPITAL GOODS REVIVAL VITAL TO FARM UPTURN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—Although there has been definite improvement in agriculture during the last year further recovery is dependent on continued expansion of industrial production and improvement in the export markets, according to Horace Bowker, president of the American Agricultural Chemical company.

Mr. Bowker declared today the trend in world conditions seemed to have reversed itself and that sustained business recovery appeared to be under way.

The rate of recovery can best be accelerated, he said, by encouraging rather than retarding the revival of the capital goods industries in this country and by taking aggressive steps to revive foreign trade. He pointed out that the securities act of 1933 was blocking recovery in the capital goods industries by preventing long term financing. Incessant talk of inflation was also harmful to agriculture, he said, since it delayed the recovery of the capital goods industries, on whose revival agriculture was largely dependent for further recovery.

APPLIANCE FIRM REPORTS $541,936 PROFIT FOR 1933

A net profit of $541,936, equivalent to $1.36 per share of common stock outstanding, was earned in 1933 by Electric Household Utilities corporation, according to the consolidated account issued yesterday. In 1932 there was a net loss of $203,447, which payment of dividends increased to a deficit of $593,217.

"Business volume to date in 1934 is at the highest rate in our history," declared E. N. Hurley Jr., president, "although the increased costs of labor and material and the low prices for our finished product are making it difficult to show earnings commensurate with our large volume. We are hopeful that higher retail prices for our industry will develop in the near future."

The consolidated balance sheet shows current assets of $4,347,586 on Dec. 31, 1933, and current liabilities of $571,397.

Demand and Time Deposits Show Decline in New York

New York, May 5.—(AP)—The weekly statement of the New York clearing house shows total net demand deposits [average] declined $14,194,000 and time deposits [average] decreased $7,904,000. Clearings this week totaled $4,157,701,412 against $3,397,347,441 last week.

REVIVE RUMOR BLACK TO QUIT RESERVE POST

Expect Resignation After Congress Adjourns.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—The perennial report that Gov. Eugene Black is to retire as chief of the federal reserve board was heard again today. It appears this time his resignation will actually materialize and probably will be given to the President soon after congress adjourns.

Black's retirement would give the administration the task of picking a new head for the reserve board just at a time when new legislation is vesting new powers and authority with that body, already regarded as one of the most powerful agencies in the government.

President May Ask Delay.

It is thought probable that the President will try to dissuade the southerner from giving up the post at this time. Whether Black will stay, however, is a matter of grave doubt.

Associates of Black declare he is anxious to retire from the turmoil of Washington political life into which he was cast when President Roosevelt prevailed upon him to take his present job. Up to the time of his appointment he was governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Atlanta.

Washington has heard a lot of gossip in recent months of opposition on Black's part to some of the President's fiscal policies. This gossip has usually been linked with rumors of his retirement, which have been floating around the capital for months.

Opposed Devaluation.

It is said that he wanted the gold standard maintained, disagreed with dollar devaluation and opposed the large expenditures of the federal government. Significant, it is said, was his recent speech in which he described himself as a thorough believer in the gold standard and urged that the federal budget be balanced without delay.

Despite all the talk Black has kept silent but his friends believe he will not be here long after congress quits.

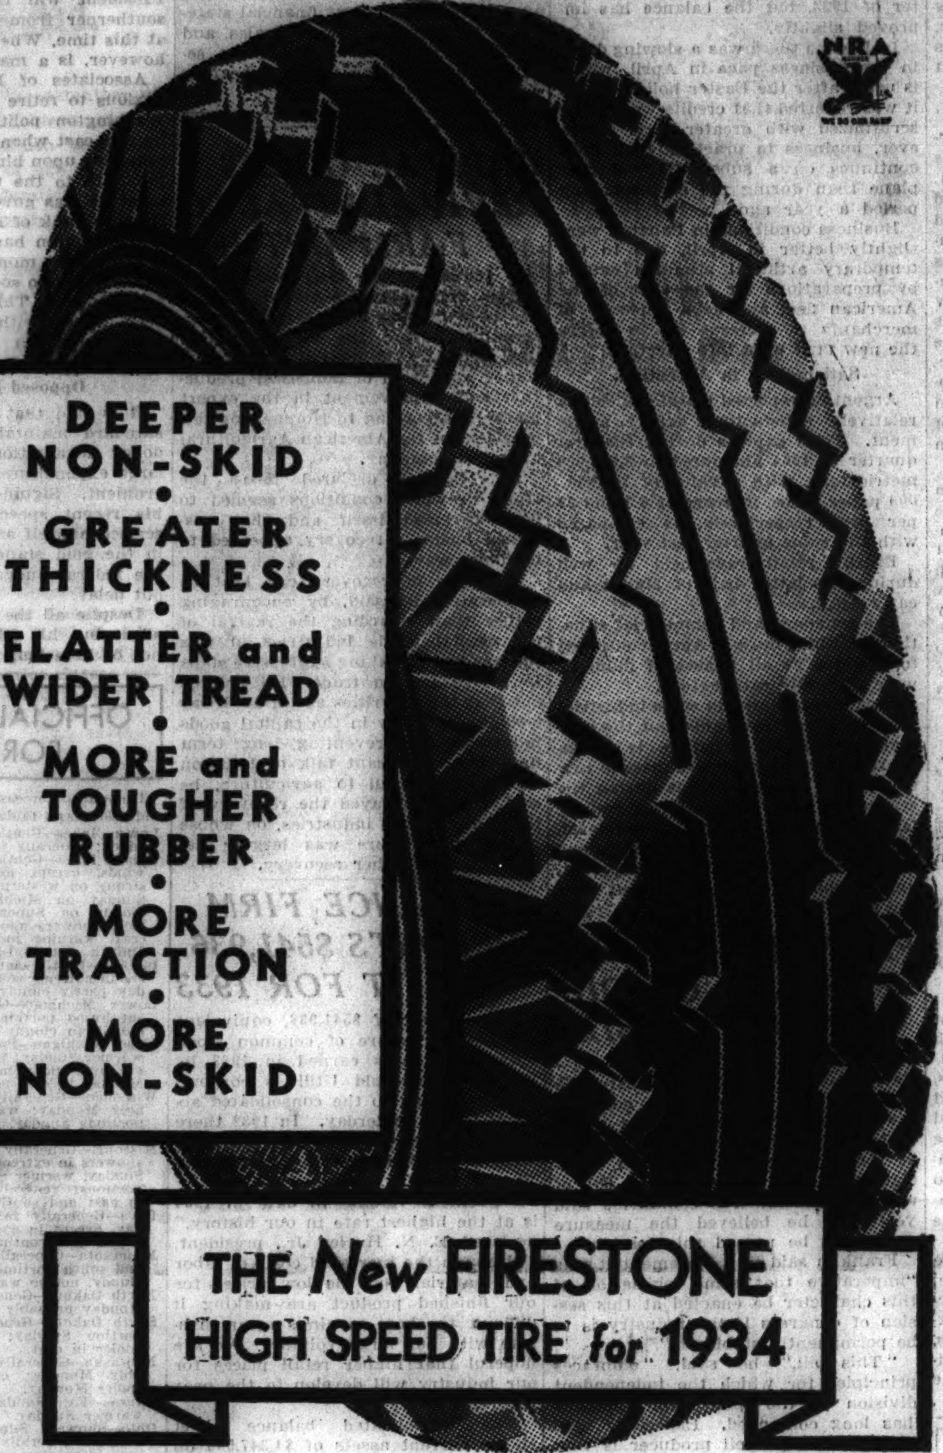
Firestone LEADERSHIP

"The Ultimate Test of Leadership is Performance"



DEEPER NON-SKID

GREATER THICKNESS

FLATTER and WIDER TREAD

MORE and TOUGHER RUBBER

MORE TRACTION

MORE NON-SKID

THE New FIRESTONE HIGH SPEED TIRE for 1934

FIRESTONE has maintained its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, flatter contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

Firestone also developed the first all-rubber non-skid tire, and has always been first to give motorists the benefits of new discoveries in non-skid design, providing more traction and greater non-skid safety.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership—as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety—longer mileage—and greater blowout protection.

Protect yourself and family by driving in today and replacing your smooth, thin, dangerous tires with the new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1934.

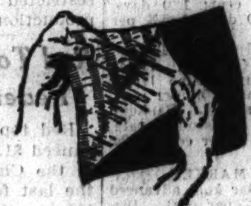
Firestone Tires are Track Tested on the greatest proving ground in the world—The Indianapolis Speedway.

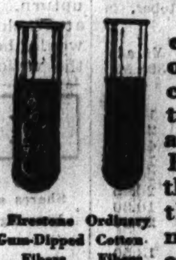
Firestone Tires are ROAD TESTED on the large fleet of Firestone test cars, day and night every day in the year, over all kinds of roads and highways.

THE ADHESION TEST



Note how the rubber in a Firestone tire clings to the high stretch cords. This greater adhesion is made possible by Gum-Dipping which soaks the cords in liquid rubber, and saturates and coats the millions of fibers inside the cords.

THE ACID TEST



Firestone Gum-Dipped Fibers

Ordinary Cotton Fibers

To be positive that rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, a solution of sulphuric acid which quickly destroys cotton but not rubber, is shown in test tubes with Firestone Gum-Dipped fibers and fibers from any other tire made. Firestone Gum-Dipped fibers withstand the acid because they are the only fibers that are insulated with rubber, minimizing friction and heat, the deadly enemy of their life.

ROAD AND TRACK TEST

The extra strength—longer wear—greater traction—more non-skid safety—and greater blowout protection of Firestone High Speed Tires are the results of the most severe road and track tests. These have made possible the outstanding world records on road and track.

The NEW Firestone AIR BALLOON for 1934

The new Firestone Air Balloon for 1934 embodies all the improvements in the new Firestone High Speed Tire. The lower air pressure provides maximum traction and riding comfort. Gum-Dipping safety-locks the cords, providing 30 to 40% greater deflection and blowout protection.

SET JUNE 2 AS WEST SIDE FAIR DAY

SUBURBS JOIN IN CITY'S YOUTH WEEK PROGRAM

Churches, Schools, Parks to Aid.

In order to focus the attention of Chicago citizens upon achievements of more than half a million boys and girls under 21 years of age, the Chicago Youth Week federation is sponsoring a city-wide Youth week from May 13 to 19.

Mrs. Sophie A. Theilgaard, Youth week director of the west side, has announced that special observances are being planned among the schools and in the parks. The majority of west side districts have concentrated upon recreational activities for Youth week, showing that leisure without systematically planned recreation may be harmful to young people.

Volleyball, indoor baseball, pingpong, and chess tournaments have been arranged, while golf, outdoor baseball, and tennis will be played in the various parks on the west side.

Plan Vocational Exhibits.

Vocational exhibits by members of west side Y. M. C. A.'s, Y. W. C. A.'s, and schools, social agencies, and Civil Works Educational Service classes will be held Thursday evening in the La Follette park community house, Hirsch and Laramie avenues. The exhibits will include woodwork, art pieces, Kluny lace, sewing, millinery, puppets, marionettes, printing, glass painting, plaques in oils, charts, and a variety of notebooks. Two one act comedies will be presented in the auditorium under the direction of Miss Virginia R. Shaw.

The committee coöperating on this particular program includes representatives of the CWES, Miss Theilgaard and Mrs. Pearl Olson, regional counselor; parents' council representatives, Miss Dora Wells, Mrs. Edwin Schanke, Mrs. James A. Donnelley, Mrs. James Mullenback, Mrs. Roy Rogers, Mrs. E. C. Vollmer, Mrs. Harry Christensen, Mrs. Jacob Kloess, Mrs. Harry J. Rohde, Mrs. Loraine Pigott, and Mrs. E. H. Burt. West parks representatives, Robert E. Van Tress, and Edward Heuchling; local organizations, John Weiner, commander of the Post 196 of the American Legion; Miss Frances Croake, Lucy Flower High school, and Mrs. Evelyn Spears, Flower alumnæ association.

Program for Youth Week.

Briefly, the Youth week program will be as follows: Sunday [May 13], Youth Day in the Churches; Monday, Youth's Vocation Day in Industry; Tuesday, Youth's Day at Home and on the Radio; Wednesday, Youth's Day in Health and Athletics; Thursday, Youth's Day in Leisure Time; Friday, Youth's Day in School and Citizenship, and Saturday, Youth's Day Out of Doors, on the Playgrounds, and in the Air.

On Friday, May 18, the entire west side region will coöperate with the Union League club in promoting a civic assembly and luncheon to be held at the club headquarters, 64 West Jackson boulevard. Edward L. Ryerson will be the principal speaker of the occasion. A demonstration of the citizenship work being done by the schools will be followed by the presentation of scholarships and medals to the young people selected by the high schools for their outstanding work in this field. Miss Ruth Graham and Miss Ruth Coopach from Lucy Flower High school are among those to receive awards at the assembly.

Henry P. Chandler is president of the Chicago Youth Week federation, assisted by the following vice presidents: William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools; Miss Elizabeth Webster, acting director of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, and Walter Wright, secretary of the recreation council.

DOWNERS GROVE PROGRAM

Boys and girls will participate in special services to be conducted next Sunday in all of the churches of Downers Grove as part of the village's Youth week program. In the evening the Downer Grove churches will sponsor a union service at the high school auditorium. Downers Grove is outstanding among the suburbs in its annual Youth week celebrations.

Downers Grove Youth week is sponsored by Alexander Bradley Burns post of the American Legion, and Charles M. Dyer is general chairman of the committee. Last year the first of the celebrations to be held in Downers Grove met with great enthusiasm, and the second annual celebration was planned as the result of popular demand.

Church Choirs to Sing.

At the program next Sunday night special music will be provided by the various church choirs, and the speaker will be Philip C. Lovejoy of Chicago, first assistant secretary of Rotary International. His subject will be "Skyscrapers."

The celebration will begin on Saturday with a Loyalty day parade, which will include pupils of all the schools of the village. The procession will be led by the high school band and will take the form of a "Pageant of History."

Appearing in the parade will be a motorcycle escort for Mayor William C. Barber, the city commissioners, school officials, officers of the American Legion and auxiliary, and students of the high school and junior high school elected to serve as public officials for the day.

Following the parade there will be an achievement exhibition and hobby fair in the Schultze building, where

BERWYN COUNCIL ACT RESTRICTS LIQUOR SALES

Makes Provision for Residential Areas.

Following much debate the city council of Berwyn recently passed a new ordinance concerning the sale of liquor, providing for restricted areas and location restrictions.

The ordinance was an alternative from that sought by Berwyn ministers who fought for a restricted area of the first, second and third wards in which licenses could only be obtained on frontage consent.

Provisions of Ordinance.

The ordinance adopted provides that whenever the majority of the qualified voters of any election precinct shall file with the city clerk a petition requesting that any such election precinct shall be declared to be predominantly residential in character, it shall be the duty of the license committee to have the petition verified, and upon report filed with the city clerk that the petition was duly signed by a majority of the qualified and registered voters of the precinct, the precinct shall thereafter be declared predominantly residential.

The ordinance then provides that it shall be unlawful to sell or offer for sale at retail any alcoholic liquor within any portion of the city declared to be predominantly residential, unless the owner or owners of at least two-thirds of the frontage feet along the street and streets adjacent to such place of business for which license is sought, for a distance of 200 feet in each direction from such proposed place of business, shall file with the local liquor commissioner or licensing officer, his or their written consent to the use of such place for the sale of alcoholic liquors.

Exception Made for Clubs.

No license shall be issued within 150 feet of any church, school, hospital, home for the aged or indigent persons, or for veterans, their wives or children, or any military or naval station; provided the prohibition shall not apply to hotels offering restaurant service, regularly organized clubs, or to restaurants, food shops, or other places where sale of alcoholic liquors is not the principal business carried on, if such place of business so exempted shall have been established for such purposes prior to the taking effect of the ordinance.

The ordinance further provides that no person shall hereafter engage in business as a retailer of alcoholic liquor within 100 feet of any undertaking establishment or mortuary.

GOODWIN TO GIVE SECOND NEW EAST TALK TOMORROW

J. A. Goodwin, Arabian-Jewish scholar who recently opened a series of Monday evening lectures on "Fascism, Imperialism, and Sovietization in the New East" at the Jewish People's institute, will give his second lecture tomorrow evening. In his discussion of "Northwestern India," Mr. Goodwin will explain the attitude of the natives toward the British border patrol. The lecture will also include mention of the causes for economic clashes between Great Britain and Russia in this particular territory.

OUR TOWN

MISS BARBARA BISCHOFF, Oak Park, and Miss Kirker Smith of Wheaton, were included among the 33 co-eds who were recently pledged to Torch, honorary activity organization for junior women at the University of Illinois. The two girls were required to have maintained a 3.5 all university average, and to have proved themselves efficient in service and leadership on the campus. The society was formed ten years ago by ten junior women for the purpose of giving due recognition to outstanding women in major activities.

Crane Technical High school's class book is being launched toward successful publication early in June by Leo Fortress, editor-in-chief, and Sam Rosen, business manager. The book will be a definite departure from the "cut and dried" theme to allow a freer magazine style, according to young Fortress.

START LISTING OAK PARK ROOMS FOR WORLD FAIR

Chamber of Commerce and Y. M. C. A. Aiding

Oak Parkers who wish to have their spare rooms made available to visitors for the 1934 World's Fair are asked to make their application for room listing during the next ten days at the bureau sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at the Oak Park Y. M. C. A.

Following the listing of rooms a staf member will visit every room listed, to check all information in order to become acquainted with the persons listing rooms and to be able to render the best possible service to visitors.

Road signs directing the fair tourists to Oak Park will be placed on all highways leading into Oak Park from the north, west, and south, and banners will be placed across Lake street directing strangers to the bureau.

The plan of listing rooms has been changed from that of last year, so it will be necessary for all who want their rooms registered to go in person and file their applications. No telephone listings or mailed in applications will be considered.

United Church Groups Mark 80th Birthday

BY JOHN ASTLEY-COCK.

DR. A. J. LOEPPERT [Theiringer Photo.]

The Rev. A. J. Loeppert, pastor of Fowler-Clifton Methodist Episcopal church, Millard avenue and 23d street, is holding homecoming and eightieth anniversary services for members of the former Maxwell, Robey, Immanuel, and Fowler congregations.

The early history of German Methodism in Chicago is recalled by the old "German M. E. Church Block" near the intersection of Dearborn and Van Buren streets, which was erected out of the $12,000 received from the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad for the purchase of the little church which stood where La Salle street station is today.

The mission work which started in 1854 on the west side developed into the Maxwell Street church, for many years the largest and most influential German M. E. church in the city.

Congregations Return.

Maxwell displayed the true missionary spirit, founding Immanuel congregation in 1872, Brighton Park in 1882, and Robey Street in 1884.

In 1906 the old Maxwell Street church was sold to a Jewish society and the congregation moved to 15th street at Clifton Park avenue. In 1917 Robey Street disbanded and united with the mother church.

The same Jewish society which had bought the Maxwell street property was forced out by another Jewish group, and in 1921 purchased the Clifton Park property, in which year Maxwell federated with Fowler. In 1925 Immanuel returned to the mother congregation and the Fowler-Clifton merger was effected in 1930.

The Rev. A. F. Fuerstenau will preside at the 9:45 a. m. German service today and the preacher at the English service, one hour later, is to be the Rev. Arthur W. Mohns of the First M. E. church at Sycamore, Ill.

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf will preach the anniversary sermon at the afternoon service, which will be preceded with an organ recital by Walter Keller. The choir at both services is under the direction of Martin Lorenz with Miss Evelyn Fuerstenau as organist.

The Rev. Howard Stone Anderson, minister of Warren Avenue Congregational church, will preside at the forum on "The New Deal and the First Year of the NRA," which will be conducted at the church tonight.

The principal speakers are Dr. John A. Lapp of Marquette university and Raymond P. Sanford, general director of Common Ground in South Chicago.

Four special Sunday evening services will be held in Judson Baptist church, Austin boulevard and Berkshire street, Oak Park, during the month of May, beginning with "Father's night" today, to be followed by "Mothers' night," "Sons' night," and "Daughters' night," when the sermon topics will be respectively "A Father's Faith," "A Mother's Majesty," "Strong Sons" and "Different Daughters."

"What Unitarians Believe About Salvation," the last of a series on Unitarian belief, will be discussed by the Rev. Edwin H. Wilson this morning at the Third Unitarian church, 5521 West Lake street.

Gads Hill Center Tarry 'O Club to Present Mystery

The Tarry 'O club of Gads Hills Center, 1919 West Cullerton street, is presenting a mystery play, "The Other Ghost," this evening. The play is a three act drama.

EXPECT 60,000 TO PARTICIPATE IN GALA EVENT

40 Organizations to Take Part.

Concrete plans for the gala celebration of West Side day on June 2 at A Century of Progress are getting under way with the appointment of committee chairmen and members. Under the general direction of Edward Dunne, representing the West Towns Chamber of Commerce, who are sponsors of the affair, and Mrs. Marion F. Biel, the committees are composed of representatives from a wide variety of west side women's clubs, civic, and business organizations. Mrs. Biel is handling the women's division of the program, assisted by Mrs. Bonaparte Hudson.

Work Out Schedule.

Suggestions for a parade, programs of band music on the Fair grounds, choral group formations, and various local talent numbers were heard at a recent meeting of the program committee. A schedule for the day's events is being worked out with Fair officials, according to Mr. Dunne who was present at the meeting.

Members of the advisory committee include: Mr. Svoboda, Mr. Dunne, Thomas McKay Chisholm, Matt Blondell, Leo Heller, William Binder, and Otto H. Berz. Working on the ways and means committee are C. A. Snyder, Frank R. Campbell, Mr. Blondell, Mrs. Biel, Mrs. Ida Keating, Mrs. Hudson, and John Usher Smyth.

On Publicity Committee.

George Walker, Walter Kelly, C. B. Clemins, and Mrs. Minnie Wieberg comprise the publicity committee. Mrs. A. H. Pohlman, president of the Sixth district Illinois Federation of Woman's clubs; Mrs. Roy Hudson, and Mrs. J. Henry Eger will serve on the hospitality committee for the occasion.

The initial sponsors of the plan for a united participation in the 1934 World's Fair were: The Austin Federation of Clubs, the West Side Kiwanis club, the west parks commission, the Central Austin club, the Austin Women's Republican club, the Southwest Austin Community club, the Garfield Park Business Men's, Current Topics, and Lion's clubs, the Midtown Kiwanis club, the West Boulevard Property Owners' association, the Berry Council of the Knights of Columbus, and the West Side Commercial league.

More than 40 organizations are now actively supporting the program for West Side day, and at least 60,000 west siders are expected to attend the Fair, June 2, according to William S. Devlin, secretary of the West Town Chamber of Commerce.

'HARMONY CRUISE' WILL BE GIVEN WEDNESDAY NITE

The glee club of the Duncan Y. M. C. A., 1515 West Monroe street, is to give a minstrel show, "Harmony Cruise," Wednesday evening in the "Y" gymnasium. Proceeds from the performance will be used to send needy boys to summer camp for a two week period.

The cast will include George Romaine, as middle man, and six endmen, Glenn Utt, Gene Vega, Arthur Screiber, Bob Evans, John Fairfield and Al Shomer.

The music will be in charge of R. M. Stark, assisted by Miss Marian Miller. Dialog will be written and directed by H. A. Magill.

ELMHURST GROUP PRESENTS PLAY ON FAMILY LIFE

"You're Telling Me," is the title of the play to be performed by members of the Masquers of Elmhurst at 8 o'clock Thursday and Friday evenings in the Community house. The play, which is under the direction of John Thorsen, was written by Samuel French, depicting the story of a modern family hit by the depression.

The cast includes Miss Helen Vernon, Miss Kathleen Lugibihl, Miss Isabel Brown, Frank Weber, George Anderson, William Kurth, Miss Dorothy Vernon, Miss Carol McKenzie, Miss Elizabeth Snell, and Stanley Hendrickson.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF AUSTIN TEMPLE SEEK MEMBERS

Kadimah, the young people's group of Temple B'nai Israel of Austin, are planning to open a membership drive today at 2:30 o'clock at 5433 Jackson boulevard. Following the meeting a visiting group of players will present a one act play.

Officers of the organization include Si Stickgold, president; Max Kaplan, vice president; Miss Ruth Kantor, recording secretary; Miss Evelyn Pales, corresponding secretary; Miss Irene Greenfield, treasurer, and William Hartman, sergeant at arms.

On Sorority Dance Committee

Miss Helen Scanlon, Miss Mary McKleen, and Miss Rita Crews are working on the arrangements for the annual spring informal to be given by Delta Omega Pi sorority Saturday evening at the Congress hotel. Others assisting on the dance committee are Miss Peggy McGloon, Miss Virginia Burke, Miss Kay Meacham, Miss Elvira Vandenbrouck, Miss Mary McKeen, and Miss Virginia McMillan.

KASPAR STATE BANK TO PAY IN FULL, SAYS RING

Now Has Money Needed for Reopening.

Full assurance as to the ultimate payment of the 60 per cent of claims waived by the 50,000 depositors of the closed Kaspar American State bank, was given recently by Otto Ring, attorney, and one of the bank's receivers. The payments will be made partly by means of an expected loan of $750,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, according to Mr. Ring. With an entirely new capital structure, the institution is expected to reopen within 60 days.

The Kaspar bank now has over $300,000 in cash; over $600,000 in readily convertible securities, worth approximately $2,000,000 at their face value, and additional "slow" assets. These comprise assets not listed or quoted on the stock exchanges, and not immediately salable. The 60 per cent waived by the depositors will be derived from the "slow" assets, in the main. The amount not waived totaled not quite $1,000,000, it is reported. Further distribution among the depositors who have signed the waiver blanks, will be facilitated by the RFC loan, according to Mr. Ring.

Have Cash Needed to Open.

"It appears that a rumor to the effect that it is necessary for us to borrow from the government on the slow assets of the bank in order to resume business with the present waivers of deposits, has been widely circulated," he declared. "This is untrue. The present cash and liquid assets in the hands of the receivers are sufficient to enable us to open the bank, because of the waived deposits." The total liability of the bank amounted to $2,800,000. The face value of the entire amount of assets would leave a present surplus of perhaps $2,000,000, Mr. Ring added.

"We are reasonably certain that either the amount we asked or a very substantial loan will be made. The real purpose of the loan is not to reopen the bank so much as to enable use to make immediately available to the depositors part of the money which they have agreed to let remain in the bank under the so-called waivers."

New Shares Prices at $24.

A call for the payment of subscriptions for the new capital stock of the bank, with the Lawndale National bank as depository for the money, has been made at the rate of $24 a share, according to Mr. Ring. Twenty dollars of the money paid for each share will represent the par value of the stock; two dollars is to be placed in a surplus fund and the remaining two dollars in a reserve fund. The new capital will amount to $250,000, with a surplus of $50,000.

The bank is being reopened after a year and a half of work by the stockholders, depositors and their representatives, together with Congressman A. B. Sabath, and Edward J. Barrett, auditor of public accounts. A special stockholders' meeting will be called about the first of June for the election of new officers, Mr. Ring reports. Present directors of the institution are V. F. Mashek, Stanley J. Loula, J. M. Triner, William Oetting, George Mattmiller, Walenty Szymanski, Anton Laadt, J. M. Kralovec, and Emil Smrz.

STUDENTS TO AID APOLLO CLUB AT ORCHESTRA HALL

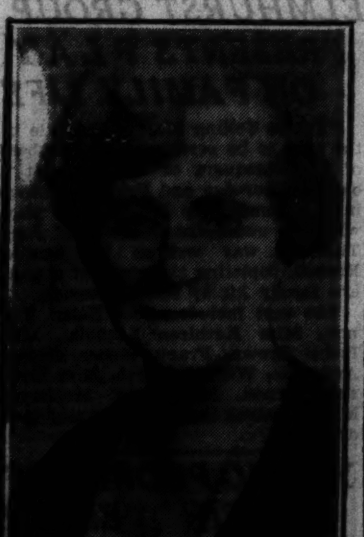
Fifth year students of Marshall High school, under the direction of Miss Edith M. Wines, will be among the children's chorus of 300 who will assist the Apollo Musical club of Chicago in the performance of "Mirtil in Arcadia," Tuesday evening, in Orchestra hall.

The pastoral idyll by Henry Hadley is a setting for the poem by Louise Ayers Garnett of Chicago. It calls for a children's chorus of 200 on the stage and 100 backstage, and also for the mixed chorus of 250 members of the Apollo club. Edgar Nelson will direct the choruses and members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra who will act as accompanists.

Women's Club Juniors Hold May Party Today

The juniors of the Sixth district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, are holding a May day party on the roof of the Hotel Sherman this afternoon. A musical program will be presented as the juniors and their sponsors gather in the "house on the roof." Mrs. C. A. Scranton is chairman of the affair. Sixteen junior groups, comprising approximately 900 members, are expected to be represented at the party.

REGENT



Fort Checaugou chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists held its annual Members day meeting recently at the Republic building with Mrs. Frank E. Deadman, 309 North Austin avenue, presiding. Mrs. Deadman is regent of the chapter. Miss Maude O. Post, 3166 Lake Park avenue, spoke.

IN CHARGE OF ST. MARY'S ALUMNAE DANCE

Miss Abigail Cashman and Miss Ann J. Morrison are among the girls in charge of St. Mary's High school alumnae dance to be held next Saturday evening in the Colchester room of the Stevens hotel. Miss Cashman is president of the alumnae group. Others on the committee are Miss Loretta Ruland, Miss Dorothy Reynolds, Miss Helen Reilly, and Miss Helen Barnes.

Weyl; Isabella council, Miss Irene Cleary; Rosary council, Miss Marie Domschke; Marie Tamisier council, Mrs. Sue Hettinger; Sacred Heart council, Mrs. Margaret Coyle; St. Hilary council, Mrs. Cecelia Vandervroot; Avila council, Mrs. Mary Hanson; Immaculata council, Miss Irene Rabiega; La Mota council, Miss Barbara Manderscheid; St. Augustine council, Mrs. Anne Osowski; Notre Dame council, Mrs. Alma Orr; Trinity council, Miss Margaret Kelly; St. Valentine council, Miss Elizabeth Tekip, and Mother Seton council, Mrs. Helen Norsworthy.

FINDS LIFE IS GOOD

MRS. MEDORA WIGGINS CAMERON.

In a simple little cottage on the site where the Wrigley Tower now stands, Medora Wiggins was born in 1849. In a comfortable home at 5220 West 22d place, Cicero, Mrs. Medora Wiggins Cameron celebrated her eighty-fifth birthday recently.

As a little girl she gazed upon the martyred Lincoln, lying in state in the old courthouse in Chicago; as a young mother she hurried from her home on the far west side to wander among the smouldering ruins of the Chicago fire in 1871; as a grandmother she declares she is living in "the most wonderful time of all, under the most wonderful President I have known!"

Mrs. Cameron has seven children, 18 grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

BENEFIT TO KEEP ST. DOMITILLA'S SCHOOL OPEN

In order to prevent the closing of St. Domitilla's school in Hillside, a reception, ball, and card party are being held Friday evening at Guyon's Paradise ballroom. Various Irish and American societies in Chicago are sponsoring the affair, to which city and county officials have been invited.

FATHER GRIFFIN.
[C. J. Shutner Photo]

Father Ambrose Griffin, pastor of the school, is well known in Chicago for his religious activities for the Chicago archdiocese. For many years he was a teacher in St. Philip's High school, and participated in the work carried on in Our Lady of Sorrows parish on the west side. Robert M. Sweitzer, Al Horan, and Michael Igoe are among Father Griffin's close friends who are serving on the reception committee for the ball.

Others who have promised to attend are Mayor Kelly, Emmett Whealan, president of the county board; Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, Judge Michael L. McKinley, and Judge Lambert Hayes.

Between 3,000 and 5,000 are expected to attend the party, which is being arranged by the following: Mrs. James Fitzgerald, program chairman; Mrs. Mary Walsh, reception committee; Miss Margaret Galvin, dance committee; Mrs. Michael Flynn, prizes; Mrs. Tessie Birmingham, cards, and Mrs. Estelle Kirby, dance committee and promotion.

Harmony Fraternity Will Hold May Frolic Tonight

HAYES TO ATTEND DISTRICT LEGION MEETING JUNE 16

A. B. Burns Post and Auxiliary to Entertain.

Alexander Bradley Burns post and unit No. 80, American Legion and auxiliary, are planning to entertain the 11th district convention at Downers Grove, June 16. Edward Hayes, national commander, will attend the gathering and a feature of the program will be a big parade.

The auxiliary boasts the state winning musical trio composed of Mrs. Gwen Vaughn, Mrs. Myrtle Potter, and Mrs. Agnes Carmody, with Mrs. Esther Binder as accompanist, and the group will again compete in the musical contest.

Walter D. Murphy of Wilmington is district commander. Melvin G. Binder is commander of Burns post; Grant W. Nash, vice commander; Leslie J. Dixon, adjutant, and G. Willard McCollum, finance officer.

Harold Day is general chairman of the convention committees and M. A. Taylor, secretary.

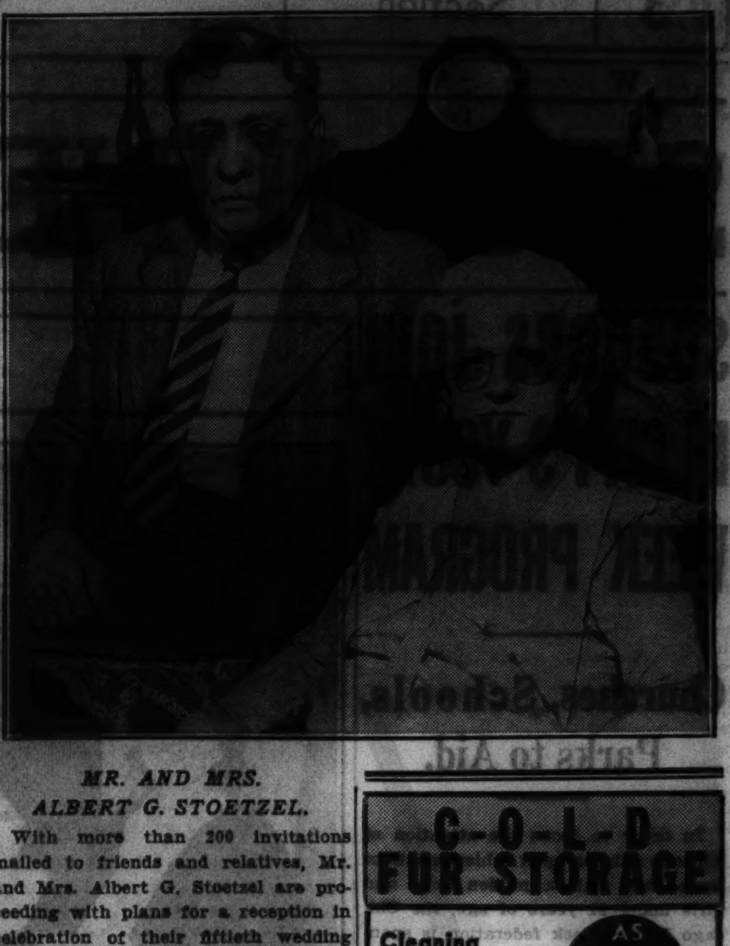
FIFTY YEARS TOGETHER



MR. AND MRS. ALBERT G. STOETZEL.

With more than 200 invitations mailed to friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Stoetzel are proceeding with plans for a reception in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary tomorrow evening at 1812 South Lawndale avenue.

Born in 1862 and 1865 respectively, Mr. and Mrs. Stoetzel were married in Quincy, Ill., in 1884. They came to Chicago in 1898, residing for the most part on the west side. The present address on South Lawndale avenue has been their home for 27 years.

The couple have one son, W. Lee Stoetzel, now employed by the RFC, and one granddaughter, Marjorie Jean.

AUSTIN WOMAN'S CLUB MAPS NEXT YEAR'S ACTIVITY

West End Catholics Plan Spring Luncheon.

Extensive preparations for the coming year's program of activities are already under way in the Austin Woman's club, according to reports received from a recent business meeting. Weekly meetings are scheduled to continue during May and June until final plans are approved.

Several innovations have already been included in the club's program this past club season. Under the direction of Mrs. George W. Post Jr. and her department chairman, a club chorus, the dramatics class, and the morning study class have been organized. The chorus for next year's operetta, "The Feast of the Little Lanterns," have begun rehersals, and are inviting other musically inclined club members to join them.

Following reports of delegates and chairmen of the standing committees all of which showed the wide range of the year's activity, the donations to various charity organizations were listed. A total of nearly $600 was distributed abong such groups as the Austin student aid fund, the Austin Y. M. C. A., the Stevenson Memorial, and the Chicago women's shelter, during the year.

West End Catholic Luncheon.

The annual spring luncheon of the West End Catholic women will celebrate not only the close of a pleasant club year, but the election of new officers for the coming year. Mrs. Peter J. Murphy, who is presiding at the luncheon Wednesday noon in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel, will serve the group as president. The other officers include: Mrs. John J. Walsh, first vice president; Mrs. P. Joseph McNamara, second vice president; Mrs. William C. Bryan, third vice president; Mrs. George P. Madigan, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward F. Daly, financial secretary; Mrs. William R. McDermott, corresponding secretary; Mrs. August F. Witt, treasurer, and Mrs. Francis J. Waindle, Mrs. Benjamin Baskerville, Mrs. George W. Lyon, and Mrs. Edward J. Lodge, directors.

Elmhurst Luncheon.

The Elmhurst club has arranged an unusually artistic program for their spring luncheon Tuesday at the River Forest country club. Mrs. Bernice Barber Dawson, whistler, and Miss Harriet Allyn in original character sketches and impersonations, will contribute to the entertainment program.

Longfellow Elections.

The election of officers will constitute the business of the Longfellow Woman's club, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the community hall of the First United Presbyterian church, Oak Park. A program of entertainment will be given by several of the club members, and a flower festival is being arranged by the club garden circle.

Clyde Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Toasts to the "old-fashioned" mother and the "modern" mother will be a feature of the annual mothers and daughters banquet given by the Clyde Woman's club next Saturday evening in the community house. Miss Nellie Gilmore will present a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Pearl Wilson. Mrs. Monora Johnstone is chairman of the affair, assisted by Mrs. Donald Swarthout, and Mrs. Earl Phillips.

Austin North End Elects.

Continuing their annual elections, the Austin North End Woman's club elected the following department and committee chairmen at a recent meeting: Mrs. Herman Freevol, home and education; Mrs. Alexander Gillespie, American citizenship; Mrs. Fred Griffing, allied arts; Mrs. George Karsons, community committee; Mrs. F. S. Bernsten, social; Mrs. F. W. Neubert, philanthropy; Mrs. F. C. Kurtz, rooms; Mrs. H. A. Wicke, press, and Mrs. Fred E. Larson, printing.

Rosary Auxiliary Meeting.

The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Rosary College auxiliary is being held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the college. A special program will be given by the music department, and a social hour will follow the meeting, to which friends and mothers of all the students are invited.

19th Century Associates.

At the annual dinner and election of officers, Miss Grace Dahl was chosen president of the Associate Membership of the Nineteenth Century club. Miss Mary Esther Sefton will be the new recording secretary also for a two year term, according to the club custom.

Eugene Field Elects.

MUSIC FESTIVAL OF FOX VALLEY TO OPEN FRIDAY

The seventh annual Fox Valley music festival is being held Friday at 2 o'clock and again at 7:45 o'clock at the East High school auditorium. The festival, which is open to the public, is intended to replace the usual series of contests which have been held in previous years.

The schools to be represented in the festival are East High school, West High school, Elgin, Batavia, Dundee, Geneva, Naperville, Plano, St. Charles, Wheaton, and Plato Center High school. The afternoon program by the band will consist of selections by Sousa, Holmes, O'Neil, Gault, and Losey. The orchestra, girls' and boys' glee clubs, and a mixed chorus will appear on the evening program.

La Grange Starts Music Festival Practice Tomorrow

La Grange will initiate the preparation for its annual music festival at 8 o'clock tomorrow night when the choirs of practically every church in the community, the La Grange Women's chorus, and other vocal talent will meet for the first united rehearsal at the Cossit school.

ENGAGED

MISS GRACE MARY PARKS.

Miss Grace Mary Parks, secretary of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce, will be married in late August to Thomas Hungerford, president of the organization. The announcement of the approaching marriage was made by the parents of Miss Parks, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Parks, 102 Clinton avenue.

Miss Parks has been secretary of the chamber of commerce since the resignation of Randall H. Cooper several years ago. Prior to that, she was assistant secretary. Mr. Hungerford was elected president at the annual meeting early this year.

As winner of the ideal business woman's contest in 1930, Miss Parks received a trip to Paris that year.

SUBURBS JOIN IN CITY'S YOUTH WEEK PROGRAM

Schools, Churches and Parks Will Assist.

art and handicraft made by boys and girls of the village will be displayed.

Youth Day in Industry.

Monday, May 14, has been set aside as Youth Day in Industry, sponsored by the Lions club. Tours will be made to places of business in Downers Grove and towns nearby. On Tuesday Youth Day and Health will be sponsored by the Woman's club of Downers Grove. Health talks will be given in the schools by local physicians. In the evening a program will demonstrate the work in music in the high school.

James Millay and Ivan Webster are joint chairmen of the parade committee, William A. Finger and Albert J. Walters are in charge of the achievement committee, and Will Hooper conducted the election of officers.

Youth week originated as Boys' week through the Rotary club of New York City in 1920. Last year Boys' week was observed generally throughout the world, and in many cases was expanded to Youth week. Downers Grove was among the pioneers in the Youth week program last year.

DOWNERS GROVE BUILDERS NO. 53 GIVING ROUNDUP

A spring "round-up" is being staged by Downers Grove chapter, No. 53, of the Order of Builders tomorrow evening at the regular meeting room in the Masonic temple.

Arthur M. Millard will be the principal speaker. Mrs. Gwen Griffiths Vaughan will present various musical numbers, followed by readings by Mrs. Robert Ogren, songs by the high school trio composed of June Wining, Alice Frazier and Pauline Breau, and dancing. The program will start at 8 o'clock.

Several neighboring chapters are expected to be present at the affair and the public is invited.

Hawthorne Plants Show to Be Held on Friday

The male chorus of the Western Electric Hawthorne works will give a minstrel Friday evening at the Olympic auditorium in Berwyn. W. L. Hage will be the chief interlocutor. The musical numbers will include such favorites as "Every Race Has a Flag but the Coon," "Dark Town Strutters Ball," "Cabin in the Pines" and others.

EASTLAND HERO TREASURES RARE COIN COLLECTION

Riverside Man Has Money Dating to 300 B. C.

The story told by money, in coin and metal in many lands and through many ages down to the recovery currency issued in Germany, constitutes an interesting collection of Michael McKinley, 391 Blythe road, Riverside. Mr. McKinley is a retired fireman of the Insurance Patrol in Chicago, and among his souvenirs is a star presented to him following the Eastland disaster "For Valued Services Rendered to the Coroner."

Mr. McKinley put in 72 hours of rescue work at the time of the excursion tragedy, and the star recalls vivid memories. Concerning the more than 10,000 pieces of money, he can only conjecture regarding the part they played in making purchases by individuals most of whom are long since dead.

Collects Prison Camp Money.

Starting the hobby 15 years ago, Mr. McKinley has more recently specialized in the collection of paper money used in the German war prisons. These bits of paper represent 116 German prison camps, and some of them show the result of much handling. His enjoyment of these pieces is enhanced due to his ability to read German fluently.

The Russian notes of the prerevolution days are prized for their excellent engraving and their water marks. German notes reveal the mint secret when placed under a magnifying glass. Polish money may be distinguished by its deep coloring of red and green.

In the 8,000 specimens of German necessity money issued during the recovery age, no two are alike. They range in material from paper, linen, silk, wood, to zinc, iron and silver. Every municipality in Germany had its own money signed by the burgomaster.

A set of twenty Berlin pieces portray historic events pertaining to that city. As the German money gradually depreciated until it ceased to be worth the printing, it took the form similar to comic valentines in coloring and subject matter. A commemmoration piece from Hamelin, dated 1600, tells the story of the burgomaster's wife who gave birth to seven children at one time, all of them dying following baptism.

Date Back to 300 B. C.

Mr. McKinley's metal coins date back to 300 B. C., and have been gathered from all corners of the earth. They bear the portraits of rulers, old and young. A ruble carries the engraving of the first and last of the Romanoffs. A coin bearing the head of Leopold reveals how the engraver took pains to portray the deformed lip of that monarch.

The collection includes pennies made into medallions at the Columbian exposition as well as at the recent World's Fair; an American twenty cent piece, dated 1875, which was withdrawn from circulation to prevent its being plated with gold, and a one billion mark metal coin.

Greek and Roman Coins.

German pieces are in porcelain, majolica, aluminum, and brass. Three pieces, representing 650 million marks, depict the seizure of the Ruhr by the French. The group of old Roman and Greek coins are in battered condition.

To make the collection of mediums of exchange complete, there is a specimen of money in the shape of a hat from Pahong, Asia; fish hooks used by the Alaskan Indians; cocoa beans used by Indians in Mexico, and sea shell money from the South Sea ilands.

Mr. McKinley has large pennies dated by the United States mint when it opened in 1793 and on down to 1857; a penny designed by Benjamin Franklin and half pennies of each of the original thirteen colonies.

Story of Chicago Portage Told to Riverside Pupils

The story of the Chicago Portage and the bearing it has had on the development of the Chicago area was recounted by Dr. S. S. Fuller, Riverside, recently when he conducted a group of third grade school children of the Riverside school to the Portage area. The group also visited the site of Lawton's tavern in the forest preserve.

Dr. Fuller has made a careful study of the Portage and has compiled a complete summary of its physical characteristcs. He said:

"The ice sheet did a strange thing on the southwestern bank of Lake Michigan. Drawing narrow margins it left an eccentric continental divide, a watershed, only some eight miles from the lake's edge. Lake Michigan might drain into the Atlantic, but water falling very close to its rim would still go down to the southern seas. This was almost an imperceptible ridge, the Tolliston beach coming along about where Riverside is with only one small creek in the ridge. On one side ran the Des Plaines river, on the other ran the two branches of the Chicago, uniting to empty into Lake Michigan, the outlet of which was barred with sand, sending its mouth down to present Madison street.

Narrow Strip of Bogs.

"Only a narrow strip of boggy land lay between the south fork of the Chicago river and the Des Plaines—the watershed strip—called by the Indians and trappers 'The Chicago Portage.' Just why it was called 'Chicago' is disputable. The gutteral sound used by the Indians in expressing the word is variously interpreted as meaning 'skunk' as well as 'wild onion.'

"The Indians in that region [the Mississippi near the Arkansas mouth] informed them [the explorers] of a shorter route to Lake Michigan by way of the Illinois river. Journeying up the Illinois and the Des Plaines to a place about midway between the sites of the present villages of Summit and Riverside, they came to a little creek that was the outlet of Mud lake. Here they portaged through Mud lake and the south branch of the Chicago river to the lake on their return trip to Green Bay.

Value Is Recognized.

"The value of the Chicago Portage as a trade route was recognized by all the forces vying for the rich fruits of fur trading. In the conflicts between Indians and whites, and between the white peoples themselves the Chicago Portage was often the principal objective.

"At the close of the Revolutionary war, by the Treaty of Paris in 1873, the American colonies were given territory that included all of the region east of the Mississippi from the great lakes south to Louisiana.

"The Des Plaines river has a fall of 15 feet from Riverside to the mouth of the creek that connected it with Mud lake, a distance of two miles. Just above the creek was Prospect iland about one-half mile long around which the river ran. Below this iland the land widened out through Mud lake, and to the west there were two channels of the river and low flat. From the mouth of the creek to Lemont, a distance of 13 miles, the Des Plaines river flows over the flat valley floor of the old outlet. Mud lake was about nine feet above Lake Michigan.

Use Land Portage.

"From Lemont to below Joliet there is a fall to 76 feet below Lake Michigan level. Mud lake had very little depth. When the Des Plaines river was low very little water went into the lake and boat portage was difficult. A channel on the north side was used when possible but in low water the boats had to use a southern channel around the iland. Sometimes the water was so low that land portage had to be resorted to. Then the ridge to the north was used. As the different channels of the river and low land to the west, south of Prospect, prohibited portage near the creek, the portage was made north of the iland at what has become known as Lawton's ford, near which Lawton's tavern was built in 1832.

"The coming of the agriculturists had the effect of driving out the fur trade and the use of the Chicago portage. Overland travel became more in use. Ogden avenue, to the north, later began to be used.

Mud Lake Drained.

"Later, to keep the Des Plaines river from overflowing into Mud lake, the Ogden dam was built across the inlet at the east end of Portage creek. This made it possible to drain Mud lake. It is perfectly dry today and is crossed by the two canals and the Alton railroad to the south of the creek and the Santa Fe to the north. However, the general contour can still be made out. A stone now marks the west end of the Portage creek just west of Harlem avenue. When the recent viaduct was built on Harlem avenue it was in the contract to run steps down to the terrain near the creek. A mistake was made, however, and the steps were built on the east side of the highway instead of the west. The Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district has cleaned and widened this creek so that it is easy to see from Harlem avenue."

GLENBARD HIGH MUSICIANS TO GIVE CONCERT

A variety program of music by Bellini, Mozart, Schubert, Tschaikowsky, Purcell, and Beethoven will be presented Thursday evening by the Glenbard Township High school orchestra. This annual spring concert will be given in the school auditorium, Glen Ellyn, for parents and friends. There will be no admission charge.

Featured during the evening will be the piano music of Miss Jeanne Panot, a junior in the high school. She will play the concerto No. 3 in C minor for piano and orchestra, by Beethoven, a number for which she received honors in the All-Illinois piano contest last May.

The Glenbard orchestra has grown from a small organization into one of almost symphonic proportions, according to Raymond N. Carr, director. Mr. Carr will offer a tenor solo with the orchestra during the program, a selection from "I Pagliacci."

DR. CHARLES E. WILEY, NEW MAYWOOD VILLAGE TRUSTEE IS INSTALLED

DR. CHARLES E. WILEY. [Toloff Studios.]

At the recent meeting of the Maywood village board, the newly elected trustee, Dr. Charles E. Wiley, was installed with other members of the board, and his first official act was a vote on the appointment of a health officer for Maywood.

A petition signed by a majority of Maywood's physicians was presented and read by Trustee Wiley requesting the board to appoint a new health officer. The request was denied.

"I maintain," said Dr. Wiley, after the board meeting, "that elected officials are servants of the people, not their masters."

He pointed out that the doctors who signed the petition represented in this matter their patients, a large majority of the voters in Maywood, and that their wishes should be taken into consideration. The motion to postpone the appointment and refer the matter to the committee of the whole for further consideration lost for want of a second.

Trustee Wiley, for years actively engaged in Maywood's civic affairs, is a member of Maywood post No. 133, American Legion, Lions club, Chamber of Commerce, and the First Congregational club.

5 HINSDALE P.-T. GROUPS REVIEW YEAR'S PROGRESS

Mrs. Edward Ashley New Madison Leader.

The five Hinsdale Parent-Teacher groups, together with the council, are pointing with pride to a year of varied achievements. Each of the schools has participated in community activities, as well as joint affairs with the council, which is composed of representatives from Madison, Monroe, Garfield, Hinsdale Junior High school, and the Hinsdale High school.

During the last year the council sponsored three Saturday afternoon entertainments for little children up to ten years of age. The high school association accomplished the sale of approximately $4,000 worth of teachers' orders, to enable them to receive cash for the months of January, February, and March. The junior high school group produced two evening and one matinèe performances of "Alice in Wonderland," realizing a substantial sum for their library.

Candy sales, and a play written by the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade children made a successful year for the Garfield association. A circus, and the operetta "Robin Hood" were the outstanding events on the Monroe program for the year, while the feature meeting of the year took place at the Madison school last Tuesday evening when Dr. Elizabeth Ball and Miss Frances Pulowski were the principal speakers.

Mrs. Edward Ashley is the new president of the Madison PTA; Mrs. A. E. Droegemueller, Monroe; Mrs. Rose McKinstry, Garfield; Mrs. August Lueders, Hinsdale Junior high; and Mrs. Ross Parker, Hinsdale High school.

A play entitled "The Trial of the Birds" will be presented at the next meeting of the Delano association by the June graduating class under the direction of Miss Lillian Bennett. The meeting will take place at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium. Mrs. William F. Krahl, state chairman of humane education, will be the principal speaker of the occasion. She will be followed by Mrs. Robert Levy and Mrs. M. N. Strassman who will give reports on the recent convention to which they were delegates in Springfield.

The Trinity High school mothers are about to enter their tenth year of activity on behalf of the school, with the election, and installation of their new officers. These include Mrs. Harold J. Kilburg, president; Mrs. John W. Musham, vice president; Mrs. A. L. Nilles, recording secretary; Mrs. Daniel A. Sheahan, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thomas E. Meany, financial secretary; Mrs. Michael Howlette, treasurer; and Mrs. Peter M. Kelly, ways and means.

The next regular meeting of the Mason association will be held Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock in the school assembly hall. A playlet entitled "Millie and Tillie," will be presented by two of the mothers, Mrs. Mae Fruhauff, and Mrs. Rose Mika.

Mrs. Hans Hansen will take over the office of president of the Nash association next year, assisted by Mrs. Paul Stoerp, vice president; Mrs. Reginald Argall, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Leahy, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles Clark, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Hansen and Mrs. Stoerp were the Nash delegates to the convention.

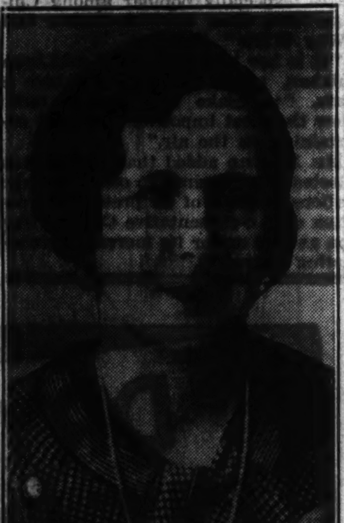
The Robert Burns association reelected its officers recently for the coming year. They are Mrs. Robert Melichar, president; Mrs. N. M. Fritsch, vice president; Miss Esther Simons, recording secretary; Edward Saun, corresponding secretary, and Fred Kroll, treasurer.

At the annual meeting of the Hawthorne club held recently, R. W. Couffer was elected president; Mrs. Edward J. Templeton, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Golder Jr., second vice president; Dr. T. T. Job, treasurer; Mrs. Walter Kipper, secretary, and Miss Ruth Christenson, corresponding secretary.

AN OAK PARK LINGUIST

Miss Esther Elizabeth Race of Oak Park recently effected the entire translation of Jules Romain's "Dr. Knock" from the French especially for the Baptist Players. The translation of the play, which was presented recently by the Players under the direction of Mrs. N. A. Obergfell, is the only one in this country, it is said. The only other one is in the possession of the Irish Players in Dublin. Miss Race is at present program director of Les Causeries Francaises in Oak Park and River Forest. [De Haven Photo.]

ELECTED



Mrs. Harold J. Kilburg recently was elected president of the Trinity High School Mothers' club. She is a resident of Oak Park, at 1127 Woodbine avenue.

WEDS IN JUNE

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Resnikoff, 1654 South Clifton Park avenue, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rose, to David Siegal. The wedding will take place June 17 at the Graemere hotel. The couple will make their home on the south side.

OAK PARK GIRLS CHOOSE SIMPLE CLASS DAY GARB

At a recent meeting of the senior girls of the Oak Park and River Forest High school the types and styles of graduation dresses for June were decided upon.

For baccalaureate and class day, the same dress may be used. The style recommended is a summer suit dress, the coat or jacket of which has at lest elbow length sleeves. The dress and jacket together would be worn to baccalaureate and the dress without the jacket to class day. The outfit may be of cotton or crêpe and of plain, printed, or plaid material with not a too outstanding or vivid combination of colors. The top price to be paid for this dress was set at $15.

To the commencement exercises, an all white, full-length, summer formal with a jacket would be worn, it was decided. No low back or sleeveless dresses may appear on the platform that night. However, a jacket is not necessary if the dress has a high neckline and sleeves of some kind. The highest price set for this dress is $18.

There will be no hats or gloves worn during any of the three class occasions, partly for the sake of uniformity, and partly because hats block the view of the audience.

The shoe preferred was the sandal style, preferably white, which may be used with each dress. Among other suggestions the oxford with the boulevard heel stood highest in its popularity for wearing with the suit dress.

MORTON SCHOOL GRADS WILL HEAR DR. S. W. GRAFFLIN

Dr. S. W. Grafflin has been selected for speaker at the graduation exercises of the class of '34 at the J. Sterling Morton High school. The Rev. Stuart Pratt, pastor of the Warren Presbyterian church, will be the speaker at the baccalaureate service to be held Sunday afternoon, May 13.

Graduation exercises will be held May 18. Dr. L. M. Hrudka will be introduced by George Kolar, president of the senior class, and will present the M. S. G. A. medals to the eight seniors who are outstanding in scholarship, athletics, dramatics and service.

On May 28 Morton will open its doors for its fourth consecutive summer session. Recently an alumni association was formed by a group of Morton college graduates and membership has already reached 300.

TEMPLE JUNIORS TO GIVE CABARET PARTY TONIGHT

"Reunion in Vienna" will be the theme of the cabaret party to be staged by the Washington Boulevard Temple Juniors tonight in their community hall, 25 North Karlov avenue.

Milton Cohn and Dr. Donald J. Sabath are in charge of arrangements for the affair, assisted by Miss Irma Smith, decorations; Miss Ethel Langert, publicity; Jacob Beck, contributions; William Tornheim, refreshments; Miss Marion Simon and Miss Annette Ornstein, tables; Miss Bernice Bucans and Gilbert Smith, entertainment Miss Nannette Brody, cashier, and Sidney Schonberger, master of ceremonies.

Headliners on the floor show include the McGraw dance twins from the Empire room of the Palmer house, and Orrin Wais, soloist, member of the Juniors.

CLUB PRESIDENT

Mrs. John Frederic Mangold has been elected president of the La Grange Woman's club for the coming year and will assume her new duties when club activities begin again in the fall.

START PLANS FOR WEST TOWNS DAY AT WORLD'S FAIR

Walter Baltis, president of the Cicero Business Men's league, has been named temporary chairman of the general committee planning a West Towns day at A Century of Progress on Aug. 24.

Communities to unite in the general celebration include Cicero, Berwyn, Stickney, North Riverside, Riverside, Brookfield, La Grange, and Lyons.

OAK PARK OPENS SPRING SEASON ON PLAYGROUNDS

Miss Blackstock Outlines Ambitious Program.

A spring calendar packed with novel events and entertainment is being offered to children of the Oak Park playgrounds, to continue until June 16. Parades, stunts, puppet shows, roller skating races, dances, and short dramatic skits, will lend color to the festivities being planned under the direction of Miss Josephine Blackstock. Five playgrounds will participate in the program, Barrie, Stevenson, Field, Andersen, and Carroll.

All playgrounds competed Tuesday in the novelty roller skating races, and on Thursday Barrie playground sponsored a special performance of George Fogle's marionettes. May 11, the children of Field playground will hold a stunts night program, beginning at 8 o'clock.

May Queen to Be Crowned.

The crowning of a May queen and a dance festival will take place at Barrie playground, May 26, at 3 o'clock. Field playground will present a summer pantomime the evening of June 15, and Carroll playground, a similar pantomime the following evening.

The puppet show Thursday afternoon featured a dramatization of Frank Baum's famous "Wizard of Oz." All the characters, from the Tin Woodman, Scarecrow, and Pumpkin Head, to Scraps, the Patchwork Girl With Too Many Brains, and the Wizard, himself, were portrayed by the marionettes. Fogle, the creator of the show, is himself a boy of high school age.

A "Cowboy Jubilee" for the stunts night is being prepared by the children at Field playground, under the direction of Gwendolyn Osgood and Guinard Barker.

Drill for Memorial Parade.

The Junior Police force will present a farce, "The Last Rehearsal," with Robert Rickey and Robert Victor in the leading rôles. Dance numbers will also be presented by the girls, and two skits by Barrie and Andersen playgrounds, during the performance.

The junior police forces of all the play groups have begun drilling for the Decoration day parade, instructed by Vincent Caldarulo, veteran policeman of Andersen. The apparatus on the five playgrounds has already been set up, gayly painted in green, red, and yellow.

The spring program was officially opened with the Midwest Recreation conference, at which children of Stevenson and Anderson playgrounds participated.

ELKS LODGE OF DES PLAINES TO HOLD ELECTION

DesPlaines lodge, No. 1526, the B. P. O. Elks, will hold election of officers Friday night. Present officers are James J. Johnston, exalted ruler: Franz A. Koehler, esteemed leading knight; Joseph J. Svoboda, esteemed loyal knight; Charles L. Wille, esteemed lecturing knight; Albert L. Winkleman, secretary, and Edwin T. Murphy, treasurer.

Past exalted rulers are J. P. Eaton, C. J. Hodgins, George Burman, William H. Brown, J. C. Lorton, F. A. Fulle, and E. H. Rittmueller.

A prized wall decoration of the lodge rooms is a painting of an elk donated by James J. Lalla, past exalted ruler of the Oak Park lodge and past district deputy grand exalted ruler, who died last July.

Mounted on the wall is the head of the goat, Kao. This was donated to the lodge in 1926 at the time of its institution by Oak Park lodge, and its name is Oak reversed.

Trophies of the lodge's band include a cup won at the Moline state convention in 1928 for the best musical organization in the parade, and a cup from the Peoria convention of 1927 for having sent the largest band traveling the greatest distance to the convention.

The lodge has closed its dance program for the season. It expects to send delegates to the state convention at Urbana, May 17, and to the national convention at Kansas City, July 15.

LA GRANGE SEEKS VOCAL TALENT FOR MUSIC FETE

Vocal talent of the community is being enlisted for the second annual La Grange Music festival to be held Sunday afternoon, June 3. Prof. H. W. Nordin has set tomorrow night for the first of the rehearsals. A chorus of 80 voices is the goal. Frank Hueser, chairman of the personnel committee, has sought the coöperation of the churches in obtaining trained voices as a nucleus for the festival chorus. Mrs. C. L. Puffer will recruit singers from the La Grange Women's club chorus.

RUBINOFF PAUSES WITH VIOLIN ON WAY TO COAST

Assistant Keeps Eye on $50,000 Strad.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

It was Dave Rubinoff, not Jimmy Durante, who was "mortified" when he reached Chicago the other day on his way to California. Rubinoff was still "burning" over the fact that a control man had forgot to turn on his microphone last Sunday night. Dave has a recording made each Sunday night of what comes out of the loudspeaker. Playing it over later he discovered the microphone before which he plays his $50,000 violin was dead for the first half-dozen measures of his solo. All he could hear was the brass section.

Noting pictures of a heavily armed police guard about Rubinoff and his Stradivarius in other papers, we decided to investigate. They were baloney. As a matter of accuracy the pictures were taken eight months ago and the Strad wasn't in the case at the time. Rubinoff hadn't passed through town and it was hard to find out when and where he would arrive. He's not a publicity seeker. He arrived on a train that is merely known as number 15. There were no policemen, no photographers or "representatives" to greet him. Tons of Rubinoff music had gone on ahead, but Dave was clutching the Strad. On leaving the station he passed it over to Elias Breeskin, who directs his orchestra. Breeskin walked the priceless violin up Michigan avenue with only a caution from its owner to keep it in his hands.

Hears Richard Cole.

With three hours to wait for a California train Rubinoff headed for the Empire room of the Palmer house to hear Richard Cole's orchestra. At dinner radio's best known violinist grew reminiscent. He recalled how fifteen years ago he had played in the Quixe quintet at the Planters café. Half a dozen years later he was playing with Paul Ash at McVicker's, an association he fondly recalled.

Meanwhile Ralph Ginsburgh, director of the Palmer House ensemble, demonstrated that he was a master song sleuth. Crossing the lobby he observed a peculiar looking violin case which Breeskin was carrying. Ralph soon found his way to Rubinoff and the two violinists soon found themselves in agreement on broadcast matters. You've got to play music that is well known, but what is more important, it must be played well, they agreed.

Rubinoff is a human and regular sort of a guy. No pomposity, or formality, or artistic temperament about him. He's not arty. He enjoys the adulation of the public, but he enjoys playing the violin more. Asked what he did for recreation he said: "Well, today I played my violin for four and a half hours."

And he realizes the fickleness of the public. "You're as good a man as your last program," he said. That's why he rehearses innumerable hours for each program. First the string section is drilled for hours, then the brasses, then the woodwinds before they are brought together. And in that Sunday night orchestra are some of the most expert instrumentalists in the land—from the Philadelphia and New York symphonies and some of the finest from popular orchestras.

Tribute for Toscanini.

Rubinoff thinks that Toscanini is the outstanding genius of our day. And the great conductor is a friend of the radio violinist

"You are not a great violinist," he told Dave one day while they were driving, "but you have feeling. And I like it when you play."

Toscanini is as proud of his American made car as a youngster of a new toy, Rubinoff maintains. When his chauffeur passes near another car the great maestro leans out anxiously and observes, "Yes, I think you touch that time."

When Larry Adler, the harmonica virtuoso, played during the floor show Rubinoff recognized him. He had known Larry a dozen years ago when he was a boy in Minneapolis.

Stops for Salami.

Rubinoff holds the Lombardo clan in very high regard. As radio entertainers he feels they're just about the best. And he's proud that he had some little hand in helping the orchestra along in Cleveland when they were just starting out. There he often assisted Carmen with arrangements.

Rubinoff consulted his watch. Time to head for the Dearborn station and California, where he will spend six months with Jimmy Durante on the coffee hour. Pausing out in State street the violinist pointed out familiar landmarks to his associates and then began a last minute search for some salami. They might not have a supply aboard the coast bound train!

Richard Cole's dramatic version of "Little Man, You've Had a Busy Day," has quickly become a favorite with listeners. And don't you like his novelty number: "Miss Otis Regrets She Is Unable to Lunch Today."

Dorings to Join Sosnik.

The Doring Sisters of W-G-N have been signed to sing with Harry Sosnik when he opens the Beach Walk of the Edgewater Beach hotel June 9. . . . "Melodies of Yesterday," broadcast from the same hotel, has moved to 7 p. m. Thursdays. . . . Clyde and Lyn Lucas are back on the air after a week's rest at French Lick . . . Ben Bernie will appear at the Palace for a week beginning June 15. His new picture, which has been renamed "Shoot the Works," will be released June 29. Preview last Tuesday revealed several catchy tunes. Best one is Al Goering's chop suey opus. A neat tribute was that Arlene Judge paid to Wayne King on that Bernie program: "The best thing on the air." The Palace theater will have Abe Lyman's band on the stage next week.

Perkins Favors Annual Award.

Ray Perkins has suggested to an outstanding group of sponsors that they establish an annual award similar to the Pulitzer award in journalism, drama, and literature for the best radio performance or program of the year. Sounds interesting. . . . Ethel Shutta, on the air with Walter O'Keefe, was recently voted the best dressed woman in radio in a survey conducted by a national magazine. . . . David Freeman who has been writing Cantor's air shows is reported drafting a new show for Sam Harris which will portray Eddie Cantor's life and in which, it is expected, the banjo eyed comedian will star. . . . When Samuel Insull reaches Boston this week he will be invited to broadcast [And he will refuse]. . . . Irving Berlin follows George M. Cohan on an N. B. C. series beginning today. Berlin will give intimate glimpses of his methods of song writing. . . . Jascha Heifetz, the violinist, will appear on the Hall of Fame program next Sunday.

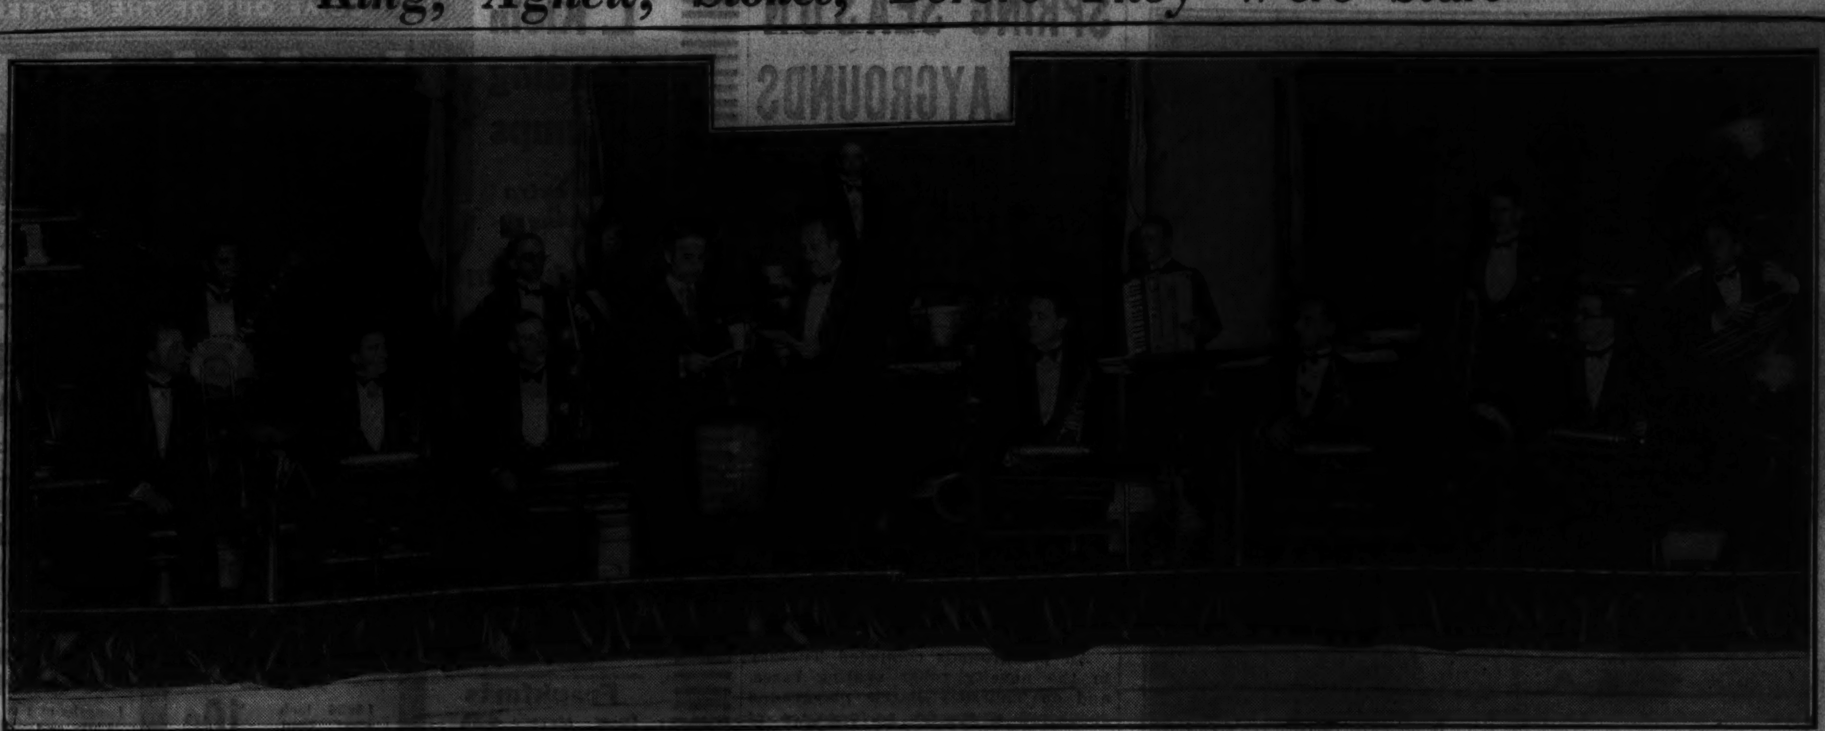
Louise Barklie, the bride of Fritz Blocki, playwright and radio writer, is best known to listeners as Sally Ward. Currently she is featured with Dan Ameche on N. B. C.'s "Romantic Melodies." . . . Harry Horlick, having rounded out 11 years on the air, has signed for another year with the same sponsor. . . . Floyd Gibbons returns to broadcasting next Saturday evening. . . . Lanny Ross will do some vaudeville touring with Mary Livingstone, who is Mrs. Jack Benny.

The Schumann-Heink Program.

Schumann-Heink's performance on the premier of that baby food show last Sunday was one that must have delighted everybody who heard her. Her songs and informal comment, Charles Previn's silken music, even the commercials harmonize well. We expect this program to have a long run on the air. . . . Earl Burtnett's "Gold Coast Parade" Tuesday evenings on W-G-N is stirring a lot of favorable comment, particularly the singing of Stanley Hickman, Ruth Lee, and the Biltmore trio. . . . Paul Whiteman is in Denver visiting his mother who is ill. . . . A new "Old Heidelberg" program is on the air at 9:45 Thursdays, featuring the Cadets, Gene and Charlie, and Clarence Wheeler's orchestra.

King, Agnew, Stokes, Before They Were Stars



What an orchestra this must have been in the days of Auld Lang Syne at the Trianon when Dell Lampe had such players as Wayne King, Hal Stokes, Charlie Agnew, and Al Morey in his band. Lampe is standing at the right center. To the right, seated, is the Waltz King, then a saxophone player. The other two sax players are Matt Amaturo and Patsy Rossiciolo. Charlie Agnew, cornetist, is to the left of the unidentified man standing beside Lampe. The other cornetist is Ray Raymond, and the slide trombonist is Charlie Feursch. Back row, left to right: Morey, now director of the Des Moines theater orchestra at Des Moines; Phil Becker, with Charlie Dornberger's orchestra; Walter Foster, now with Lyle Smith's orchestra; Hal Stokes, NBC orchestra director; Harry Henneman, playing with Dan Russo at the Palace theater (his son, Harry Jr., is with Charlie Agnew now), and inside the big horn, Vincent Fiorino, now with the Chicago theater orchestra. This picture was made ten years ago.

R. APPLEBERRY IS HEADING FOR MORE TROUBLE

Rube Appleberry, W-G-N's great baseball star of the comedy sketch by the same name, is heading for more trouble. Rube and his pals are heard each Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights over W-G-N. Tomorrow night Rube and his Panthers baseball team play an exhibition game in Rube's home town in Posey county, Ind., and Rube gets another gift of an automobile which just brings him a lot of trouble before he finally turns the tables on a practical joker and sells the old wreck to a museum. After the automobile episode Rube gets himself another girl. This time it's "real love" Rube says, but after watching Appleberry and his tactics with his former loves there's no telling how this match will work out.

Tony D'Orazi to Introduce Comic Characters Saturday

Tony D'Orazi will introduce two comic characters on his "Cartoonist of the Air" program on W-G-N at 5:30 Saturday afternoon. Tony will present Prof. Schnozzle Snout and his robot, "Mac" McGoofty, and will give his listeners detailed instructions on how to draw the cartoons of this pair. Each Saturday D'Orazi conducts his school for cartoonists on W-G-N.

ON THEATER HOUR

BEATRICE BELKIN.

VITO WILL PLAY 'OLD REFRAIN' OF FRITZ KREISLER

Fritz Kreisler's "The Old Refrain" and "Dance of the Nymphs" by Oberthur will be the two solo offerings by Joseph Vito, harpist, in his program with the W-G-N orchestra at 7:15 o'clock tonight. Mr. Vito has made special transcriptions of the two numbers and a brilliant performance by the famous harpist is forecast.

For the orchestral offerings, several of the classical numbers from famous operas will be presented. "Polka" by Smetana from the opera "The Bartered Bride" and special selections from Verdi's opera "Aida" are to be featured numbers. The program will open with the overture "Maxmillian Robespierre" by Litolff. Other tunes on the program are to be "Entr' Act Valse" by Helmesberger, "Dance of the Cammorists" by Wolf-Ferrari and C. M. von Weber's "Invitation to the Dance."

W-G-N TO START MUSIC PREVIEW OF WORLD'S FAIR

A musical preview of A Century of Progress of 1934 will open over W-G-N tomorrow morning. A Century of Progress orchestra, under the direction of Edward Wurtzbach, which was heard on the airlanes the last month of the 1933 Fair starts work tomorrow morning in the radio studio of the Administration building. W-G-N will broadcast the music of the orchestra at 11:15 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. each day except Sunday.

Other Chicago radio stations and the two national chains also will carry these musical programs which will serve to promote the new Fair.

Officials at A Century of Progress also plan short talks from time to time spotted in between musical numbers.

STOCK SYMPHONY MAY PLAY FROM FAIR ON W-G-N

Arrangements are being completed to broadcast the Chicago Symphony orchestra from the Swift exhibit at A Century of Progress this summer over W-G-N. The Chicago Symphony will start its performances at the Fair on July 1. Previous to that date Palmer Clark will present a symphonic dance orchestra of 28 men in the big band shell at the Swift exhibit starting with the opening of the Fair on May 26. A seven voice mixed ensemble also will be presented with Clark's orchestra. W-G-N expects to broadcast this musical feature.

BIG SHOW MAKES CHICAGO THEATER A W-G-N STUDIO

Roxy to Open New Series Direct from Stage.

Tomorrow night at 9 o'clock W-G-N inaugurates a new half hour program that is destined to become Chicago's biggest weekly radio show.

By special arrangement with Balaban & Katz, a complete special half hour radio show will be broadcast direct from the stage of the theater from 9 to 9:30 every Monday night.

This weekly radio show will be a special stage presentation offered in addition to the regular stage program.

The inaugural show tomorrow night will be provided by Roxy [S. L. Rothafel] and his gang, who are appearing this week on the theater stage. Roxy and his 72 entertainers and musicians will offer a program entirely different from that given as their regular stage routine.

World's Biggest Studio.

The Chicago theater thus becomes transformed, for a half hour every Monday night, into the largest single broadcasting studio in the world. Its 4,000 patrons will form the largest group of spectators at a regular weekly broadcast anywhere in the world. The show itself will present the largest number of etertainers on a regular weekly program.

On this new program W-G-N's millions of listeners will be regaled with the almost unlimited variety of entertainment provided by those leading celebrities of stage, screen, radio and even opera, whose stage appearances at the Chicago theater make that house the city's symbol for entertainment. This talent list will be augmented further by the choice of the best from artists appearing in other Balaban & Katz stage shows throughout the city.

Mighty choral numbers, rich orchestral symphonies conducted by Josef Cherniavsky, director of the Chicago Theater orchestra, unusual dance novelties will add still more variety to these weekly shows.

Roxy to Direct Show.

Roxy himself will direct the inaugural program tomorrow night. It will mark the first appearance on the air of this outstanding show world figure with his gang since their departure from New York on their present tour.

Roxy will choose his entertainers from: Viola Philo, contralto; Jan Peerce and Robert Weede, popular young tenors; Frank Moulan, comedy veteran of many performances in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas; Yasha Bunchuk, violinist; Henrietta Schuman, concert pianiste; Harold Van Duzee, especially popular among Chicago radio fans; Beatrice Belkin and "Wee Willie" Robyn.

"It is our hope and aim," said John Balaban, active head of Balaban & Katz, "to make this weekly radio show the most imposing and most entertaining on the air."

Mr. Balaban added that W-G-N was selected in preference to other Chicago stations because of its preëminent position as a representative Chicago station as well as for its increased broadcasting power.

TED WEEMS' BAND WILL RETURN TO W-G-N THURSDAY

Follows Richard Cole at Palmer House.

Ted Weems and his great orchestra will replace Richard Cole in the Empire room at the Palmer house and on W-G-N's radio schedule beginning Thursday evening. Weems will take over all of the broadcast spots that have been carried by Cole's orchestra for the last year.

Weems is no stranger to W-G-N's listeners. He played a two years' engagement at the Trianon ballroom during which time he broadcast over W-G-N. Since then he has been featured in many spots and on many radio programs both locally and over national networks.

Weems' band has great reputation as a show unit. He has a versatile group of entertainers in his orchestra. His singing ensemble is widely and well known. He has a great pair of vocal soloists in Country Washburn and Elmo Tanner, the latter also being widely known as a whistler, and he also features his brother, Art Weems, as his trumpet soloist, Red Ingle and Parker Gibbs as both vocal and instrumental soloists.

Becomes Musician Despite Self.

Ted has the unique reputation of being a musician in spite of his efforts to avoid the profession. During his school days despite the protests of his parents, who wanted him to become a musician, Ted tried to desert the musical game and become a mechanical engineer. Limited finances, however, caused him to continue his musical training by becoming assistant concert master of the West Philadelphia Symphony orchestra.

He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, where he led the varsity band and a dance orchestra, but thus far his only application of his trade as a mechanical engineer has been used in the invention of musical instruments.

Weems Develops Mellophonium.

With Dudley Fosdick, Weems developed the mellophonium, the only instrument of its kind in the world. Weems also invented an instrument of his own, the goofus horn. Both of these instruments are prominently displayed in the band's work.

The Weems orchestra always has enjoyed a great reputation for its dance rhythms, having been largely responsible for the introduction and popularizing of many tunes which are radio favorites in the past and present.

Bob Elson to Describe Cubs-Philadelphia Game

The opening game of the series between Philadelphia and the Cubs will be presented on W-G-N starting at 2:45 p. m. today. Before the game starts Bob Elson will interview players from both teams from the field.

Two Creams needed for your Two Skins

An oil cream to fight WRINKLES in your UNDER SKIN (AT LEFT)

. . A greaseless cream to prevent DRYNESS in your OUTER SKIN (EXTREME LEFT)

● You have two skins entirely different in texture and in composition. Your outer skin, wafer-thin, is dried by sun and wind. Your under skin is kept firm by oils. That's why it is impossible to treat both skins with the same single cream!

WRINKLES . . . mean one warning thing—that your Under Skin is lacking in lubrication. Its tiny oil glands are failing to pour out sufficient natural oils. This starved under skin needs Pond's Cold Cream. Oil-rich, this famous cream encourages the under skin to remain smooth, firm, young and taut. Wrinkle-free! And as a skin cleanser, Pond's Cold Cream is superb!

Try Pond's Two-Skin Treatment as MISS ELEANOR ROOSEVELT describes it:

"My nightly cleansing is Pond's Cold Cream. Pond's Tissues take it off. I do this twice. After cleansing, I leave Pond's Vanishing Cream on my face overnight.

"In the morning, and any time during the day, Pond's Cold Cream—Tissues—then Pond's Vanishing Cream. It holds powder."

Miss Eleanor Roosevelt

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Roosevelt, of Washington, D. C., guards her skin's youthful freshness with Pond's Cold Cream for her Under Skin and Pond's Vanishing Cream for her Outer Skin.

● For your Under Skin—Pond's oil-rich Cold Cream or Pond's new Liquefying Cream that melts instantly.

● For your Outer Skin—Pond's Vanishing Cream. Greaseless. Corrects dryness.

"I know how Steel Protects You—in a Warship or a Car"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH M. E. MERRITT, NAVY YARD, CHARLESTON, S. C.

"I bought a Plymouth for its Safety-Steel Body... Lucky for me that I did!"

YOU'VE SEEN THE STEEL ARMOR on warships. It's Merritt's job to help make it. He knows how strong it is. Small wonder that, when he wanted a car, he picked Plymouth for its Safety-Steel Body.

But he never thought that this precaution would one day save his life!

The drawing shows what happened. A foggy night. A parked car ahead. A sudden stop. Crash! Rammed by a truck from behind . . . catapulted into the air. Smashing down! Bouncing up! Turning over and over!

Yet Merritt lived! He came through whole . . . in a Safety-Steel Body!

"I'd read about folks in other cars being hit like that," he told us. "Most of them got off much worse than I did. The Safety-Steel Body was all that saved me!"

Experiences like Mr. Merritt's are not common, but they do happen. That's why Plymouth engineers stressed safety. They gave Plymouth a Safety-Steel Body—a modern body of steel reinforced with steel. And they equipped Plymouth with Hydraulic Brakes . . . the safest, surest brakes on any car.

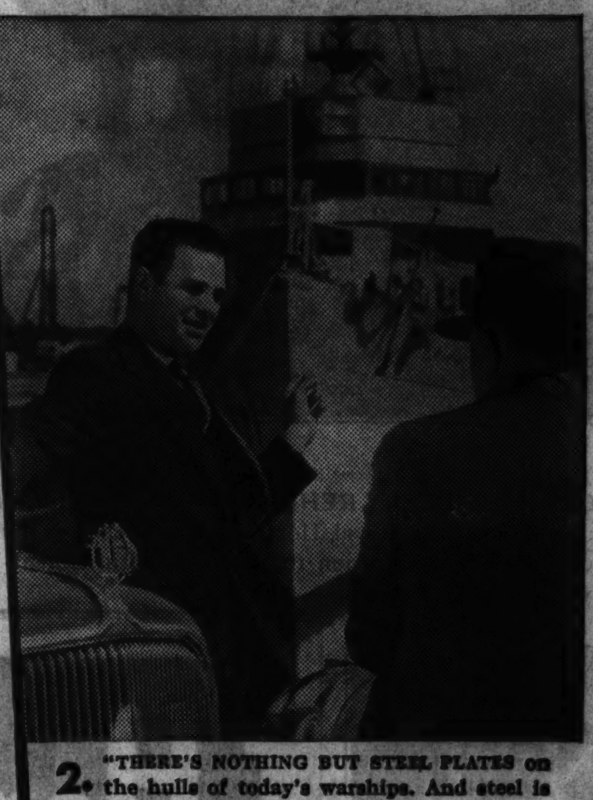
But the engineers went further! They also made Plymouth more comfortable!

With patented Floating Power engine mountings, all motor vibration stays under the hood—away from the frame and body. With Individual Wheel Springing, a rough road no longer means a rough ride. Each individual front wheel "steps" right over the bumpiest spots. No more nose-bounce and road fight!

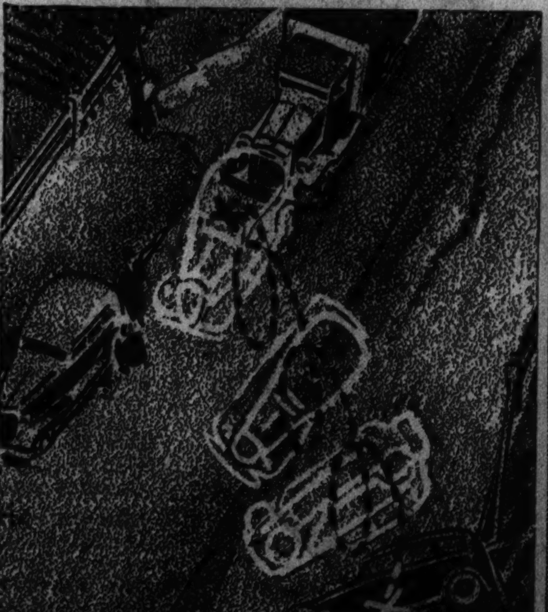
In the lowest-price field, Plymouth is the only car that has all four of the vital features you need for complete comfort and safety. Hydraulic Brakes. Safety-Steel Body. Floating Power. Individual Wheel Springing.

So "look at All Three." You'll see why Plymouth offers extra value. Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will gladly demonstrate.

1. "WELDING STEEL in a Navy Yard, I see plenty of examples of the punishment steel has to stand. And anybody knows that if a battleship wasn't made of steel it wouldn't stand the ghost of a chance when it had to go into action on the high seas today."

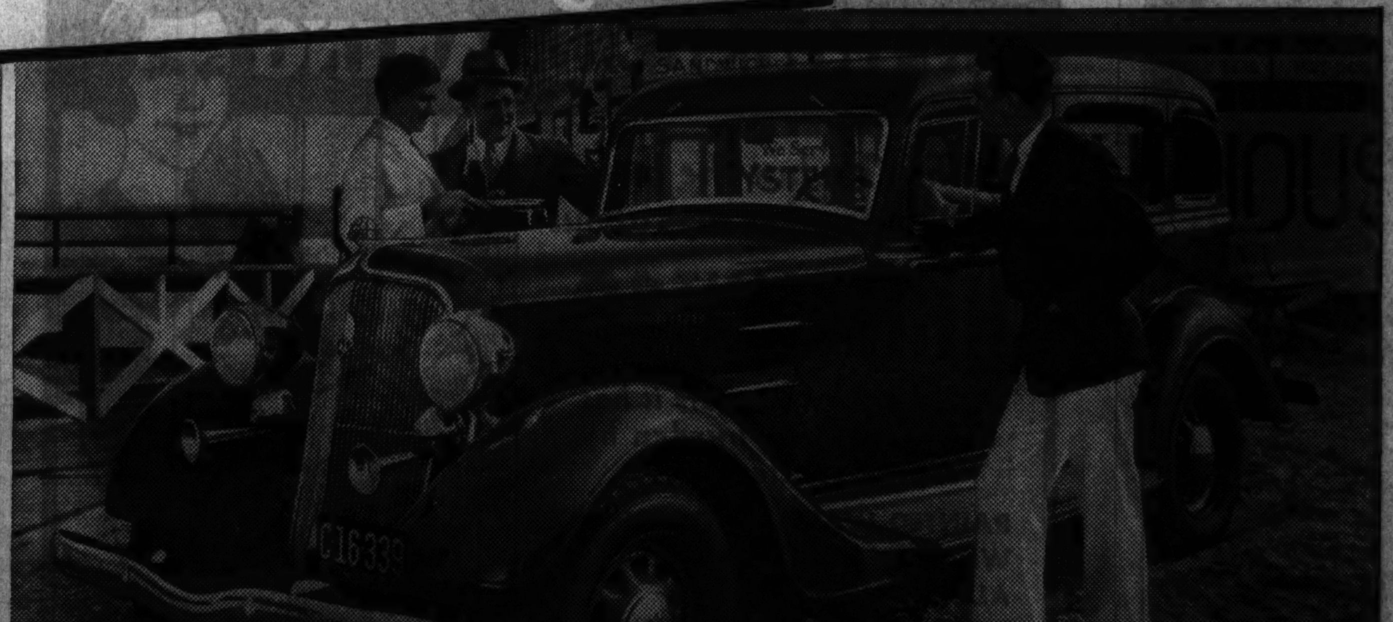


2. "THERE'S NOTHING BUT STEEL PLATES on the hulls of today's warships. And steel is what I wanted in the body of my car, though I never thought I'd be in a serious accident."



3. "ONE NIGHT it happened! I'd pulled up behind a parked car. A truck roared out of the fog and sent me sailing. I rolled over and over. But, thanks to that Safety-Steel Body, I lived to tell it!"

4. "MY PLYMOUTH SAVES my money, too. I get by on a tankful of gas a week. And no extra oil between drainings! Yet it has a roominess you'd never expect in a low-priced car."



5. Merritt with his new De Luxe Plymouth Sedan (above). Plymouth prices begin at $530 at the factory, subject to change without notice. You may arrange to make convenient time payments that will meet your own budget requirements. Ask your dealer about Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.

WELL- WHO WOULD HAVE THOUGHT IT- DO YOU KNOW, CHESTER- THAT THE SUN IS 1,000,000,000,000,000- YEARS OLD ?
GEE-WHIZ- THINK OF HAVING TO PUT CANDLES ON HIS BIRTHDAY CAKE-BOOK OF FACTS
SIDNEY SMITH
HE'S LIVED TO A RIPE OLD AGE - THAT BOY- AND DO YOU KNOW WHAT HIS SECRET IS FOR LIVING SO LONG ? EARLY TO BED AND EARLY TO RISE- THAT'S HIS MOTTO-
AND IF LITTLE BOYS WANT TO GROW UP TO BE STRONG MEN AND LIVE A LONG TIME THEY SHOULD FOLLOW HIS EXAMPLE- GO TO BED EARLY AND GET UP EARLY- THAT'S THE SYSTEM-LOOK AT TILDA THERE- HOW OLD DO YOU THINK SHE IS ?
I'M A LITTLE BIT SHY IN TELLING MY AGE-
HOW OLD ARE YOU, TILDA?
YEAH- I SHOULD SAY ABOUT FIFTEEN YEARS SHY-
WELL- MAYBE I DON'T KNOW HOW TO LIVE LONG- BUT I DO KNOW THAT IF YOU WANT TO KEEP YOUR WEIGHT DOWN, YOU SHOULD GO ON A VEGETABLE DIET-
GET OUT - AN ELEPHANT IS A VEGETARIAN- AND HE'S THE BIGGEST- HEAVIEST AND FATTEST CREATURE ON EARTH-
I WAS JUST READING WHERE SOME SCIENTIST SAID THAT WE BECOME WHAT WE EAT-
YEAH! WELL- IF THAT'S THE CASE, MAKE A CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW NUT CAKE RIGHT AWAY- LET'S EAT SOMETHING RICH-
I HAVE MY OWN SYSTEM OF KEEPING MY FIGURE-AND WHAT IS THAT ?
I EAT WHAT IS RIGHT-
AND I EAT WHAT IS LEFT- WELL- AS USUAL- NOT A THING IN THE ICE BOX.
BUT SEE WHAT I FOUND IN THE BREAD BOX- ONE DOUGHNUT- ALL MINE-
AND WHAT DOUGHNUTS THEY ARE- HOME-MADE AND HAND-MADE- WHERE DID YOU BORROW THE CONCRETE MIXER TO MAKE THESE WITH ?
DO YOU LIKE THEM ?
LIKE THEM ? I'LL BET YOU COULDN'T MAKE BETTER DOUGHNUTS THAN THESE IF YOU TRIED-
NO- I SHOULD SAY I COULDN'T-
BUT BOY - HOW I WISH YOU COULD -

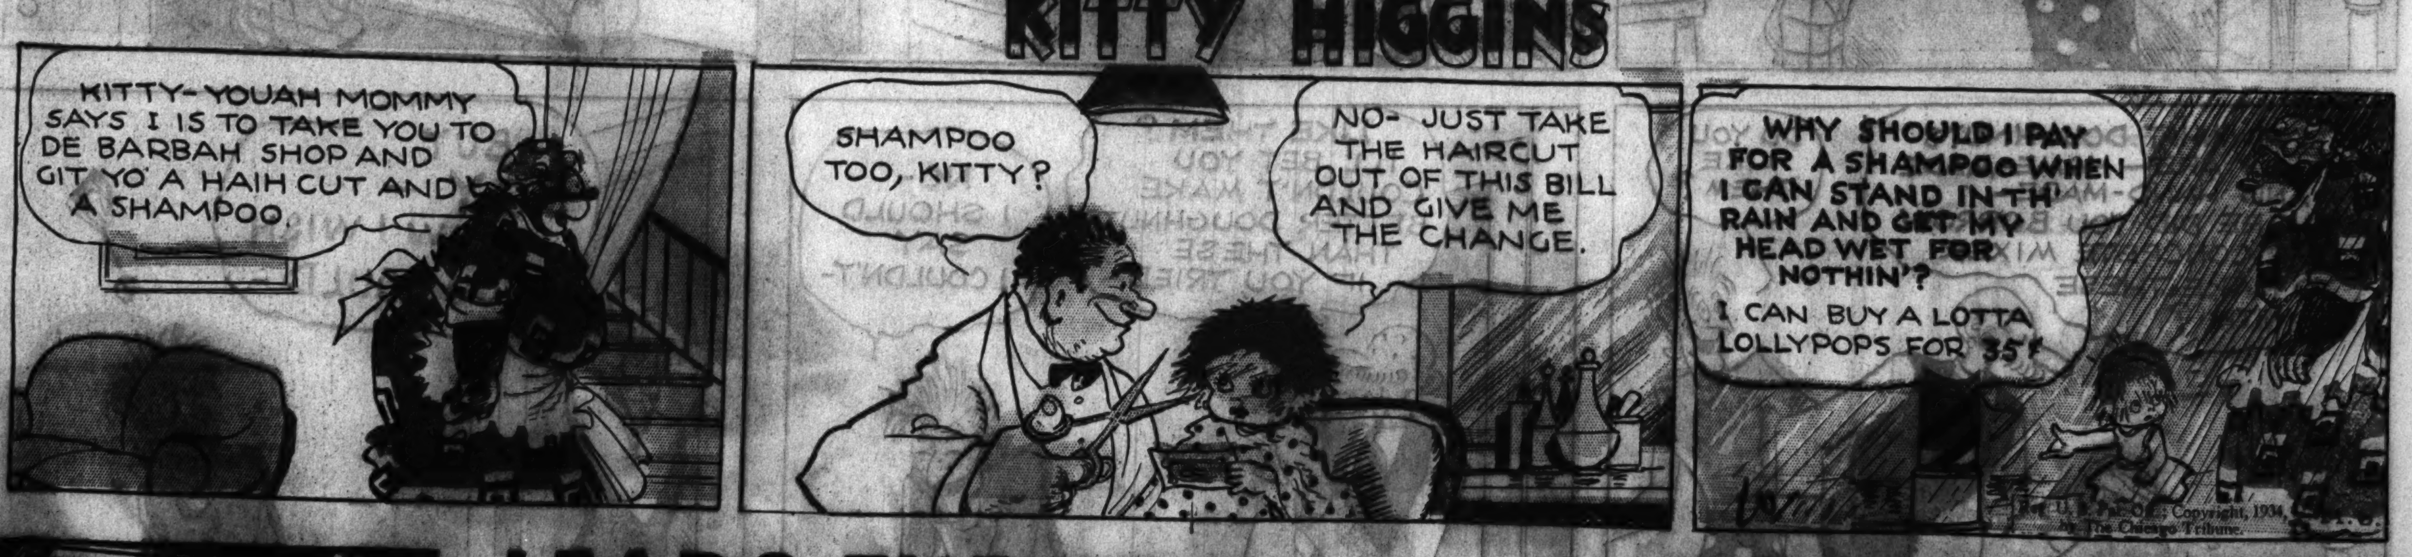
YOU'D BETTER BE GETTIN' HOME, UNCLE WILLIE. IT'S NEARLY TWO CHIMES NOW.
GOOD NIGHT NURSE! I HAD NO IDEA IT WAS AS LATE AS THAT.
I HOPE THE LITTLE WOMAN AIN'T HAVIN' ONE OF HER SPELLS OF INSOMNIA.
GONG
GONG
OH WELL, IF SHE SAYS ANYTHING I'LL TELL HER IT STARTED TO STRIKE ELEVEN BUT I STOPPED IT BECAUSE I WAS AFRAID IT'D DISTURB HER.
NO-I AINT NEVER SEEN YOUR HUSBAND, MAMIE.
YES- IT AINT A VERY GOOD PICTURE OF HIM HECTOR- HE WAS SO LAZY HE ONLY PRESSED HIS SUIT ON ONE SIDE BECAUSE HE WAS GOING TO HAVE HIS PROFILE TOOK.
WHAT'S THIS? WHAT'S THIS?
SO THAT'S WHAT YOU MARRIED, MAMIE? HOHOHOHO HE'S GOT A SHAPE LIKE A BEER KEG.
WELL THATS ABOUT ALL HE USES IT FOR.
HOHO HO HO HO!
WHY TH' —#
WHAT WAS THAT?
SLA
I'LL GO SEE
OOP!
TSK-TSK-TSK! I COULDN'T BELIEVE MY OWN EYES—MAMIE SETTING IN A TOTAL STRANGER'S LAP LAUGHING AND MAKING MERRY— I'M GOING TO TELL MOON ABOUT THIS.
WELL, WHY DIDN'T YOU BEAT TH' DAYLIGHT OUTTA HIM?
OH I'M WAITING! MY BOY I'M WAITING!!
WAITIN' FOR WHAT?
TILL I CATCH HER WITH A LITTLER GUY.
HO-HUM! WELL, SIS, I GOTTA GO- NO BROTHER-IN-LAW'S WORTH WAITIN' UP ALL NIGHT TO MEET.
WELL, IF YOU DROP AROUND TO-MORROW AND A FAT FELLER WITH A COUPLE OF BLACK EYES ANSWERS TH' DOOR, YOU'LL KNOW IT'S HIM, HECTOR.



KITTY HIGGINS
KITTY- YOUAH MOMMY SAYS I IS TO TAKE YOU TO DE BARBAH SHOP AND GIT YO' A HAIH CUT AND A SHAMPOO.
SHAMPOO TOO, KITTY?
NO- JUST TAKE THE HAIRCUT OUT OF THIS BILL AND GIVE ME THE CHANGE.
WHY SHOULD I PAY FOR A SHAMPOO WHEN I CAN STAND IN TH' RAIN AND GET MY HEAD WET FOR NOTHIN'?
I CAN BUY A LOTTA LOLLYPOPS FOR 35¢

DICK TRACY
TESS.... THE JEAN PENFIELD MURDER HAS BEEN SOLVED.. AND YOU'RE CLEARED!
IS IT TRUE, PAT?
CHESTER GOULD
YOU SEE..TRACY AND JUNIOR CAUGHT THIS SPALDONI GUY AND HIS GANG...CORNERED 'EM IN THEIR HIDEOUT IN AN OLD STEEL MILL..SPALDONI TRIED TO KILL TRACY AND THERE WAS A TERRIBLE GUN BATTLE.
SPALDONI WAS BADLY SHOT UP...IS DYING AND HAS CONFESSED. TRACY'S BRINGING HIM IN HERE WITH THE STATES-ATTORNEY TO MAKE A FULL STATEMENT BEFORE WITNESSES..HERE THEY COME NOW.
WE MUST HURRY, DETECTIVE. HE'S FAILING FAST.
TESS!
DICK.
ARE YOU READY, SPALDONI?
YES.
I-GEORGIO SPALDONI...SHOT AND KILLED...JEAN PENFIELD..IN HER HOME..I FIRED THE...SHOT FROM THE KITCHEN...WITH THE SAME 38...FOUND IN..THE CORRIDOR..BEARING TESS TRUEHEART'S..FINGERPRINTS...
I HAD A SPECIALLY.... CONSTRUCTED..EXTENSION GRIP... ATTACHED TO...THE GUN..TO KEEP.. FROM OBLITERATING...MISS TRUEHEART'S...FINGERPRINTS...WHICH WERE LIFTED AND PLACED... THERE..BEFOREHAND....
OH...OH... I... I A...
IT'S ALL OVER..HE'S THROUGH LET ME IN-OH PLEASE LET ME IN!
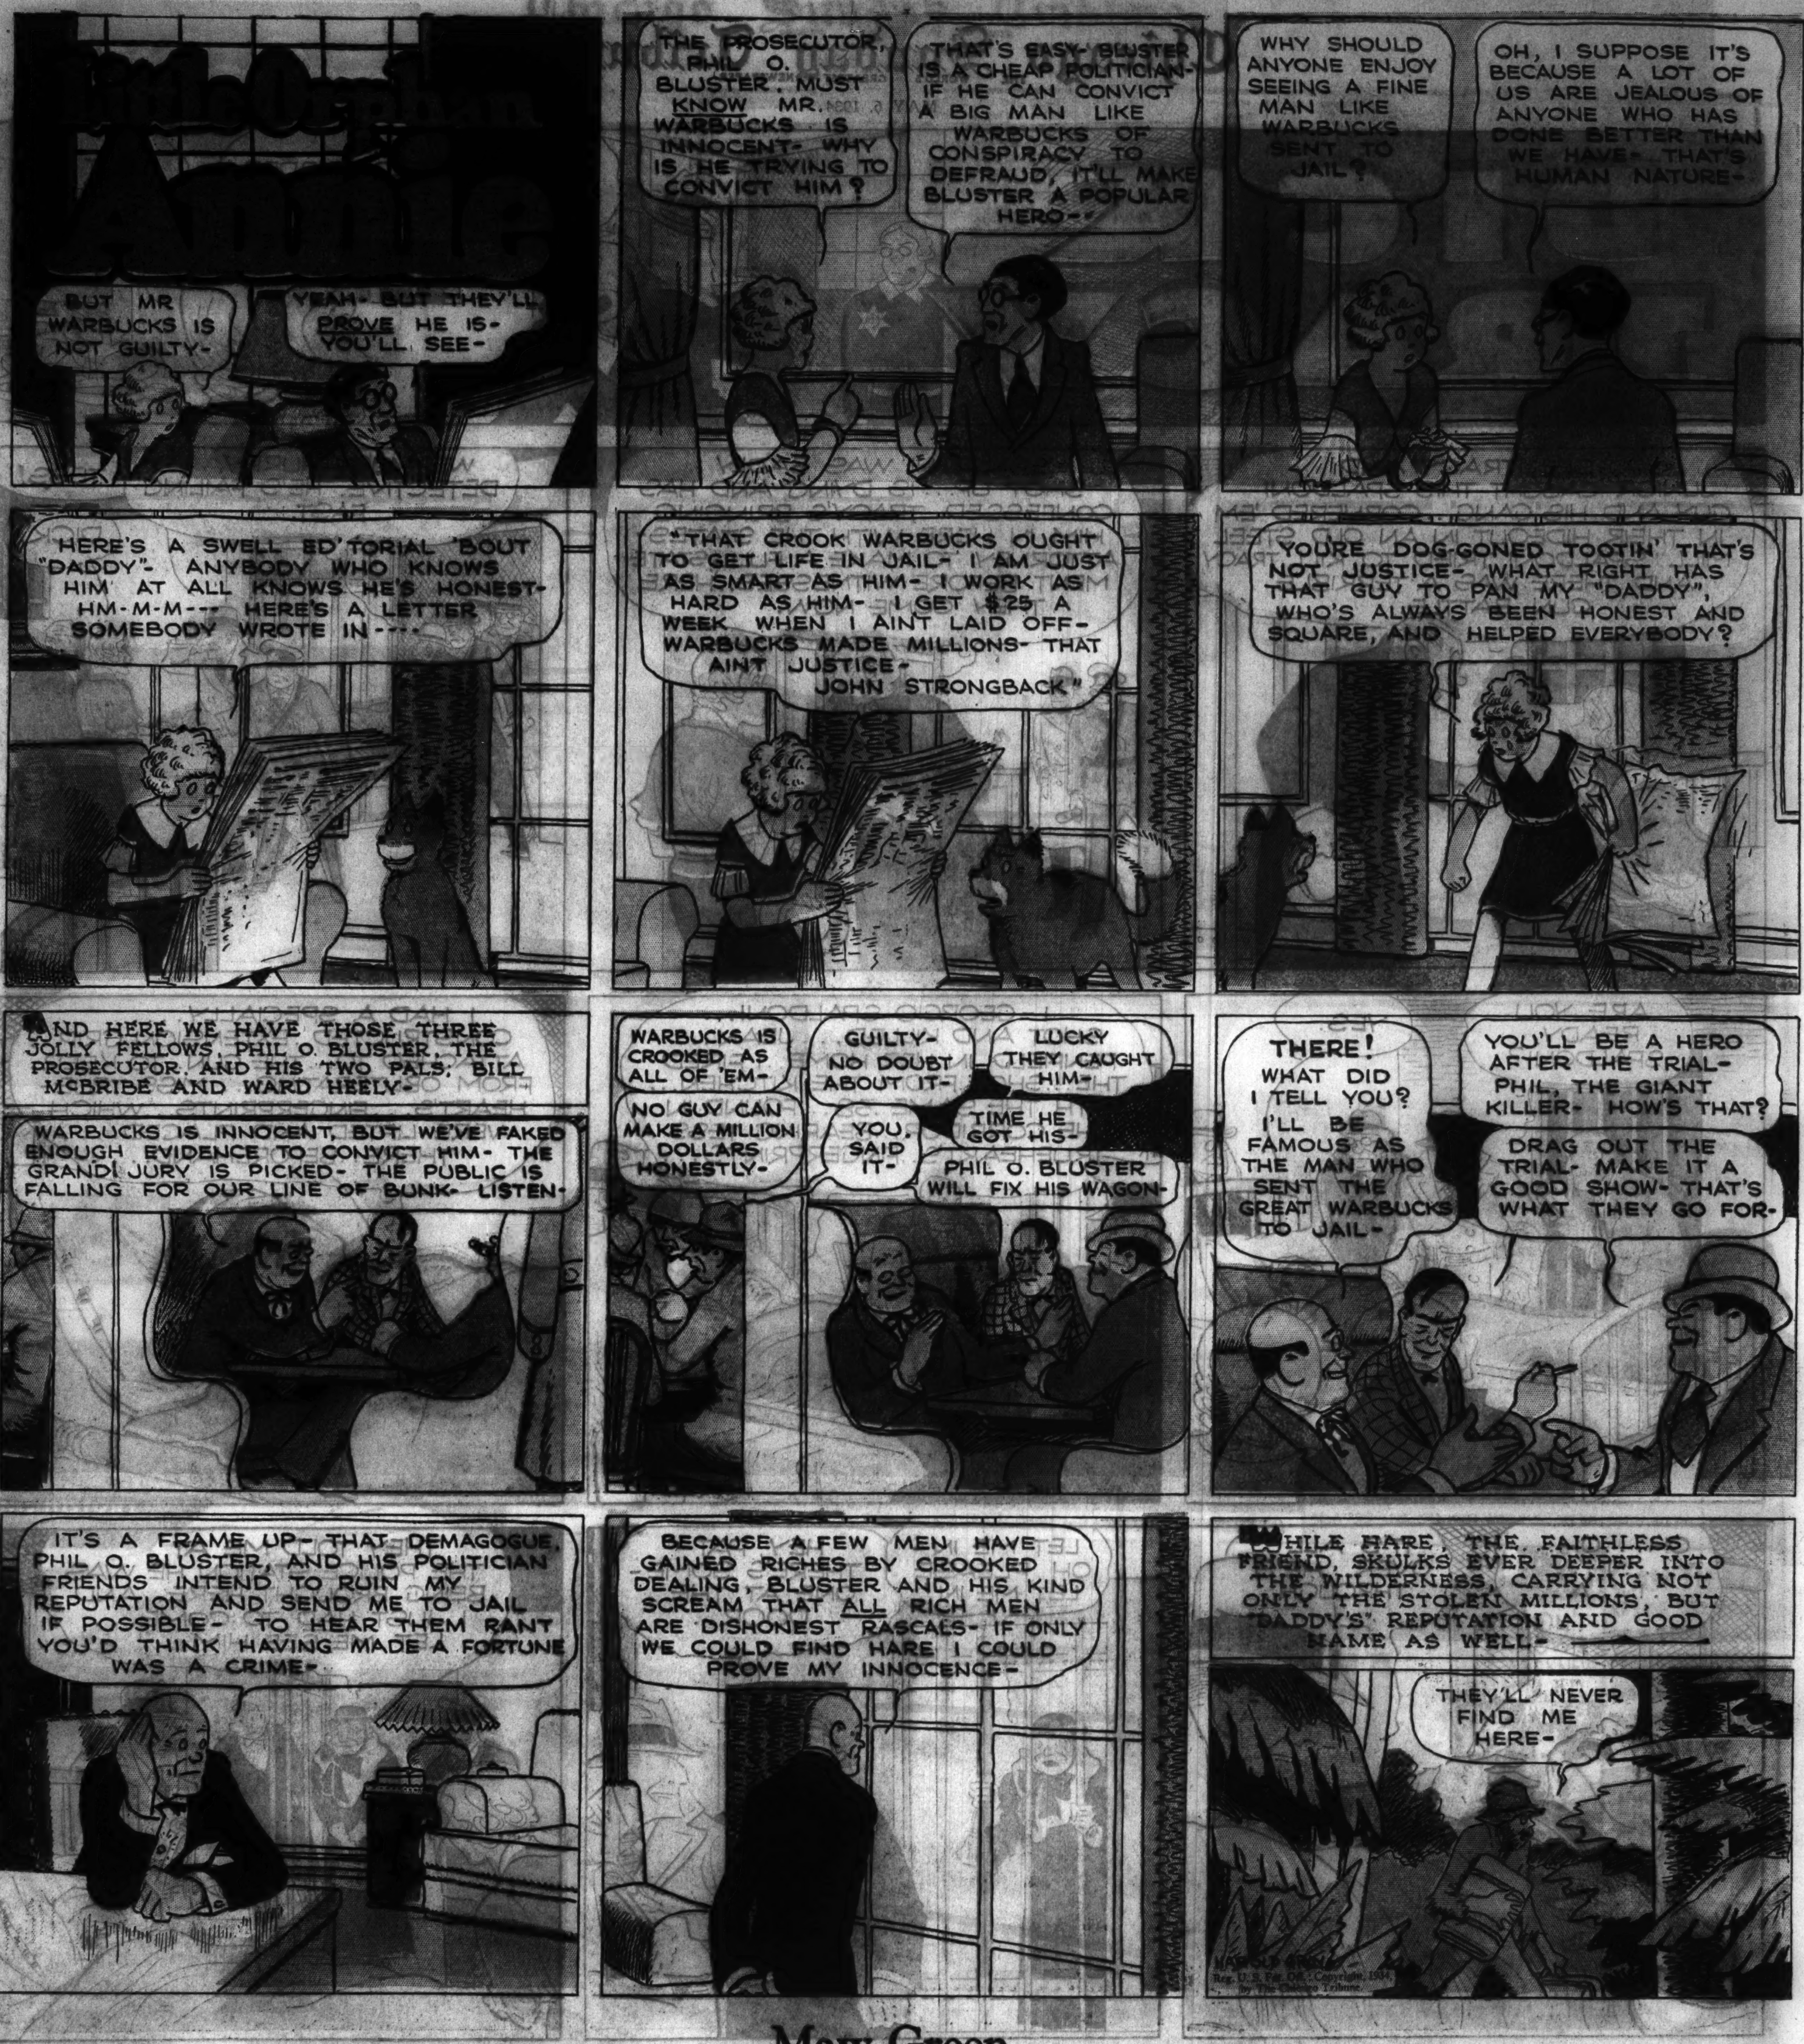
HEY, PAT- THERE'S SOMEONE AT THE DOOR...
THEY TOLD ME AT THE POLICE STATION HE WAS BEING BROUGHT HERE..AND I JUST HAD TO COME... LET ME SEE HIM....
YOU SEE..I HADN'T SEEN HIM FOR SO VERY, VERY LONG. THREE YEARS IN FACT..HE HAD SORT OF NEGLECTED ME!... IS HE....?
HE'S DEAD.
WHO ARE YOU?
WHO AM I? I AM THE ONE THAT HAS TO PAY!... IT'S ALWAYS THOSE NEAREST AND DEAREST TO THE CRIMINAL THAT ARE HURT MOST! THE VERY ONES THAT LOVE HIM ARE THE ONES WHO HAVE TO SUFFER.
THEN YOU'RE HIS...
I AM HIS MOTHER..
WHAT PART WILL SPALDONI'S AGED MOTHER PLAY IN OUR FUTURE STORY?



Little Orphan Annie
BUT MR WARBUCKS IS NOT GUILTY-
YEAH- BUT THEY'LL PROVE HE IS- YOU'LL SEE-
THE PROSECUTOR, PHIL O. BLUSTER, MUST KNOW MR. WARBUCKS IS INNOCENT- WHY IS HE TRYING TO CONVICT HIM?
THAT'S EASY- BLUSTER IS A CHEAP POLITICIAN- IF HE CAN CONVICT A BIG MAN LIKE WARBUCKS OF CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD, IT'LL MAKE BLUSTER A POPULAR HERO--
WHY SHOULD ANYONE ENJOY SEEING A FINE MAN LIKE WARBUCKS SENT TO JAIL?
OH, I SUPPOSE IT'S BECAUSE A LOT OF US ARE JEALOUS OF ANYONE WHO HAS DONE BETTER THAN WE HAVE- THAT'S HUMAN NATURE-
HERE'S A SWELL ED'TORIAL 'BOUT "DADDY"- ANYBODY WHO KNOWS HIM AT ALL KNOWS HE'S HONEST- HM-M-M--- HERE'S A LETTER SOMEBODY WROTE IN---
"THAT CROOK WARBUCKS OUGHT TO GET LIFE IN JAIL- I AM JUST AS SMART AS HIM- I WORK AS HARD AS HIM- I GET $25 A WEEK WHEN I AINT LAID OFF- WARBUCKS MADE MILLIONS- THAT AINT JUSTICE- JOHN STRONGBACK" YOURE DOG-GONED TOOTIN' THAT'S NOT JUSTICE- WHAT RIGHT HAS THAT GUY TO PAN MY "DADDY", WHO'S ALWAYS BEEN HONEST AND SQUARE, AND HELPED EVERYBODY?
AND HERE WE HAVE THOSE THREE JOLLY FELLOWS, PHIL O. BLUSTER, THE PROSECUTOR, AND HIS TWO PALS; BILL McBRIBE AND WARD HEELY-
WARBUCKS IS INNOCENT, BUT WE'VE FAKED ENOUGH EVIDENCE TO CONVICT HIM- THE GRAND JURY IS PICKED- THE PUBLIC IS FALLING FOR OUR LINE OF BUNK- LISTEN-
WARBUCKS IS CROOKED AS ALL OF 'EM-
NO GUY CAN MAKE A MILLION DOLLARS HONESTLY-GUILTY- NO DOUBT ABOUT IT-LUCKY THEY CAUGHT HIM-
YOU, SAID IT-
TIME HE GOT HIS-
PHIL O. BLUSTER WILL FIX HIS WAGON-
THERE! WHAT DID I TELL YOU? I'LL BE FAMOUS AS THE MAN WHO SENT THE GREAT WARBUCKS TO JAIL-YOU'LL BE A HERO AFTER THE TRIAL- PHIL, THE GIANT KILLER- HOW'S THAT?
DRAG OUT THE TRIAL- MAKE IT A GOOD SHOW- THAT'S WHAT THEY GO FOR-
IT'S A FRAME UP- THAT DEMAGOGUE, PHIL O. BLUSTER, AND HIS POLITICIAN FRIENDS INTEND TO RUIN MY REPUTATION AND SEND ME TO JAIL IF POSSIBLE- TO HEAR THEM RANT YOU'D THINK HAVING MADE A FORTUNE WAS A CRIME-
BECAUSE A FEW MEN HAVE GAINED RICHES BY CROOKED DEALING, BLUSTER AND HIS KIND SCREAM THAT ALL RICH MEN ARE DISHONEST RASCALS- IF ONLY WE COULD FIND HARE I COULD PROVE MY INNOCENCE-
WHILE HARE, THE FAITHLESS FRIEND, SKULKS EVER DEEPER INTO THE WILDERNESS, CARRYING NOT ONLY THE STOLEN MILLIONS, BUT "DADDY'S" REPUTATION AND GOOD NAME AS WELL-
THEY'LL NEVER FIND ME HERE-

"THE BAD GIANTS MADE SLAVES OF THE PYGMIES AND ROBBED THE LITTLE PEOPLE SHAMEFULLY- BUT THERE WERE MANY GOOD GIANTS WHO WERE KIND TO THE PYGMIES-
"ONE GOOD GIANT WAS MORE KIND AND GENEROUS THAN ALL THE REST- BUT ONE DAY THIS GIANT TRIPPED AND FELL- NOW THE PYGMIES SHOULD HAVE REMEMBERED HOW GOOD HE WAS-
"BUT A PYGMY'S MEMORY IS AS SHORT AS A PYGMY- A VERY LOUD VOICED PYGMY LEAPED UPON THE FALLEN GIANT AND SCREAMED THAT ALL GIANTS WERE BAD-
"HE SCREAMED SO LOUDLY ALL THE OTHER PYGMIES DECIDED HE MUST BE A GREAT LEADER AND THEY CAME IN VAST NUMBERS TO HURT THE GIANT-
"YOU SEE, IT MAKES A PYGMY FEEL VERY BIG TO FIND HE CAN HURT A GIANT- BUT NO MATTER HOW MUCH HE HURTS THE GIANT, HE IS STILL A PYGMY-"

UNCLE WALT. HOW DO YOU TELL WHETHER IT'S EI OR IE IN SEIZE?
I DON'T KNOW. I USUALLY TOSS UP A COIN.
SO THIS IS THE NEW HOUSE THE KIDS HAVE BEEN TALKING ABOUT.
LOTS OF GOOD KINDLING LYING AROUND LOOSE, WALT.
I'D NEVER HAVE A LONG LIVING ROOM WITH A FIREPLACE IN ONE END. PHYLLIS.
AND LOOK, EMILY. THEY COULD JUST AS WELL HAVE HAD FRENCH DOORS THERE.
I'D HAVE MY DINING ROOM ON THE SOUTH. YOU WANT SUNSHINE THERE TOO.
SUCH A TINY BUTLER'S PANTRY. SHE CAN'T BE PLANNING ON HAVING MANY DISHES.
HERE'S WHERE THE REFRIGERATOR GOES. THERE ISN'T ROOM FOR ANY BUT THE SMALLEST SIZE.
THEY'RE GOING TO COOK WITH ELECTRICITY, SEE HERE.
NOW. WOULDN'T YOU THINK ANYBODY COULD PLAN A BETTER HALL THAN THIS!
I'D CERTAINLY USE SOME OF THIS WASTE SPACE FOR CUPBOARDS.
COZY LITTLE BASEMENT, AVERY.
YEP, BUT TOO BIG A FURNACE. EATS TOO MUCH FUEL.
GOLLY WALT! THEY CAN HAVE THE REST OF THE HOUSE. I'LL PUT MY WORKSHOP RIGHT HERE.
SOLD!
I'D HAVE HAD IT SO YOU COULD GET TO THE BATHROOM WITHOUT GOING INTO THE HALL.
THEY MUST BE GOING TO HAVE A DOUBLE BED. THERE ISN'T ROOM FOR TWIN BEDS.
LOOK, EMILY! CAN YOU IMAGINE A BATHROOM WITH TILE THIS COLOR?
SUCH STINGY LITTLE CLOSETS!
HE'S GOT SOME SENSE — HAVING AN OUTSIDE CELLAR DOOR.
I WISH I HAD ONE. IT'S A SWELL GET-AWAY.
WELL, PHYLLIS, WHAT DID YOU THINK OF IT?
I COULD MAKE IMPROVEMENTS ON THAT.
AVERY, I'D LOVE TO BUILD A NEW HOUSE.
NOW EMILY, JUST BECAUSE I BROUGHT YOU OVER HERE DON'T GET ANY FOOL IDEAS IN YOUR HEAD NOW THEY'RE GONE WE CAN PLAY AN' HAVE SOME FUN.

OKAY - LET'S GO!
WOW!
CRACK
C'MON! TAKE SECOND!
WHAT A SMACK!
BOY! THIS IS HARD WORK-
THIRD! TAKE THIRD!
HOME! HOME!
C'MON - YOU CAN MAKE IT!
SLIDE, POP!
SLIDE!
SAFE!
HOORAY! WE WIN!
YOUR POP MADE A HOMER!
HOORAY FOR MR. SWEENEY!
WHEE!
HERE COMES OLD SWEENEY WITH ALL THE KIDS HANGING AROUND HIM AGAIN-
YOU'RE WRONG THIS TIME-
THEY'VE GOT TO HANG AROUND HIM - - YOU SHOULD SEE WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM WHEN HE MADE THAT SLIDE!

LITTLE JOE YEOW!
WELL, THERE'S THE OAK'S RANCH YONDER- AND THE END OF A WILD GOOSE CHASE-
THAT'S WHAT YOU SAY- WE'LL FIND OUT WHEN OUR MAN, LEDGE, LEFT HERE-- IF HE EVER GOT THIS FAR-
HI, JOE! HOWDY, UTAH! GOT SOME COMPANY FOR YOU-
HELLO, SHERIFF- HOPE THIS IS JUST A FRIENDLY CALL- LIGHT DOWN AND REST, GENTS-
THIS GENTLEMAN INSISTS HIS COMPANY STARTED A MINE EXPERT HERE, AND THAT HE AINT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE-
DID OUR MAN, LEDGE, REACH HERE?
SURE- HE GAVE US TH' BAD NEWS ABOUT OUR MINE, AND STARTED BACK A COUPLE WEEKS AGO- NICE YOUNG FELLER- DARK COMPLEXION, BLACK BEARD----- WHAT?
WHY, THAT WASN'T OUR MAN! HE WAS CLEAN SHAVEN- SOMETHING HAS HAPPENED- THIS OTHER MAN WAS AN IMPOSTOR!
NOW HOLD ON- LET THE LAW HANDLE THIS- I THINK I HAVE A CLUE ALREADY- JUST KEEP CALM AND LEAVE IT ALL TO ME-
UTAH WANTS ME TO TAKE A LOOK AT THE MINE WHILE YOU'RE GONE- LET ME HEAR ANY NEWS IMMEDIATELY-GO RIGHT AHEAD- DON'T WORRY- I HAVE EVERYTHING IN HAND- I'LL BE BACK SHORTLY-
NOW WE ARE IN FOR TROUBLE- THIS MINE MAN CAN'T BE STOPPED- JACK NEVER FIGURED ON ANYTHING LIKE THIS- SOMETHING MUST HAVE GONE WRONG OUT HERE OR I'D HAVE HEARD FROM JACK BEFORE THIS-WELL, JACK, THE MINE COMPANY HAS SENT A REGULAR SIDE-WINDER TO SEE WHAT HAPPENED TO THEIR MAN, LEDGE- THERE'S PLENTY TROUBLE COMIN'- COMING! HUM- THE TROUBLE IS HERE! THOSE INDIANS ARE WISE TO EVERYTHING-
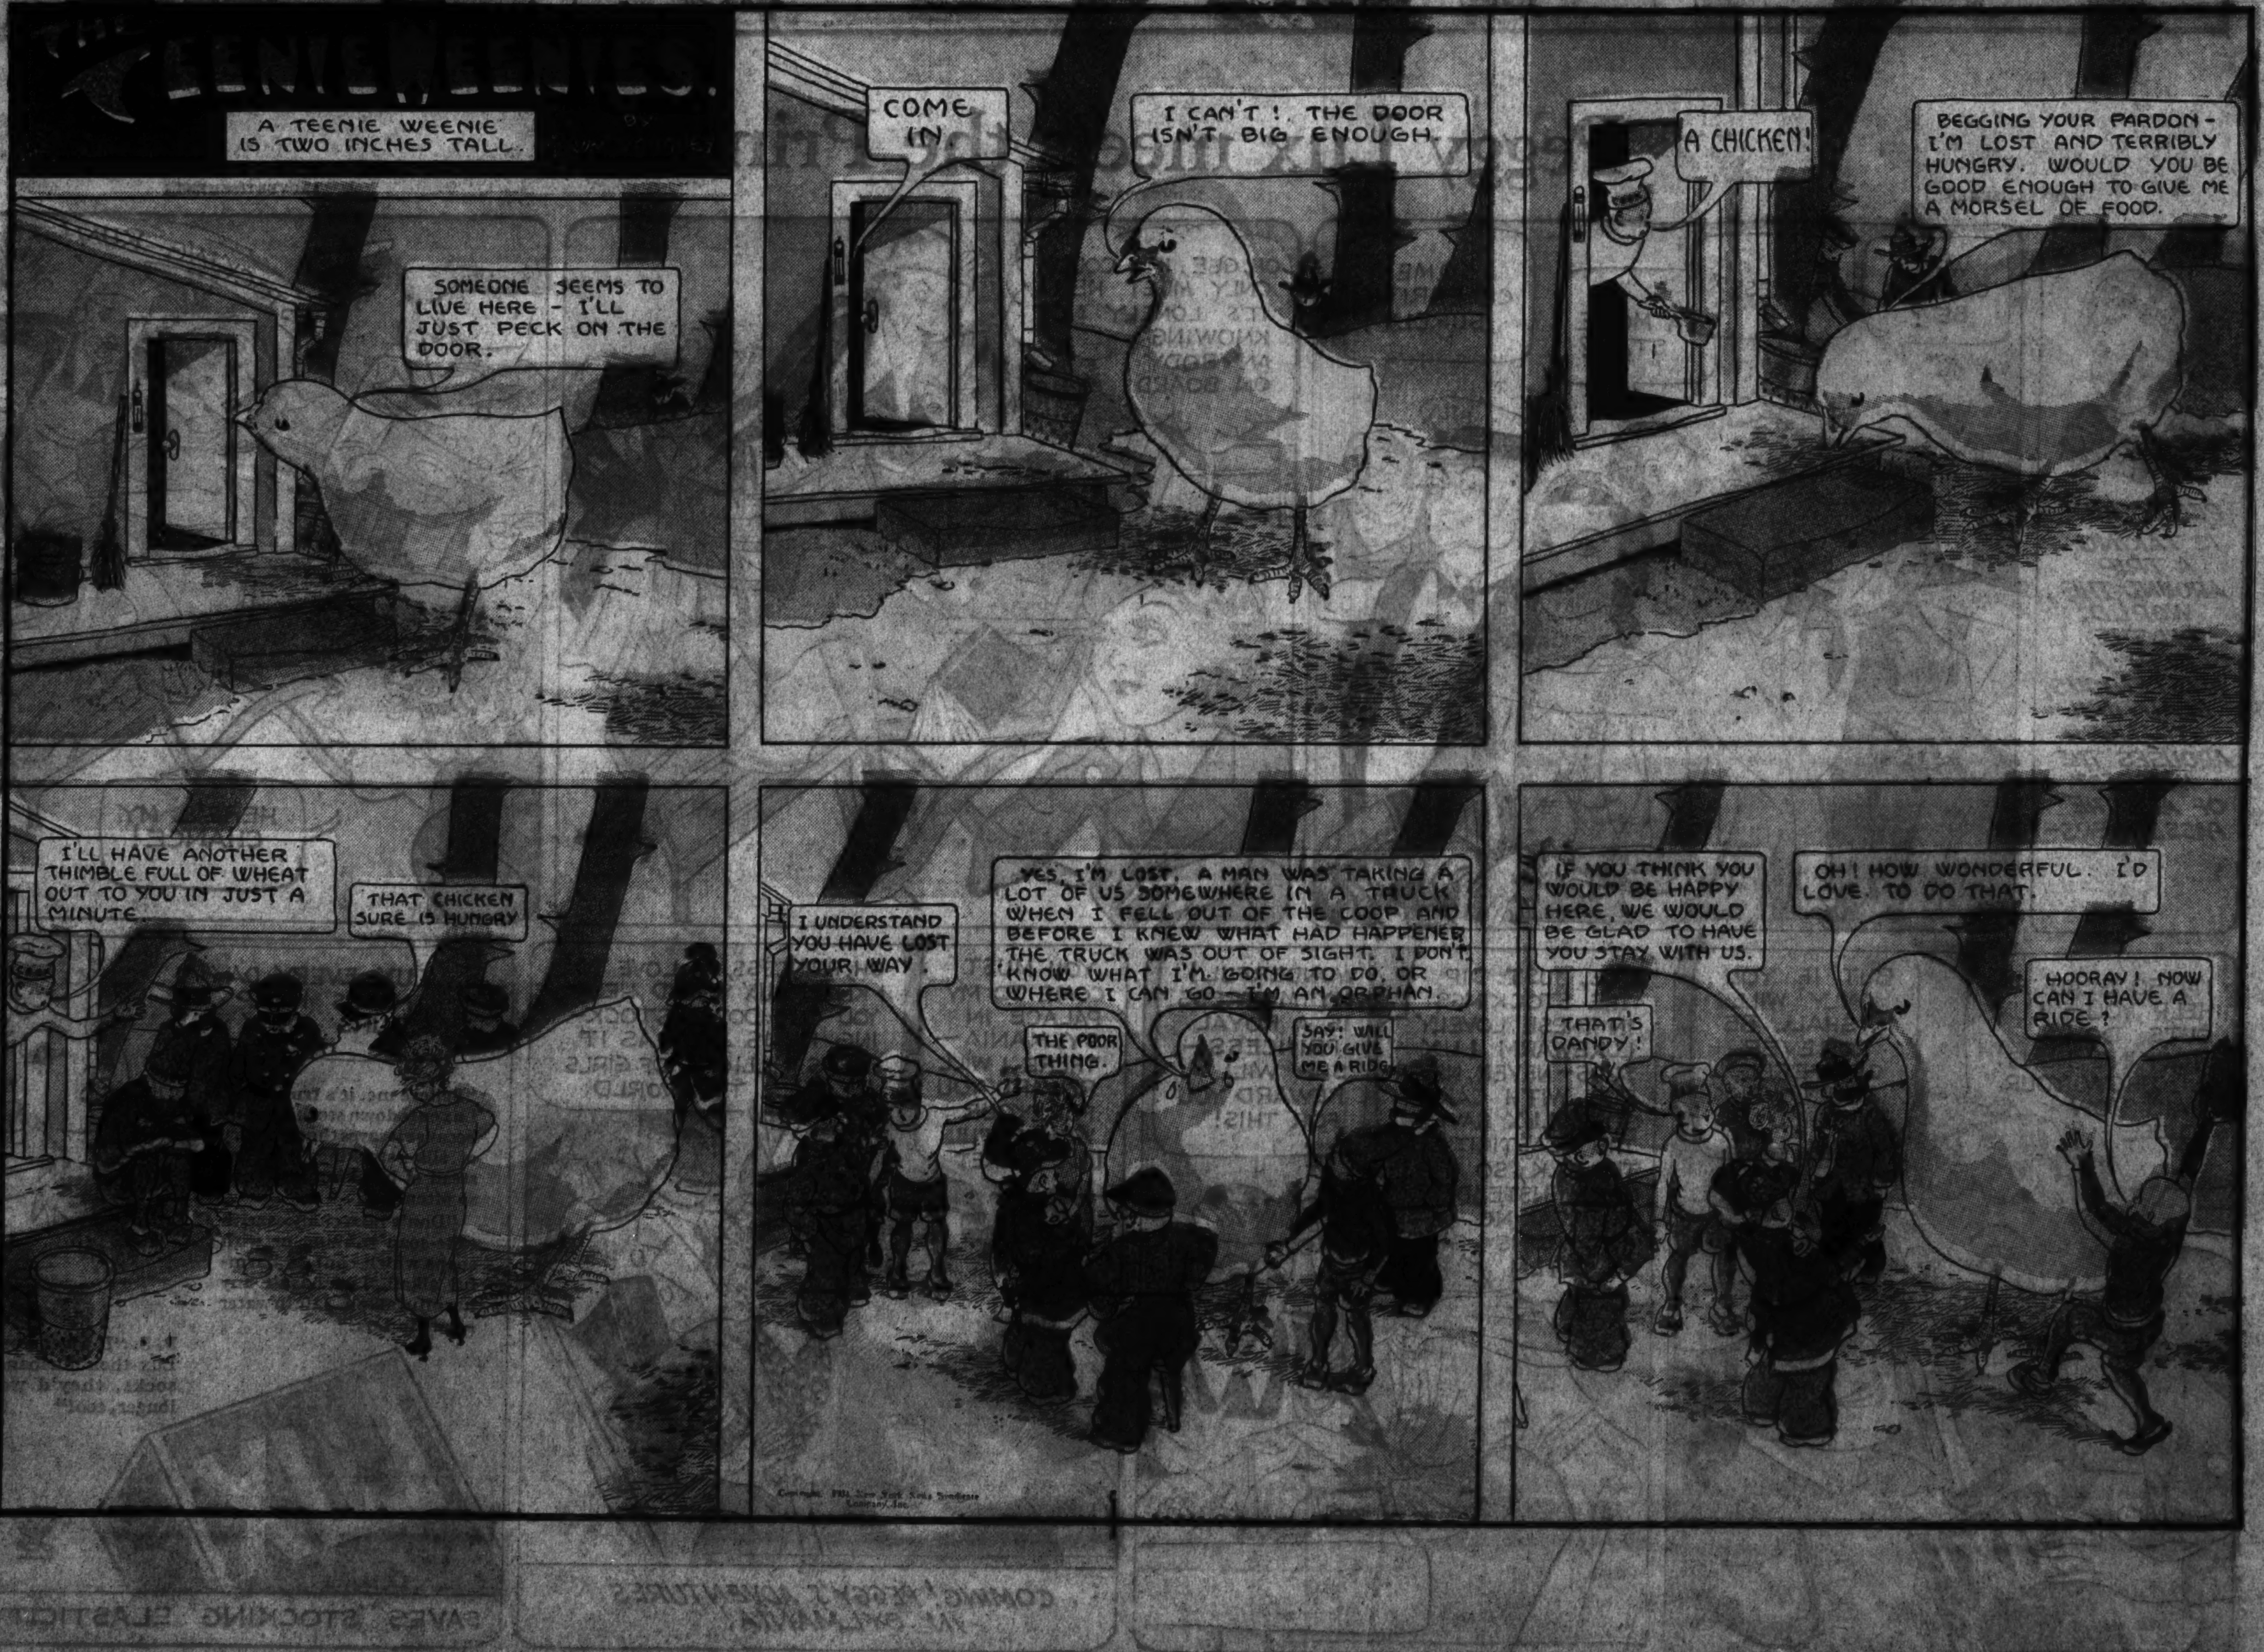
THEY KNOW I KILLED LEDGE- THE MAN I SENT TO THE RANCH IN HIS PLACE VANISHED, AND THEY HAVE HIS CLOTHES AND PAPERS-
THE INDIANS HAVE THE CLOTHES YOU TOOK FROM LEDGE? SAY- THAT'S GREAT- WE CAN PIN THIS WHOLE THING ON THE INDIANS-
JUST LEAVE THIS TO ME, RUSSLER- WE'LL HAVE THE MINE AND BE WEALTHY YET, IF YOU DO YOUR PART-
I'LL DO MY PART- SEE THAT YOU DO YOURS, SHERIFF-
GEE, MAW- IF THAT MAN WITH WHISKERS WAS A FAKER, MAYBE HIS REPORT WAS A FAKE- MAYBE THE MINE IS GOOD, AFTER ALL-
OH, JOE- I'M AFRAID EVEN TO THINK OF IT-
ED LEFFINGWELL



THE TEENIE WEENIES
A TEENIE WEENIE IS TWO INCHES TALL.
BY SOMEONE SEEMS TO LIVE HERE - I'LL JUST PECK ON THE DOOR.
COME IN.
I CAN'T! THE DOOR ISN'T BIG ENOUGH.
A CHICKEN!
BEGGING YOUR PARDON - I'M LOST AND TERRIBLY HUNGRY. WOULD YOU BE GOOD ENOUGH TO GIVE ME A MORSEL OF FOOD.
I'LL HAVE ANOTHER THIMBLE FULL OF WHEAT OUT TO YOU IN JUST A MINUTE.
THAT CHICKEN SURE IS HUNGRY
I UNDERSTAND YOU HAVE LOST YOUR WAY.
YES, I'M LOST. A MAN WAS TAKING A LOT OF US SOMEWHERE IN A TRUCK WHEN I FELL OUT OF THE COOP AND BEFORE I KNEW WHAT HAD HAPPENED THE TRUCK WAS OUT OF SIGHT. I DON'T KNOW WHAT I'M GOING TO DO, OR WHERE I CAN GO - I'M AN ORPHAN.
THE POOR THING.
SAY: WILL YOU GIVE ME A RIDE?
IF YOU THINK YOU WOULD BE HAPPY HERE, WE WOULD BE GLAD TO HAVE YOU STAY WITH US.
THAT'S DANDY!
OH! HOW WONDERFUL. I'D LOVE TO DO THAT.
HOORAY! NOW CAN I HAVE A RIDE?

SMILIN' JACK
by ZACK MOSLEY
OUR RIVALS BEAT US OUT WITH THE PICTURES AGAIN! THEIR PILOT, SMILIN' JACK, IS FLYIN' RINGS AROUND YOU, DART!
B-BUT LISSEN-- --BOSS--
THAT SMILIN' JACK IS TOO POPULAR-- --LES SEE---IF HE LOST HIS PILOT'S LICENSE-- I'VE GOT IT!-- JACK'S LITTLE PAL, PINFEATHERS, IS CADDYING AT THE RITZMOOR ---IT'S UNLAWFUL TO LAND A PLANE ON A GOLF COURSE----AH--A FAKE PHONE CALL-
SNAP
RITZMOOR CLUB CALLING-- --LITTLE PINFEATHERS HAS JUST BEEN BADLY INJURED BY A GOLF BALL--- COME AT ONCE!
SURE! I'M ON MY WAY!
WHAT'S TH' BIG IDEA RIPPIN' UP OUR GREENS?!
PINFEATHERS! W-W-WHY YOU'RE NOT HURT? ? ? ?
AS MANAGER OF THIS CLUB IT'S MY DUTY TO REPORT YOU- ---I'LL TEACH YOU TO GO FLYING AROUND SCARING FOLKS AND DAMAGING PROPERTY!
--BUT, CAN'T YA SEE IT WAS A FRAME-UP!
AW-- LET HIM GO--HIS STORY SOUNDS ON TH' LEVEL!
NO! IT'S JUST A PHONEY EXCUSE!
ALL RIGHT---I GIVE UP--I'LL FLY YOU TO TOWN AN' YOU CAN TURN ME OVER TO TH' AUTHORITIES--LE'S GET IT OVER WITH!
POOF JACK! HE'S GONNA LOSE HIS LICENSE-- --H-HE'LL LOSE HIS JOB T-TOO--

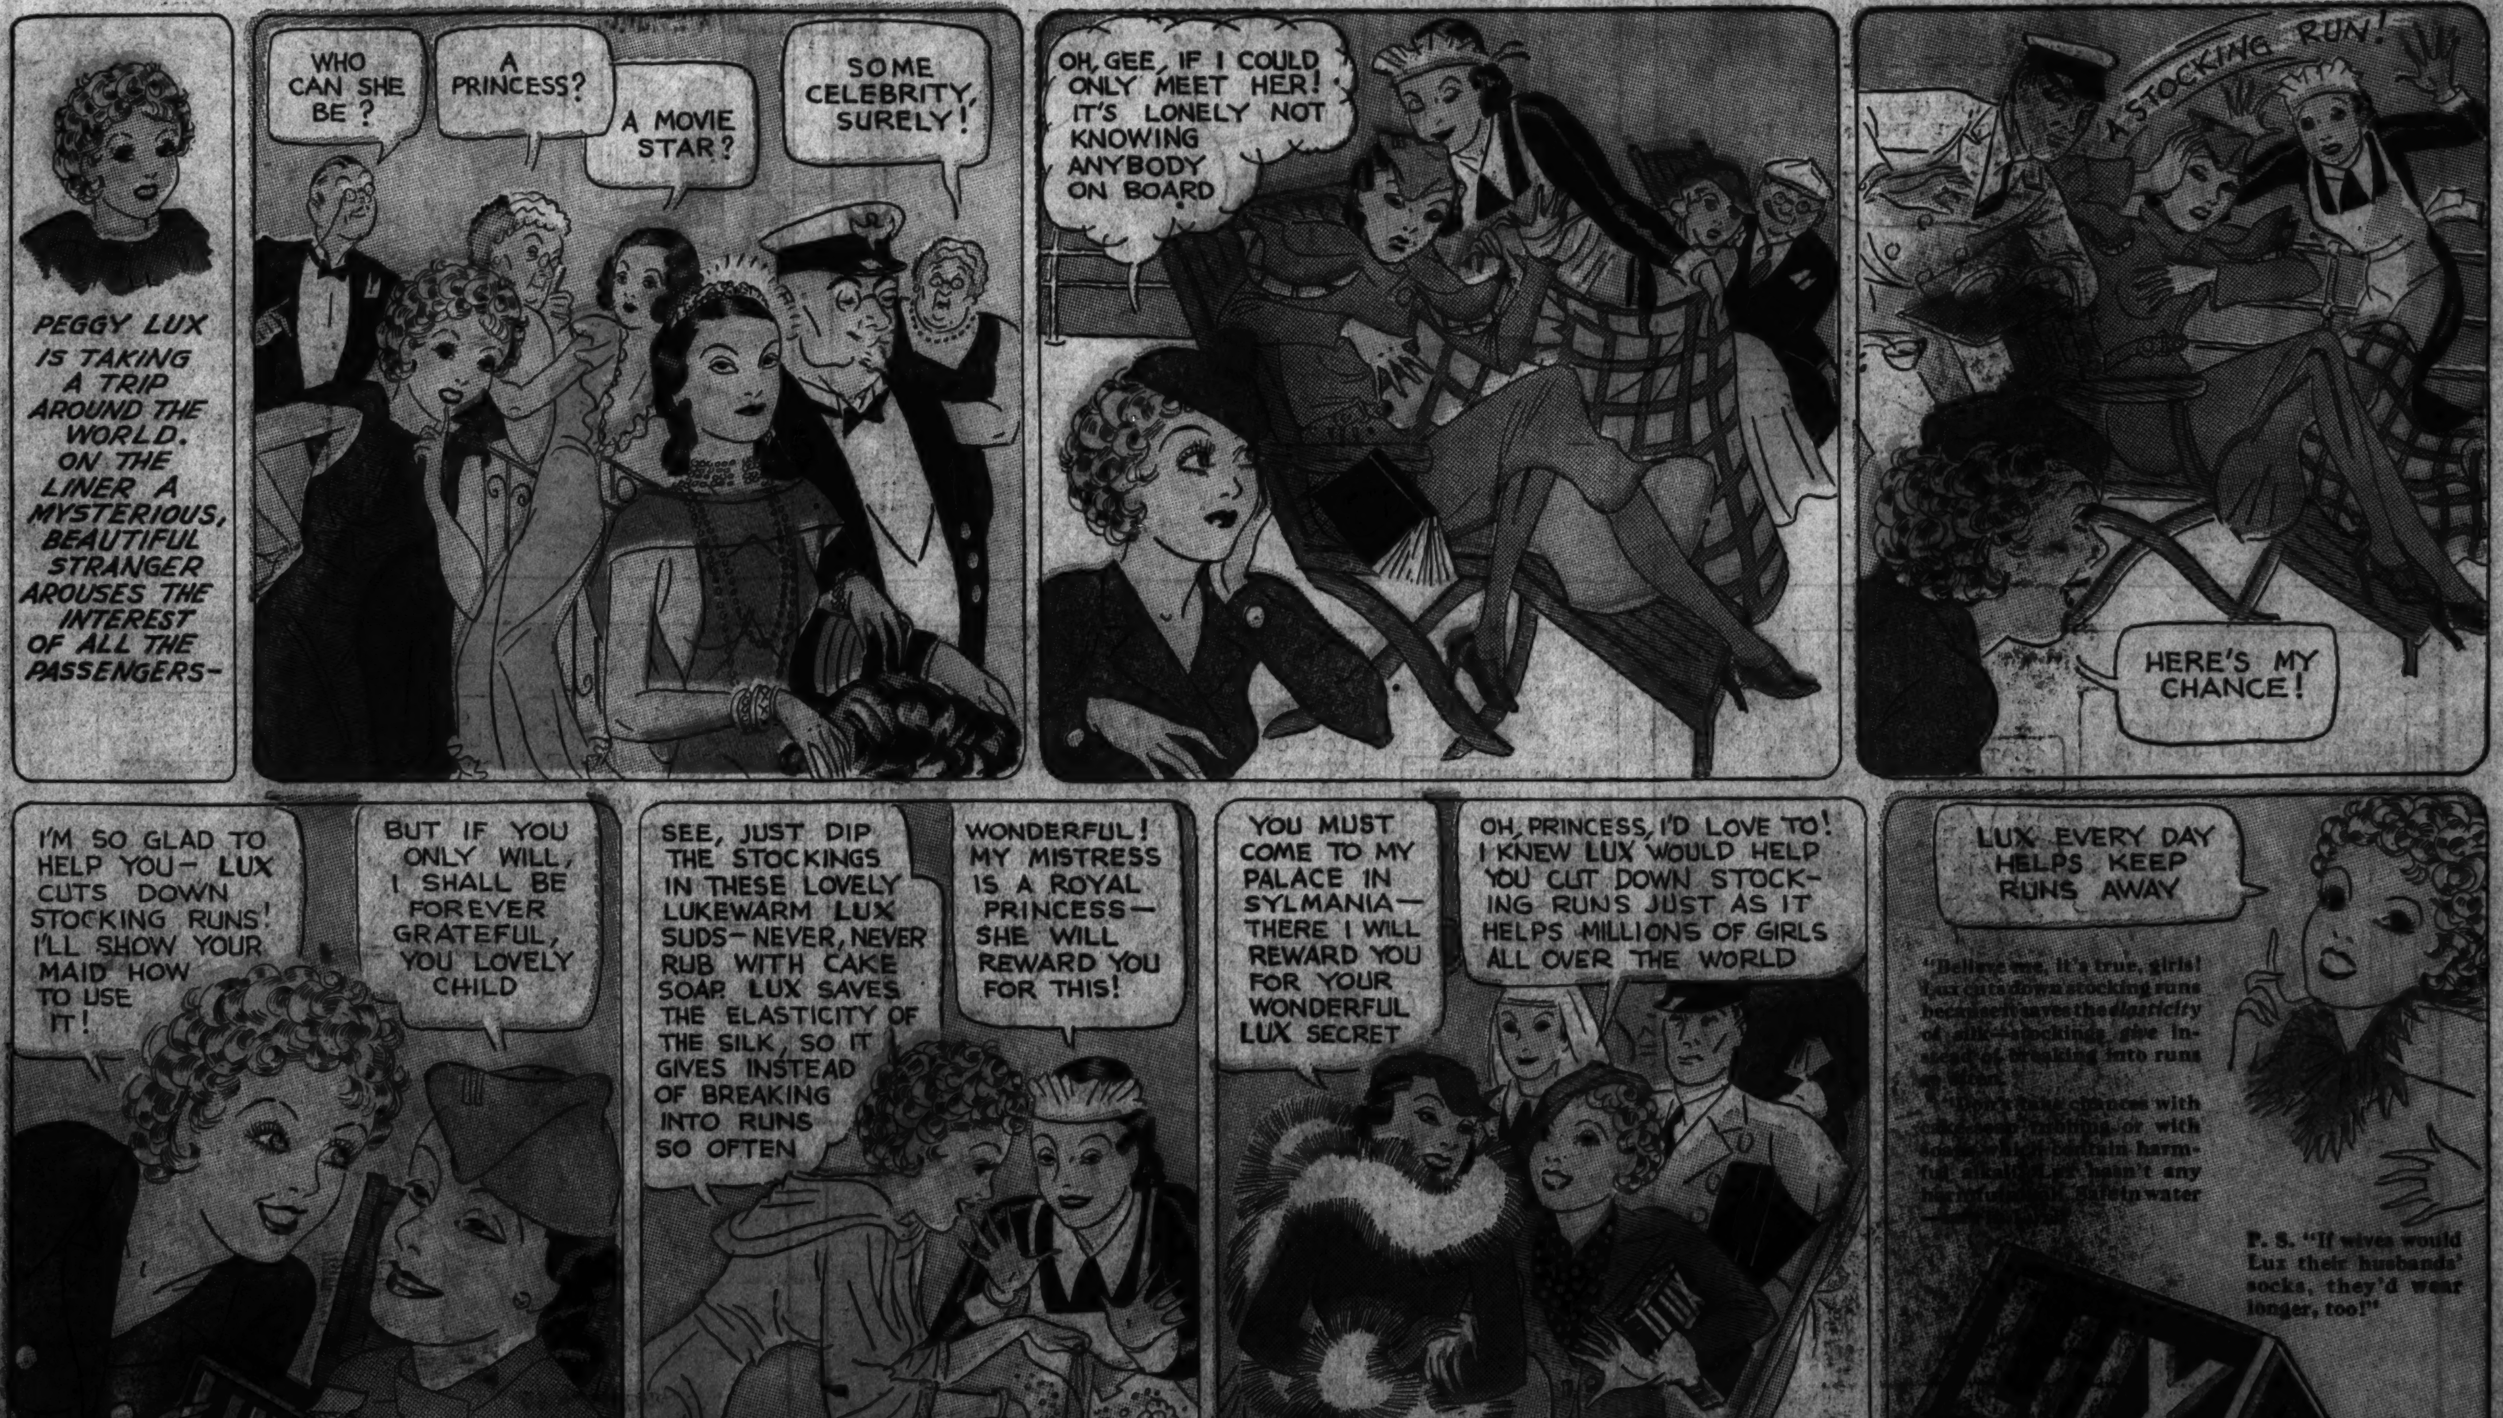
Peggy Lux meets the Princess

[ADVERTISEMENT.] [ADVERTISEMENT.] [ADVERTISEMENT.]



PEGGY LUX IS TAKING A TRIP AROUND THE WORLD. ON THE LINER A MYSTERIOUS, BEAUTIFUL STRANGER AROUSES THE INTEREST OF ALL THE PASSENGERS-WHO CAN SHE BE?
A PRINCESS?
A MOVIE STAR?
SOME CELEBRITY, SURELY!
OH, GEE, IF I COULD ONLY MEET HER! IT'S LONELY NOT KNOWING ANYBODY ON BOARD
A STOCKING RUN!
HERE'S MY CHANCE!
I'M SO GLAD TO HELP YOU- LUX CUTS DOWN STOCKING RUNS! I'LL SHOW YOUR MAID HOW TO USE IT!
BUT IF YOU ONLY WILL, I SHALL BE FOREVER GRATEFUL, YOU LOVELY CHILD
SEE, JUST DIP THE STOCKINGS IN THESE LOVELY LUKEWARM LUX SUDS- NEVER, NEVER RUB WITH CAKE SOAP. LUX SAVES THE ELASTICITY OF THE SILK, SO IT GIVES INSTEAD OF BREAKING INTO RUNS SO OFTEN WONDERFUL! MY MISTRESS IS A ROYAL PRINCESS- SHE WILL REWARD YOU FOR THIS!
YOU MUST COME TO MY PALACE IN SYLMANIA- THERE I WILL REWARD YOU FOR YOUR WONDERFUL LUX SECRET
OH, PRINCESS, I'D LOVE TO! I KNEW LUX WOULD HELP YOU CUT DOWN STOCKING RUNS JUST AS IT HELPS MILLIONS OF GIRLS ALL OVER THE WORLD
COMING! PEGGY'S ADVENTURES IN SYLMANIA!
LUX EVERY DAY HELPS KEEP RUNS AWAY
LUX
SAVES STOCKING ELASTICITY

"Believe me, it's true, girls! Lux cuts down stocking runs because it saves the elasticity of silk—stockings give instead of breaking into runs so often.

"Don't take chances with cake-soap rubbing or with soaps which contain harmful alkali. Lux hasn't any harmful alkali. Safe in water [illegible]

School of Beauty Culture Offers Opportunities

Found Only at

—for 63 years the world's largest beauty school.

When you visit Burnham's you'll understand why more girls enroll in this school than in any other and you'll be amazed at the unexpected and exclusive advantages which our 63 year record of turning out the best operators enables us to pass on to you—such as positions on ocean liners, positions with the best shops which DEMAND Burnham graduates, free tools, unlimited practice on living models, easy terms, and many other advantages.

Leading Shop Owners DEMAND Burnham Graduates

Shopowners, not only in Chicago, but everywhere throughout America, regard the Burnham diploma as a mark of merit. They demand Burnham graduates.

You'll Earn More IN THE Shortest Possible Time

Once explained you'll see how Burnham teaching methods enable you to master beauty culture quicker, easier, and better—why these methods develop the type of operator shop owners want.

Unbelievably Easy Terms Now

If you act now you can arrange to pay most of your tuition after you graduate.

Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings until 9 p. m. Call, phone or write NOW for Free Beauty Culture Book.

"Operators Wanted"

PREPARE AT DeLEE with MME. LOUISE

Exclusive beauty shops want operators who have been trained the DeLEE way under Mme. Louise. Madame Louise, internationally famous hairdressing and beauty culture expert, will aid personally in training you for a BETTER POSITION and a larger income.

At DeLEE you will find the ideal "set-up" — capable instructors who have had years of teaching experience and up to date 100% new equipment. Classrooms are colorful, light, and airy.

An Accredited School

The DeLEE University of Beauty Culture is the only beauty school which has been permitted to incorporate as a University in Illinois. DeLEE is fully accredited by the Illinois Department of Education and Registration and is recognized by the beauty profession as a high class institution of learning.

Why be satisfied with an old-fashioned "trade-school" training when the DeLEE "university type" of schooling is available at no greater cost? Previous experience or a high school education NOT necessary. Tuition reasonable and payments can be arranged to suit your convenience.

Visit DeLEE First

A visit to DeLEE won't obligate you. It will open your eyes. Come in and talk with the DeLEE dean, Miss Ruby Lorrain Stevens, and let her explain just how DeLEE prepares you for a BETTER POSITION AND MORE PAY.

BOTH DAY AND EVENING CLASSES.

Executives and Managers.

If you operate a small or medium size manufacturing plant, a man with

can offer you an unusual assistance based entirely upon record and performance. I am not broke nor a depression "has been." In fact, some of my most successful work has been done during the slump and I am seeking a new field now only because of conditions entirely beyond my control. I know sales and merchandising, and can develop new sales angles and new fields using your present equipment as a basis. Futhermore, to prove good faith, I am perfectly willing to back up my ideas with a future investment at such time as it may become mutually agreeable. Above all I seek a congenial connection where a man who can produce will be given the fair cooperation and credit to which he is honestly entitled. References as to character, financial standing, ability, and executive qualifications will prove to be beyond question. On the other hand I would not care to submit them to any but sincere, established companies. ADDRESS E D 58, TRIBUNE.

SALESMEN WANTED

This business enjoyed its greatest success in 1931-'32-'33. 1934 promises to be our biggest year. If you are tired of nickel and dime work, and want to get into a business that hard times haven't even scratched, get in touch with us. Four $15 sales daily pay you $280 weekly. Parent companies, branches or dealers of many world famed concerns among our customers—yet a necessity for even the small corner merchant. No super-salesmanship, no high pressure necessary. Simply leave on free trial—let the specialty sell itself—return and collect your commission. Brings in enough cash to pay for itself and a profit besides. Account liquidation system, with iron-clad, responsible contract guaranteeing returns ten times original cost. We furnish portfolio of reference letters from leading concerns in all sections of the U. S. Show the specialty, show the letters, take the order. Pegram netted $315 first five days. E. Blair made $55 in a day's time. C. W. Ferrell, over $1,000 in a month's time. Just a few—we've got more men like this—write for full details and see for yourself. Permanent. Deposit required for sample. High grade, responsible men able to handle exclusive rights, will find this proposition interesting. Write.

F. E. ARMSTRONG, Pres.,
Dept. A-12, Mobile, Ala.

MEN

No Man Who Wants to Work
Need Be Listed As "Unemployed"

OUR BRANCH OFFICE WILL TAKE ON A LIMITED FEW MEN WHO NEED EMPLOYMENT AND WHO WISH TO TRY TO SEE IF THEY CAN DO THIS WORK. THOSE WHO QUALIFY CAN MAKE $35.00 TO $50.00 PER WEEK IMMEDIATELY. WE WILL FURNISH FULL EQUIPMENT WITH NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED.

If you are out of work and honestly seeking gainful employment—

If you're ready to face the fact that "soft" jobs can't be bought—

If you're ready to take on honest work and forget that you were once manager of this-or-that, or a banker, or a $10,000 or $5,000-a-year man—

If you're ready to plant your feet on the ground and take your head out of the clouds—

If you're ready to face stern facts—in other words—if you are ready to acknowledge that what you really need is an opportunity TO MAKE A DECENT LIVING—

Then come in for a personal interview. We have a job for you that will last as long as you are willing to work. We want men with a clean record, who are of an age and in a condition of health that will enable them to work every day—and plenty of hours.

This work—if you are selected, we'll thoroughly train you in it—should pay you to start in commissions, $30.00 to $40.00 a week while you are learning and working to prepare yourself for the larger earnings made by qualified men in our branches throughout the entire country. This company is a large national corporation with unlimited resources and has just completed the biggest six months in all its history. 1934 is to date our FIFTH SUCCESSIVE RECORD SALES YEAR, selling this electrical invention.

Most of our men never had any selling experience. These men were once unemployed. Not today. They are facing their families with checks, not with alibis. They are not seeking sympathy, nor are they feeling sorry for themselves. They are now permanently connected. Their future is bright and their opportunities to make real money were never better.

Come in Monday morning for personal interview, and then if you feel qualified to do this work, hear the story from our men's own lips. Apply Monday morning, between 11 and 3, at Room 329, at 9 South Kedzie-av., ask for the Employment Manager.

HOTELS AND APARTMENT HOTELS.

A Charming Hotel Home

Not one of those stereotyped, impersonal sort of places—but a series of real homes which have every convenience and are rendered every service that helps make life more enjoyable.

DELAWARE . Towers .

25 East Delaware.

To be still more specific, here are some of the features which have given this apartment hotel its outstanding reputation: Large rooms, 3 exposures, view of lake, new, low-type furniture; fascinating view of city and boulevards, colorful Colonial bedrooms, plenty of closet space, tile baths, tile drain boards, electric ranges and 24-hour service. Excellent value.

THE HOME YOU WOULD LIKE ON THE NORTH SHORE

that we have a selection of several hundreds of North Shore homes?
that they cover every type of home from Evanston to Lake Forest?
that we can project, for you, in our Studio, enlarged views of these?
that you can save time and effort by using our Photo-Tour of Homes?
that our North Shore office is centrally located, but 15 minutes ride from Evanston or Lake Forest?
that the consensus seems to be the bottom is reached and that now is the time?
that we will send our car, anywhere on the North Shore and bring you here and take you back again?

BEFORE BORROWING
Get the Facts About
HOUSEHOLD'S
REDUCED RATE
ON $300 LOANS

LOANS OF $30 TO $300 MADE.
On amounts above $100 Household's charge is below the maximum rate permitted by the State Small Loan Law.

We believe we do the largest business in the Chicago area because:

1. We offer good service at reasonable cost.
2. We only make loans that are helpful to the customer.
3. We give free authentic information on managing people's incomes.
4. If desired we give free authentic information on buying economically.

HOW LOANS ARE MADE.

Household makes loans of $30 to $300 only to families, that is to husband and wife on their signatures. They can be repaid in monthly installments over 20 months or sooner. Loans are made on the basis of the information furnished by husband and wife. We do not question your employer, your neighbors, your relatives or the people with whom you do business. All of our offices are equipped so that your business can be handled in a private room.

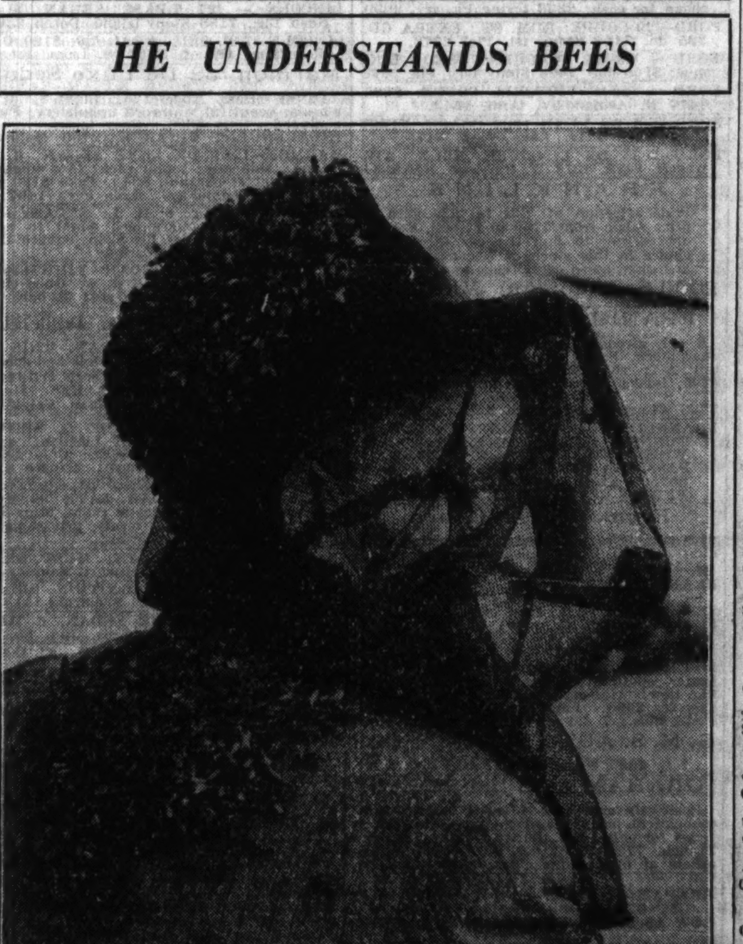
HE UNDERSTANDS BEES



When strange bees suddenly swarm and settle down in some unlikely spot the police of San Francisco summon C. W. Vaughn, who brings along a hive and adds a new colony to his bee collection. He is shown with part of a swarm he removed from the front of a San Francisco apartment house.

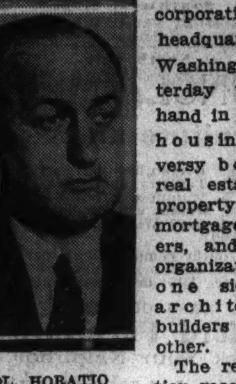
Col. Horatio B. Hackett Defends Chicago Housing Program

DECLARES PLAN WILL GIVE WORK TO THOUSANDS

Federal Flats Expected to Aid Rental Market.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Col. Horatio B. Hackett of Chicago, general manager of the Federal Emergency Housing corporation, with headquarters in Washington, yesterday took a hand in the local housing controversy between real estate men, property owners, mortgage bankers, and various organizations on one side and architects and builders on the other.



COL. HORATIO B. HACKETT.

The realty faction recently protested vigorously that no more housing was needed in Chicago and that federal entry into that field would be a calamity. The architects declared with equal vigor that federal housing was needed; that there was an imminent shortage in housing of all types, and Chicago faced the danger of exorbitant rentals resulting from an effort to block normal new construction.

Hackett Issues Statement.

Col. Hackett last night gave a statement to THE TRIBUNE covering the ground gone over in the battle between the two local factions, but making no comment on the actual dispute. He declared that a misunderstanding of the situation is causing unwarranted fears.

He pointed out that the plans of the housing corporation will not add materially to Chicago's housing space, as old structures will be torn down and that the new ones will rent as nearly as possible at the same rate as the old ones. But, he said, the new housing will add materially to the quality of the accommodations, with better light, air, and more healthful living conditions.

It will give work to thousands of men in the building and allied trades, Col. Hackett declared, and from 20 to 25 per cent of wages will go as rent to property owners. This increase in employment will help the entire rental market, he pointed out.

Declares Fears Unwarranted.

"Misunderstanding of the purposes and program of the public works emergency housing corporation is causing many unwarranted fears," said Col. Hackett. "Perhaps a simple statement of the objective and methods of the corporation will clear the air of these misapprehensions.

"The housing corporation was formed to begin the job of replacing obsolete and squalid housing in our cities with substantial and sanitary buildings arranged in attractive and well planned neighborhood units.

"This certainly is work that should command the intelligent interest of all people, whether they make their living in law or in real estate or invest most of their savings in industrial securities or in real property.

"The efforts of the housing corporation in attaining its ends will not add materially to the amount of housing space available in Chicago or in other cities. Old buildings will be destroyed; new ones will be built to rent as nearly as possible at similar monthly rentals per family. Inasmuch as most blighted districts have high population densities, the housing units destroyed will be substantially equal in number to those in the new housing. Even if conditions in some cities would make this impossible, the work of the housing corporation would not flood the housing market.

Add to Quality.

"Assume as an extreme example that the funds tentatively ear-marked for Chicago had to be so spent that twice as many housing units were built as were destroyed. The net addition to the supply of housing in the city would be less than one-half of one per cent.

"The housing corporation is not going to add appreciably, if at all, to the amount of housing; it is going to add materially to the quality of housing for families with small incomes. It will produce safe and healthful buildings with permanent light, air, open spaces, and playgrounds. In most developments the coverage of the buildings will not exceed 30 to 35 per cent of the buildable land area. Families of modest means in Chicago and in other cities have long needed such housing. In the future with its increased leisure time they will need and benefit by it even more.

Rentals to Be Low.

"This housing activity will not compete with private building and developers because they do not operate in the price range possible for the housing corporation, which has the benefit of a grant from the Public Works administration. This fact is clearly shown by the age and condition of houses now in the area in which the new housing is to be built. In these areas few houses have been built during the last thirty or thirty-five years, practically none since the war.

"Further, the new buildings will not harm the owner of good modern housing. Rentals will be markedly below those in other comfortable decent quarters. One of the chief rental policies of the housing corporation will be to keep out of the new developments those families who have paid or are well able to pay higher rentals. Only in this way will the benefits of the development reach those for whom they are being planned and for whom they will be built.

"Once the needless fears have been dispelled by a clearer understanding of the work being undertaken by the housing corporations its substantial benefits become apparent. First of all it will give work to thousands of men in the building trades and allied work. About 40 per cent of the construction cost will go to workmen on the job. These men, as a group, have been hit by the depression at least as hard if not more so than any other group.

"Much of the remainder will go into pay envelopes of the factories and railroads that produce and handle the materials. As the added purchasing power goes into circulation many other classes will benefit—the storekeeper, the doctor, the dentist, and the landlord.

Sees Twofold Benefit.

"In fact, property owners will benefit twofold. Approximately 20 to 25 per cent of wage payments will go to them for rent. Further increases in employment will add to the demand for existing housing by speeding up the undoubling of families that have been forced to move in with relatives and friends. This in turn will accelerate the remarkable decrease in vacancies that has taken place during the last few months.

"The federal government will benefit because the expenditure, minus the grant, will be returned, with interest over a period of years. For this return it will not have to depend on more or heavier local taxes. The communities in which the housing developments are located will gain in having wholesome living quarters instead of their decayed districts that add to delinquency, crime, disease, and misery.

Over a Generation.

"After the loans on the developments have been amortized, the houses should be good for several years more at rentals even lower than will be possible at the outset. Thus the benefits to cities will not be limited to a few weeks or months, but will extend over at least a generation.

"Finally, most property owners and investors certainly will not lose by vigorous efforts to stop the spread of blighted residential districts. Recent studies on Chicago and other cities showed that in blighted and slum areas governmental and private expenditures for police, fire and health, and other essential services are two to nine times greater than taxes assessed in these districts to pay for such services. No one has to be told that the difference has to be made up by taxes on other residential districts and other property.

"The blighted districts in Chicago have grown alarmingly in area during the last ten or fifteen years. The blight is eating its way steadily from the area immediately around the loop into the residential districts well away from the center of town. The developments of the housing corporation should be major forces in stopping this movement and in reclaiming some of the areas already stricken.

"Welcomes Criticism.

"Other agencies should be able to adapt some of its methods to districts within their financial reach and to push the attack by rebuilding or remodeling these districts to conform with modern standards for decent living.

"The housing program is being developed in several cities. Its broad objectives are the same in all of them. It is flexible enough, however, to meet unusual or changing conditions as they are found. Competent local groups are being consulted at all stages, and well reasoned criticism founded on facts always will be welcome."

A PEEK INTO THE OLD ENGLISH VILLAGE AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

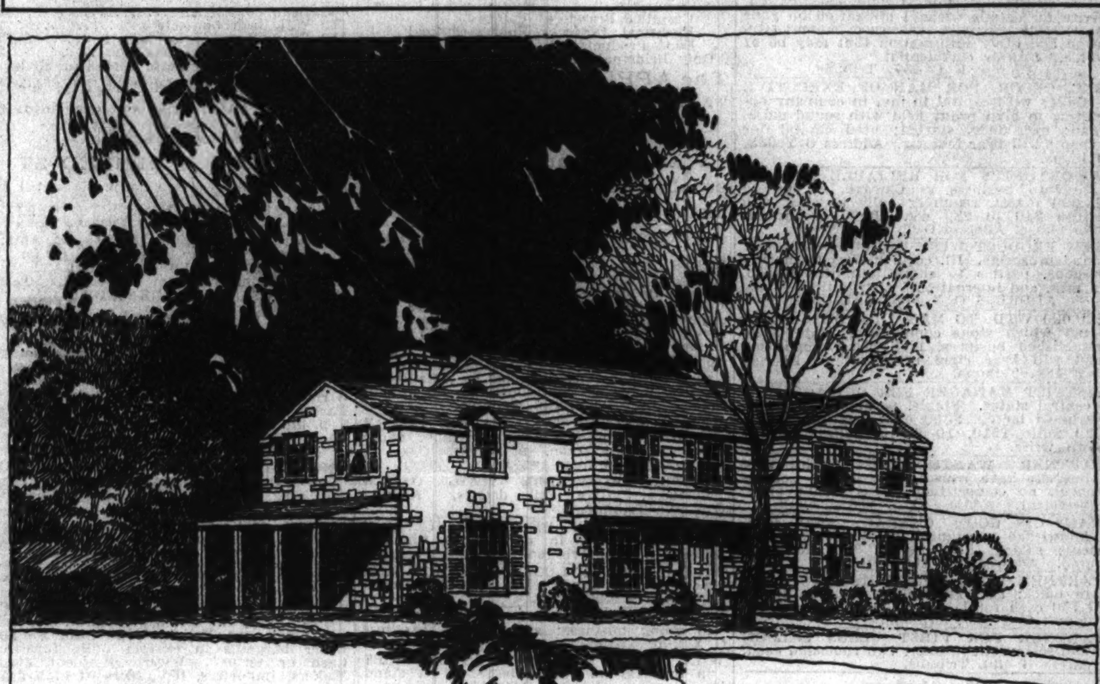
EARLY AMERICAN HOUSE FOR NORTH SHORE



Ralph E. Stoetzel, 612 North Michigan avenue, is architect of the above early American style residence now being erected by Forest D. Siefkin, attorney for the International Harvester company, at the southwest corner of South avenue and Valley road, Glencoe. The exterior walls will be of Wisconsin Lannon stone and wood, with green shutters and green shingle roof. Steel joists will be used. The library on the first floor will have chestnut paneled walls, a fireplace and a separate entrance to the garden. The second floor will have four main bedrooms and a large sleeping porch. There will be a recreation room in the basement 30 feet long. A two car garage is attached to the house. Completion is set for about Sept. 1. Mr. Stoetzel made this sketch.

MISS IRENE FLOYD NOW IN OFFICE OF MRS. GRETTA FULLER

Miss Irene Floyd, who has been active in north shore and Gold Coast real estate for twenty-five years as a member of the forty-one year old realty firm of J. L. Floyd company, is now associated with Mrs. Gretta P. Fuller and William Picard of Evanston. She will be in their Winnetka office.

MISS IRENE FLOYD

Miss Floyd's sister, Miss Jane L. Floyd, who died two years ago, founded in 1893 the realty firm bearing her name. She was the second woman to enter the Chicago real estate field [Mrs. Emma W. Case was pioneer]; she was the first to operate on the north shore, and for many years the only one.

Her first office was in the old First National Bank building, which later was wrecked to make way for the present structure. She then moved to the Portland block, recently torn down at Washington and Dearborn, and later to the Westminster building. A few years ago the firm moved to Winnetka. Miss Irene Floyd joined her sister's realty organization twenty-five years ago. This firm closed some of the outstanding residential transactions on the north shore.

JOHN R. MAGILL MOVES TO 130 NORTH WELLS ST.

John R. Magill & Co. have moved their offices for the third time in twenty-one years. They are now on the twenty-first floor of the City State Bank building, 130 North Wells street. The firm was founded in 1913 and for a few months maintained offices at 19 South La Salle street. It then moved to the old Portland block at the southeast corner of Washington and Dearborn where it remained for two decades.

JOHN R. MAGILL.

Last year it was forced to move when the Portland block was wrecked. A few weeks ago notices were served on the tenants at 25 North Dearborn, where Magill & Co. had moved, and they again were forced to change their offices.

Oak Park Realtors Make Survey of Two Suburbs

Results of a house to house occupancy survey throughout the Oak Park and River Forest residential and business areas, will be made public at the weekly luncheon of the Oak Park Real Estate board, tomorrow noon at the Oak Park Arms hotel. Stewart B. Matthews, vice president in charge of sales for Baird & Warner, will speak on "Results of Brokers' Cooperation."

Contracts Awarded

Contracts awarded in Chicago the week of April 27 to May 3, according to figures supplied by the F. W. Dodge corporation, totaled 46, with a combined cost of $505,250. For the corresponding week last year there were 58 contracts, totaling $366,300. From Jan. 1 to May 3, 1934, the total was $9,786,010, or $1,806,826 ahead of the corresponding period last year, which totaled $7,979,184.

OLSON RUG CO. TO HAVE RETAIL STORE IN LOOP

Rents Space in Heyworth Building.

For the first time in the sixty years of its existence the Olson Rug Company will have a loop retail store. According to Walter E. Olson, president of the concern, a lease has just been closed for a ground floor shop and extensive second floor space in the Heyworth building at the southwest corner of Madison and Wabash. The term is five years. The rental is undisclosed. Clark and Trainer represented the lessee and W. N. Murray, manager of the Heyworth building, and the First National bank, trustee of the Otto Young estate, acted for the lessor.

WALTER E. OLSON.

The first floor store, which is 19x57, will be remodeled into a reception room or entrance to the spacious salesroom on the second floor which is reached by two private elevators. All of the 7,000 square feet on the second floor will be devoted to the selling of rugs.

Will Continue Factory Salesroom.

According to Mr. Olson this will be the most complete exclusive floor covering display in Chicago. The company for many years confined all of its retail selling to a salesroom in its factory at 1500 West Monroe street. Seven years ago when a large modern new rug mill was completed at 2800 North Crawford avenue, at Diversey, the salesroom was moved to that address.

It is not intended that the new loop location will replace the present salesroom in the factory at Crawford and Diversey, according to Mr. Olson.

"The only reason we are establishing this new loop store is to enable us better to serve the thousands of families living on the north and south sides and in the suburbs who for many years we have reached through our newspaper advertising but to whom our location was inaccessible or inconvenient," said Mr. Olson.

Sells Direct to Consumer.

"The present day newspaper circulation of our large metropolitan dailies is so far reaching that the advantages of buying in a large city are easily within the reach of the out of town buyers living within fifty to one hundred miles of Chicago. This alone was sufficient reason to decide in favor of a loop salesroom."

It is claimed that the Olson Rug company has the distinction of being the only manufacturer of Wiltons and domestic floor coverings west of the New England and Pennsylvania textile centers. It is also unusual, according to Mr. Olson, in that it sells its entire output direct to the consumer instead of through the customary retail and wholesale channels of distribution.

HERTZ SYSTEM RENTS BUILDING ON NORTH SIDE

The Hertz Driv-Ur-Self system has leased the four story and basement building at 9 to 19 West Kenzie street for five years and is now occupying it. The five floors comprise approximately 70,000 square feet of space. The lessor is the Kinzie Building corporation, represented by Frankenstein & Co.

The lessee has consolidated its executive offices formerly in the Finchley building, at 23 East Jackson, with a central repair department, truck renting headquarters and a new feature—a general garage. The lessee has fourteen renting stations in various parts of the city.

Irvin J. Rich Forms New Real Estate Organization

Irvin J. Rich, who has been in the banking business in Chicago for twenty-six years, has formed a real estate corporation known as Irving J. Rich & Co., with offices at 33 North La Salle street. The new firm will do a general realty and insurance business, with special emphasis on servicing mortgages. The new corporation is now engaged in liquidating for the stockholders the assets of the Franklin Trust and Savings bank after the depositors received 100 cents on the dollar.

Baird & Warner Will Open Branch Office in Waukegan

Baird & Warner yesterday opened their twelfth branch office in the Waukegan State bank building, at 210 Washington street, Waukegan. According to Stewart B. Matthews, vice president in charge of sales, under whose supervision the new office will operate, it is designed to care for increased activity throughout Lake county. James W. Harris, of Baird & Warner's Glencoe office, has been made district manager. He will be assisted by Daniel M. Diener, also of the Glencoe office.

Timbale Cases Are Basis of New Canapes

Light, Crunchy Pastries Have a Significance in Dessert Sphere, Also.

By MARY MEADE.

EVER make a canape on a timbale iron? Or a cream puff? Then there are worlds to conquer, to you yet unknown! For, besides stepping out with creamed meats and vegetables in their faces, these crisp and crunchy items (perhaps Swedish timbales to you) have made a place for themselves in the appetizer and dessert courses of the world. Why, my dears, they even appear at the breakfast table!

To fry them, there are small but curious timbale irons to be run down at any large department store. One of my loves is shaped like a daisy. Others turn up in the shape of trees, butterflies, and even the bridge symbols (hearts, spades, diamonds, and clubs) have been known to be timbaled. But, whatever the design, it will be one of two kinds, or possibly a combination. The iron may be heated in fat, then dipped part way into the timbale batter and dipped again in deep hot fat to fry the batter. When these come up for air we discover that the shell we slip off our iron is a topless and bottomless case all full of curlicues.

Second Type of Case.

The second sort of timbale case will not let the filler down onto the plate, nor will it give us any of the center curlicues. What it will do will be to supply us with a false bottom to fasten onto the timbale iron. This, when the timbale case is made, supplies a hollow, crisply fried patty shell just right for any sort of creamed mixture or fruit jellied dessert, which would normally go in a patty case. In both these sorts of cases a bent metal handle screws down into the timbale iron and it's by this that the dipping and the frying are made possible without also boiling the fingers.

Into tiny timbales we tuck the appetizer mixtures. Caviar, anchovy paste, cream cheese mashed with sardines, or any well liked canape spread will do the trick.

But, on to particulars! This is the way of making the timbale cases:

TIMBALE CASES.

1 cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon sugar
2-3 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon melted shortening

Sift together the dry ingredients and stir in the milk and beaten egg. Add the shortening and beat well. Place some of the batter in a cup. Then dip the timbale iron, on the end of its handle, into deep fat. Heat the fat to 375 degrees F. Drain out the iron and dip it into the batter in the cup, allowing the batter to coat the iron only three-fourths of the way to the top. Switch the coated iron to the hot fat and fry for 1 to 2 minutes, or until the batter is golden brown. Remove the cases from the hot iron at once, and drain on soft paper.

Wedding of Timbale and Fruit.

To turn this into a dessert timbale, merely add ¼ teaspoon vanilla to the batter and the start will have been made for a beautiful friendship between timbales and fruit and whipped cream, fruit and gelatin dessert, luscious custard filling, or what not.

But maybe you're wishing for a natty new sort of cream puff case. Then start the business by making these above mentioned patty shells of the batter, the shells which require the bottom of the timbale iron secured to the base of the timbale mold. Then dip the bottom of the hot mold in the batter, just a very short way up the sides and fry this. Slip it off and you have a smaller shell to fit over for the cover. Simple, no? These puffs are especially grand with a nippy lemon custard filling. Spoon it in just before serving so the precious shells won't become soaked.

LEMON CUSTARD FILLING.

1 cup milk, scalded
½ cup sugar
Pinch of salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Grated rind of ½ lemon

Combine the sugar, cornstarch, and salt and gradually add the scalded milk. Cook in a double boiler for 15 minutes, stirring constantly until thickened and, afterward, occasionally. Add the beaten egg and cook 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from the burner, add the lemon juice and grated rind, and chill.

For a dainty company breakfast, serve poached eggs on rosettes, which may have been prepared the day before and reheated in the oven.

Complements to the Soup Course.

With the soup course timbales are sprinkled with a little salt and grated cheese and toasted in the oven until heated through. For dessert accompaniments, sprinkle with powdered sugar or top with a marshmallow and toast in the oven until the marshmallow is golden brown.

The closed patty shells make excellent tart shells to be filled with fruits. Or, serve the crisp rosettes topped with a ball of ice cream. The dessert rosettes may be colored with vegetable coloring, stirring the coloring in well for a solid shade, or only partly mixing it in to give a mottled effect.

Paris Agitates for Swank in Line, Fabric

Couturiers Decide to Cater to Men's Weakness for the Gorgeous.

By BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Women are selecting their spring and summer clothes in Paris now, and by their choice they are blazing a trail for future fashions. The dresses being worn by the really elegant here have a more formal cadence than they've known in recent seasons. These women are tired of the flip little number that got over in a hurry and passed out of the picture with the same speed. They seem bent on a formal simplicity that becomes grander and grander as the clothes get more dressy. They want their simplicity to be permeated with sumptuousness, and this takes a lot of doing.

One of the first things in summer styles, for this reason, is the fabric of which the dress you wear is made. Sumptuous materials, cut like the wash dress is usually cut, suit exactly the Parisienne's new yen for grandeur. An example of this is the simply cut dress of exquisite lace that women are wearing in the afternoon in Paris.

Elegance Plainly Visible.

The late spring and early summer styles from the great dressmakers of Paris are in a sense less subtle. One doesn't have to examine them in the hand to see how fine thy are. Their elegance is worn in plain visibility. Women want men to see how scrumptious their clothes are, and they know too much subtlety passes over the male head. A man does not feel the glamor of handsewing nor of monotonous, rag-like chiffon.

On the other hand he will squirm with shame if his woman sallies forth in a costume that "hits you in the eye." The new styles, aiming at man appeal, fall in between these two extremes. They're sparkling but not gaudy, and they go in for a strong flavor of the eternally feminine mystery.

Bows Replace Jabots.

The flamboyant bow of pique or organdy, a detail of our spring clothes that has an invariable appeal, is this season replaced by the more formal jabot, which has the same kind of charm and looks more elegant. Parisiennes wear crisp white blouses of organdy and such stuffs with frilly jabots down the front, and they wear them with formal as well as extremely practical clothes.

Sleeves have stopped being pert and are graceful. The smartest sleeves for summer dresses and wraps to wear for afternoon or evening are the loose, flowing kind, which have a suggestion of the oriental about them. Long, slim, fitted sleeves of transparent material that serve to veil and not hide the arms are also important in Paris fashions.

Suits Crisp, Blouses Sheer.

Crisp fabrics made into graceful, tailored costumes are important in these fashions. For evenings in public the smartest women in Paris like to wear taffeta or other crisp silk suits with dainty blouses. A case in point is the Jeanne Lanvin suit shown at the left. Lanvin designed this to wear from 5 o'clock on and it is highly popular here. This model is made of crisp black taffeta-faille silk. The skirt is narrow to the knees, where it is flared with circular movement. The straight black jacket has a flaring back and a small standing collar. The slim sleeves are topped with flaring circular ruffles set in around the armholes.

There is a white silk organdy blouse, without sleeves, which buttons down the front. Two extremely full ruffles of the white silk organdy make a full length jabot. The Lanvin toque is

PEOPLE who go dashing to races and those who stay at home are going to be greatly excited by a certain knockout collection of town and country clothes sponsored by a famous boulevard shop that has nothing but dashing outdoors type of apparel. From their breezy plaid topcoats with wide loose sleeves and looser backlines to the trig tattersall checks that fashion the last word in racy looking models, this shop is a mine of sports clothes goodness.

Some of the best looking sweaters and tailored blouses you have ever gloated over, some golf blouses in linens, in thin soft wools, in cashmere, and some of the grandest knit things you will ever hope to own are snuggled away awaiting your gasps of proper joy at the finding.

Rubberless Slickers Are Fancy and Flippant.

Slickers and waterproofs are miracles of rainy day swank . . . silver slickers, newer than tomorrow; thin rubberless affairs, flyweight, and all kinds of fancy flippant things that will turn a passing shower into a gala occasion are ready for your shopping onrush.

But the gayest, smartest things you can buy are the thrilling new sports and spectator sports suits, the kind that blaze in brief but hectic glory in the intricate plaids of the snappy jacket and the stunning dark contrast of the plain wool skirt. Such an excellent ensemble has been sketched at the left. The skirt is of fine imported flannel made with a bunch of kick plaits at the left and a pocket patched on the right hip. Dark blue or brown heavy silk crêpe that exactly matches the tone of the wool skirt is worn under the exciting and eye-filling checked wool jacket. Both skirt and jacket as well as blouse are tailored impeccably in the nonchalant British manner. Of course the clever clothes collector can wangle a good dozen other ensembles with these three pieces by combining them with other loot in the spring wardrobe.

Silk Ensemble Aimed to Please Dog Fanciers.

In the center . . . just what the loyal dog fanciers will grab immediately . . . one of the most unusual silk prints ever discovered . . . a two piece silk suit of warm brown and white. The background is brown and the small design is a cunning little shaggy white haired scottie. It's tremendously effective. The dress is short sleeved, with a white silk neck jabot and a brown grosgrained ribbon belt. The loose coat is a good long length and could be worn with yellow or white or dusky pink silk sports frocks during the summer. It will top your pet backless frocks of crisp cotton, piqué, or linen.

At the right . . . the prize topcoat . . . a wide, loose, and exceedingly swanky checked wool that will go over any suit or costume of your wardrobe. The huge loose sleeves are new, the bias curved band descending the front section are vastly different, and the flared backline is the smartest silhouette of sporting prints of spring sports coats.

The clever checked wool handbag shown with the checked suit has a doggy wooden clasp of brown. The checked wool of the bag can be matched to a topcoat if you want your things to be completely harmonious.

Simple Process Refinishes Worn Card Table Tops

HAVE you an old card table with an unsightly top? Instead of running for a bridge cover why not make this surface permanently attractive? It's an easy matter.

Simply take wall paper with an unusually pretty pattern, and one that is of correct proportions for the space, and paste it on the table top. If you wish, you can finish with a very narrow paper border or one of the gummed, colored, paper tapes. Then paint with white shellac or varnish and you have an entirely new table.

If you've a little energy left, and want to add a final telling touch, paint the legs of the card table with one of the colors found in the wall paper top. You'll be amazed to see how attractive the piece becomes. You can use the table for breakfast, tea, or for supper on the porch and, because of the varnished finish, you can wash it easily, with no need for mats or a cloth.

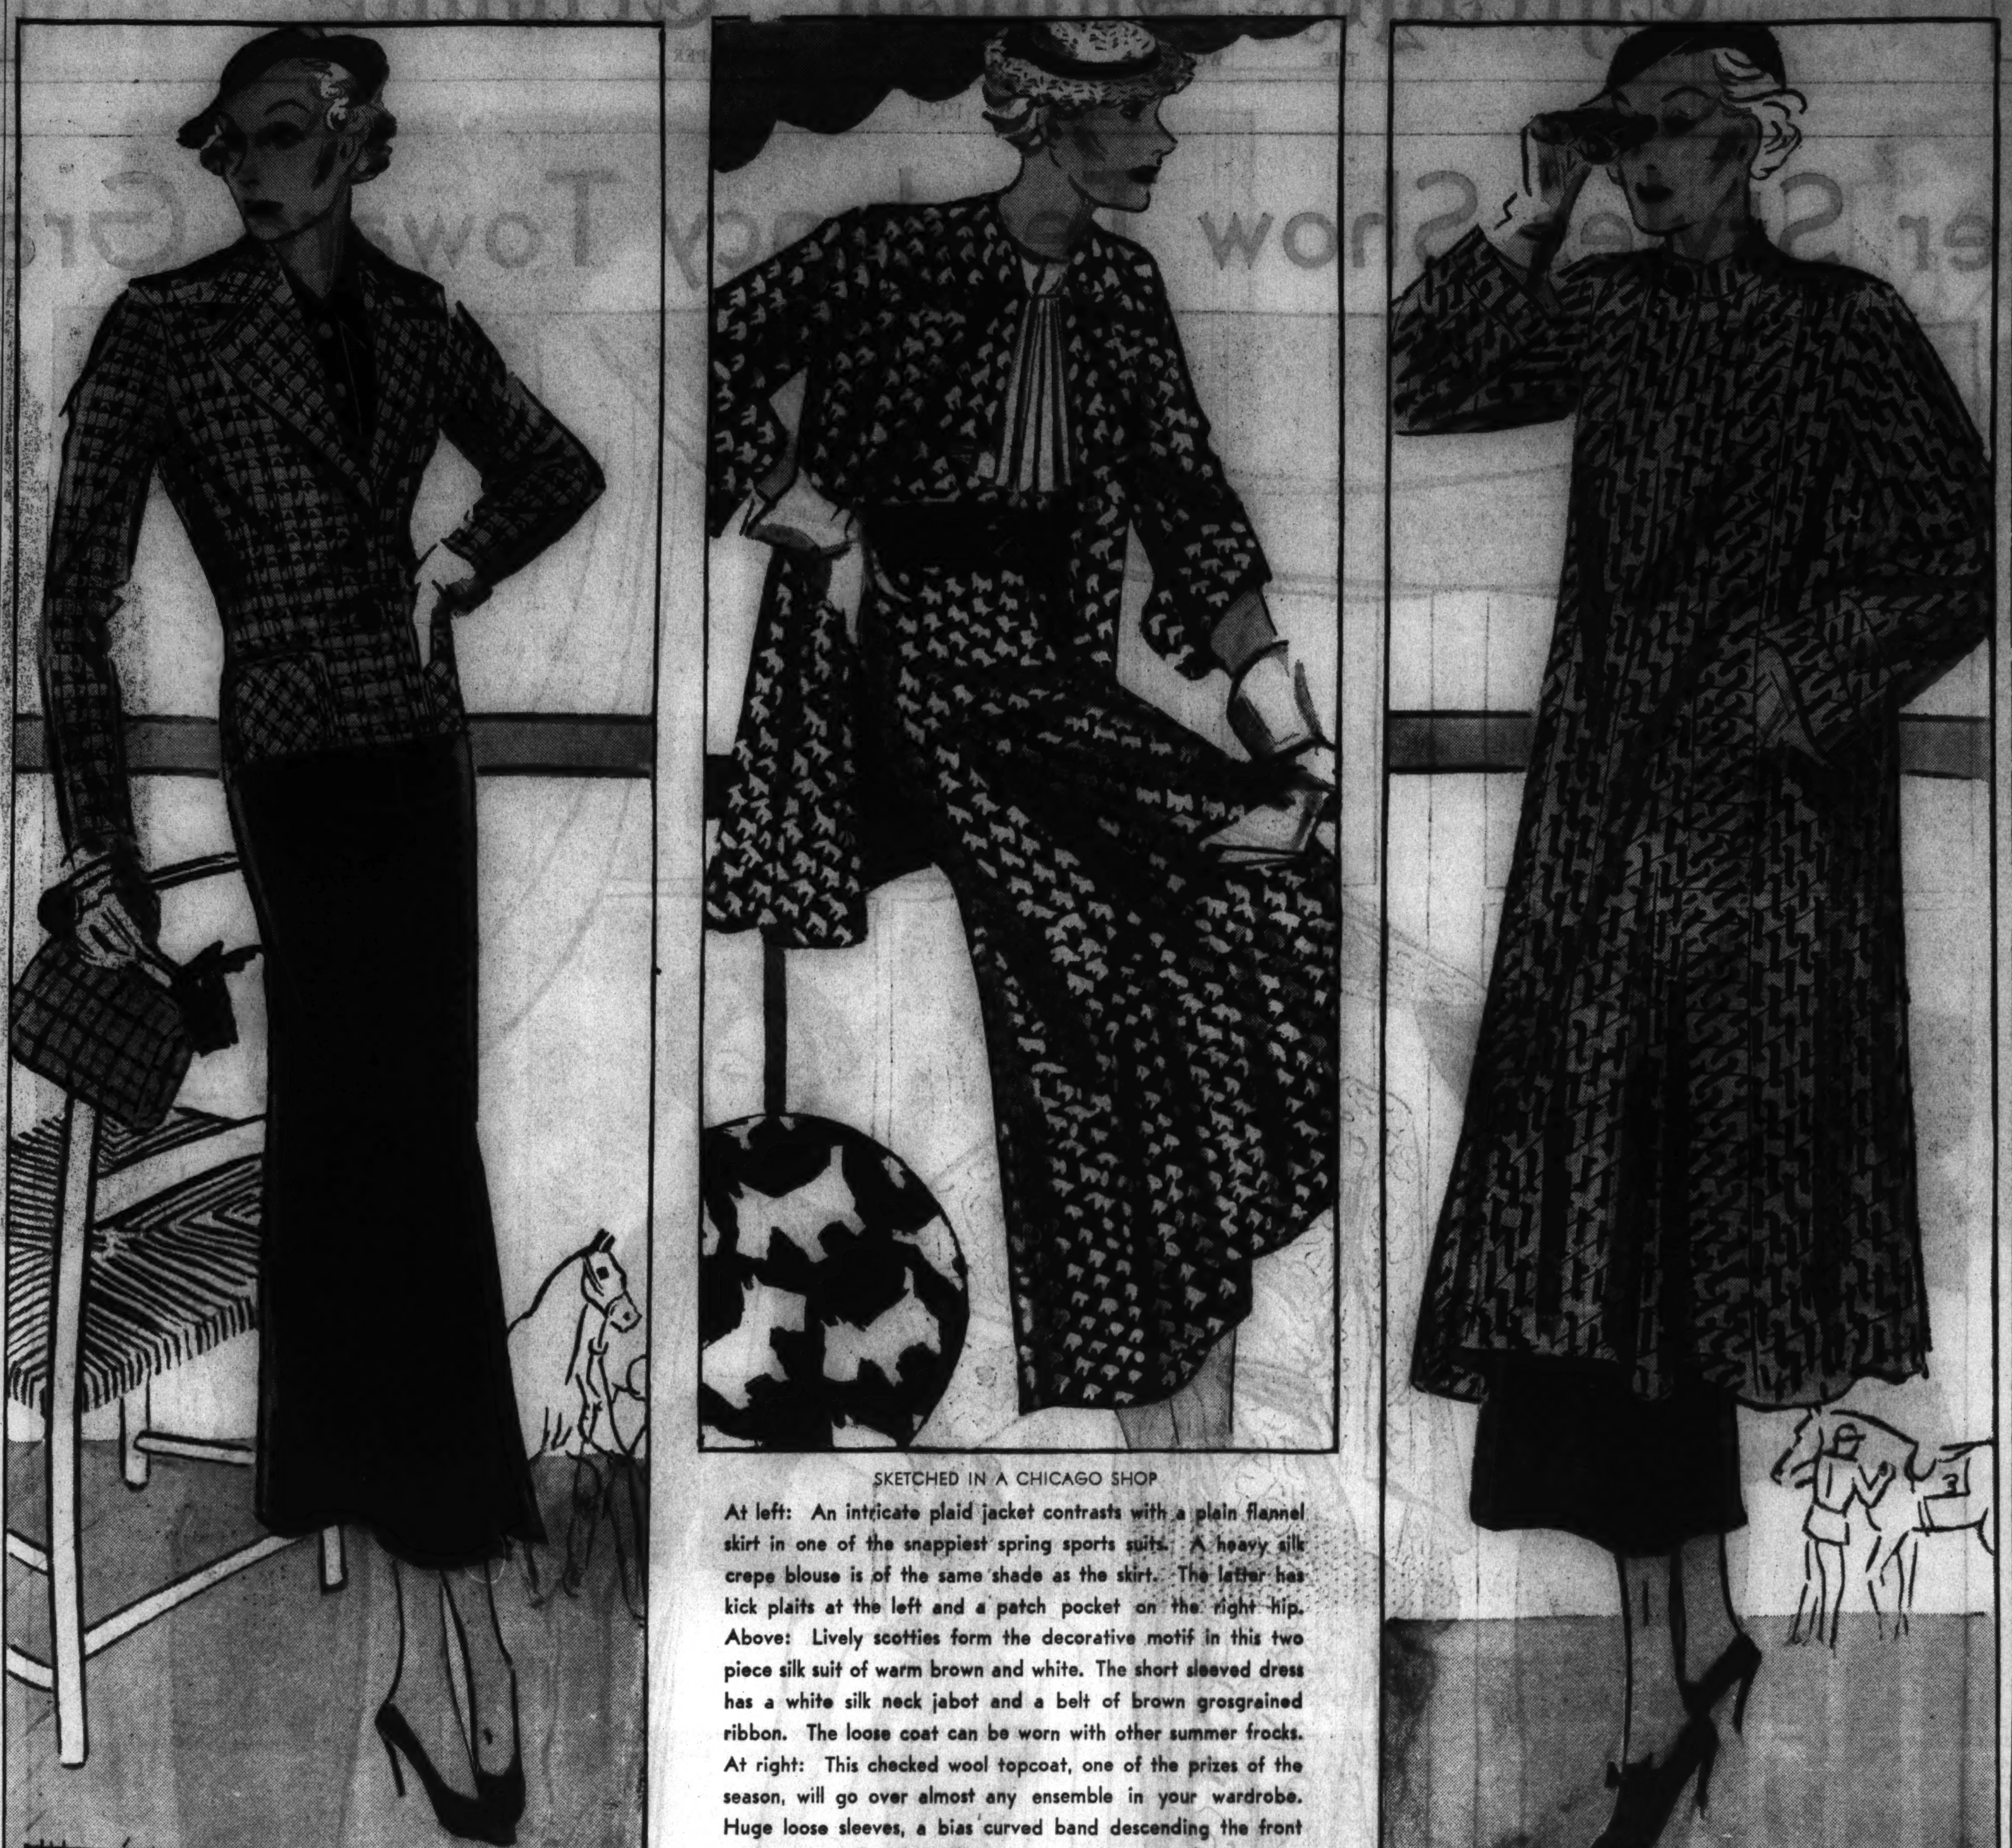
Individual Breakfast Set Is Handy for Invalids or Guests

INDIVIDUAL china breakfast sets lend charm to any surroundings whether the tray be headed for the guest room or on its way to a patient who must be encouraged to eat. One glance at a bright poppy colored one shown in a Chicago store, would hearten the most finicky eater.

These sets consist of breakfast plate, bread and butter plate, salt and pepper, egg dish, cup and saucer, cream and sugar, coffee pot, and a most unusual toast rack. The pattern mentioned here comes in a beautiful shade of gold as well as poppy. The sets are reasonably priced.

Flowered sets which are a trifle more expensive are shown in all the dainty pastel shades. Some of them consist of a service for two that would dress up the breakfast nook.

PLAIDS AND CHECKS AND SCOTTIES PUT ENSEMBLES IN A HOLIDAY MOOD



SKETCHED IN A CHICAGO SHOP

Afternoon Frock Does for Evenings.

Second from the left is Molyneux's lovely beige lace afternoon frock, which women here wear also in the evening. It has the smart, squared, flowing sleeves that Molyneux features. They are cut in one piece with the bodice, which has a bateau neckline in front that becomes a V at the back. The simple, rather narrow skirt is toe length. The sash is made of spice brown chiffon and the gloves are also of brown chiffon. This dress is worn over a beige crêpe de chine foundation slip.

Lucien Lelong's semi-demi ensemble, shown second from the right, foreground and background, is worn by many of the Famous Forty. It is a fine example of the simple and formal tone of the new styles. The dress is made of pale moonlight gray semi-sheer silk crêpe, with a full fan plaited godet flaring the front of the skirt. The bodice, as you see in the background, leaves the sides of the shoulders bare, is high around the neck, and has an ascot tie of the material. This tailored tie is worn outside the cherry red satin jacket, which is dotted with steel heads.

Net Formals Imitate Sports Clothes.

The jacket is hip length, fitted, and has sleeves that are flared in frill effects at the elbows. It buttons down the front on steel buttons. The Reboux hat is faced with red beaded satin. This ensemble is worn for late afternoon and for real evening affairs.

A new note in Paris style is the net dress that is cut like a sports frock and is designed to be worn for cocktails and summer evening functions. Heim designed the black net frock of this type which is shown at the right. It is a one-piece affair cut to look like a jumper and skirt. The extremely long sleeves almost cover the backs of the hands. The round collar is simulated by the sewing on of a bias satin band, and bands trim the front and lower edge. Crystal buttons fasten this frock at the neck and serve to attach the simple, tailored belt. The Heim hat is made of black satin and trimmed with a crystal ornament.

PARIS SNAPSHOTS

Coats for warm days ahead remind the costume expert of the French Directoire. They are made of black linen or of alpaca, and they are cut like redingotes. They are smart and practical to slip on over printed frocks.

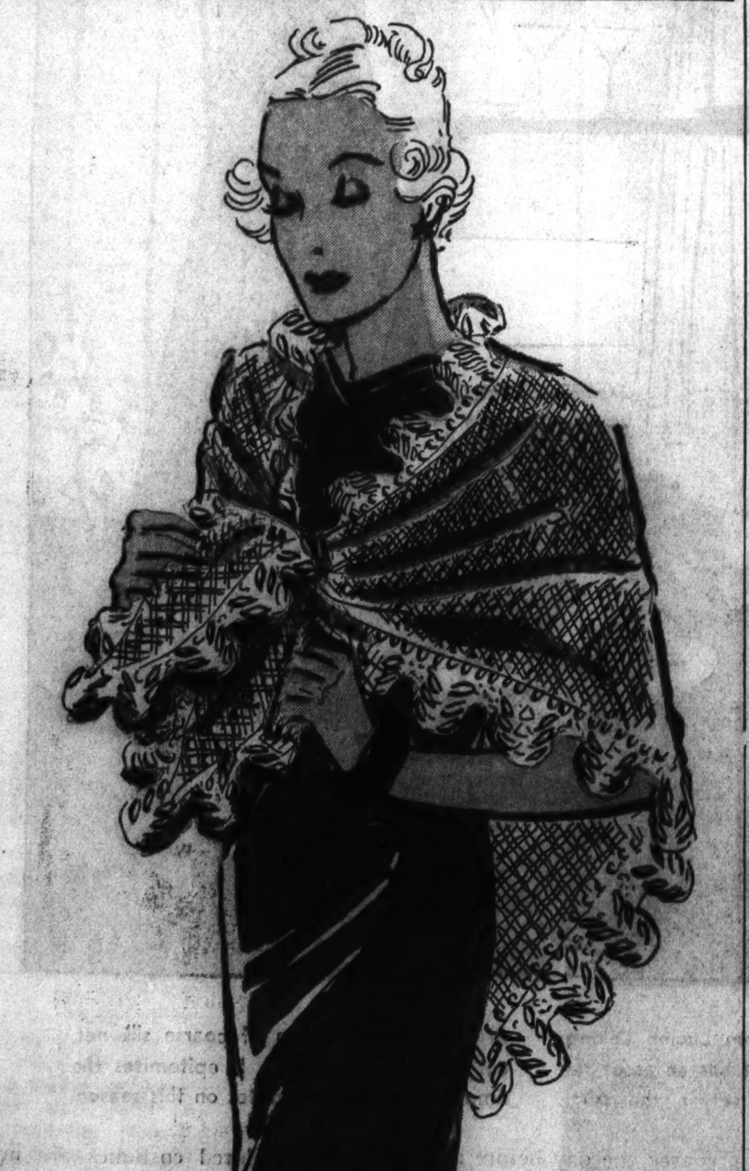
Sweet little summer bonnets are coming out of Agnes' millinery salons in Paris. She makes them of shirred and smocked taffeta to match dresses of the same material.

New accessories to make you into a "femme fatal" when you dine in summer are big hats of black tulle and ruffled or smocked capes of the same tulle.

Bamboo is having its heyday in Paris spring and summer styles. Bamboo buttons, bamboo handles to bags, bamboo belts, and bamboo yellow are all over the place.

Parisiennes are wearing big clusters of flowers at the necklines of their silk coats. Poppies, lilacs, hollyhocks and roses. The flowers from an old fashioned garden, done in silk, replace the once smart bow.

Crochet Shawls Gain Favor as Modern Maid's Evening Wrap



If you wish instructions for crocheting the triangular shawl illustrated today, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to Ellen Bruce, Chicago Tribune; or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

By Ellen Bruce.

SHAWLS are advocated for all ages from the tiny baby to the grandmother as dainty as any Whistler could paint. The one illustrated today drapes or ties at the chest or may be pinned with a lovely cameo heirloom. It is ideal for the ultra modern maiden, when made in the right type of yarn, for an evening shoulder wrap. Triangular in shape, it is extremely easy for the invalid to slip off and on.

A suitable crochet hook plus three or four balls of light weight yarn offer opportunity to while away a few hours on a warm summer day or evening. The result is an object of beauty that has a great many practical uses.

The original crochet model shown is made in a pale lemon yellow two ply zephyr wool. It measures about forty-five inches without the patterned edging. The size, however, may be increased or lessened by changing the yarn or size of the crochet hook. The shawl may be made in any pastel colors or combination of colors. As a gift it is the last word in good taste.

Electric Server Lightens Tasks of Buffet Meals

INFORMAL entertaining is such good fun, and so easily accomplished. Take the Sunday night buffet supper, for instance, when friends gather for those intimately pleasant hours which are quite unlike any others in the entertaining category. The supper may be a simple meal, easily prepared and attractively served. Men, especially, like to help themselves and they linger long and lovingly over an inviting table.

And what matter if there are a few late comers who come straggling in after the party is well on its way! Food may be kept hot in the electric servers designed especially for this form of entertaining. These are made of chromium, which does not tarnish, nor does it require the laborious efforts of polishing. Four deep porcelain casseroles, with chromium covers, fit into the server, and the food contained therein may be kept hot with electrically heated water in the chromium base. It is smartly attractive and an appropriate addition to the table.

Woman Develops Methods to Better Lives of Blind

MRS. DOROTHY S. MURPHY of Summit, N. J., is developing new methods of preparing blind children for normal lives. They are made to "see" by enabling them to study animals, machines, etc., at close hand, and outdoor sports which stress self-reliance are made an important part of the plan.

LOOKS 17 YEARS YOUNGER

A delightful cream can be made right in your own home to remove wrinkles, clear the complexion, make radiant beauty. Mrs. Minnie H. of Kansas writes: "I have used Eptol cream for years, and find it has no equal. It makes me look 17 years younger. I haven't a wrinkle on my face."

Get two ounces of Eptol from your druggist, mix it with water and a tablespoonful of glycerine. It lifts the wrinkles right out, leaving the skin smooth, firm and lovely. If your druggist hasn't Eptol, send 25c and we will send you special a whole month's supply.

Metal Change Box Is Pinned to Purse

PEOPLE—we may say women especially—tired of groping among bills and keys and odds and ends for the coins in their purses will welcome the new metal change boxes. They're really troughs, with a huge pin at the back to attach them to purse or pocket, just large enough to accommodate nickels, dimes, and pennies. The top slides back the full length to give easy access to the coins. Six dimes and six nickels are their highest capacity.

The design is conservative—black or white metal with silver trim and a small silver ornament on top. And the price is low.

Waffle Iron Has Heat Gauge, Rim for Overflow

A SMALL electric waffle iron which makes really delicious golden brown waffles has a wide tray base with a rim to catch the batter overflow and is attractively finished in chromeplate. There is a heat indicator on top—which tells the busy housewife just when the waffle is done. This iron is reasonably priced and may be seen in the loop stores.

Teachers Have Chance to Mold the Young Idea

They Must Shape Emotional Responses as Well as Mental Patterns.

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

"I HAD," said a woman who had taught school for many years (or shall we say taught children—that's a funny idiom, isn't it—taught school?), "a splendid training in normal college. We had a wonderful English teacher who made grammar a live subject. Our biology teacher was brilliant and made the subject fascinating. In fact, as I look back, I realize what unusually fine teachers they were. We were given a modern and live approach to teaching. But we were never taught anything about children. O, yes, we had psychology, but it was a detached affair. Isn't it curious to think that we were turned loose on the most precious material in the world without knowing anything about it?"

It is curious. No, it's more than that. It's tragic. When you think that about half of a child's life after his school years begin is spent in the schoolroom you realize how vital it is that those hundreds of hours be happy and educative.

Yesterday's Teachers Often Needed a Guiding Hand.

To be sure, the teacher's training in many normal schools and colleges is today taking care of the mental hygiene of the school child. On the other hand, there are many men and women teaching today who went directly from their university to the classroom, well prepared in their subject matter but without preparation in the managing of children—and by that I don't mean merely keeping them in order, but managing them to their benefit and happiness. And in addition to these, there are many teachers today who were graduated before the training schools had courses in child management and child psychology.

Now, of course, many of these teachers had great sympathy and intutition and intelligence and tact and so have been able to handle skilfully this precious human material that has come under their influence.

Others have not been so fortunate. They have needed help—they have needed a wiser head than theirs to guide them. They have found themselves floored by the disobedient boy, the timid girl who wouldn't recite, the boy who stole or lied, the trouble maker, the showoff, and the children with sex problems. They aren't able to deal with these things to their own satisfaction and to the lasting benefit of the child. They may be fine teachers, have an interesting way of drawing out and developing their boys and girls, know their subject matter well, but not be able to handle the children as human beings.

Child Learns Social Adjustment in School.

For after all much more happens in school than the gathering of facts or the developing of the intellect. Character is formed—personality is enriched or stunted. Children learn in school to get along with many of their own kind. They develop a good or bad attitude toward authority. And they learn much about their abilities—what they can do and what they can't. So there's a lot of teaching besides encouraging the young idea to shoot. It's the whole child—not just his mind—that comes with shining or downcast face to the school each day. It's the whole child that the teacher must educate in the true sense of the word.

The teacher's calling is a noble one. You've heard that before—but it's true, nevertheless. It is a difficult one, the teacher's calling. But her opportunity is great—and all great things are difficult.

The teacher is a powerful influence in the lives of the children who spend four or five hours every day in her classroom. If she can come to know them and to know why they do what they do she will find herself dealing with their behavior in an entirely new way. Her work will become deeply interesting and vitally different. And her children will benefit inestimably.

Her teaching will no longer be a day to day drudgery, but a creative piece of work. She will be as different from the schoolmarm as cheese is from chalk.

Conceit May Be Squelched or Sense of Inferiority Erased.

She will be more like a sculptor who has plastic material in her hands which she can make or mar. She will have it in her power to do something for the character and personality of every child in her room.

She can build up in her children a belief in justice by being just—a belief in kindness by being kind. She can give to each child a sense of security and an assurance of her real interest in him as a person.

She can help the bright child to enrich his knowledge and be without conceit, the limited child to do his best while accepting his limitations and also help him to discover something that he can do well. When lying and stealing and other more serious misbehavior have to be dealt with she can do so wisely and lead the boy or girl to form new habits.

To do all this the teacher must know something about the inner life of childhood. In this way she will come to know why children do what they do and will be able to help them not only to learn but to live.

Beginning this week the articles in this column will contain, off and on, suggestions for teachers on child management in the schoolroom. The suggestions are based on personal experience and on the results obtained from work done along these lines by one of the foremost child clinics in the country.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

By Eleanor Nangle.

Portrait of a girl unafraid of what the summer will do to her skin. She's armed with a foundation cream that protects from sun and wind and is a good powder base as well. It may be obtained white or a delicate pink.

[Posed by Carole Lombard.]

Foundation Cream of Light Texture Protects Skin from Rigors of Summer.

WE'VE been searching around for a foundation, arming ourselves against all the frantic demands that will shortly come in from women who want a summer protective and we're happy to say that we've found what we think is a dandy one.

The difficulty with the average foundation cream for summer use is that while it does protect from wind and sun and the general withering of a hot summer it gets all squishy on the skin. Using our own dry, sensitive skin for all the experiments, we've been working with foundation creams, watching their action under hot lights. We've found a few that ought to be marvelous for summer use—and if you'll take a tip from us you'd give that dry skin of yours all the protection it can get. If you nurse it through the summer you won't go into the ravaging winter season with a few strikes against you.

The foundation we liked tremendously and prophesy will be a satisfactory summer one is soft and light; it won't go all crinkly and messy after an hour's wear and at the same time it's adequate enough to serve as protection, and is an excellent, invisible base for powder.

If you're skilful at applying a foundation cream—and there is a certain trick to it—it is necessary only to smooth this one in evenly with the fingers. It's moist enough to handle rather more easily than most but you must not scoop up a lot at a time. Spotting it very lightly over the face, then smoothing it works out perfectly. We can manage without leaving any surplus. If you can't and if your skin is kind of oilyish anyway you're made more certain of a smooth base and protective by patting the face gently with a towel or those boons from heaven, soft, absorbent cleansing tissues.

This foundation comes in two tones, one a white which works out satisfactorily for very fair skins, the other a soft, almost imperceptible pink. We do think its makers might give us a third shade, but since they haven't, we can do nicely with these two if our powders are right.

If you're afraid of what the summer will do to that dry skin of yours a foundation is your dish—once you master the trick of applying it sparingly and evenly. And in our opinion the pink and white creams we discovered are very dainty dishes indeed. You'll find them in shops almost everywhere.

Glass Curtains, Wallpaper Border Embellish Window

HERE'S an idea for the woman who likes her summer living room to seem as cool and airy as possible. She removes the window draperies and leaves only sheer and gossamer thin glass curtains, which hang level with the sill.

Now, for the clever trick. She takes one of the good looking new wallpaper borders [of course it's in colors that harmonize with her walls, furniture, upholstery and rugs] and she applies it as a border on the wall, around the four sides of the windows. A simple leaf pattern, on an off-white or pale yellow ground, would be charming. Then she finishes it with a coat of white shellac and the job is done. The window makes a lovely picture with the transparent glass curtains and the decorative wall border.

This little scheme is hardly feasible, of course, in a papered room, unless the wallpaper has no decided pattern. It's intended primarily for painted walls.

Salt and Pepper Shakers Simulate Colorful Fruits

IF you want to put vigor into your table decor try some of the colorful new salt and pepper shakers shaped like fruit. Since they have been conventionalized in design they can't be identified as any one fruit, though they most closely resemble apples.

The "fruit" itself is made of a chinalike composition substance and comes in cream, yellow, orange, black, white, green, red, and pink. The stem, executed in polished pewter, bears two leaves and serves as a handle. Unscrewed it reveals a hole for the entrance of the condiments. Exit holes are at the bottom of the fruit. Salt does not tarnish the pewter.

These shakers loll on their sides instead of standing upright. Quite apart from their usefulness, they're a graceful accessory for any table either in one or two shades to harmonize with the general color scheme or in a riot of them to create vividness.

Shoulder Lines Play Prominent Role in Style

Plaits and Tucks Figure in Latest Fashions for the Present Season.

It's thrilling! The 48 page spring edition of the Chicago Tribune Book of Clotilde Fashions presents, in color, delightful styles for every occasion and for every feminine age. Valuable suggestions for accessories and fabrics are observant of current fashions. The price is 15 cents a copy, but 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. By Clotilde.

WHEN you realize how little material is necessary and how easy to make is the dress, using pattern No. 2630, you will be sure to want to copy it. One can't have too many washable dresses this weather, and through all summer. This is practically a one piece dress, one length for the back and one for the front, with the plaited side sections.

Shrink your material and, in cutting, don't make it a tight fit. If the lines are good, it isn't necessary to have it really tight. French seams will make a neat finish. The long shoulders form short sleeves, and these may be faced or hemmed. Lay the plaits evenly and press very flat. Overcast the seams together where plaits are joined to the skirt across the top, and turn the seam edge up toward the dress. Then stitch once from the right side, about ¼ inch above the first stitching. A stick candy color seersucker made the original dress, and organdy was used to finish at the neck.

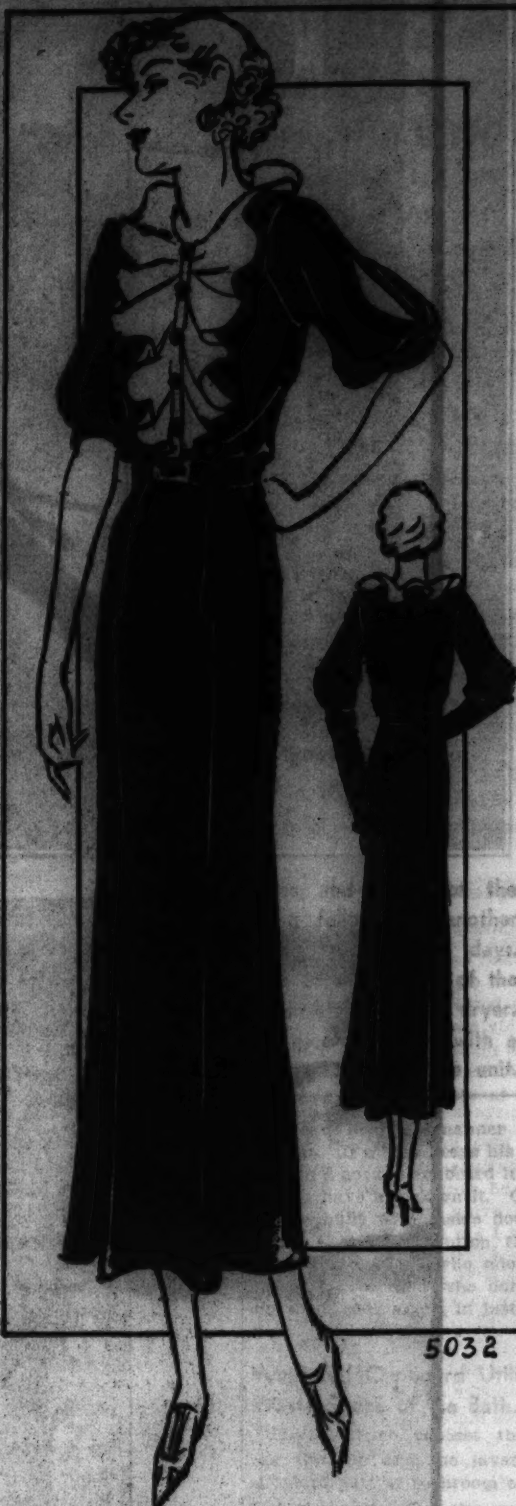
You could hardly find a smarter, prettier dress than the one made by pattern No. 2845. The skirt fits perfectly at the waist and hips, then widens to a graceful flare as the hemline is reached. The lines of the waist are unusually pretty. The square neckline at the front has a slight upward slant at the bottom, and the shirred fullness at either side of the center front, gives a becoming fullness over the bust. A narrow sash of the dress material ties in a bow in front. The sleeves may be long or short, but the short ones probably will win the day. If you want something exceptionally pretty for this dress use a dotted tie silk in blue and white. Nothing is smarter in color this year than blue.

Pattern No. 2613 is for a chic dress that is easily and quickly made. It's youthfully simple and smart. There are raglan shoulders and long or short sleeves, and the pointed line at the front, above and below the waist, creates a slender appearance.

Voile, tub silk, pique, cotton broadcloth, crêpe de chine, and flat silk crêpe will, any of them, make up beautifully in this design.

Here is a smart daytime frock, the one made by pattern No. 3419, that you'll want for the warm days to come. It has raglan shoulders, a prettily shaped neckline, and a well cut skirt that keeps to the slender silhouette. One can hardly imagine anything much easier to make, and printed or plain silk crêpes are ideal for this kind of a dress.

Lingerie Details Embellish Dainty Paris Pattern Frock



No. 5032—The Paris Pattern for this frock is available in sizes 14 to 20, and in 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement.

By Bettina Bedwell.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The pattern today, No. 5032, is a French design which supplies daintiness and chic in warm weather. The dress is simple and practical, the kind of frock you can wear and wear. The crisp, ruffled jabot is the last word in lingerie details, and it is made so that it may be removed and washed frequently. The sleeves are split part way down the top of the arm, to add chic and to help you keep cool. They can, of course, be sewed all the way down if you don't want them open.

The jabot buttons over on the buttons of the dress and is very pretty when it is made of linen, organdy or pique. If you want to avoid constant laundering you can make it of polka dotted silk, with a background the color of the dress.

The panel at the front of the skirt is becoming to every woman and gives the slight front flare which Paris is featuring.

Make this dress of black or very dark blue silk and the jabot of clear white and the result will be the striking combination of daintiness and soberness which is so fashionable this summer.

CLEANLINESS OF SYSTEM AIDS IN COMFORT OF THE FEET

Vivacity is an important feminine attribute. No one is charming who is listless and suffering pain. Foot comfort is essential to sprightliness and verve, and medical science is aware that auto-intoxication and sluggishness are related to ills of the "pedal extremities." Keep the system free of poisonous substances and you will have happy feet, no matter what the weather or what the temperature in the shade.

Accumulation of Poisonous Substance in Body Is Responsible for Pain.

By Antoinette Donnelly.

IF your feet "are just killing you," don't you believe that it is the warm weather! That's what is called, in better informed circles, an alibi without a leg to stand on.

It isn't the weather! The last thing you think about as a cause for your tired, swollen, aching feet is responsible, the condition of your body, the amount of poisonous substance distributed throughout your system. A concentration of poisons, acids, that's what our better informed foot men will tell you is wrong. Why the first warm weather spell takes its well known toll of foot miseries is simply because one is emerging from a glorified form of winter hibernation. Not enough exercise, not enough water drinking, heavy foods, and so on, all of which implies body functions, especially elimination, are reduced to the lowest factor. That tired, languid feeling of the body can be laid to the same poison accumulations in the system. Before long, it is predicted, folks will be too polite to mention the tired feet and the tired body, since it will be a giveaway of an indolent, untidy system.

A concrete case of tired, swollen, aching feet caused by the body poisons recently came to my attention. The woman put herself on a three day liquid diet for reducing purposes and she found a new pair of feet with the elimination of the waste material in her system. She, who had been moaning and groaning for weeks, suddenly was stepping around like a three year old.

So, for your feet's sake, if not for your health's, keep clean inside with plenty of water and such other eliminative measures as you need.

Of course, improper shoes cannot be laughed off as a contributory cause, but their results usually appear in more localized form, weak arches especially, to say nothing of corns, calluses, and malformations.

For calluses, of which many reports are entered in my mail these days, there is a simple remedy. Ten per cent salicylic acid in flexible collodion. It dissolves the callous tissues, but be careful to apply it only to the calloused spots. Don't let it spread over on the adjoining skin of the foot.

You can get some relief for the burning, aching feet in ointments and foot powders which you can find on the market. One manufacturer, who specializes in foot trouble study, offers a kit containing granular soap which supplies a fairly vigorous massage, a powder with a cooling effect, and a cooling, soothing ointment.

I am told by orthopedic specialists that it is not well to use too strong a perspiration astringent on the feet, since the sweat glands in the foot form a necessary part of its health. But such measures as may be taken to correct excessive perspiration are advised, such as salt water baths, followed by cold water plunges and vigorous rubbing, and mild astringents.

Chiefly, however, I wanted to pass on the word that, since faulty elimination and its subsequent acid and poison accumulation in the system may be responsible for your tired feet, you'd better not be talking about them aloud. Rather, get the system cleared. Then, if you have corns, calluses, weak arches, ingrown toe nails, you'll have to get them treated another way.

EXOTICISM FROM FAR COREA

Is it cookies, beans, or just fresh water which you wish to stow away in something attractive? This Corean jug, in brown and white, with its accompanying vessel, serves any of the three purposes and does so in a decorative way. The pottery is cheerful and has an exotic charm.

Practical Tent Makes Outdoor Life Enjoyable

IT won't be long now before those who find pleasure in the great open spaces will be getting the proper equipment lined up and ready to go. To assure enjoyment for camping outings one must have a certain degree of comfort and secure good shelter from inclement weather.

We had the urge to start right out on a camping adventure when we saw the new umbrella tent which is on display at a Chicago retail store. This tent is the last word in camping outfits and the person who constructed this one didn't overlook a single thing in making it comfortable and as easy to erect as an umbrella.

It is spacious, with plenty of room for four single or two double cots. Canvas flooring adds to the camper's comfort. There are windows of heavy mesh on the "larboard and starboard" sides of the tent, giving cross ventilation. And that isn't all. Should it rain, there are little drop shades to be lowered by cords which insure complete covering for the windows. The entrance has a canopy extending in front about six feet, assuring extra protection.

Should one decide on purchasing a tent, it is best not to overlook the new style of camping mattress, as a comfortable bed is imperative for rest. This mattress has the appearance of being comfortable-plus, and is handy to carry, easy to inflate with a special pump when one is ready to turn in for the night, and likewise as easy to deflate when ready to break camp.

Grouped with this camping paraphernalia is a snappy cook stove for camping. Spending much time outdoors is bound to put a keen edge on one's appetite, which cannot be appeased with a picnic sandwich. This type of camp stove it easy to set up and does all the tricks equal to a kitchen range. These stoves range in price according to size. The fuel used is just common gasoline.

THE STAMP COLLECTOR

-By Richard McP. Cabeen.-

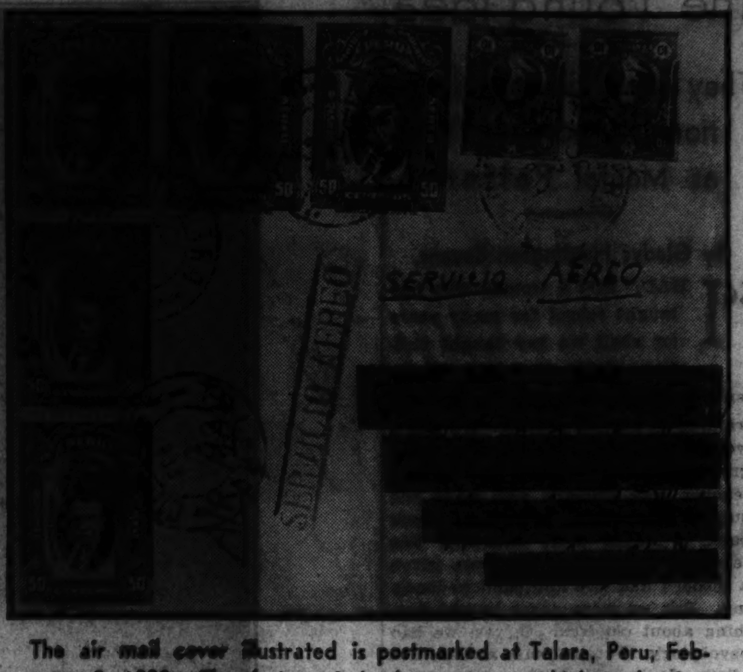
Booklets by Mr. Cabeen: "Starting a Stamp Collection," 5 cents by mail; 3 cents at Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or Tribune Tower. "Philatelic Agencies," 5 cents by mail; 3 cents at Public Service offices. If you ask questions when ordering booklets, inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

ON Oct. 9, 1925, the United States placed on sale at Minneapolis, Northfield, and Benson, Minn., and at Algona and Decorah, Ia., a set of two stamps in commemoration of the first Norwegian colony in this country. As in many earlier cases, the undertaking was an attempt to secure religious liberty. Fifty-two Norwegian Quakers sailed from Stavanger, Norway, July 4, 1825, in the sloop Restaurationen, and fifty-three were on board when it landed in New York on Oct. 9 of the same year. This colony settled near Kendall, N. Y. The Restaurationen is pictured on the two cent value, and the five cent stamp shows another vessel described as a "Model of a Viking Ship."

This flies a Norwegian flag at one end and a United States flag at the other, both of which would be out of place on a viking craft. Without awaiting an official explanation, every one who could write or dictate got out a story on the errors of engravers. The explanation, as it turned out, was simple, for the vessel shown was a faithful representation of the "Model of the Viking Ship" exhibited by Norway at the Columbian Exposition just as it was rigged when it finished its ocean voyage to the Fair. The stamps are bi-colored, of regular size, but in horizontal rectangles, and were printed in sheets of 100 without any straight edged stamps. The two cent value is in red and black, and was printed from seven plates for the frame and ten plates for the vignette, making seventy possible combinations. 10,500,000 stamps being printed and 9,104,983 were issued. The five cent value is in blue and black and was printed from ten plates for the frame and eight plates for the vignette, making eighty possible combinations if each frame plate were used with every vignette plate. Of this issue 2,100,000 stamps were printed and 1,900,983 were issued.

Maja Desnuda.

This painting, beautifully presented in color to the readers of THE TRIBUNE on April 15, was used as the design of one of the stamps issued by Spain in commemoration of the death of Francisco Jose de Goya y Lucientes. The stamps were on sale during the Spanish-American Exposition at Seville in 1930, and excited considerable comment. American criticism was particularly disliked by the Spanish newspapers, and they suggested that American films, jaz bands, and divorces marked the limits of art, music, and morals in this country.



The air mail cover illustrated is postmarked at Talara, Peru, February 2, 1930. The design of the large stamp, which is the first distinctive air stamp issued by that country, shows the portrait of President Leguia superimposed upon a map of South America. An airplane is flying above the position occupied by Peru on the map.

Pilsudski a Lithuanian.

Gen. Joseph Pilsudski, pictured on the stamps of Poland in several issues, appears to be caught on the horns of a dilemma. Lithuania, with the memory of a hundred years of oppression by the Poles still fresh, is retaliating with a vengeance, and just about the time when it was decided that Poland should do something about it, the former state makes the announcement that Pilsudski, marshal of Poland, is a Lithuanian by birth. To date about half of the Polish national heroes and celebrities are actually of Lithuanian descent.

Argentina Quits Union.

Argentina on April 1 withdrew from the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain [formerly known as the Pan-American Postal Union], and from that date the domestic postal rates, which are in force between all members of the union, are discontinued and the international rates become effective. This cancels the franking privilege enjoyed by correspondence of the diplomatic corps, and official correspondence of the consular officers, between Argentina and other member nations of the union.

Ladies' Night.

The Chicago Women's Stamp club will be the guests of the Chicago Philatelic society on the evening of May 17, and an invitation is extended to all lady collectors to attend. La Salle hotel, north club room, 18th floor, 7:30 p. m.

First Day of Mother's Stamp.

As might be expected in the case of a stamp having the widespread distribution accorded to the Mother's day stamps, many postmasters ignored the official notice, as well as the directions on the wrapper of the package of stamps, and placed them on sale as soon as they were received. They have been reported from many points with dates as early as April 26. With no desire to injure the careless postmasters, this column will refrain from listing the cities making premature sales.

Sporting Section.

Association football as represented by this stamp of Hungary is played in many countries. The International Federation of Association Football numbers nearly all of the nations of western Europe among its members. The subject of this stamp shows the goalkeeper defending his goal. He is the only player in this game who is allowed to catch or throw the ball with his hands.

Household Queries

Miss Winslow will be glad to answer queries on home decoration. If a personal reply is desired enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: I am planning to reroof. How can I be sure the old roof boards are really sound? How can I make sure I will get good workmanship and good materials?—Mrs. G.

Answer: Have a carpenter examine your old roof. Engage a reliable roofer, or have the roof put on by a reliable firm which will stand back of its work. Purchase roofing from a reliable house and made by a reliable company.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: We want to paint some old screens, but have been told that if you put on a good coat of paint, that is, the kind that will last several years, the results are too heavy and sticky, and also that dust collects before the screens are dry. Is this so?—G. D.

Answer: Any paint that is used for screen wire must be comparatively thin. This is the reason why screens are usually painted every year or two, as the thin coating necessary to give a good job for the screens won't last as long as a heavier two or three coat, longer lasting job. Mix about equal parts of good, outside, spar varnish and pure turpentine, adding the right colors in oil. In this way you will have a thin mixture which will cover the screen wire and yet will dry rapidly enough to prevent dust collection.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: We have an old stucco home. The stucco is in fairly good condition, but the house looks very shabby. Would you advise painting the stucco? Would it prolong its life?—D. S.

Answer: Yes. Proper paint, with its preservative qualities, will seal the pores of the surface and prevent the easy entrance of destructive forces. Moisture will be excluded and the smooth paint film will be inhospitable to soot, cinders, and dust.

Electric Mixer Aids Tasks of Daily Cooking

It Assists in Beating of Batter, Cake Icings, and Juice Extraction.

THERE is an electric mixer on the market that is equipped with attachments which will solve the busy housewife's problem of cooking. All that is necessary is to turn on a switch and it will beat up cake batter, mix cake icings, extract fruit juices, chop meats and other foods, mix delicious beverages, grate cheese, sharpen knives and scissors. This mixer beats, stirs, whips, and blends various ingredients smoothly, thoroughly, and quickly.

This handy gadget is small, compact, and beautifully finished in Eden enamel that will neither stain nor chip. Compactness enables it to be placed most anywhere while in use and it requires little storage space.

For use it is equipped with two glass bowls guaranteed against breakage from heat. The juice extractor enables every drop of juice to be extracted from fruits. Food chopper chops rapidly meats, vegetables, etc., to the right texture. The grater makes easy that disagreeable task of grating cheese, fruit rinds, etc.

For a reasonable price this mixer will make cooking a pleasure for the woman who is worn out after preparing a meal.

Interior Decor of Queen Anne Period Superb

Walnut Furniture at Height of Its Charm; Beauty of Designs Persists.

"Making the Most of the Dinette," a booklet by Edith Weigle, tells how to select and arrange furniture so that this small room will appear larger and more attractive. It is 3 cents by mail, 2 cents at the Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn. "What's Wrong with Your Rooms?" is 5 cents by mail, 3 cents at the Public Service office.

By Edith Weigle.

ANNE, the second daughter of James II, was the last of the Stuart line in England. Her reign was brief—1702-1714—but it made an indelible impress on the furniture history of all time. Walnut, which had come into favor with the Dutch William and Mary, attained its zenith in this period, and so beautiful was the workmanship and design that fashioned it into chairs, tables, secretaries, stools, desks, etc., that pieces made during the reign of Queen Anne are just as lovely today, just as useful and harmonious as they were back in the eighteenth century.

The cabinet makers who had come from Holland with King William were still at work in England, so the Queen Anne furniture bears a Dutch influence. On the whole, it was simple in line, the chairs and tables having cabriole legs, the secretaries bonnet tops, or broken arch tops, mirror frames being beautified with inlay and marquetry work, and cabinets coming into great favor. The reason for this last was the craze for Chinese porcelains, started in the reign of William and Mary and continued in the time of Anne. Beautiful Chinese jars, bowls, vases, etc., were exhibited in walnut cabinets, on mantlepieces, on tables [the stretchers were often made with a flat, circular piece of wood in the center to hold a porcelain jar]—everywhere, in fact.

Stools Often Used Instead of Chairs.

Because tea drinking was a social function and card playing one of the most popular of pastimes the many light, graceful tables of the time were created. For cards a square, baize covered table with a folding leaf became almost the standard. In the four corners were oval or square walnut receptacles, slightly depressed, to hold candles or cups and saucers. For tea, round or oval types were in favor.

Stools of walnut with cabriole legs and needlepoint embroidery seats were often used instead of chairs for dining. They also accompanied the artistic knee-hole desk of the period. A carved shell ornament was used as decoration on the knee of the chair or stool leg. The claw and ball foot appeared, its origin going back into the history of the orient and thence to Holland, where it was imitated by the Dutch, and finally, to this period in English furniture creation. It is said to represent the three-toed claw of the Chinese dragon holding the mystic Buddhistic jewel. This type of foot is also a characteristic of the later Chippendale furniture.

Coffee House the Center of Conviviality.

J. P. Blake and A. E. Reveirs-Hopkins in "The Period of Queen Anne" give a picture of the social life of the era in a few words: "It was a time in which the chocolate and coffee houses flourished; when Covent Garden and Leicester square were fashionable neighborhoods; when the sedan chair was the fashionable means of transit; when the police were old men with rattles who, sheltered in boxes, guarded the city; and when duels were fought in Lincoln's Inn fields.

"The coffee house was a lively factor in the life of the times; although wines were also sold, coffee was the popular drink. The price for a dish of coffee and seat by a good fire was commonly one penny, or perhaps three halfpence. . . . The price of tea fluctuated very much—some years it was much cheaper than others, varying from 10 shillings to 30 shillings per pound. Chocolate was commonly twopence the dish."

Men wore satin coats and breeches and enormous periwigs. Women, too, walked encumbered with heavy headgear and voluminous skirts. "The general tendency was to look Dutch, stiff, prim, but very prosperous."

Chinese Porcelains Essential to Room of Queen Anne Motif.

Excellent reproductions of Queen Anne furniture can be bought at any good furniture store today. A room done in this manner may have the following furnishings:

Curtains or draperies of chintz, hand blocked linen or damasks.

Upholstery of brocaded damasks or petit point.

Cushions of embroidery.

India prints; tapestries.

Chinese porcelains and pottery [preferably the blue and white].

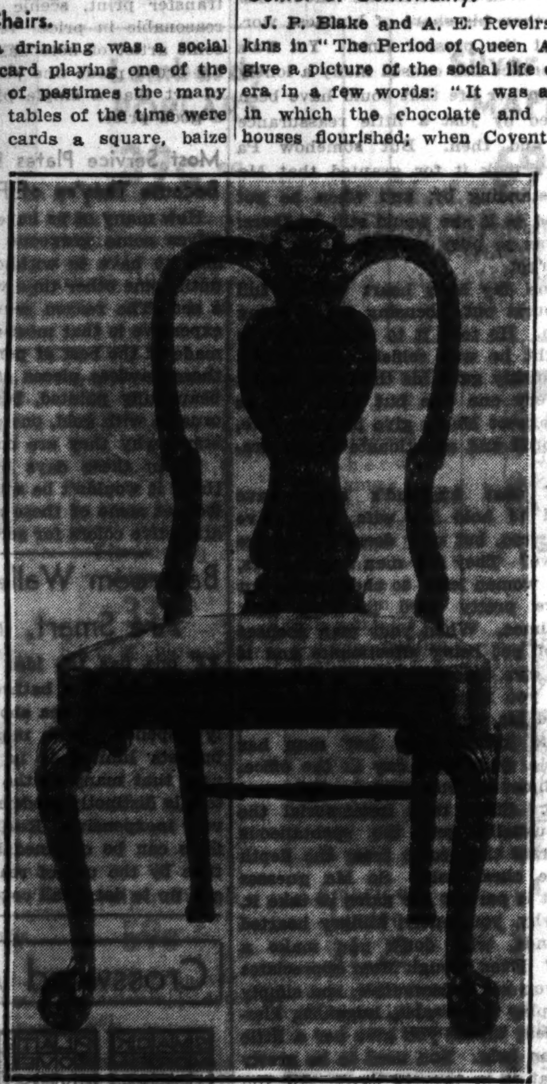
Mirrors; screens; andirons.

The pictures today illustrate two typical pieces of the Queen Anne period. The chair is one of a large set originally in the Van Cortlandt house, Cortlandt street, New York City. It was made about 1750, but is true to the styles of the first years of the century. It was recently lent to the Metropolitan museum of art in New York by Mrs. Antonie Voislawsky.

The handsome walnut secretary desk is a modern reproduction made by an eastern manufacturer.

MATCHLESS DESIGN

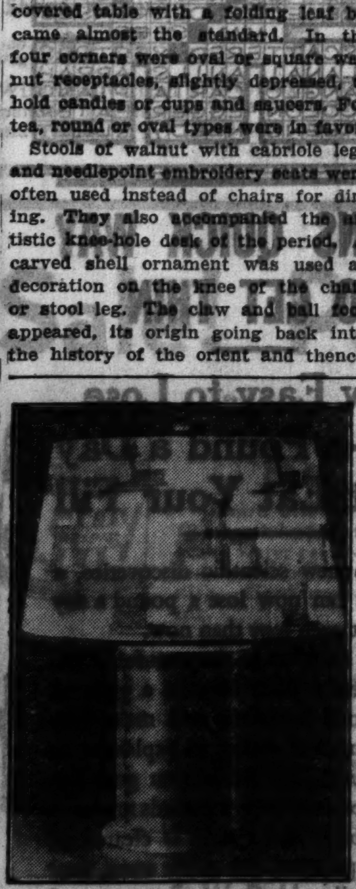
This handsome Queen Anne walnut secretary desk is a modern reproduction. Similar examples are available in any good furniture store today.



This side chair, walnut, Queen Anne, was made about 1750 and was in a recent exhibition at the Metropolitan museum of art in New York.

Cleverly Designed Bags Distinguish the Cocktail Hour

THE alert American designer has not been caught napping. He has taken note of the number of smartly dressed women from the business offices or a day in town, who frequent the bars and cafés between the hours of five and seven in the late afternoon. And very attractive they are in their dark clothes. But the clever designer is out to help the situation a little. He remarked that by the simple change of accessories women may be dressed suitably for that let down period of the day, known as the cocktail hour, and forthwith designed Sac de l'Apertif. These are fashioned of delightfully soft, white, glove leather with wide crystal frames, and are to be worn with white gloves and white hats.



WHITE PIGSKIN

A smartly durable lamp for a child's room is this one with an off white pigskin base edged in natural maple. Hand appliqued deer in tan and brown on the natural parchment shade are a decor of which the youngest set will never tire.

Cupboards and Shelves Handy in Waste Space

Odd Corners in Every Room and Hall Can Be Fitted with Storage Units

If you are interested in washable wall coverings for your kitchen or bath, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Louise Bargelt, home builders' editor, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, for a free list of these materials.

By Louise Bargelt.

WE seem to be growing rapidly more cupboard minded. That is, we are reaching the point where we realize it is possible to have as much cupboard and built-in shelf space as we want.

The more we have the more we can use for the sake of our homes we would keep orderly and our dispositions which we would keep even. And the comforting part about this new trend is that additional cupboard space is almost as easy to install in already built homes as in new ones which are in process of building.

It is not alone in houses that these cupboards and shelves are a vast comfort. In apartments they are equally convenient. We can buy these little units already built, with finished or unfinished surfaces, we can make them ourselves if we are expert in carpentry, or we can have some good local carpenter make them for us.

Perhaps we never have had that coat closet on the first floor. This spring, with modernizing in the air, we can consider building one. At the same time we may install a good sized cupboard under the stairway—a fine refuge for a host of heterogeneous articles belonging to different family members.

Linen Closet Should Have Shelves of Varying Width.

An upstairs broom closet is a big step saver. Not quite the necessity it is on the first floor, but a convenience nevertheless. A linen closet in a bedroom or a hall is equally desirable; one with shelves of different widths, wide shelves for the sheets and narrower shelves for the towels and washcloths. A linen closet should have inside hinged doors so that no dirt and dust can reach its contents.

A linen cupboard with the space in its lower half reserved for a clothes hamper is a handy unit. Almost any closet can be converted into such a utility by building shelves in its upper spaces, supported at each end by adjustable metal hangers.

Space in the kitchen under the sink can often be used for storage purposes. Vegetable bins of metal or wood are available—good looking models with handsome finishes which can be bought to harmonize with any kitchen scheme of decoration.

There are a wide variety of lovely cabinet units to fit as wide a variety of kitchens. If one wishes to build any additional cupboards, one should have some shelves wide and some narrower—and all easy of access. A kitchen cupboard which is given shelves for much used platters, trays, and cake plates can have these shelves quite thin and placed some two inches apart.

Storage Space Built Along Basement Stairs.

There is often space along the basement stairway for several rows of shelves. These can be about four inches wide and as long as space permits. Inclosed with fencelike slats, they will prove a practical parking place for children's cherished possessions, such as balls and marble bags, tennis rackets and baseball bats, not to mention caps and rubbers and sweaters that are dropped hither and yon when the youngsters troop in from play.

In the basement near the laundry one can have a cupboard for laundry supplies and utensils. Near the tool room there is usually space for shelves for household paint brushes and paint cans, hammers and nails. A built-in seat in the recreation room is always handy for the children's trains and tops, especially if the room is one which is used by the children in the daytime and by the older members of the family at night. The toys can be swept into this unit, the lid clamped down, and lo—order emerges out of chaos!

Sometimes we see a garage which has been given some practical cupboard and shelf space. Often a movable cupboard can be used to house garden implements. Shelves along the wall can hold all manner of useful gadgets. If a man keeps his cherished tools in a garage cupboard it is a good idea to have a lock on it. Or shelves can be built with inside doors which lock. A wise precaution this where there are children who adore tinkering with tools and who don't always put them back again, in just the right place!

Ventilated Cupboard Utilizes Waste Space of the Bath.

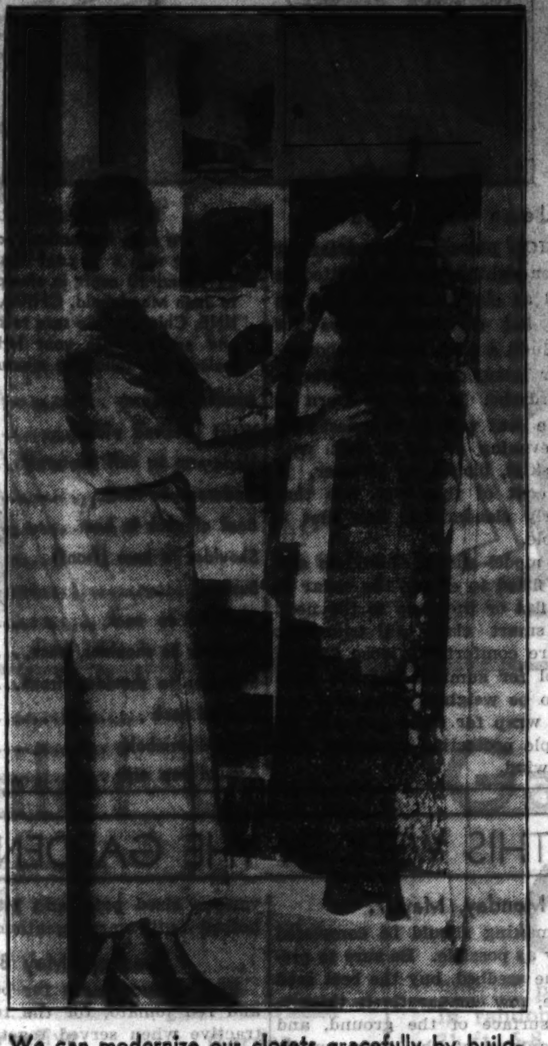
The medicine cabinet these days, like the tub and the lavatory, is a standard part of bathroom equipment. But if we can find the space for it we can derive convenience from a ventilated bathroom cupboard for all manner of extra brushes and powders, soaps and cleaning pastes. Convenient, too, is a linen cabinet just for bathroom linens.

Whatever our needs we can have cupboards no ends. Cupboards which rise to the height of our modern cabinets de luxe, in melting, beautiful shades, with every convenience one can dream of included in their fittings; cupboards that are small, irregular in size, scattered about as we need them from cellar to attic. Cupboards which will take care of that infinite assortment of articles we need and use in every home. Articles which, too often, as we all know, go aimlessly drifting about in homeless and annoying fashion.

ELECTRICAL ACCESSORIES MODERNIZE CABINET AND BATH

An open sesame to sheer comfort and convenience is an abundance of cupboard space in our kitchens. Paint the inside of your cupboards a light color if you would add to their beauty. Electrical illumination within adds to efficiency.

New utilities and units for the modern bath follow one another with amazing speed these days. Here is one of the newest of the new, a built-in electric towel dryer. There is an electric heater with a fan at the bottom of the unit.



We can modernize our closets gracefully by building in shelves for hats and shoes. We can also give them easy-to-manage clothes hanging equipment.

Paint, Judiciously Applied, Modernizes Mid-Victorian Furniture

"Spring and Summer Draperies," a new booklet by Claire Winslow, tells about the latest fabrics for windows; "Selecting, Framing, and Hanging Pictures" shows how to beautify your rooms with pictures. Each is 2 cents, 3 cents by mail. "Color Magic in Your Rooms" is 3 cents, 5 cents by mail. Address the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

By Claire Winslow.

THOUSANDS of homes throughout the country are still swamped with those relics of a dead, dead past—Victorian furniture. If one cannot refurnish, the next best thing is to redecorate, inject the breath of the twentieth century into the whatnots, tables, "stands," sofas, and chairs of an era that is just enough out of date to be démodé, and not far enough in the background to be classed among the famous periods of classic design.

The paint brush comes to the rescue in a grand way. So do new upholstery fabrics, wall papers, and floor coverings. True, it seems a shame to cover up fine old mahogany or walnut with paint, but it is quite different with black walnut pieces. One feels no compunction at all in covering their ugly finishes with creamy white. And there's this about paint—it can always be removed. So don't hesitate if you want to rejuvenate a room with it.

Bedroom furniture of the nondescript variety can be immensely enlivened by means of stencils and decalcomanias, easily applied by an amateur. Decalcomania sounds rather complicated to the person who has not tried it, so let's call it transfer patterns instead. You all remember the fascinating indoor sport of childhood—imprinting pictures of flowers, fish, animals, etc., on the back of your hands by means of colored bits of transfer paper and a lot of water. And what fun it was!

Flowers, Fruits, Foliage Easily Applied by Transfer.

Well, you can buy transfer patterns that will decorate the head and foot boards of beds, the back rails of chairs, the fronts of bureaus in the same simple fashion. Gay baskets of flowers, patterns of fruit or foliage, an old fashioned bouquet of rosebuds in soft, attractive colors can be applied to furniture in no time and with little trouble.

Apply a thin coat of special transfer cement to the color side of the transfer or a good quality of quick drying varnish thinned with turpentine. Allow the transfer to stand until the cement or varnish becomes extremely sticky or tacky. Then with a damp sponge slightly wet the surface to which the transfer is to be applied. Put on the transfer and roll it down with a rubber roller, pressing it firmly to the surface. Next saturate the paper with water, using a sponge. Lastly, pull or slide it off and wash the picture to remove the gum deposit, using a soft sponge and water.

"Too Many Women" Has Example of a Charming Interior.

Allow the print to dry thoroughly at least overnight, then cover with varnish. You'll be delighted to see how attractive your white bed, or pale yellow bureau, or little black side chairs are wearing their new decorations.

The photograph today is from a most charming interior designed by Richard Lewis Smith for the Fox film, "Too Many Women." It is certainly proof of what white paint and new upholstery fabrics can do for Victorian furniture. The armchair, one of thousands of similar design extant today in American homes, is done in white, the covering being eggshell satin tufted with brown moire.

Here's Example of Bad Etiquet in Invitations

Type of Entertainment and Reference to Wife Are Obviously Poor Taste.

Questions pertaining to etiquet and correct social behavior are invited. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Address mail to Helen Barlett, Etiquet Editor, in care of the Chicago Tribune.

By Helen Bartlett.

A PORTION of a letter from a justly indignant woman, who signs herself "Anti-Bowler," is printed today as the basis for our treatise on etiquet. She writes:

"Members of the firm of which my husband is a part time employé organized a bowling team and bowled once a week. Now that the season is at a close they are climaxing with a dinner dance at a loop hotel. The announcement for this affair mentions 'subscription $2.00 per person and liquor essential.' At the bottom of the page is the inscription 'Ball and chain omitted.'"

Such Designation Is Plain Slandering.

An excellent example of what not to do, the kind of an invitation not to write. The bowling husband ought to feel as highly insulted as his maligned wife. To be publicly referred to as the "ball and chain" is slandering, but to be invited to stay home is unspeakable.

Married men are perfectly free to accept invitations to stag dinners now and then and should be able to do so without incurring the disfavor of their wives. And I am sure that this man's wife would have had no objection if that had been the situation. But she goes further to say that it wasn't a stag dinner, but that the men were to be coerced into the company of "imported" girls and women "by a self-appointed master of ceremonies."

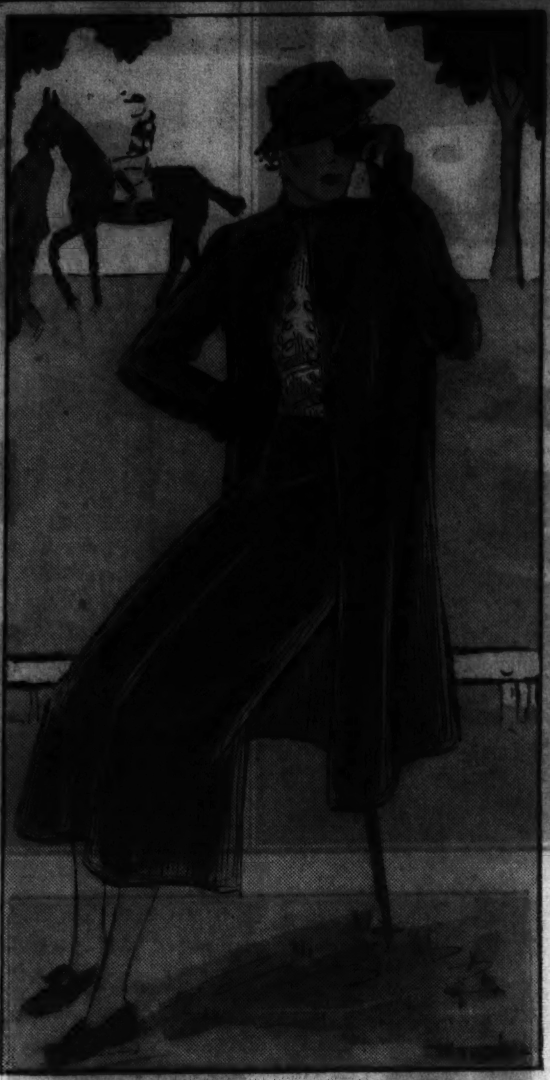
It becomes more vulgar and boorish as the story continues. We are glad to know that a few of these men, recipients of the invitations, were a little reluctant to accept, but were waiting to make their final decision until they had had the expression of an opinion from an unprejudiced person. Reluctance excuses them a little, but nothing less than flat refusal would satisfy us.

It Would Be Poor Taste to Accept.

Our only answer to the problem is that any married man who accepts an invitation of that kind and spends his two hard earned dollars for such an evening's entertainment is showing just as poor taste as the man who planned the party and wrote the invitations. Our advice to the bowlers is to turn the invitation down, forget about the whole affair and spend the two dollars in entertaining the bowlers' wives, who have been sitting home one night a week for twenty or twenty-five weeks while their athletic husbands were knocking down the tenpins. This would be a much more fitting climax and one not lacking entirely in good taste and refinement.

We believe we have made ourselves clear!

Knit Coat Has a Thousand Uses in Spring and Summer Months



By Jean Macdonald.

FASHION places three-quarters or seven-eighths coats in knitted as well as cloth materials high on her list of smart wraps for spring. Such a coat, made of bouclé, cotton, or linen, does double duty in one's wardrobe. It may be worn as a separate coat with light dresses for day or evening or as a suit with straight skirt, blouse, or sweater. A straight coat of this type has that particularly slenderizing line that is so desirable.

In the model shown shoulders and neck are fitted to enable the collar to be worn flat or up close to the neck with a smart clasp as trimming. Sleeves are comfortably loose enough to be cool for summer but not wide enough to be weighty. The coat has sufficient wrap for style and still affords ample protection against a sudden chill wind.

HOW TO ORDER.

If you wish instructions for knitting the suit with a ¾ coat illustrated today, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to Jean Macdonald, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago. Be sure to send name and address with your letter. Also include the following measurements:

THIS WEEK IN THE GARDEN

Monday, May 7.

Lawn making should be completed as rapidly as possible. Be sure to prepare a fine seedbed, buy the best seed obtainable, sow comparatively thickly, roll the surface of the ground, and take advantage of the early spring rains. Early spring sowing provides a strong growth enabling the grass to withstand much dry weather. Grass will not grow luxuriantly unless it is given food in sufficient quantity to maintain it.

Make another sowing of radishes, lettuce, onions, and peas. Pot up the cannas that were started sometime ago. Divide the clumps to fit the various sized pots, and place in the hotbed until warm weather.

Tuesday, May 8.

Plan to sow seeds for both yellow and red tomato, for the two are attractive when served together. Sow seeds of peppers in hotbed or in boxes in the house. Watch the cold frame and hotbed to see that nothing is neglected. Ventilate on warm days. Overwatering its usually the cause of fungus.

Wednesday, May 9.

Head lettuce may be sown in boxes and the seedlings transplanted into the hotbed. Head lettuce does best when given plenty of room. It should grow fast to develop the finest heads as all lettuce does best during cool weather. Transplant the house plants needing it and top-dress large tubbed plants by removing a part of the upper soil and replacing with good, rich compost. Spray all cellar plants on removal from the store house. The oleander is susceptible to scale.

Thursday, May 10.

Start the elephant ear in boxes of sand. The fancy leaved varieties may also be started, and when they begin to show considerable root growth, plant in pots. These plants do well when planted out of doors in a partially shaded, protected situation. They revel in a sandy loam, with the addition of humus mulch or peat and with some bonemeal incorporated in the mixture.

Pot up those cuttings of bedding plants that are rooted. Geraniums should be growing rapidly, and for a final shift should be in four inch pots. Give copious quantities of water to potted flowering plants or their period of usefulness soon passes, the hydrangea, baby primrose, schizanthus, and cineraria especially fall in this class.

Friday, May 11.

Uncover perennial beds and tamp down the soil surrounding any plants which have heaved from the ground. Order plants to fill in vacant places. Perennials delight in a deep, rich, well drained soil, and provision should be made for ease in watering them.

Carefully remove the covering about rock plants. Place new soil about those plants which require it. Tidy up the rock garden, stirring the soil around the plants.

Saturday, May 12.

Bordeaux mixture should be used early if it is to be fully effective. Use it for spraying the delphinium, hollyhock, and peonies when the young growths start. Use this material on roses before the buds start. Burning the pruned wood of roses prevents the multiplication of numerous insect pests. Some annuals, such as the petunia, snapdragon, verbena, salvia, painted-tongue [salpiglossis], and similar long season annuals require early sowing to provide good stock.

Annual vines grow quickly and soon cover porches, back fences, sheds, or trellises. The hyacinth bean, scarlet runner, cobaea [start early], moon vine, and others are all excellent. Plant a wild grape to cover the garden wall. Continue planting trees, shrubs, perennials, and hardy vines. Use only the most dependable kinds.

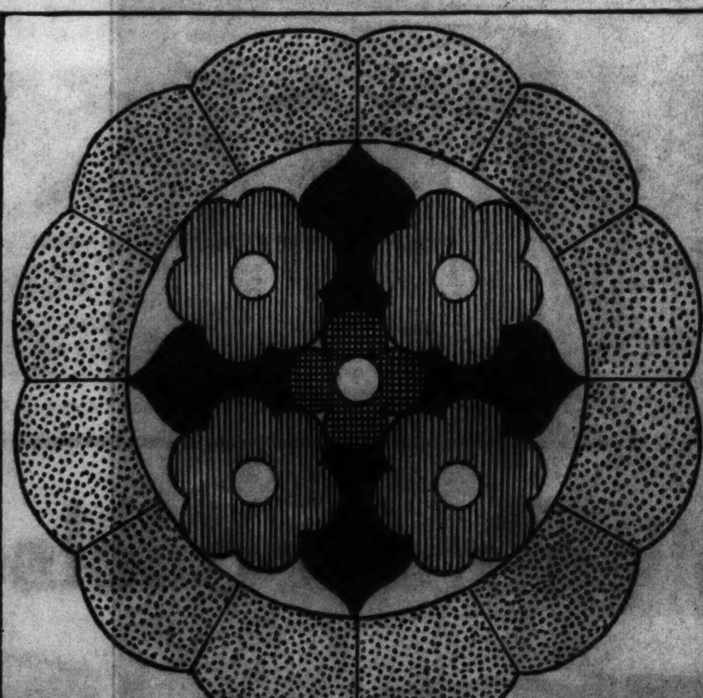
Quaint Quilt Block Captures Delicacy of Spring Blossoms



OLD FASHIONED BOUQUET

Patterns of this quilt design are 5 cents each, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

By Nancy Cabot.

THE delicate charm of early spring flowers is caught in this quaintly beautiful old block. First made in 1855, shortly after American manufacturers achieved success in material dyeing, the quilt was exceedingly popular. Lavender, blue, rose, yellow, and green, colors suitable to any bedroom, are the colors combined in the quilt. The completed block measures twelve inches square, and it is quilted in a simple leaf pattern.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Baby Carriage Shortage Causes Inconvenience to Infants and Their Mothers; If You Have Buggies No Longer in Use, Would You Give Them to Needy Babies?

If you are in need, perhaps I can help you. If you have discarded articles which are still useful, please tell me. I can place such things with needy persons. Address Sally Joy Brown, The Tribune, Chicago.

By Sally Joy Brown.

THE very, very young set seems to be suffering from a terrific shortage in transportation facilities. Five out of every ten letters seem to be requests for baby buggies and, with your help, I'd like very much to see that as many of them as possible are filled. A buggy means so much to both an infant and his mother!

The situation is just as difficult in cases of the first baby as it is when there are numerous small sisters and brothers. Mothers are generally weak and undernourished, living in crowded, sultry quarters, and a buggy is a boon in any case.

Won't you look over the following letters and select some case which may benefit by baby's discarded buggy or stroller?

"We have been assisting a young girl and her baby. She and the child live with her parents and four brothers and sisters, since the infant's father is not earning sufficient salary to support her. She is anxious to give the child the best of care, but is unable to carry it for any length of time, hence the baby doesn't have as much fresh air as is necessary. We will be glad to pick up a buggy if some reader is willing to pass on a discarded one for her use.—D. E. H."

"The S. family is greatly in need of a baby carriage. They have three children, a girl three and boys two and seven months. Mr. S. is suffering with tuberculosis and has been unable to work for three years. His wife has a serious heart condition and is confined to her bed, at doctor's orders. At present it is almost impossible to take the children out of the home, as there is no carriage. This is essential, not only for the health of the children but because Mrs. S. needs the rest she would be able to get if the children were out of the house a part of each day.

"M. A. Y."

Miss Y. is a social service worker who will be happy to arrange to call for a buggy.

We also need a baby buggy and a high chair for Mrs. T.'s baby. He's a robust child of six months and it is becoming impossible for her to carry him any distance. Her husband was recently given work after being unemployed for three years. His present earnings are insufficient to maintain the family, and it is out of the question for him to purchase a baby buggy.

"Dear Miss Brown: Being badly in need and unemployed, may we ask for help from your department? We are expecting a baby in a short time, and are unable to secure clothing for it. Both my husband and I are in need of clothing, too; he of a suit size 38, shoes 7½ to 8. I wear dresses size 38, and shoes size 6½. Anything at all will be greatly appreciated.

"MR. AND MRS. R. W."

If you know an invalid in need of a pair of crutches or a cane, Mrs. E. M.'s offer should interest you.

"Dear Miss Brown: I have a pair of new crutches and a cane that I would enjoy giving to some one in need of them. The crutches are 48 inches with rubber tips. E. M."

Write to Mrs. M. in care of this department. Please do not telephone.

Mr. O. is the father of three children, one of them a girl of sixteen, who has been an invalid for months. He has been out of work for some time, but has finally secured a position but must have suitable clothing. A discarded suit and underwear, size 48, will mean a great deal to him. Can you help him?

"Dear Miss Brown: Do you think any of your readers could or would assist me to get some clothing for my three children? My husband earns only enough for rent and food, and not one penny can be used for shoes or dresses. It hurts me to see my children so poorly dressed. My baby is still sleeping in a clothes basket, and has only two shirts, so that I must wash every day to keep him fresh and clean. He is one year old. My two girls are eleven and five, and, as I am able to sew, anything is acceptable. My husband needs overalls, size 38, very badly, but if we can make the children comfortable, we'll be more than happy. MRS. H. C."

Thermos Set Useful in the Sick Room

A THERMOS bottle, tray, and glass make a convenient set anywhere, but they are especially useful in a sick room. Bottles and trays are obtainable in bright yellow, green, blue, and brown. A dainty drinking glass is included to complete the set.

The tray fits conveniently on a bedside table. Water may be kept hot or cold as desired for about twelve hours. These sets are found in a Chicago department store.

ROMAN STRIPES FOR SPRING TAILLEUR

Roman stripes are used to advantage in this blouse worn by Verree Teasdale. Its tailored sleeves and square yoke are simple but distinctive, and the tie is graceful. It is a tuck-in model and is ideal for wear with spring suits or with separate skirt.

Long Years of Marriage Seem Minus Romance

But It's Up to Partners to Express the Love Which Still Endures.

By Doris Blake.

DO you feel that life has cheated you of love? That it's been a long, hard road with too rare intervals of happiness?

We're talking to you of the older generation, those of you who have been married twelve, fifteen, twenty, thirty years.

We're talking to you older ones because of a recent disclosure made by a husband who, on a thirtieth wedding anniversary, decided he had missed the one and only thing in life worth while—affection. He has worked and slaved for the wife and children for all these long years. The reward of affectionate outbursts has been meager indeed. Facing the remaining years, he wonders if somehow, somewhere he cannot wrest from life a little of that love for which we all strive and hope.

Early Romance Seems Far Away.

Well, don't we all who have lived long enough to see our children grown feel that we have been cheated out of a bit of the romance upon which we founded our matrimonial lives? It's been a long episode of strain and worry, work and accumulation, perhaps of possessions that in the final analysis are cold, inanimate dispensers of pleasure.

Yes, with rare exceptions, moments confront us all in which we see ourselves as individuals isolated from the stirringly romantic scenes of picture screen and literature. Isolated indeed, from the affectionate life with which some fortunate friend or acquaintance has been gifted.

It's human to indulge in these moments of wishing that things might be otherwise. Luckily, these indulgences are only temporary and we pick up the duties again, attacking them with the same vigor as previously distinguished the vocational work allotted us. Yet we wish that Dad might have saved for the harder years a little more resemblance to the old, affectionate, flattering, appreciative picture he was in his early days. Or, being of the other sex, one wishes that Mom were only one-quarter as willing to admit her man to be the prize wonder, as she used to tell him with kisses and hugs.

All Are a Little Hungry for Love.

Yes, we're all a little lonely, a little hungry, for affection expressed. A woman knows down in her heart that her man loves her who works and provides for her. And the man knows, too, that the woman who is conscientious in her duties at the other end of the partnership must have more than habit to spur her on. She must have love in her heart.

So, it isn't the lack of love in the hearts of married folk. It's the failure to express the thing in their hearts, the failure to tell it with encouraging words, loving words, and affectionate outbursts. But right here is the weakness common to most of us. We look to the other one to supply the thing we so ungenerously hold from the other person. This because, in our courtship days, we trained ourselves romantically to look to the other one for all the cheering, flattering expressions of love we now yearn to experience. But in these earlier days we gave just as generously as we received. Now, in the more mature years, we have simply become lopsided in our attitude toward the issue under consideration. We forget that we must give as well as must the one of whom we expect.

Apropos of the man who'd been wed for thirty years and regretfully views his life desolate of romantic love, a correspondent offers:

Perhaps Wife Can State Some Opinions.

"So, Pa, after thirty years of married life, calls himself cheated? Well, perhaps Ma could tell Pa a few things that would make him sit up and take notice.

"But Ma, being a fairly good sport, doesn't because she knows that he has more than his share of business worries at the present time. Yet Pa's indifference has caused many a lonely hour in her life that could have been avoided by just a little reassurance now and then. But somehow Pa always took it for granted that Ma was standing by, and when he got around to it she would still be there. He was so busy making money that he forgot.

"One day Ma's heart was so full she burst out, accusing Pa of being selfish. He took it to mean that she thought he was selfish. She meant he selfishly gave his time and energy to every one else but her. Yet he does expect Ma to give him her love, in words and affectionate demonstrations.

"If that husband's arms have itched to hold his wife, hers have ached, too, but why doesn't he make a move? They say men detest tears, so we women learn to check ours, but they're pretty hard to keep back sometimes. When your man accuses you of not being affectionate and it is his own unloving attitude that prevents you from throwing your arms around his neck, what can you do?

"Ma knows that her man has many a wearisome day at the office. Sometimes he must explode, and somewhere. Since time immemorial the wife usually gets the spontaneous outbursts that come from the depth of the chest only. So Ma guesses that it is part of her game to take it. But why, you lonely, hungry hearted husbands, why don't you make a move? Even though Mom appreciates that you are conservative, she simply can't play the lovable, huggable, kissable dear unless you give her a little come-on help. You used to be pretty good at it in the old days. All you need to do is to brush up on the technique a bit and, boy, you'll never go around telling the world that you're cheated."

Brushing up on the old technique is the solution, then! Ma, as well as Dad!

Since it is the most desired commodity in human lives, in domestic atmosphere particularly, why not brush up on the old art? There is no other panacea for the ills to which marriage is exposed.

Scenic Designs Again in Vogue on Chinaware

Used on Inexpensive Service Plates; One Set Depicts Famed Castles.

By Mabel Bryant.

EVERY so many decades there is the renewal of good old designs with modern touches applied to silver, pewter, glassware, and fine porcelains. At the moment china is taking a step into the past with the revival of ornate scenic designs which were so popular during our great-grandmothers' day.

While strolling among the ailes where beautiful chinaware was on display we came across some good looking breakfast and luncheon sets in soft ivory tones blended with rose, sepia, and lavender. This china had an interesting background. In fact, there was nothing but background. These dishes had a distinctly English atmosphere.

Early Sets Showed Hospitals, Jails, Asylums.

The set of dishes of greatest interest was undoubtedly "castle minded." The thirty-seven pieces of this set had views of old British castles—Haddon hall, Warwick, Chatsworth, Windsor, Ragland, and other castles not so well known to many of us.

While one may become tired of this particular kind of decoration, we think the subject a most pleasing one. Such views on your luncheon service would tide over an awkward lapse in conversation and perhaps increase one's knowledge of famous old castles.

When scenic ware was first made popular it embraced many subjects less pleasing as a whole. In the early eighties it was the fashion to depict churches, hospitals, jails, asylums, and almshouses. Fancy having your breakfast served on a picture of the poorhouse.

Since its designs are applied by transfer print, scenic china is most reasonable in price. It is only when some artist of note has by strokes of his brush made fine porcelain a work of art that a single piece commands a good price.

Most Service Plates Expensive Because They're of Fine Porcelain.

How many of us have promised ourselves some gorgeous service plates only to have to withhold our desires until some other time when we priced a set. The reason service plates are expensive is that most all of them are made of the best of porcelains. When these flawless pieces of porcelain are beautifully painted, besides being encrusted with gold, one can well understand why they are costly.

So in these days of economy we think it wouldn't be a half bad idea to look at some of these scenic views in attractive colors for service plates.

Bathroom Wall Coverings Are Smart, Inexpensive

IF one has the idea that the new materials for bathroom walls are expensive, this idea should be promptly dispelled. With most modernizing budgets limited it is interesting to note that many of the new wall materials distinctly modern in effect, are very inexpensive. Really stunning effects can be obtained at the present time by the use of really economical and up to date wall coverings.

FAT CLARA LEARNS QUICK WAY TO GET THIN

Now Easy to Lose Fat—a Pound a Day —Yet Eat Your Fill

Thanks to new scientific discoveries, a fat person can now lose a pound a day . . . yet eat even more than now.

All you do is take a teaspoonful of the new Condensed JAD Salts in a glass of water before breakfast, and make two small changes in eating, as explained in the Condensed JAD folder you get. The first day you lose 3 to 5 pounds moisture weight alone! The system is cleared of depleting poisons. Fat melts away, your youthful allure returns, yet you need never know a hungry moment.

Ask for the new economical Condensed JAD Salts at any drug store—and begin this quick method of reducing tomorrow. The Condensed JAD Salts, remember, is urged as a poison-banishing agent and to banish unhealthy bloating . . . not as a reducing one.

Thrills, Pathos, Tragedy Stalk in April's Best Movies

Critic Finds, Cinematically Speaking, This Spring's a Huge Success; Our Serious Dramas Seem to Lead in Excellence.

APRIL'S SIX BEST PHOTOPLAYS.

WILD CARGO	KEEP 'EM ROLLING
THE CONSTANT NYMPH	THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD
MEN IN WHITE	SISTERS UNDER THE SKIN

Best Performances in Honorable Mention Pictures: Herbert Marshall in "Rip Tide"; Ruth Chatterton, George Barbier, Adolphe Menjou in "Journal of a Crime"; Al Jolson, Dolores Del Rio, Ricardo Cortez, "Wonderbar"; Otto Kruger, Judith Wood, "Crime Doctor"; Aline MacMahon, Preston Foster, "Heat Lightning"; Spencer Tracy, Jack Oakie, "Looking for Trouble"; Bing Crosby, George Burns, Gracie Allen, "We're Not Dressing"; Burns and Allen, Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields, "Six of a Kind"; Johnny Weismuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, "Tarzan and His Mate"; Barbara Stanwyck, "Gambling Lady"; Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville, Mickey Rooney, "Love Birds"; Spencer Tracy, Pat Paterson, John Boles, Harry Green, "Bottoms Up."

By MAE TINEE.

GOOD Morning!

(I told you May'd come around again! Just look at it!)

Had a lot of fun in April. A RAFT of good movies!

"WILD CARGO." Good picture, I thought. . . . "Not one of those eat-'em-alive horrors, but a film calculated to give you an idea of just how 'wild cargoes' are captured. . . . This is a whole family picture. Dad will like it as well as sonny, and mother and little sister can watch without momentarily expecting sights that will turn their tummies. . . ."

"THE CONSTANT NYMPH"—"A charming foreign photoplay . . . adapted from Margaret Kennedy's book . . . one of those incredibly atmospheric cinemas that drift down on us occasionally with something of the lightness, perfume, and delicacy of a cloud of apple blossoms—vaguely disturbing, thrilling, saddening . . . a photoplay of worth and interest."

Drama in a Hospital.

"MEN IN WHITE." Adaptation of the Sidney Kingsley play. . . . "Most of the action occurs in a large city hospital. Activities in the operating room, corridors, interns' quarters, sick rooms, laboratories unreel interestingly. . . ."

"KEEP 'EM ROLLING." A movie to make you weep, with Walter Huston and a horse, Rodney, doing the honors.

"THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD." New Arliss production. . . . "The film is vividly and vigorously presented. The cast surrounding the star is a sound and brilliant one. . . . Star plays a dual role and in both parts is remarkable. . . . Swell picture! You'll love every minute of it."

"SISTERS UNDER THE SKIN." "Stand up and cheer!" enthused what's writing. "At last Frank Morgan has a part that's worthy of him! . . . Morgan's picture. He's practically the whole works and the trimmin's. . . . Picture is marvelously well done. . . ."

(What is that I glim in the offing? VACATION, as I live . . . !)

See you tomorrow.

This striking photograph is of that striking lady, Ann Sothern. (Harriette Lake to you when she was on the stage.) "The Hell Cat" is her next.

Monte Carlo Dancers Try Their Railroad Epic on New Yorkers and Are Greeted with Real Interest If Not Mad Enthusiasm.

By BURNS MANTLE.

NEW YORK.—[Special.]—It occurred to Col. De Basil, who has succeeded to the honors and responsibilities of the late Serge Diaghilev as the father of the Russian ballet, that what this country most needed at this stage of its emergence from the depression was an American ballet. A country so rich in folklore and colorful historic incidents, decided the colonel, should be represented in the modern dance forms.

He talked with his ballet master, Leonide Massine, and he, too, was impressed with the possibilities of introdcuing new forms of choreography expressive of the American spirit, its push and dash and quaintly rugged individualism.

American and Russian Collaborate.

The colonel's attention was called to a libretto written by Archibald MacLeish, having to do with that epic moment when two railroads built by rival groups of capitalists met at Promontory Point, Utah, in 1869 and completed the spanning of the continent by rail.

Here, said the colonel, was material to his hand. He agreed that a young Russian composer, Nicholas Nabokoff, should write the music. Practically everything was then ready except the money necessary for the ballet promotion. It was ever thus in art.

Ladies Remain Anonymous.

However, New York is a perfect nest of sponsors. No diligent search for one ever goes entirely unrewarded, and soon there were any number of art loving citizens willing to serve as backers for the new ballet. In fact, a group of lady members of the committee agreed to work right along with the colonel in the production of the ballet if they could remain anonymous, which the colonel said they could.

The ballet was entitled, somewhat prosaically but with strong American simplicity, plain "Union Pacific."

With everything in readiness, thanks to the coöperation of the anonymous American ladies' committee, "Union Pacific" was taken on tour with the Russian ballet and put into daily rehearsal. It had its world premier some weeks ago in Philadelphia, a little to the astonishment, I understand, of the Quakers in the audience.

Last week the ballet was brought to New York and shown at a $6.60 first night for the sponsors and their ladies and such Russian ballet fans as never miss a chance to see "Les Sylphides" and "Prince Igor," which were also in the bill.

Surveyor Indicates Intentions in Solo Dance.

"Union Pacific" is in four scenes. In the first scene Irish workmen—which would be the men of the Russian ballet wearing red Galway whiskers and checkered shirts—are laying the rails of the Union Pacific westward through Utah. A solo dance is contributed by the surveyor, indicating the right of way and his intentions regarding it.

The Irish workmen, with surpassing grace, carry in the ladies of the ballet wrapped in brown and black, the brown for the ties, and the black for the rails, and lay

Filmland Fancies

By GEORGE SHAFFER.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—[Special.]—Little Patricia Wheeler, 6 year old daughter of comedian Bert Wheeler, visits her dad on the movie sets whenever kindergarten and mother allow her the chance. The little girl was hostess to a movie set party of ever so many children on one of the stages at Radio-R. K. O. while her father and his comedy partner, Bob Woolsey, were appearing in "Cockeyed Cavaliers," which has sequences à la "Alice in Wonderland," making it a jumble of various fairy stories.

The kids, most of whom had been gathered for a sequence in the picture, but some of whom were small sons and daughters of movie people, got ice cream and cake and were allowed to ride the gentler horses used in the film story. Thelma Todd appeared before them as the fairy queen.

● It isn't too often that Will Rogers gets stopped cold without a retort. But it happened the other day when he was escorting a party of friends from Oklahoma about the Fox studio and stopped in on Director John Ford's set. Ford had been hard at work on a scene and had a big colored fellow waiting at the side of the set to complete an errand when the Rogers party came on. "Jack," said Will, "I want you to meet some good friends of mine from down in Oklahoma." "Fine," said Ford, "I'm always delighted to meet a good friend of Will Rogers," and he turned and shook hands with the amazed colored man.

Fay Wray, who is moviedom's champion horror cry shrieker outer, encounters much to make her blood run cold in "Countess of Monte Cristo." Yet she letteth out not one yip. The picture's at the State-Lake.

This is little Shirley Temple—playing in "Stand Up and Cheer." Some folks think her a great actress. Anyhow, she is a dear. This small lady can be seen over on the Palace screen. (Thar's po'try in them lines!)

"LAZY RIVER"

The little girl (Jean Parker) in the gingham gown (Is it gingham, Seeger?) and the youth in the denim (perhaps) shirt (Robert Young) have considerable to do in "Lazy River." At the Oriental.

Critic Thinks "Union Pacific" Fun but Not Art

Predicts Ballet Russe's Latest Dance Will Not Win Fame Outside America.

them side by side and likewise end to end. Which completes that episode.

Next scene the Chinese are building the Central Pacific from west to east, dancing over their right of way and being entertained by Lady Gay as leader of the light ladies who are following the railroad with an itinerant saloon called the Big Tent. The Chinese also have a surveyor, a picturesque fellow in white, who takes an amorous fancy to Lady Gay and joins the dance.

Now we come to the third scene, which is the most colorful of the ballet. It is in the Big Tent saloon. "Mexicans, gamblers, railroad workmen, and girls are crowded around the bar." I quote from the program. "A Mormon missionary enters. The barkeeper entertains his guests."

Does Barkeeper's Dance Typify Our Choreography?

The barkeeper's entertainment is a dance, by Massine in person, which combines the characteristic features of most American music hall and jaz creations, from Barbary Coast originals to Jim Barton adaptations, and was so much to the liking of the sponsors they made Massine repeat it. If they should try "Union Pacific" in Russia this dance, I have a notion, will be picked out as characteristic of the rhythmic ugliness we have beaten into the world's dance floor exhibits.

The Lady Gay is drawn into a wild dance with the workmen. She dances with her Chinese surveyor. She is desired by her Irish surveyor. When she repulses the Irish she naturally starts a fight. And that is the end of the Big Tent scene. Everybody with a stool for a shillalah and everybody wielding his weapon belligerently.

After the color and excitement of the third scene the meeting of the railroads and the general jollification goes a little flat. Two old-fashioned locomotives are nosed in from the wings. A half dozen funny little frock-coated capitalists, puffed with conceit, dismount and drive a golden spike into a wreath of laurel.

American Scene Full of Potential Ballets.

"A telegraph instrument beside the track ticks out the word 'D-O-N-E' and while the listening nation celebrates with processions in Chicago and bells in Omaha and cannon in San Francisco and the hymn 'Old Hundred' played upon Trinity chimes at the head of Wall street in New York, the capitalists, girls, workmen, and Indians pose before the camera at Promontory Point."

I doubt if "Union Pacific" becomes a permanent addition to the Russian ballet repertory except during its American tours. To me it has more novelty than artistic achievement to commend it. However, an interesting thesis could be written upon what I do not know about ballets in general and Russian ballets in particular.

The possibilities of America's future as an inspiration for interpretative ballets founded upon a Russian base is, of course, limitless. I look forward to the time we can see Detroit's endless belt of tractors picked out in dance numbers.

"Late Wisdom" Is Earnest but Dull Little Play.

The one new drama of the week was an earnest but dull affair entitled "Late Wisdom" written and staged by an obscure dramatist named Nathan Sherman.

It was Mr. Sherman's intention to picture the dilemma of a big business man when he discovers that so far as he personally is concerned life begins at 41. It is at that age that he engages Nancy Jackson as a new secretary, and although Nancy is engaged to marry a personable young fellow and he, Frank Dutton, is the head of a family consisting of Mrs. Dutton and two Dutton girls, love springs afresh in the heart of Frank, and he is made miserable by the feeling that it has come too late.

He had, he decides, married too young and without proper respect for those biological urges that cement affection. He would start again with Nancy, divorcing his wife and settling liberal allowances upon his children.

"Men in White," "She Loves Me Not" Win Prizes.

The secretary, also succumbing to a belated wisdom, goes dancing with her restless employer and in due time is enabled to cure him of his passion. Having attained what seemed to be the unattainable, the business man is content to return to his family. Nancy, being sacrificial by nature, lets him go without suit or protest. But she loses her fiancé.

Jay Fassett, who played the husband in "As Husbands Go" and the sappy senator in "Biography," was lured into the rôle of Dutton, and Franc Hale was the Nancy. Audiences tittered openly at the philosophies of the author, and I do not believe "Late Wisdom" will find its way either to the screen or the stock companies.

The Theater club and the Dramatists' guild have awarded their medals to what they consider the season's best plays. The former selected "Men in White" as the most important play of the year. The members of the Dramatists' guild gave a $500 Roi Cooper Megrue prize to "She Loves Me Not" as the best comedy of the year. The Megrue prize is given each year to that play written by a member of the Authors' league which, in the estimation of the playwrights themselves, was most successful in "making the audience a little brighter and a little more cheered up when it leaves the theater than when it came in." Last year Rachel Crothers' "When Ladies Meet" won both.

Four Plays on Chicago Stage; "Herbert" a Hit

Long Runs in Prospect for Comedy at Cort and "Richard of Bordeaux."

By Charles Collins.

DOTS and dashes about the drama. . . . The Chicago stage is now a four cylinder affair; the Cort, the Erlanger, the Studebaker, and the Selwyn are in operation. The Blackstone is not to be counted, for it omitted "Girls in Uniform" last night. . . . A week hence there will be only three cylinders, for "The Shining Hour" will fade out of the Selwyn.

● "Big Hearted Herbert" is a hit at the Cort, and Dennis King is flourishing at the Erlanger in "Richard of Bordeaux." Home folks comedy on the one hand, historical drama on the other. One may get a slant on tastes of Chicago playgoers from these two examples. . . . Apparently we want to laugh, and we want to learn. . . . In neither of these plays is there the slightest trace of the lechery for which New York has an insatiable appetite.

● Broadway impresarios make their greatest mistakes by clinging to the idea that Chicago audiences are somewhat roughneck in their taste. . . . As a matter of fact the richest stratum of our playgoers is cultural in its point of view. We go for Katharine Cornell, Walter Hampden, Eva Le Gallienne, and the Theater Guild in its most serious phases. . . . Broadway thought it would start the Chicago season off with a hurrah last October with "Sailor, Beware." We are still retching.

● Favorite adjective of the season in the theatrical journalism of the Atlantic seaboard: "salty." It means dirt that the critic likes. . . . There is a new favorite adjective, worked to death, every season. Somebody ought to keep a record of them. . . . Two years ago "magical" was the pet word.

● Charles Freeman, who made a reputation as a producer with the semi-pro "Girls in Uniform," is hoping to build up a subscription list for a series of Chicago productions next season. . . . Shaindel Kalish, his brilliant young leading woman, will remain under his direction and gain more experience instead of running out to Hollywood on invitations from six firms. . . . She says she has no ambition to become a movie puppet.

● The name of the American Theater society, which promised six plays at the Erlanger this season and gave four, should be changed to the Theater Guild Alliance. . . . Why? Because its subscribers hope, when they make their advance payments, to get Theater Guild plays. . . . Moreover, the Theater Guild is the only stable factor in the organization, although somewhat sluggish about sending out its own works. . . . Next fall, however, it will contribute "Mary of Scotland," with Helen Hayes, and "Ah, Wilderness," with George M. Cohan.

● The theatrical year is waning fast. A month hence its books will be closed and the summer dawdle will be at hand. . . . Plans for stage shows during the World's Fair period are vaguer than they were at this time last season. . . . Nobody seems to have any definite plans. . . . Maybe the "Ziegfeld Follies" will come here; maybe "As Thousands Cheer." . . . At any rate, those productions have been to send out publicity jottings in an evasive sort of way. . . . Indecision has become the chief characteristic of theatrical management. . . . But you can't sell tickets, or anything else, that way.

● Frank Gillmore, head of the actors' union, wants the Billboard, weekly theatrical journal, to swear off using the word "flesh" as a general term for nonmechanized entertainment. . . . Other words that ought to be dropped out of theatrical journalism are "ham," "turkey," and "chorine." . . . The phrases "stopped the show" and "stole the show" should also be tabooed. . . . They are cheap rubber stamps.

● Sunday matinées figure on the current schedule of the Studebaker. . . . "Affections Ltd." will stay there until May 19. . . . The Manx association, 50 strong, attended "The Shining Hour" last Thursday night in honor of Violet Hemming, whose father was a native of the Isle of Man. Violet spent her childhood on that iland, famous as the home of bobtailed cats and Hall Caine.

● Philip Loeb, who has acted in several Chicago plays during the last year, has become a theatrical statistician. . . . He has the figures to prove that 65 per cent of the members of the acting profession have earned during the last nine months from $2.88 to $12.00 a week.

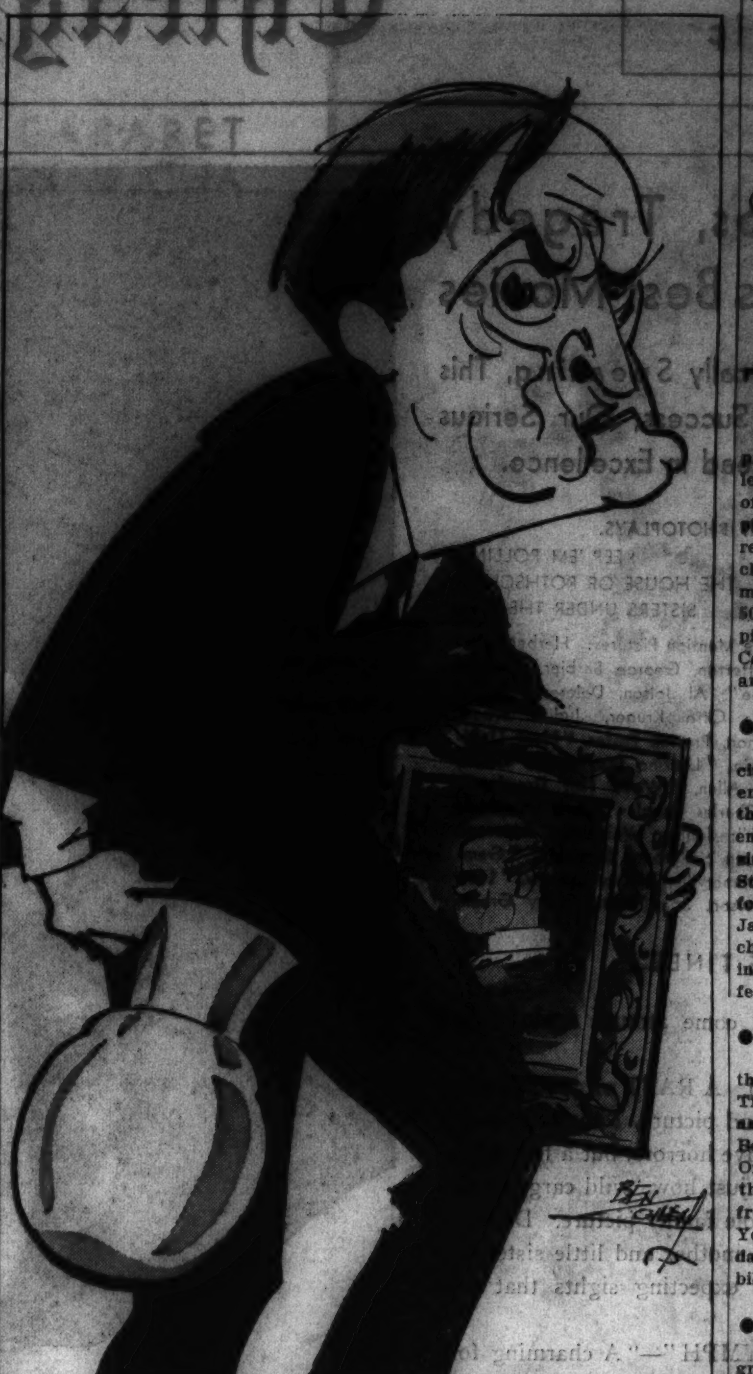
● Katharine Cornell thinks that the revival of the dramatic stage on a national scale largely depends upon the actors. If they will go on tour instead of clinging to New York she believes that it will happen. . . . That is the chief reason why she spent the last seven months in a far-flung expedition among the one night stands. . . . "If they are far-sighted," says Katharine, "they will follow my example. A following built up over the country when they are in their prime will remember them when they have grown old."

● Mary Hone, leading woman during Fritz Leiber's second season with the Chicago Civic Shakespeare company, is now playing the title rôle in Ibsen's "The Lady from the Sea" in New York. . . . This drama has not been acted in Chicago since 1911, when Helwig Reicher appeared as the sea witch with the all-star Drama Players under the leadership of Donald Robertson. . . . Montague Love, of "Richard of Bordeaux," is a veteran of the "silver screen" as well as the drama. He figured importantly in the following non-talking movies: "The King of Kings"; "Don Juan," with John Barrymore; "The Love of Night," with Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky; "Bulldog Drummond"; "Outward Bound," with Leslie Howard, and "Alexander Hamilton," with George Arliss.

Historical Drama.

Alfred Sangster, author of "The Brontes [Charlotte, Emily, and Anne]," has written a work called "Charles the Butcher." It deals with St. Bartholomew's massacre.

HERBERT ON THE WARPATH



[Drawing by Ben Cohen.]

"Big Hearted Herbert," the comedy now at the Cort theater, deals with the domestic habits of a horrible example of the self-made man. He is a grouch and tyrant who bears down upon his wife and children with tales of the hardships he suffered in his virtuous and toilsome youth. When they move the chromo of his homely father and his pet brass cuspidor out of the living room he almost starts a riot. This drawing depicts the widely known comedian, Taylor Holmes, in the role as he rescues his lares and penates from the attic.

First Year at Empire Room; Cabaret Bills

Cole's Orchestra Claims Night Club Record; Tic Toc Girls at Chez Paree.

THE Empire room of the Palmer house celebrated its first anniversary last Thursday with special events on its cabaret program. Richard Cole, orchestra leader and the Merriel Abbott group of dancers, who have been at the Empire room since its opening, claim the record for an unbroken series of night club shows—1,095 is the number. The management estimates that about 500,000 persons have visited the Empire room during its first year. Mr. Cole will end his stay there May 9 and Ted Weems will be his successor.

● Robinson and Loueen, a team of ballroom dancers regarded as specialists in the bolero, began a return engagement in the Walnut room of the Bismarck hotel last night. Other entertainers are Mara Santa, who sings Italian street ballads; Berenice Stone, acrobatic dancer; Maxine Chalfonte, singer of popular songs, and Jack Law, baritone. Al Kvale's orchestra continues to play for the dancing. Harp solos by Aida Salvi are a feature during the afternoons.

● Chez Paree will stage a new cabaret program next Thursday under the title of "Maytime Revue." The Tic Tocs, three girls who are regarded as a female version of the Yacht Club Boys, will be the featured entertainers. One is blonde, another brunette, and the third is a redhead. They come from the Park Central hotel, New York. Countess Emily von Loesen, dancer, will also be prominent on the bill.

● The Terrace Gardens in the Morrison hotel will offer a new program of cabaret amusement May 11. Clyde Lucas and his California Dons band have returned to this café for an all summer engagement. Romo Vicent continues as master of ceremonies.

● The Piccadilly Pub is a new café at the 63d street and Cottage Grove corner. It is under the management of Harry Feuer, south side restaurateur for thirty years.

● Arlene Selby, dancer in the College Inn, is said to have been reared in the South Seas. She studied under Theodore Kosloff, Russian dance maestro now in Hollywood. . . . Norman Selby, her partner, has appeared in three motion pictures—"The Painted Angel," with Billie Dove; "Loose Ankles," with Loretta Young and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., and a "short" with Ann Pennington.

● A performance of "Enchanted April," a three-act comedy, will be given in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel this evening, beginning at 5 p. m., by the Uptown Players.

DANCES FOR ROXY

While Roxy and his gang are disporting themselves with song, quip, and orchestral music on the stage of the Chicago theater this week, the young artist whose picture appears herewith is occupying a prominent position in the visual aspects of the show. She is Marie Grimaldi. A close inspection of her costume and the position of her left foot indicate that she follows the profession of the dance. If you take Roxy's word for it, she is good. And much of Roxy's success has been built upon the fact that he seldom errs in his estimate of talent.
[Photo by De Mirjian.]

Roxy Believes Shows Should Feed Emotions

N. Y.'s Maestro Says There Is Too Little Imagination in Our Entertainment.

By Edward Moore.

SPEAKING of contradictions, how about a man who went from Minnesota to New York and taught the city something it never knew before about putting on shows; who was the original cause of building the biggest home of entertainment in the world and prefers to go trouping about the country; who claims he cannot read a note of music and conducts huge orchestras in everything from Strauss waltzes to Tschaikowsky symphonies?

Roxy is in town, Roxy and his gang. Samuel Rothafel to his lawyers, Roxy to you and the rest of the showgoers. You will find them at the Chicago theater this week. Roxy and Viola Philo, Beatrice Belkin, Jan Peerce, Robert Weede, Cella Branz, the veteran comedian; Frank Moulan, the pianist; Henrietta Schumann, the dancer; Marie Grimaldi, the conductor; Jascha Bonchuk, and others to the extent of thirty-two in all, not counting the orchestra.

Music Hall in R. C. A. Roxy's Inspiration.

This is the group Roxy says must play to the left side. It is his own expression, and you find out after a time that he is not in the least referring to communism or the red flag, but to the heart. He insists that a good show must appeal to the emotions, and that altogether too many showmen have made their appeal to surprise effects. The first, he says, is remembered, and the second quickly forgotten.

"I don't want to talk about that," he says, being asked about Radio City in New York. "I just sold a bill of goods to Owen D. Young. He introduced me to the Rockefellers, and I sold them the idea. Have you been in Music hall? No? You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

Perhaps one should, for here one gets into some of the immensities of the profession of entertainment. In New York there is a giant of a structure called Rockefeller center. It covers almost twelve acres. It consists of twelve building units that are variously from six to seventy stories high. Four of them make up what is called Radio city, and Music hall is one of these. It seats 6,000 patrons, it has the largest stage and largest proscenium opening in the world, and it has a pipe organ to match its other proportions.

If He Can't Have His Way, Roxy Won't Play.

But after it was finished and occupied and running, there was a severance of relations. Roxy and the others had differences of opinion as to policies, and he left, coming down at the same time with a break in health that for some time was feared to be permanent. It was not, however. Now he is back in the work and doing it in the way he wants to.

"I am just fool enough to carry out my ideas—perhaps my ideals—in my own way, or I won't play," he says. Apparently a good many of his ideals apply to his audiences. He thinks that most people are nice people, and those are the people he wants to reach.

"Speed, good taste, and aiming at the left side—it is the psychology of the times," he says. "The whole show business is applied psychology."

But before Radio city came into being there was a whole series of other things. Roxy went from Minnesota to New York. He joined the marine corps, of which he is still a reserve officer, and he went through a line of theaters—the Rialto, the Rivoli, the Capitol, the Roxy. It was in this course that he began developing some of his ideas.

Makes Tschaikowsky Overture Part of a Stage Show.

Being a passionate lover of music, he thought that others might be also. The Capitol theater used to maintain a symphony orchestra of 100 and give regular symphony concerts. Sometimes Roxy conducted, sometimes one of his assistants.

He conceived the idea of making a notable piece of music the central attraction of a stage show. Tschaikowsky's "1812" overture, for example, might be played by full orchestra while there was a scene of Moscow with the shadow of Napoleon falling on the Kremlin. Sometimes he appealed to other senses. There might be a scene accompanied by perfume sprayed through the theater. "For the rest of your life, when you smell that perfume, you will remember that scene," he explains. "There are not enough real showmen in the world. They don't do what lasts."

But there must be nothing rococo. All must be in simplicity and good taste. Music hall is decorated according to what Roxy saw from shipboard one afternoon while the sun was setting, the sun and its streaming rays of light. That is the way to approach the nice people of the audience. So if you leave it to him, as you generally must, he will banish the hotcha and come out and conduct the Blue Danube waltz with all its swaying and flexibility and rubato and Viennese tenderness.

Is he sentimental? Maybe so. But he also seems to be quite sensible, to have his feet firmly on the ground along with those of his nice people.

Arthur Dunham has been engaged to play regular concerts on the large pipe organ to be installed in the theater on the Swift Bridge of Service at A Century of Progress this summer. He is director of music at the First Methodist church and conductor of the Chicago Association of Commerce Glee club. These concerts are to be in addition to the concerts twice a day by the Chicago Symphony orchestra in the same theater. It is reported that the organ will be used in connection with the orchestra as well as in Mr. Dunham's independent recitals.

After several weeks of negotiations it was settled and announced during the last week that the Detroit Symphony orchestra would be the musical feature of the Ford exhibit, playing two concerts a day like the Chicago Symphony, beginning its season three weeks in advance of that organization. Now comes word of opera to add to orchestra.

"The Jewess," by Halevy, is announced for performance in Soldiers' field Sept. 1 and 2 under the auspices of the Jewish Charity organizations.

CABARET HIAWATHA

An Indian dancing number is one of the pretty ballet features in the current cabaret amusement at the Empire room of the Palmer house. One of the most active of these young Hiawathas is Lorraine Santschi, depicted here in full stride as she pretends to prance around a camp-fire.

College Choir to Give Concert at Orchestra Hall

THE Augustana College choir of Rock Island, which left pleasant memories after its concert here last season, is returning on Wednesday evening to sing at Orchestra hall under the direction of Henry Veld. It is in reality three organizations—the Jenny Lind chorus of women, taking the first part of the program; the Wennerburg chorus of men in the second, and the two combined, or Augustana choir, for the rest of the evening.

The choir appeared here during the National Music Supervisors' conference of a few weeks ago and was chosen to represent the supervisors out of some 200 similar groups. As a result it has been invited to appear before the National Music Teachers' convention in Milwaukee next December. Since April 8 it has been on a tour of the middle west.

Two Polish orchestral compositions will have their first American performances tomorrow night at Orchestra hall when Jerzy Bojanowski appears as guest conductor of the People's Symphony orchestra. They are "Mountaineer Ballet," by Maklakiewicz, and "Lithuanian Rhapsody," by Karlowicz. The mazurka from Moniuszko's opera "Straszny Dwór" will also be included in this group. P. Marinus Paulsen is the regular conductor of the orchestra. Other numbers on the program will be Hadley's "In Bohemia" overture and Tschaikowsky's Sixth symphony.

The concert is being sponsored by the Polish Arts club under the combined patronage of Dr. Titus Zbyszewski, consul general of Poland, and Mrs. Charles Dewey, whose husband was formerly financial adviser to the Polish government. Joseph Moscicki, son of the president of Poland, will be the guest of honor.

* * *

This is the eleventh National Music week, though nothing has been heard from the organization of that movement to show that Chicago is taking any particular part therein. The Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, however, has planned concerts by numerous club choruses and is giving a series of broadcasts on the purpose of the movement.

SHE USED TO SING FOR ZIEGFELD

Janet Reade, one of three stars in a tabloid musical comedy now at the State-Lake theater, is a Ziegfeld alumna. She appeared in "Whoopee" with Eddie Cantor under that manager's auspices. Pat Rooney, veteran comedian, and Pat Rooney III, are the other featured players in this show, which is called "Musical Gambols."

The Voice of The Movie Fan

Letters published in this department should be written on one side of the paper. If you want personal replies please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Words of Praise for Greta Garbo.

My Dear Miss Tinée: Again you are right in your judgment of the new Greta Garbo picture, "Queen Christina." That is, in my opinion you are. There will be others who will laugh you to scorn, I suppose.

Garbo weaves her magic spell as never before. She was never in better voice, never more regal. No Hollywood actress, I believe, could touch her performance in the opening scene in the parliament, when she cries down the war lords. Few have that throaty "boom" in their voice, none the power. On the other hand, in the interlude with John Gilbert, over the basket of Spanish grapes, her voice is almost sibilant in its softness, and liquid smooth.

That whole scene in the inn is typical of her expertness. For many minutes she moves about from object to object in the room, with not a line to speak, and the camera grinding away. Yet there is never a false motion, never a wrong "note." And who will ever forget that closeup of her with her head on the pillow? Positively haunting! Alone worth the price of admission.

Rouben Mamoulian did a fine job. Settings are wonderful and employed with good effect.

Yours exhaustingly,
DAVE WEST.

P. S.: Who is the fellow who plays Gilbert's servant? Very humorous.

Editor's note: What do you mean, "exhaustingly"? C. Aubrey Smith playing the servant. Yes—excellent.

Retort to Those Who Debunk Mae West.

Dear Miss Tinée: I read with amusement, disgust, and disapproval the letter written you by E. C. in regard to Miss Mae West. More power to Miss West. Those who complain are jealous, narrow minded. There is nothing bold or vulgar about Miss West's pictures.

They admit they haven't seen her. What right have they to condemn? There are very few [if any] musical comedies, circus performers, choruses, either on stage or screen, that dress like Eskimos, and no art pictures at all. Neither THE TRIBUNE nor theaters are pulling children in to see a show.

If parents disapprove of certain types of entertainment they should take the children elsewhere. Say to church.

Hurrah for Miss West!
Hurrah for THE TRIBUNE!
Hurrah for everybody who believes in living and let live.

Very respectfully, M. S.

Editor's note: And with this letter endeth the Mae West discussion.

Another Voice Lauds la Garbo.

Dear Mae Tinée: Thank God for Greta Garbo. It is possible to go to the movies once more without having one's intelligence insulted.

She is every inch a queen [to borrow Shakespeare's phrase], particularly in the scenes where she defies the parliament crying for war; when she quells the mob, and in the abdication scene [which I think the finest Hollywood has done].

Yours respectfully,
HERMANN MUELLER.

Editor's note: Praise indeed!

NEW YORK, May 5.—[Special.]—Six premières are scheduled for the Broadway theatrical district next week. Two of them will represent operetta revivals; the others are new plays that arouse no curiosity in advance. The announcements:

"These Two"—Opens Monday at Henry Miller's. A play by Lionel Hale, London journalist. In the cast are A. E. Matthews, Helen Chandler, Bramwell Fletcher, Hilda Spong, Kay Strozzi, and Edward Emery.

"Bitter Sweet"—Opens Monday at the 44th Street. The start of a series of musical revivals by the Shuberts. Evelyn Herbert, Allan Jones, Bartlett Simmons, and Elizabeth Crandall are in the company.

"Pirates of Penzance"—Opens tomorrow at the Majestic. Another operetta revival.

"The Milky Way"—Opens Tuesday at the Cort. The saga of a milkman who becomes a prize fighter. Hugh O'Connell is the leading player, and others taking part are Leo Donnelly, Brian Donlevy, Gladys George, Emily Lowry, and William Foran.

"I, Myself"—Opens Wednesday at the Mansfield. This is the work of a former actress, now a teacher, Adelyn Bushnell. In the cast are Charles Trowbridge, Regina Wallace, Frank Wilcox, William David, Walter Baldwin, Harry M. Cooke, and William Bonelli.

"Every Thursday"—Opens Thursday at the Royale. The play by Doty Hobart in which Queenie Smith has been touring. Her company includes Leon Janney, George Carleton, Shelie Trent, Ann Dere, and Frederick Forrester.

Seeing Pirate Movie Filmed an Adventure

"Treasure Island" Being Made on Old Square Rigger at Catalina.

By Rosalind Shaffer.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—[Special.]—Taking a holiday jaunt with a motion picture company on location is replete with thrills—mostly of the unexpected sort. As Robert Louis Stevenson's famous adventure story "Treasure Island" is being filmed at Catalina, an opportunity was offered to come along and see the good ship Hispaniola and her crew. The expedition set out in high feather at seven o'clock in the morning, arriving at the harbor and setting off aboard a yacht for the iland, a good two and a half hour sail from the mainland.

It was a sight not soon forgotten when the yacht rounded a point to the north of the iland, beyond the isthmus, and the tall masts of the Hispaniola burst into view. The mainland beyond, with a number of coco palms set up, made a beautiful background for the ship anchored in the bay.

The square rigged ship with its carved wooden rails, handsome dolphins at the prow, and gorgeously done figurehead was a picture out of romance. Picturesque lanterns could be sighted as one approached near enough to pick out these details, and the British flag stood out in the breeze.

Ship Is Same One Used in "Eskimo."

The ship itself is the Nanpk, the one used in the Arctics in "Eskimo," a huge timber hulled vessel built sturdy against Arctic ice. To create the Hispaniola taller masts had to be obtained to bear the huge square sails and riggings necessary. Incidentally, it took a tremendous hunt to gather together the twenty men needed to rig the ship. There are not so many sailing ship seamen in these parts any more.

The type of rigging used on a square rigger is expensive and has of course fallen into disuse as the art of sailing has declined. The twenty men are inhabitants of a little community near San Pedro harbor, a sort of sailors' club of an informal sort where they share what luck brings them in the way of employment, and talk of the good days when sailing vessels enjoyed the respect that was their due.

Not less picturesque than the vessel itself with its colorful Spanish gildings and carvings is the crew. Climbing aboard one would find it easy to get a bona fide thrill, for the hard featured, scarred seamen in their stained eighteenth century garments are convincingly piratical, what with dirks stuck in their belts and tarry pigtails on their necks.

Barrymore and Beery Play Leading Roles.

When I tell you that John Anderson, champion discus thrower of the Olympics, is one of the crew you get what I mean when I say they looked dangerous. They are for the most part large men. The most comforting and reassuring thing was the sight of a couple of them reading movie fan magazines and eating popcorn. What Henry Morgan would have said to this is hard to tell.

Among these worthies playing character rôles are Edmund Breese, William V. Mong, Charles McNaughton, Joseph Kerrigan, Douglas Dumbrille, Nigel Bruce, Tom Wilson, and others. In leading rôles Lionel Barrymore plays Billy Bones, arch-villain; Wallace Beery portrays the slick Long John Silver; Jackie Cooper is the enterprising young Jim Hawkins, and Lewis Stone is Captain Smollett.

There may be no women in the story, but aboard this pirate craft are two women, Mabel Cooper, mother of Jackie and admittedly the best scout on the ship, and Jackie's teacher, a pleasant brown-eyed woman who will talk longer than three mothers about Jackie for whom she has no end of enthusiasm and admiration. Strange sight, Mabel Cooper in a white silk sailor suit with slacks, and the school teacher in yellow suit, quite ladylike, with the band of bloodthirsty pirates of sword scarred faces.

Hearty Seaman Balks at Wearing Knee Breeches.

A funny situation developed in the course of the shooting. Victor Fleming, the director, harassed with eleven days of fogs which held back shooting, was trying to make time as it was the first clear day the company had had. Lewis Stone as Captain Smollett and Nigel Bruce as one of the loyal company were approaching shore in a rowboat and being shot at by the pirates aboard the Hispaniola. The trouble seemed to be that one of the actors playing a seaman couldn't row and the boat was taking a higgledy-piggledy course. It was finally decided to get one of the crew in charge of the actual manipulation of the Hispaniola to get into costume and row. It seemed simpler to make an actor of a seaman than a seaman of an actor.

A huge bronzed Swede was docile enough about putting on a wig, and while he snorted a bit he even agreed to put on make-up, then the seaman's shirt, but when it came to donning the knee breeches he quit cold. He called them "sissy." So, clad in eighteenth century clothes to the waistline and dungarees below decks, he sat in the boat while the cameraman so arranged the shot that lack of knee breeches was unnoticed.

Jackie Cooper Has a Great Old Time in the Rigging.

WON BEAUTY SHOW TITLE

She is Berenice Decker, a dancing girl in the cabaret show at Chez Paree. Once upon a time Berenice was awarded the title of "Miss Chicago" by some organization or other for her comeliness of face and figure. She seems to have retained her prize-winning charms.

[Maurice Seymour Photo.]

Jackie Cooper himself was having a high time climbing all over the ship and even in the rigging when not watched and having a big time with his stand-in, Johnny Dunsmuir [his first stand-in by the way—he has never rated one before]. Johnny is a boy Jackie's own age, who makes a great playmate for the lively Jackie. What two boys couldn't find a thrill in being aboard a ship?

In the middle of the afternoon there came a message from the mainland for Wally Beery. In three seconds flat he stripped off his make-up and was aboard a speedboat bound for a plane to fly back to town. His wife, Rita Beery, ill with heart trouble, had had another sinking spell. Beery flies back and forth to location every day so as to be with his wife at night. The plane and speedboat stand by at all times.

Lew Stone is making a pretty fair job of enjoying the expedition. His new yacht, the Phantom, stands by and he lives aboard it with his wife and enjoys home cuisine. This is the sturdy ship that fought off the gale off Cape Hatteras with Malcolm MacGregor aboard last season.

Mountain Trail One-Car Wide Is Full of Thrills.

Extras of the company are lodged at the village on Catalina isthmus and fed at the commissary. Most of the principals are living at the hotel 26 miles from the isthmus. Avalon is the iland's main harbor. It's a bit of a trip to get back to Avalon from the location. There are two ways to do it. One is a thrilling trip in a speedboat which bounces along like a flying fish, meanwhile shipping plenty of spray all over the passengers.

The other, equally thrilling and a good deal longer, is motoring by the overland trail, which is one car wide through the lofty iland mountains, exposed to the winds from the open sea on the west. As the mountains are higher than anything near Los Angeles on the mainland the winds at nightfall are piercing. Add to this that the ilanders have a contempt for anything as sissy as lights on a car—our car drove blind all the way.

There was another thrill in encountering some of the herd of buffalo that roam the iland, three playful horses that refused to leave the roadway on the highest peak, and a couple of minor avalanches which had filled the road with loose rock. There was talk of the gale that hit the ship a couple of days previous and had blown the square rigger, 100 souls aboard, into the open sea. The actors were sent below decks and all equipment was lashed fast till things were gotten under control and the ship maneuvered into the harbor.

"Roxy" Brings Radio Troupe; Variety Shows

THE impresario and master of ceremonies known as "Roxy," whose name is S. L. Rothafel, offers the stage entertainment at the Chicago theater this week. He is in charge of a production that contains many of his radio performers. The participants include Beatrice Belkin, soprano; Robert Weede, baritone; Henrietta Schumann, pianist; Jan Peerce, tenor; Harold Van Duzer, tenor; Viola Philo, soprano; Maria Grimaudi, dancer; Frank Moulan, comedian, an orchestra, and a choir.

"Musical Gambols," a song and dance show running for an hour, is the stage entertainment at the State-Lake theater this week. Its stars are Pat Rooney, veteran comedian; Pat Rooney III., and Janet Reade, formerly with Eddie Cantor in "Whoopee." Other performers are Roy Cummings, Florence Roberts, Mona and Marino, and thirty chorus girls.

* * *

Solly Ward, dialect comedian of many years' stage experience, leads the vaudeville portion of the program at the Oriental theater this week. His company includes Jean Boydell, Stanley Kavanaugh, Jones and Hull, Mildren Lyon, Hallie Todd, Ted Cook's band, and the Alton ballet. "Lazy River," a sketch dealing with the "Cajuns" of the Louisiana bayou region, is given by Robert Young.

* * *

Walter Winchell, the newspaper columnist and radio gossip, leads the new vaudeville program at the Palace theater. Other performers are: Eddie Garr, mimic; Fay Adler and Teddy Bradford, dancers; Bob Carleton and Julia Ballew, in songs and dances, and Buster Shaver, assisted by George and Olive Brasno. On the screen: "Twentieth Century," with John Barrymore.

SHAKESPEARE IN 1600 STYLE FOR WORLD'S FAIR

B. IDEN PAYNE and Theodore Viehman have arrived in Chicago to confer with Thomas Wood Stevens in regard to Shakespeare performances to be presented this summer at A Century of Progress in the Globe theater, now being constructed in the Merrie England Village. They will collaborate with Stevens in the direction of this enterprise, and are now busy preparing short, carefully worked out versions of Shakespeare's plays, the choice of players, and rehearsals.

"We will have a real Elizabethan stage and a practical entire theater such as was used in Shakespeare's days," says Stevens. "Even at the Carnegie Tech theater in Pittsburgh the stage had to be built into a modern theater. But now, for once, an Elizabethan stage is being built which will permit us to give short, carefully worked out versions of Shakespeare—not individual scenes or acts, but versions so constructed that they will preserve the high lights and motifs of the essential characters.

"The architects are following what records we have of the original contracts for the Fortune theater, built in 1600. These historic contracts are defective only when they specify certain things to be constructed as in the Globe theater, which was built in 1599. But we have as nearly as possible filled in the few gaps."

B. Iden Payne, formerly director of the Manchester Repertory in England, and for five years general stage director of Charles Frohman, Inc., was at one time associated with Stevens as director of the Carnegie Tech theater in Pittsburgh. Theodore Viehman is considered an authority today on English folk dances. Stevens, formerly director of the Goodman theater, Chicago, and the Carnegie Tech theater, has written and directed many pageants.

"Enter Madame"

EUGENIE LEONTOVICH will be the leading figure in the Milwaukee Dramatic festival this week. She will appear in "Enter Madame" at the Pabst theater.

This play by Gilda Varesi is the final item on the dramatic program for which capacity houses have been frequent in a theater with a seating capacity of 1,600. Six plays in five weeks with leading New York actors have been staged at the invitation of Margaret Rice, manager of the Pabst, under the direction of Robert Henderson of the Ann Arbor drama festivals.

Mme. Leontovich, who was last seen in "Grand Hotel," has in "Enter Madame" the rôle of an opera singer who comes home to discover that her husband is on the point of divorcing her to marry a woman of the "home-lover" type. But the glamorous prima donna so enchants him again that he is ready to forget the carpet slippers and "elope" with her to South America. Featured with Leontovich is Elizabeth Risdon, leading Theater Guild

OLD-TIME COMEDIENNE IN NEW PLAY

Frances Kennedy, leading actress in "Affections Ltd.," the comedy now at the Studebaker theater, was an important member of a famous Chicago playhouse — the La Salle theater of the Singer-Askin-Hough-Adams shows. She was popular then, and she is still winning applause in a cast that also contains her grown-up daughter, Frances Kennedy.

MOSCOW TO HOLLYWOOD

Anna Sten was born twenty-four years ago in Kiev, Russia, of a Swedish mother and a Russian father. After achieving fame in her own country she came to America, via Berlin. Having made a hit in "Nana," she is now at work on "Barbary Coast." When she's finished she'll continue her globe trotting, which, she says, is "in the blood."

Learning English Biggest Hurdle to Sten's Fame

The Temperamental Little Russian Found Tutors Just Got on Her Nerves.

By Mae Tinee.

"TELL me—what do you know about this Anna Sten, anyway?"

Every day—and sometimes two and three times a day since "Nana" came to town—I've been asked that question. So, I figured, since folks seem so interested in the Russian find that it might be a good idea to put a piece in the paper about this lovely blonde newcomer.

[Right off the bat—she's NOT Marion Marsh. My mail has revealed that a lot of amateur Hawkshaws—men and women—really are convinced that she is.]

I said "newcomer"—but she's not so much a one at that: been in this country eighteen months; learning to speak English; waiting while the producers hunted a suitable story for her; making "Nana" from the Zola novel; re-acting her rôle when, the picture half finished, Goldwyn decided it wouldn't do. No, not such a newcomer . . . !

Goldwyn Impressed by Sten in "Brothers Karamazov."

Anna came to the notice of Samuel Goldwyn while she was playing in the Berlin produced picturization of "The Brothers Karamazov." She made a tremendous impression on the American impresario and he lost no time in signing her up for English speaking pictures—despite the fact she no spika de language.

Triumphantly he sailed with her across the ocean blue to the United States—and then his troubles began!

For teaching little Russian Anna English proved no hotcha job. Several teachers were fired because the temperamental foreigner couldn't get along with them. Then along came one whom she liked all right but who talked with a French accent. THAT wouldn't do! Mr. Goldwyn et al. tore their respective hair and lifted wild eyes to the unresponsive skies until, at last, Margaret Knapp—once of the Broadway stage—appeared. She proved the McCoy. Trouble was, Anna had the most uncanny facility for picking up dialects. After a conference with her patron it was "oi oi" with her. Talk with Willard Mack, the Irishman who prepared the last screen scenario of "Nana," and she had a brogue you could cut with a knife. . . . Well—it was all extremely difficult. . . .

Director Swore No Man Could Understand Nana.

"Nana," under direction of George Fitzmaurice, was partly made when Goldwyn blew up. Fitzmaurice blew up immediately following the boss' eruption.

"I CAN'T 'GET' NANA!" he said. "Just CAN'T understand the character. No man COULD . . . !"

"Ha, so no man could!" Mr. Goldwyn shouted. "I suppose a woman could, eh? All right—we get a woman."

And that's why Dorothy Arzner was paged. The completed picture is proof that she DID understand.

Miss Sten—or Mrs. Eugen Frenke—her husband is a doctor and not allowed on her set when she's working—was born Dec. 1, 1910, in Kiev, Russia.

Her mother has Swedish blood. Her Russian father, who conducted a ballet school, is said to have been a great favorite in the Ukrainian folk dances, so popular throughout the countryside. He was killed in the war with the White Russians when Anna was 11 years old. His family, consisting of wife, Anna, and an older sister, was left penniless.

Some People Say Sten's "Just Another Blonde."

After working first at one thing and another—slavey in a restaurant, etc.—Anna secured a small part with one of Stanislavsky's traveling troupes—and landed in Moscow! Here she appeared in stage répertoire and later in two films, "Yellow Ticket" and "Moscow Laughs and Cries."

Soviet officials saw promise in her and sent her and her director to Berlin to make soviet films. The sequel I've told you.

Though ravishing in pictures, Miss Sten is declared by people who have met her in person to be "just another blonde." She's 5 feet 5½ inches tall and weighs 120 pounds.

Miss Sten insists on having screens placed all about the part of the stage where she's working, as even seeing folks at such times disturbs her.

She clings to Russian food and, if rumor be true, is never so blissful as when comfortably seated before a bowl of herring chopped in sour cream, with plenty of vodka on the side. She has her heavy meal at noon.

Anna Gets to Work at Seven-Thirty.

Jaz she adores, and when they hear somebody humming "Shuffle Off to Buffalo" around the Goldwyn lot it always makes them think of Anna, because that's her favorite tune.

Miss Sten is an indefatigable worker. Every morning at half past seven her little black coupe flashes through the studio gates, and, "You always know it's hers," says the gate guard, "because up beside the windshield is a bunch of posies that she's picked along the way."

Travel Anna adores. She plans to be on her way as soon as she finishes "Barbary Coast," the film that follows "Nana." To quote her—"I have no home."

She refuses to be interviewed and is a bit scornful of Hollywood society. Her favorite indoor sport is embroidering after the fashion known as Russian peasant handicraft.

[Tell you later if I find out anything more about her.]

BITSABOUTEM

PARTLY because of gangster threats made against her MAE WEST has canceled a proposed personal appearance tour. . . . EVELYN VENABLE has signed a new contract with Paramount.

FRED ASTAIRE, well known dancer, is to star in the adaptation of the Dwight Taylor play, "The Gay Divorce," in which he has starred for over a year, appearing both in London and New York. The rôle offers him opportunity to make full use of his comic and dancing ability. GINGER ROGERS will be his leading woman. . . . LARRY "BUSTER" CRABBE spends his Saturday mornings teaching youngsters to swim at one of the Los Angeles playgrounds. . . . CHARLES CHAPLIN and his staf are preparing their forthcoming picture, which is to be a silent one, according to Alfred Reeves, Mr. Chaplin's manager. It will, however, have musical accompaniment similar to that in "City Lights."

JACK OAKIE'S been doing some calisthenics in mental arithmetic. After watching 68 chorus girls in "Murder at the Vanities" work for four weeks, he has it all figured out that: [1] If the liquid makeup used was put together it would amount to 13,476 gallons—enough to gild all the elephants in the Bronx zoo daily for a year; [2] if all the greasepaint used was made into one pencil, it would be 5,281 feet high and sixteen inches in diameter; [3] if all the clothes the girls wore were sewn together into a single garment it would make a nice pair of pants for Baby Le Roy; [4] if all the long haired blonde wigs worn in one number were made into one it still wouldn't be big enough to cover—whose head did you say, Jack? [5] if all the perfume the girls used during the four weeks of shooting were poured together it would require a bottle eleven feet tall and six feet square to hold it. . . . GEORGE ARLISS is in London on a visit which will include his making his first British film. It is reported that he will portray a celebrated English character. Work on the production will not be started until early August.

PLAYING LEADING ROLES IN MAYTIME SOCIETY AFFAIRS

- Lower right: Mrs. Frederick W. Tower will be in charge of the young women who sell flowers and cigarets at the Infant Welfare supper dance the Oak Park and River Forest junior auxiliaries will give Saturday night at the Stevens hotel.
- Lower left: Mrs. Harry J. Ramshaw is co-chairman with Mrs. William Y. Gilmore of one of the committees in charge of a supper dance to be given Saturday night in the grand ballroom of the Stevens for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society.

- Center: Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, the former Jean Elizabeth Angus of Honolulu, is a charming addition to Chicago society. As a member of the Junior league she has taken an active part in numerous philanthropic enterprises, and recently has devoted much time to promoting the good work of the Arden shore association.

Estates of F. F. V.'s Recapture Radiant Splendors in Spring

By COUSIN EVE.

BUSHFIELD, Mount Holly, Va.—(Special.)—What grander thrill for an American than Garden week in Virginia, when ancient houses and historic estates are open to visitors! Aristocratic Richmond, Charlottesville, rare old Williamsburg, restored in its entirety by John D. Rockefeller Jr., are alive and throbbing with tourists.

April is the month to see the James river plantations, early Georgian houses, glorious trees, and perfect gardens at their best. Full flooding are the rivers of Virginia from spring rains, and we cross and recross by ferry or long, trembling bridge the swift Rappahannock, the York, the James, the Chickahominy, and the Pamunkey, all of a sunny day.

Jefferson His Own Architect.

Equally as lovely as these tidewater plantations are the Blue Ridge mountain estates. Aloof on a mountain top the famous Monticello of Thomas Jefferson, great architect, whose house is a national shrine. Author of the Declaration of Independence and President of the United States, he designed many of the beautiful mountain houses of his neighbors and also that dream of architectural splendor, the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

Then in the Orange district, in the foothills, is Montpelier, the estate of James and Dolly Madison, with gardens of their own making, unsurpassed. Who can decide between these estates in Tidewater, cradle of liberty—mountain houses dotted grandly along the Blue Ridge, skirting the flowering apple trees of the Shenandoah valley—or the proud mansions of the wealthy planters of the Potomac, of which George Washington was one?

I write from one of the historic houses of the Potomac, owned for twenty years by a Chicago family. I can see a tall, graceful figure bending over a bed of pansies in a brick walled garden. This is Mrs. Mark Willing. Olivia, a little black pony, and two hunting dogs are watching her work. Down that lane of poplars back of the garden came riding many a time George Washington to visit his brother, John Augustine, who owned Bushfield. Prior owners were the Bushrods who intermarried with the Washingtons, many of whom are buried in a tiny cemetery near the garden with quaint epitaphs: "Here lies ye body of John Bushrod, Gent, who died April 16, 1719."

Centuries Cannot Alter Virginia's Watery Roads.

Bushfield is a charming brick house. It appears simple, yet one knows better. It faces the Potomac, from which it is separated by a wide "bowling green." The river here forms a little bay, sheltered by small ilands from the sweep of the main stream. On the largest iland Pocahontas was hidden from white boy friends by Powhatan. The estate is a long, wide peninsula bounded by Nomini river and Butcher's creek, in which are oyster beds. Marvelous oysters are a feature of Bushfield's daily menu. From the white pillared portico to the Potomac the velvety bowling green is bordered by flowering lilacs, crêpe myrtles, and feathery willows. From the side lines yellow jonquils and blue violets show their heads.

Birds sing with Bushfield's southern languor. On the right are barns and small outhouses of the plantation, and back of the great house fields and forests not yet in leaf, but plashed with the pure white dogwood and red purple of Judas tree.

History repeats itself. Mr. and Mrs. Willing have much to say of the villainy of the road leading to their house. In his famous diary Philip V. Fittnan, tutor at Nomini hall, house of Robert Carter, tells this story:

A stranger was driving to pay his respects to the master of Bushfield. After rolling and splashing down this long lane on a misty day, the road being awash and the ditches overflowing, he shouted to his postilions: "I say, how far out in the Potomac does your unfortunate master live?"

Dining Room Panels Hide Gaping Cannon Holes.

Monday morning early we motored to Yorktown in pale sunshine, crossing the yellow brown Rappahannock by bridge and the silvery York by ferry. Here De Grasse had bottled up the British fleet. At York hall, Adele Chatfield-Taylor's and her brother's, George Blow's house, Lord Cornwallis surrendered.

The brick house in a narrow street is a treasure. An oval court, ivy box, bricked terraces, and violets and yellow primroses everywhere. Inside, four square state apartments, and brightly painted panelings in peach, primrose, gray, that had been uncovered from seven overcoats of paint and paper.

In the dining room, under a panel, two cannon holes that had killed British officers dining, and a Negro butler. Washington, Rochambeau, Lafayette, De Grasse dined and slept here. It was originally the house of Gov. Thomas Nelson, a hero who mortgaged his whole fortune for the revolutionary cause and was left to pay by an ungrateful congress.

Famed Room Saw Two Great Men Thwarted in Love.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor had just left for the races at Middleburg with Mrs. Howard Linn. They had occupied small brick gardeners' and guest cottages in the wonderful garden, seven of them scattered in a compound of velvet grass. Wisteria vines were in full flower. Lilacs, white and purple, Irish yews, black and beautiful in the center of flower beds, and, more than anything else, pansies of great size blossomed in profusion. There were magnolia trees, twittering birds, and the brick walls of the garden draped with aged ivies shutting out the world.

A tiny town is Yorktown. From there we tore along Pocahontas trail to Carter's Grove, built by "King" Carter for one of his many sons. Considered by Virginians the most glorious relic of the past, it has been superbly fitted by Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McCrea with veritable Chippendale furniture and rarest specimens. I remember oval gold mirrors topped by waving gold feathers and the "Refusal Room." Here, according to our lady guide, George Washington was turned down by fair Mary Cary, and Thomas Jefferson's love was discouraged by Bessie Barrows, his fair Belinda.

A master wood carver from England lived for fifteen years on this plantation. The main hall and stairs are in pine, walnut, and poplar, lovely beyond compare. No garden, but terraces down to the James, and great tulip trees.

Williamsburg Restored to Eighteenth Century Splendor.

Then Williamsburg. Here Mr. Rockefeller has recreated the ancient executive town in its quaint glory. Here was the social season of the wealthy planters, replete with dinners, balls, cock fighting. The tall brick house of burgesses floats the British flag. The palace of the governor is superb, a complete reproduction even to old woods and floors and the ancient Chinese paper of the "supper room."

One finds the Raleigh tavern, with table set in the private "Daphne room" as in Washington's time, and the lovely blue and white Apollo room, where Phi Beta Kappa was founded by James Madison and John Bushrod. All the little shops are brick. All we need is a Madison, a Jefferson, a Washington, a Patrick Henry to dash in on horseback. At Williamsburg was the first playhouse in America.

Great crowds landing at the hotel that day, piles of motors.

GREETING THE SPRING IN OAK PARK

A tweed coat with a smart off-the-face hat to match were chosen by Mrs. William Y. Gilmore of Oak Park for her spring outfit. She is busy with arrangements for a supper dance to be given by the junior auxiliaries of the Oak Park and River Forest centers on Saturday, May 12, at the Stevens hotel, for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society.

Paris Season Has Promise of Great Brilliance

Turn Out for Famed Cafe's Opening Augurs Well for What's Coming.

By May Birkhead.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The spring opening of a famous restaurant and theater in the wooded patch near the Place de la Concorde, between the Champs-Elysees and the Avenue Gabriel, was earlier this year than usual. The event, with all the traditional concomitants, unrolled in a splendor that previous springtime inaugurations there have never surpassed. From the standpoint of attendance and dress, it was a brilliant affair and augurs well for the plat of the spring season in Paris, which will gather gear from now on till the Grand Prix in late June.

Celebrities were to be seen on all sides and among them quite a few Americans. The former Barbara Hutton, now Princess Mdivani, there with her husband, Prince Alexis Mdivani, was extremely handsome and effective in black satin with a big butterfly bow of red velvet in the back and a superb necklace of rubies. In their party was the handsome Greek girl who captured the big beauty prize two or three years ago and was known as Miss Europe. She was Mlle. Diplarakos and is now Mme. Lazard Weiller. Also in the group were Señor José M. Sert and his wife, who was attractively gowned in flowered organdy, topped by a Hawaiian-like lei of wild flowers and also a stunning diamond necklace. Mrs. James Corrigan had the Marquis and Marquise de Polignac [the former Mrs. James Eustis] among her guests.

New York Architect in Party with Greek King's Widow.

John W. Harris, the New York architect, formerly of Chicago, was in a party with Princess Aspasia, widow of the late King Alexander of Greece. Robert Ritchie, who was once said to be engaged to Jeannette MacDonald, was in a group with Lily Damita, Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, and her sister, Lady Furness [Thelma Morgan].

Other Americans were Mrs. Henry Symes Lehr with Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh; Comte Louis de Danne and his American wife, formerly of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mixsell; the Hon. Mrs. Reginald Fellowes, who was striking in black, with a short cape covered with a queer sort of iridescent aigrettes; Elizabeth Arden with her brother-in-law and sister; Vicomte and Vicomtesse de Montblanc; Mrs. Ethel Broadwater, entertaining Prince Djordjadze and his American wife; Comte de Frise, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ordway. From across the channel was a group, headed by the Duke and Duchess of Westminster, and including several distinguished women, among them Lady Crewe, wife of the former British ambassador to Paris.

Farmer, Gloria Swanson's Ex-Husband, Gives Big Parties.

Michel Farmer, the last husband of Gloria Swanson, was in a large party. He has recently come to Paris without Gloria, and it is said that a divorce is soon to be filed. Anyhow, Michel Farmer is here and is often the host at big dinners.

The leading numbers on the program at this summer theater-restaurant are given by the Gertrude Hoffman girls, who had a success on the Riviera throughout the winter. As usual, several of the star acts are imported from Broadway, and the general opinion seems to be that the show is the best the establishment has ever had.

Montecito Men Revive Customs of Pioneer Era

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—[Special.]—The local Chicago colony was practically swept off its feet in a "back to the saddle" movement this week. More than 200 business and professional men, including several prominent Chicagoans, enjoyed the annual trek of Los Rancheros Visitadoros into the mountainous hinterland. The event marked the start of a series of Sunday paper chases and drag hunts.

The rancheros, as the business and professional men who go "wild west" for three days call themselves, abandoned automobiles for saddles and stage coaches and made the long ride from Santa Barbara back through the mountain to the Santa Inez valley, winding up at Rancho Juan y Lolita, picturesque rancho of the John J. Mitchells, where an amateur rodeo provides the final thrill today.

Among well known Chicagoans who participated were Mr. Mitchell, who with his wife and son arrived here last week; Elmer Awl, who almost missed because of illness and who, despite his cowboy hat and boots, this week was commissioned as a lieutenant of the United States naval reserve, and William Butterworth, retired Moline manufacturer.

Paper Chases to Be Held Each Sunday.

The paper chase, attended by more than 50 equestrians, including most of the members of the polo colony, was through the hills of Montecito. A series of similar events will be staged each Sunday as a community affair.

Mrs. Oakleigh Thorne, an authority on flowers, was feted by Mr. and Mrs. William MacDuffie in Berkeley preceding the preview of the California garden show. Later in the week Mrs. Thorne was hostess to Mrs. Jonathan Bulkley, Richfield, Conn., and New York, president of the Garden Club of America, who visited here.

Mrs. Thorne is regional vice president of the same organization.

Dr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Brush, both well known in Chicago, were honored at many affairs following their return from a world cruise, accompanied by Jack Cochrane, Mrs. Brush's son.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker of Chicago have arrived to pass six weeks at their home. Former Gov. R. Livingston Beeckman and Mrs. Beeckman, who returned to Newport several weeks ago, had the Meeker home in Montecito last winter and fall.

Mrs. Horace Gray of San Francisco, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meeker, is a visitor in Montecito en route to her home in the north. She has been visiting in the east.

Fred Stone, noted actor, was a luncheon guest of Edward Borein at Alpaseo. He came to California to see Will Rogers in his new play, "Ah! Wilderness." The three have been friends since their cowboy days.

Prince and Princess Zurlo Are Guests of John Tanners.

Mrs. Robert C. Chatfield-Taylor of Montecito, who was called east several weeks ago by the death of her father, has returned to her home. Mrs. Robert Hunter of Montecito, her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Ransom Spafford Hooker of New York, and Miss Gwethalyn Jones of Montecito are visiting in San Francisco.

Prince and Princess Jean Capece Zurlo of Paris and Rome have arrived from San Francisco this week-end to visit Mr. and Mrs. John S. Tanner at their home on East Valley road several days.

Princess Zurlo was formerly Mrs. Alla Henshaw Tanner. She was the widow of Brent M. Tanner, son of Mrs. John James Tanner of 15 El-bosque road, and a brother of Dr. Tanner.

John Hays Hammond, distinguished mining engineer, who, with his sister, Miss Hammond, is an annual winter visitor, has returned to Washington, District of Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis V. Lloyd entertained eight guests at a hotel supper dance recently.

Mrs. Taft's daughter, Venetia, will join them after her school term is over.

Congressmen's Wives Need to Know French

'At Least Enough So They Won't Address Letters to "Mrs. Chez Curtis."

By Genevieve Forbes Herrick.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—[Special.]—A congressman's wife may have to know her onions. But she doesn't always know her French.

The other day the Congressional club, composed of the spouses and daughters of congressmen, held a fashion show. Among the exhibitors was the wealthy, socially correct Mrs. Laura Curtis, who runs as a side line an exclusive dress shop which she names "Chez Curtis."

Well, after the party it fell to the lot of one congressman's little wife to write the thank you letters to the exhibitors. She had them all finished when another congressman's wife, snooping around among the letters, was horrified to find one addressed to "Mrs. Chez Curtis."

"O, Mrs. So and So," exclaimed the wife who knew, "that's absolutely wrong."

"No, it isn't," insisted the wife who didn't know, "I've walked past her shop, and it says big as life, 'Chez Curtis.' So that must be her name."

● It was a bit ironic, wasn't it now, to have Mrs. Roosevelt tearing through a week at a breakneck speed, pausing the other Saturday to dash into a Girl Scout meeting dedicated to "leisure time activities"? Mrs. Roosevelt has no leisure time that I have ever been able to find.

● Duty, plus pleasure, took me the other evening to dinner at a fashionable girls' school near Washington. As we made the grand tour of the school the girls rushed me over to three high backed cathedral chairs to which they pointed with great pride. It seems that when Queen Marie, that glamorous lady from Rumania, made her famous visit to America several years ago, the Rumanian legation here was distraught because it felt it didn't have any throne chairs quite elegant enough to seat royalty. This school had a set of such chairs. So they lent three of them to the legation.

Queen Marie sat in one when she received the official call of President and Mrs. Coolidge. The chairs were returned to the school. In the front right leg of one was one notch. That was the chair in which Marie had sat. Chair number two had two notches. Cal Coolidge had sat in that. Three notches on the third chair designated that it had been sat in by Grace Coolidge.

I believe seniors at this school are permitted to sit in these chairs if they have good grades.

● Some of the newspaper women gave a county fair this week and had a spelling bee. Lots of distinguished women took part. All were glad that the words were not pronounced by Secretary of Commerce Roper. He did the pronouncing at a spelling bee over at the Women's Democratic club recently. Now Secretary Roper's a southerner, so half the folks couldn't understand the way he pronounced the words.

The worst was "dyspepsia." He made it sound something like "dispepsee," and the women had a terrible time making it out. Finally somebody who had been born above the Mason-Dixon line had to take the book and call out the word.

● The celebrated "Ma" Williams, mother-in-law of the late Joe Leiter of Chicago, is famous for the entertainments she sponsors for charity. One of her gayest was the "color-aura" show she put on at a swank club this week. A lady lecturer told about the influence of colors on personality, and so on.

Mrs. Roosevelt dropped in, tarried quite a long while, and finally had to leave. Just as she got to the front door in rushed Mrs. Abby Morrison Ricker of Chicago all done up in an Eleanor blue gown and ready to sing for the President's wife.

Mrs. Ricker saw Mrs. Roosevelt leaving and sighed. Mrs. Roosevelt sensed the situation, turned back into the club, and waited to hear Mrs. Ricker sing. And a right good songster she is, too.

● Fred Britten, Chicago representative, has one of the loveliest Gobelin tapestries I've ever seen.

● It looks now as if art were going to be ruled by Washington's rule of precedence. The paintings done under the public works of art project are in such demand it's going to take a social secretary to get things straightened out.

For instance, take that picture called "Old Pennsylvania Farm in Winter." Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Tugwell thought it was a nice agrarian subject, and he put in a bid for it with Edward Bruce, official custodian of all this art.

Bill Phillips, undersecretary of state, also looked on it with favor and asked Ned Bruce if he couldn't have it. Then along came Senator Warren R. Austin. Now Mr. Austin comes from Vermont, but he evidently had no state prejudices. The Pennsylvania scene looked good to him. He asked for it.

There has been no official ruling. But report has it that the pictures will be distributed according to the official rank of the persons who ask for them.

● Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan senator, would rather read a book about Alexander Hamilton than eat.

When Chicago Was Young

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend, Julia Boyd of New York.

By Herma Clark.

Chicago, Nov. 6, 1883.

DEAR JULIA: Will telegraph you from the station on our arrival in Chicago, so I know you have been assured of our safe journey home, but I want to thank you again for our delightful visit with you. Your hospitality has been the theme of our praise ever since we left you. Fifth avenue will always be a sort of fairyland to Will and me. It was all delightful . . . the reception you gave for us when we met so many distinguished New Yorkers . . . dinner at Delmonico's . . . seeing the museums . . . driving in Central park behind your beautiful bays.

But the greatest treat of all, I think, was seeing Henry Irving in "The Bells." We all have our small vanities, I suppose, and it has been quite exhilarating to mention [bursting with pride, but trying to act modest] that we were present at the first performance of the great English actor in America. Our friends can hardly believe that the deluge of rain didn't affect the attendance. Of course the high price paid for seats would make most purchasers determine to see the play at all hazards. You really should not have spent so much on your visitors. You must come out to Chicago at Christmas and let us try to repay your generosity. And I trust your maid was able to press out your evening gown so that it wasn't ruined by the dampness.

We were so much more fortunate than most people, who carried their dripping umbrellas about during the evening, ruining their evening clothes. Your excellent footman—with your training, added to his British upbringing—was our salvation. I saw many eyeing us with envy as he came into the foyer and relieved us of our impedimenta.

I have been thinking over Irving's performance and have decided that he is a great actor. His methods are new and somewhat puzzling. His mannerisms aren't always pleasing. I don't call him graceful. I thought he dragged one foot rather unpleasantly. He hasn't fine features. All these are on the negative side. But I forgot every disadvantage he possessed when, in the third act, his voice rang out in the words: "No more dreams; no more bells tonight. I triumph, for my conscience is at rest." Wasn't the audience just spellbound when, under the influence of the mesmerist, he reënacted the crime? It was a relief to me when the curtain fell. I thought I couldn't stand much more agony, for I was suffering with him.

This afternoon I took a drive with Will to see some of the new buildings going up. St. Luke's hospital is erecting a large group of buildings at Indiana avenue and 14th street, where it will be possible for a larger work to be done. Michael Cudahy is putting up a fine home on Michigan avenue near 31st street. Mr. Cudahy is one of our important meat packers. C. T. Yerkes, street car magnate, is building at the corner of 32nd street and Michigan avenue. His past is not altogether commendable, and I hardly think he will find himself taken into the inner circle of Chicago society, but, as Will says, he is improving our beautiful avenue. Then we saw Mr. M. D. Wells' handsome new home at 26th street and Michigan avenue. It is quite magnificent . . . brownstone and pressed brick. With the barn it will cost $175,000, I hear.

With love from us all, I am your old friend, MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

FOOTNOTES.

Have any readers a memory of Irving in "The Bells"?

The first answer received last week about the hymns of Father Faber was from Irene Jean Crandall, who listed three: "Faith of Our Fathers," "O Paradise," and "Hark, Hark, My Soul."

Robert A. Jamieson gives the above and adds three others: "Sweet Saviour, Bless Us Ere We Go," "Was There Ever Kindest Shepherd," and "O Gift of Gifts."

Mary A. Jeffers adds that many of Faber's hymns may be found in St. Basil's hymnal.

Events of Last Week.

Tea at the Foundling's home, 15 S. Wood street. We were interested to know that this old institution was founded by the saintly Dr. George E. Shipman, at the instance of Allan Pinkerton, whose men found many abandoned infants in making their rounds. More than 20,000 wanderers have been received in this old red brick building since the beginning of the work. It is a house of peace and good will.

Races Begin to Rule Routine of Society in East

Gala Opening of Jamaica Is Promise of Bright Days Later at Belmont Park.

By Nancy Randolph.

NEW YORK.—[Special.]—A noted weather prophet having decided that the cool weather we have not been enjoying is due to the earth passing through clouds of cosmic dust, the social wags at our best bars are hoisting their Manhattans to the toast of "Here's cosmic dust in your eye."

That gives you an indication of Gotham's attitude towards anything and everything. Not even cold weather can dampen society's spirits, for we have not had so promising a summer to contemplate in ages and ages.

The scene out at Jamaica these days is thrilling all of us. Not that society cares much for the track over the sound, since Jamaica is far from a proper setting for the sport of kings. But with the newly legalized betting racing has taken on a new lease on life. Thus, if Jamaica is gay and colorful, what, society is asking, will our beloved Belmont Park be like? And the question calls for no reply other than a sigh of ecstasy. There will be air commuting from Newport and Southampton such as one has never before seen. There will be a steady stream of motors each afternoon across the Queensboro bridge, and there will be such parties in town of a night, after racing is finished, as will bring back memories of the early years of Rector's and Martin's, of Reggie Vanderbilt and the Brothers Whitney, and the long, long roster of colorful men of town and track who have gone from the metropolitan scene.

Truly this will be a summer! When dear old Sir Thomas passed on, the yachting enthusiasts, who number a goodly part of active society, were of the opinion that cup racing would not recover in a long, long time.

Now every one knows different. Here it is barely May and already the famous station 10 of the New York Yacht club at Glen Cove is open and busy. It was in this quaint little building that the idea for the racing yacht America was originated in 1851. Commodore John C. Stevens sailed her to France, refitted her with a racing rig, and won the cup of the Royal Yacht squadron in a race at the Isle of Wight. In 1857 Commodore Stevens presented the cup to the N. Y. Y. C. for a perpetual challenge trophy.

For more years than most of us can remember the lean, polka dot cravatted Sir Thomas Lipton tried vainly to regain the cup. Now T. O. M. Sopwith has challenged and all New York is agog. As every newsreel has shown you, the British Endeavor is in the water at Gosport, and the defender candidate Rainbow will be launched at Bristol, R. I., on May 20.

The Endeavor will have as a companion across the Atlantic the 214 foot Vita, formerly the Argosy, which Capt. Sopwith bought of Charles A. Stone of Locust Valley.

Catalogs for 1934 World's Fair Art Exhibit Bigger and Better than 1933's; Lecture Series Repeated

More Full Page Illustrations to Be Used; Talks to Be Given Twice Daily.

By Eleanor Jewett.

THE Art institute is humming with various activities connected with the forthcoming World's Fair exhibits. Special Century of Progress art catalogs are being compiled. The catalog of painting and sculpture will be similar to that of last year which was so ably edited by Daniel Catton Rich, associate curator of paintings. There will, however, be more full page illustrations in the 1934 catalog. From the greater number of illustrations a better opportunity will be given to study the details of certain great works of art.

It is intended that there shall be at least ninety-six pages of reproductions of the most important paintings in the 1934 show and it is hoped the book may be finer, better printed, and more clearly printed than the similar volume last year. The price remains the same—$1 for the stiff paper binding and $1.50 for the cloth binding, with 17 cents postal charge added if mailed to any address.

"Little Italy in Spring," by Charles Burchfield, lent by Mr. and Mrs. Lesley G. Sheafer to the Chicago Art institute for the 1934 Century of Progress Fine Arts exhibition which will open June 1. This is one of the paintings in the contemporary American section.

Lectures to Deal with Both Classical and Modern Art.

Another catalog to be issued by the Art institute is one devoted to the Century of Progress international exhibition of etchings, engraving, lithographs, and woodblock prints. This exhibition will be held in the print galleries on the first floor of the museum. More than 400 items will be in this exhibit. The illustrated catalog of 32 pages will sell for 25 cents, just half the price of last year's catalog. Mailing is five cents extra. Orders are now being received for both of the catalogs. Address: The Art Institute, Michigan avenue and Adams street, Chicago, Ill.

The talks on art, with special reference to the official World's Fair fine arts exhibition, which proved one of the most important and popular features of the 1933 Fair, will again be given a prominent place in this year's program at the Art institute. Plans for the lectures are under way. They will be held in Fullerton hall every day, including Sundays, at 12:30 and 2:30 p. m. The general subject will be "Masterpieces of the Exhibition," and the talks will be illustrated with slides in full color. Each day one talk will discuss a masterpiece of the past, the other a painting of the present.

Dudley Crafts Watson will lecture on Wednesdays, Thursday, Fridays, and Saturdays. George Buehr will lecture on Sundays and Mondays. Miss Helen Parker, head of the museum instruction department, and Daniel Catton Rich, associate curator of painting, will alternate with visiting lecturers in substituting for Mr. Watson at stated times on Tuesdays.

Private Groups May Be Formed for Detailed Study.

Arrangements are also in the making for a general tour through the exhibition of sculpture and paintings every week day at 9:30 a. m. and on Sundays at 1 p. m. Every week day at 11 a. m. there will be a lecture in the galleries on a selected section of the exhibition. The fee for all gallery tours will be 25 cents a person. Private guide service may be had upon request. The charge for this is $1 an hour for two persons or less, and over two, each additional person, 50 cents. Private groups may be formed upon request for more detailed study of the collections. Miss Helen Parker, head of the department of museum instruction, assisted by Miss Helen Barsaloux, is in charge of all of the gallery tours.

Art Institute to Show Paintings of S. F. B. Morse.

When one knows something about the painter of a picture it brings the picture into clearer focus and gives it a human quality which otherwise is all too often missing. The Art institute gives several interesting comments upon Samuel F. B. Morse, whom most of us know as the inventor of the telegraph but whom the Art institute will introduce to us this summer in his rôle of portrait painter, a rôle Morse played with good success.

Morse was born in 1791 and was about six years old when Stuart, who had been a sensation in England, returned to America and engaged in painting his brilliant portraits of President Washington. There was much talk of painting in the air. Young Morse exhibited a talent for drawing and when Washington Allston, a beloved and popular American painter some twelve years his senior, sailed for England, the boy begged leave to accompany him. Morse soon found favor in England and stayed there several years. He exhibited at the Royal academy in 1813 a painting entitled "Dying Hercules." He came back to America and solicited portraits, but orders were few, and he was compelled to lure sitters with the offer of fifteen dollars per head!

Visiting Charleston, S. C., he had better luck, painting, in 1818, fifty-three portraits in five months. Last summer the Art institute showed in its Century of Progress exhibit a portrait of Susan Root Fitch by Mr. Morse. This year one of the inventor's finest and most important works will be shown. It is his "Portrait of General Lafayette," lent to the Art institute by the New York Public library. Morse gave up painting after he had invented the telegraph, but to the day of his death kept his keen interest in the progress of American art. He was the founder of the New York Academy of Design, still a factor in the art life of New York City.

News of Interest to Lovers of Art.

The South Side Art association is sponsoring during May an exhibit of paintings by Marcena Barton, Charles Mullen, and Herminie Stellar at the Chicago Beach hotel.

Eyes that have "the Arden look" are young...sparkling...luminous...

DEMEYER

Elizabeth Arden knows all about eyes. Realizing their compelling charms she has evolved a treatment for the eyes that is marvelously effective and quite delightful. A restful hour...gentle manipulations unwind the taut nerves... relaxed muscles are vitalized... tell-tale lines are softened.

To complete the treatment, deft touches of eye-shadow and cosmetique are applied. The result is amazing! Eyes that have been tired and dull become brighter, richer in color, lovely enough to inspire a sonnet.

This is but one of the beauty feats accomplished by Elizabeth Arden's Sensation Treatment. For an appointment, please telephone Superior 6952.

Federation of Illinois Clubs to Meet Here

Clubwomen of Entire State Will Begin the Annual Sessions Next Sunday.

By Ruth DeYoung.

IN a progressive frame of mind, a phalanx of clubwomen, several hundred strong, will move into Chicago a week from today for the thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs. Preceded by board meetings on May 14, the convention is due to open at nine o'clock Tuesday morning, May 15, and continue through the evening of May 17.

After the first session, which will be devoted principally to a welcome from Mrs. William Franklin Farrell, president of the state federation, another from Mrs. Roy F. Hoadley, vice-president of the northern region of the state federation, and to the reports of standing committees, the convention will concern itself mainly with symposia on matters of national and international interest.

Will Review Part in Public Affairs Tuesday.

The general federation's participation in public affairs will come in for review Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, appears as the principal speaker at the annual dinner for state board members and general federation chairmen. Mrs. Poole's topic will be "The General Federation Marches On."

An interesting array of speakers is scheduled for the Tuesday afternoon session and for both of the meetings on Thursday. On Tuesday Dr. Howard Leonard Bowman will discuss "Homes, Hapless and Happy," and Dr. George H. Betts will speak on "The School in the Days Next Ahead." Public health and hygiene will be treated the same afternoon in an address by Dr. Lena K. Sadler, and Mrs. Richard M. McClure, chairman of motion pictures for the General Federation of Women's clubs, will tell of motion pictures in a talk entitled, "The Arabian Knights of the Machine Age."

Several Speakers Comprise Program.

On Thursday morning the speakers will be Charles W. Hadley, who will talk on "The Dawn and Twilight of Our Civil Liberties"; Lottie Holman O'Neill whose subject is to be "The Merit Versus the Spoils System"; and Capt. John Stege who will discuss law enforcement. Prof. Franklin B. Snyder of Northwestern university, Dr. Willard J. McLaughlin, also of Northwestern, and Samuel Arthur Campbell will be speakers at the Thursday afternoon meeting.

One of the nicest of several social events planned for the convention will be a preview of A Century of Progress at 3 o'clock Wednesday. Following the tour Mrs. Rufus C. Dawes will be hostess at tea in the Administration building. On Wednesday evening the juniors of the federation will have a program in the Hotel Sherman ballroom. A dinner on Thursday evening, the program for which will include an address by Miss Emily Louise Plumley, chairman of American citizenship for the General Federation, and a concert by the Woman's Symphony orchestra, will wind up the three day convention.

Mrs. Seymour Is to Be Candidate.

Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, chairman of the American home department of the General Federation, who will be a prominent figure at the convention meetings, is to be presented at the forthcoming meeting of the General Federation council at Hot Springs, Arizona, as a candidate for the second vice presidency of the national federation. The nomination has been made by the board of the state federation.

One of the nicest parties of the spring comes this week with the breakfast which the Mothers' Aid of the Chicago Lying-In hospital is to have Wednesday at the Standard club. Charles K. Freeman, the director of the drama "Girls in Uniform," which closed yesterday after a record breaking Chicago run, is to be the speaker, and members of the cast will attend as special guests. Still others at the speakers' table will be Dr. Joseph B. De Lee and Dr. Frederick Adair. Mrs. Harry B. Kempner is president of the Mothers' Aid, and Mrs. Ernst Freund is president of the board of the Lying-In hospital.

Jewish Big Sisters Have Frolic Tonight.

To raise funds that they may be of even greater assistance to underprivileged Jewish girls, the Jewish Big Sisters are going to have their annual Maytime frolic this evening at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club. For 18 years this group has rendered honorable service to the community, operating on the slogan "Prepare and Prevent Rather Than Repair and Repent." Mrs. Philip B. Sachs is president of the group, with Mrs. Arnold Epstein and Mrs. Maurice Epstein as co-chairmen of the frolic.

Well aware that the annual production of the Blackfriars at the University of Chicago is a major attraction, the Chicago Auxiliaries of the Dorothy Kahn club for Crippled Children are sponsoring a special performance of the production the evening of May 16 in Mandel hall on the university campus.

The name of the show this year is "Merger for Millions" and the plot satirizes the proposed merger between Northwestern and Chicago. Proceeds from the affair are to go to the convalescent ward and solarium on the Sarah Morris addition to Michael Reese hospital, built and maintained by the Dorothy Kahn club. Mrs. Samuel Winograd is the club president.

A BRIDE FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Miss Elizabeth Joan Mott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mott of Scranton, Pa., was married to Maurice H. Gresham, son of Mrs. Rose Gresham of the Chicago Beach hotel, on April 19. Mrs. Rose Gresham gave a reception for her son and his bride last Sunday.

French Give 'Shalts' and 'Shalt Nots' on Wine Drinking

PARIS.—[U. P.]—Despite the deluge of wine that has poured into the United States, there still is a stock here in metropolitan France of a mere five and a half billion bottles.

The exact amount of bottled wine on stock is 5,517,111,500 bottles, and that does not take into account some few thousand hogsheads and tanks of ordinary wine, which, however bad, never is ordinary.

The amount of this wine subject, or available, or liable to export, is about 3,000,000,000 bottles, the remainder being wine due to be absorbed by serious drinkers here amounting to about 2,624,937,000 bottles, mostly from the four principal table wine districts.

Another item which somewhat disturbs the French wine grower is the fact that Algeria has on hand a stock of 1,709,115,400 bottles, which can be marketed in France or abroad and which, being cheap, probably will find its way into ordinary wines in France, which are cut with many vintages and sold for about 15 cents a bottle, making a good table wine for the economic householder.

The long lean years of prohibition, along with the closing of the Russian market and the stifling of the British market through taxes have left the caves of Champagne still laden with millions of bottles.

British Court Predicts Duchy for the Prince

It Is Believed King Will Create Son Royal Duke on Return from Africa.

By Ann Whittingham.

LONDON.—[Special.]—Court circles believe that when Prince George returns from his successful tour in Africa the king will create him a Duke of the Realm.

The Prince of Wales' title, the Duke of Cornwall, goes with his position and the Duchy of Cornwall, and dates back to 1337, but the king exercised his royal prerogative when he created the title of Duke of York for his next son in 1920, and that of Duke of Gloucester for Prince Henry in 1928.

Prince George is quite old enough to become one of the royal dukes. His two brothers were 25 and 28 when they became the Dukes of York and Gloucester, respectively.

Princess Elizabeth Entertains at Party.

Princess Elizabeth had a grand time on her eighth birthday. She gave a party in the drawing room at Windsor castle and wrote out the cards herself. She sent one of her invitations through the mails to her sister, the Princess Margaret, having learned that the latter adores to receive things through the post.

Among her presents was a light tennis racket and a set of light balls from the Duke of York, who thinks it is now time for her to begin tennis. He will teach her himself, as he is a first rate player.

She is rapidly growing up. Her soft golden hair is down to her shoulders. Her French is said to be very good and she is making progress at the piano.

All in all, she pleasantly fills the public eye.

Ministry of Labor Bans Foreign Maids.

Since the ministry of labor shut down on the admission of Scandinavian, Swiss, and German girls, the servant problem has become the despair of the professional classes in Great Britain.

These foreign girls were a godsend. They had all studied English in their native schools and were anxious to perfect it. Under the arrangement now closed, each girl was allowed to enter and take a domestic post for one year, but it could be prolonged for an additional year. They were tiptop cooks, miles ahead of English servants, and very gay and good humored in their work. And their coming in this way is part of an old tradition. One Danish girl told me that her mother and her grandmother had spent one or two years in service in England during their younger days.

But the ministry of labor and the home office found it hard to keep track of them. When they changed their posts they were slack about notifying the authorities and that sort of thing gives deep offense in England. So they have all been barred and hundreds of housewives are wringing their hands.

And so are the agencies, which have scores of applications for maids on their books and no maids to offer. Every three months or so the "famine in maids" blazes up as a newspaper topic, but the famine persists.

Of the "stately homes" of England, the only ones with no "servant problem" these days are those in which there is a village or two on the estate from which girls can be drawn for training.

The ministry of labor has a special school for training unemployed girls and women for domestic service. They are offered a free ten weeks' training course, with board, room, and 75 cents weekly for spending money, with a uniform at the end and a job guaranteed. The school has room for ninety girls, but the highest number it has ever had was sixty!

British Woman Will Compete for Cup.

Mrs. T. O. M. Sopwith, wife of the owner of the new British yacht, Endeavour, will be the first woman ever to participate in the race for the America cup.

Since her marriage in 1932, she has sailed constantly with her husband and it is heard that she will be one of the crew during the races in American waters.

Over the radio she was heard christening the yacht, and her voice was as attractive as her picture. It is predicted that America will like her.

The Highland society of London, of which the Duke of Connaught is president, has acquired, to its great delight, the fine collection of Highland and other tartans formed by the late J. G. Mackay of Portree, the great authority on the kilt.

Highland Society Gets Mackay Collection.

The society's own collection contains a great number of tartan patterns authenticated, signed, and sealed by the chiefs of the clans concerned, as well as a number of the old eighteenth century gilts, but there are gaps in it where too enthusiastic Highlanders have borrowed over the last 150 years and forgotten to return. Those gaps can now be filled from the Mackay collection, and the society feels fairly certain that it now has a 100 per cent complete record of the highland costume.

GARDENIAS FOR CHARITY

One of the south side's most popular young residents, Miss Helen Wilkins, has been invited to sell gardenias and cigarets the afternoon of May 22 when the Friendly Aid society holds its annual card party and tea in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Through this affair the society is seeking to raise $5,000 for the nineteen charities it helps to support.

French Cellars Have Five Billion Bottles of Wine

PARIS.—[U. P.]—The following "thou shalt nots" of the book of wine etiquette should be carefully memorized by those interested in genteel drinking.

This wine "Decalogue" has been prepared by the Paris Institute of Wine and Gastronomy, founded by Carl E. Ullern, a Frenchman, and Frank C. Nesbit, an American.

The wine commandments are based on the best French practice; they contain a number of "shalts" as well as "shalt nots," which are as follows:

1. Never shake a wine.
2. Never put ice in wine, red or white.
3. Don't mix wine from two bottles in the same decanter, or in the same glass.
4. Don't heat red wine, but don't ice it, either. The room temperature should be attained naturally, not artificially.
5. Use extreme care in decanting red wines.
6. Serve all wine in sufficiently large glasses, about half full.
7. White wines, which should be chilled or iced, are generally served with hors d'oeuvre, soup, or fish.
8. Red wines should be served with roast fowl or game—all red meats.
9. Champagne should be chilled rather than iced, and can be served throughout the meal.
10. Precedence: Dry before sweet, in the white wines; light before heavy, as regards alcoholic content, for the red.

Rue de la Paix Loses Some of Former Glamor

Famous French Fashion Street Is Hit by Series of Economic Upheavals.

PARIS.—[U. P.]—The Rue de la Paix, long known as the world's most famous street, glittering with millions of dollars' worth of diamonds and bristling with fashionable dressmaking houses, is in the deep shadows of an eclipse.

It is due to international and national economic upheavals.

Price tags, never before heard of on this thoroughfare, now blemish the landscape. Expensive cars and elaborately clad pedestrians formerly flocking the highway from the Opera to the Place Vendome, are absent.

Worth Tells His Troubles.

The ancient and venerable house of Worth, oldest of French dressmaking establishments here, faces a saddened world once animated by the laughter and luxury of customers and window shoppers.

M. Jacques Worth, president of the Chambre Syndicale de la Couture Parisienne, says: "Other problems than political have been brewing for some time, and the dress business is one of the greatest sufferers. Our foreign clientele, as everyone knows, comes largely from the United States, and with the depreciated dollar we have been hit. In addition, the national spirit there is favoring American industry, although they know that when it comes to materials and designs our products are superior.

Production Costs Rising

"We cannot blame them for that, however. Their dollar has gone down and their tax on foreign goods has gone up, a combination of affairs which makes it practically impossible for them to purchase French creations as formerly.

"As for us, the cost of production has mounted steadily, and distressing conditions are facing our workers in the de luxe trade, which is one of the major foundations of French industry."

As soon as the government takes a hand in stabilizing customs duties for the luxury trades here, the French lily will again be gilded and the Rue de la Paix resume its pristine splendor.

Looking up the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone toward the falls, one of the wonder sights of the world. The canyon is a mass of vivid colorings. Travelers agree that Yellowstone park has a wider variety of spectacular scenery than any other place on the map.

VOICE OF THE TRAVELER

Letters regarding travel conditions and experiences are invited. Please make them brief. Address: Travel Editor, Chicago Tribune.

MEXICO CITY, April 24.—To the Travel Editor: I am grateful to you for sending me a clipping of my story on bull fighting and appreciate greatly your fairness in forwarding a proof of the letter Mr. A. E. Hill wrote you concerning that article, and affording me an opportunity to answer him.

Mr. Hill states: "The article strikes me as rank misrepresentation, because bullfighting has not waned in the slightest. If it had, the great new bull ring which was built in Mexico City at a tremendous cost would hardly have been erected. . . . I take issue with every statement which appears in this article. First, there were plenty of native women attending. . . . This writer says nothing about the 5 and 6 year old Mexican children which are taken to these bullfights. . . . The writer's illustration of the number of people who attend movies in comparison to those attending bullfights is ridiculous and a distortion, because after all they hold nothing common and are not rival attractions in any manner, and it would be just as foolish for some one to compare our great national sport of baseball in such a manner and contend that the interest in baseball was waning because so many more people attend the movies."

Mr. Hill obviously missed the points of my story: that bull fighting is not Mexico's national sport any longer; that it is popular only with an element of Mexicans; that very many Mexicans, numbers running into the millions, have never even seen a bull fight and don't want to, and that the vast majority of Mexican femininity are not blood and sand "sport" fans. I wrote the story after close observation and careful investigation of the facts in the case, and for its story values, and without any ulterior motive. That I had to pay to see the gory exhibition didn't peeve me; the struggling arena management has to get along, like everybody else.

I am sorry to point out that Mr. Hill proves himself to be but a superficial observer, a gentleman prone to criticizing without knowing what he is talking about.

Right at the start, he makes a gross misstatement. The Mexico City bull ring he refers to is a big place, as I remarked in my story, and it cost a pretty penny to build. But it certainly is not new. It was built in 1907—27 long and hard years ago, and cost $700,000. Times have changed radically not only in Mexico, but in the whole world in the last 27 years, as perhaps Mr. Hill knows. Had he taken the trouble to ask anybody who could answer him intelligently or consulted any reputable guide book, Mr. Hill could have avoided making himself guilty of such an absurd statement. His opinions about bull fighting in Mexico are apparently based upon what somebody told him about the heydey of the "diversion" some three decades ago, when it was the smart thing to go to the arena, when the place was crammed with the élite, and representatives of beauty, blue blood and wealth, occupied the boxes. All that was the mode in the remote yesterday. It decidedly is not the case today. The overwhelming majority of better class Mexicans do not go to bull fights—a glance should have convinced Mr. Hill of that fact.

Comparing bull fight and movie attendances in Mexico is fair, and is altogether different from baseball and cinema gauging in the States. The veriest tourist is quickly convinced of that. Local cinema managers estimate their total attendance last year at slightly more than 15,000,000, and the bull ring managements—of the four large and small rings here, all of them built many years ago—figure they had some 150,000 paid patrons in 1933. [Official data covering these points are not yet available, but as soon as I get them I shall be pleased to forward them to you.] In 1907, bull fighting was tremendously popular in Mexico. About that time, the movies took hold in this country and have steadily cut in on bull fight attendances. Several new cinemas have been opened here lately, but no new blood-sand arenas.

Movies in Mexico are direct competitors with bull fighting. It's too bad that Mr. Hill didn't take a little time to ascertain that simple fact. Bull fights are staged here Sunday and holiday afternoons. Movie managers in this city declare that they always look to the Sunday and holiday crowds for their profits. The bull arenas' sessions are in the afternoons. The cinemas assert, and half a look proves that they are right, that their biggest Sunday and holiday business is at the matinées—at the very time when the arenas are functioning. Sunday and holiday night show attendances at the movies are always pretty slim, and prices are always cut for these shows. Mexicans prefer to take their Sunday and holiday public entertainment in the afternoon.

I had both eyes and ears wide open when I attended the bull fight. There were no young children in the section, the preferred division, in which I sat, and I emphatically repeat that only a certain element of Mexicans were present. True, there were some nice looking people, but they were not the élite, not the high quality folk the oldtimers tell of being in the arena, and my American friend and I were among many women, Mexican and foreign, who walked out on the show. I saw some children at the outside gate of the arena. There may have been some in the bleachers, frequented almost entirely by the lower classes, rabble. Perhaps that was where Mr. Hill saw the children he mentions.

The matador who sought protection was a nervy youth. The board he got behind was near the rabble's section. He was applauded for his skill and pluck by those in the higher priced seats. Some of the brutality has been taken from Mexican bull fights. Horses carrying the picadores—fellows in padded clothes and armor encased legs who stick the bull with a spear—are now well padded and otherwise protected against the vicious horns. No longer are the poor equines gored in most revolting fashion. The picadores' and banderilleros' [they who jab gaily festooned darts into the bull's neck] union [all Mexican bull fighters are now unionized, demanding more safety and the keeping of pay at its present high levels, mentioned in my story] have compelled the arenas to afford them safety first accommodations such as workable boards behind which to flee, upon occasion. These are some of the humanitarian things that have been done in a waning "sport."

In its much applauded chronicle of the recent Jim Browning-Strangler Lewis world championship wrestling bout that was staged in the very bull ring here to which both Mr. Hill and myself refer, and was attended by some 20,000 persons, including President Rodriguez and other high government officials, "El Universal," a popular local daily newspaper, remarks:

"It is only for wrestling, boxing and like virile sports which the people so admire that the bull ring is ever so crowded."

Such cinema personalities as Tom Mix, Ken Maynard, and Laurel and Hardy are better known among Mexican youth than are the ace matadores. If you ask any American youngster who Babe Ruth is, a correct answer will be immediately forthcoming. But I would wager that you would have to ask a good number of Mexicans of all ages who is Alberto Balderas, one of the leading Mexican bull fighters, before you could be acquainted with his profession.

WHERE THE SOVIETS GO FOR RECREATION

This is a view of Yalta, a lively Crimean resort on the Black sea. In the rear is Mount Ai-Petri. An auto road leads to the peak through a "crooked" hillside forest, so named because all the trees have been bent in some odd way by the forces of nature.

DETOURS

By Frederic Babcock.

THE papers are full of stories about Tokio warning London and Washington to keep their hands off China, and London and Washington asking Tokio what the hell. The papers say the Japs are full of talk about war.

It would be just too bad for everybody concerned if one side called the other's bluff and knocked the chip off the shoulder. It would be especially bad for the world tourist. He wouldn't be able to take in the cherry blossom festivals of early spring, or the Tosho-gu festivals of June and October, or the other shrine festivals throughout the year.

● At the Tosho-gu celebration each temple brings forth from its holy of holies its ageless and priceless treasures, and these are carried through the streets by priests in robes that would make Solomon look like a nudist.

At the Miyako Odori, in Kyoto, geisha girls interpret the spirit of the cherry blossoms in a dancing spectacle that would make Flo Ziegfeld want to come back and start all over again.

The blossoms themselves transform Japan into a land of almost unutterable beauty.

● There are many other spectacles, of course. Fujiyama, seemingly suspended far above Yokohama harbor; the giant bronze images of Buddha; the ornate mountain temples with their stone lanterns; the fat stone gods on garlanded altars; the waterfalls and the lava beds.

One climbs Fuji and sees its whole reflection hanging inverted in the spectrum lines caused by the dawn. From the summit of Japan's sacred mountain he is apt to look down upon the world and try to figure out what it's all about and why all the rumpus. And when he comes back to earth he'll probably wonder how any country with so much beauty and so much worldly detachment could even think about going to war.

● Travelers to the West Indies and the Caribbean these days are learning something of the pirate who became a knight and a governor. He was Henry Morgan, the scourge of the Spanish Main.

At one time Port Royal, which stood at the entrance to the landlocked harbor where Kingston now stands, was the most lurid city in the world. It had all the vices known to Christendom and everywhere else. It was the lair of the buccaneers. They lived in pairs or groups of five and forswore marriage.

Morgan made his headquarters in Port Royal. From it he sailed forth to sack cities and gather spoils wherever spoils were to be had. One of his greatest campaigns was in Panama, which he took in the name of the crown.

When he and his men reached the Caribbean side of Panama several of their ships were pounded to pieces by the sea. By the time the invaders were half way across the isthmus their scant food supply had become spoiled and they fell to eating lether bags found on the way. And all they got for their trouble was 750,000 pieces of eight, or three-quarters of a million dollars.

But it was for this campaign that Morgan later was knighted and made governor of Jamaica. He was the only conqueror produced by England in the reign of Charles II. Much of what he won for England is still England's.

● Today visitors to the Panama canal usually include the Morgan battlefield in their sightseeing. Those with cameras shoot the steeple of the old church, about the only ruin left.

Some writers have called Morgan a criminal of the lowest type. Others have hailed him as a heroic fighter. It is noticeable that no monument has ever been raised in his honor in Jamaica. He was so much out of favor with the people there when he died that the record of his burial place was lost and has never been recovered. There is not even a tablet to point to his one-time glory.

So much for dictators and conquerors.

Mayan Culture Still to Be Had in Guatemala

WASHINGTON, D. C.—[U. P.]—Descendants of the Mayas, inhabitants of a great ancient empire, exist in the highlands of Guatemala, says the Smithsonian institution.

Both the Mayan race and its strange culture, the institution explained, still are alive. Artifacts of present day Mayas, officials pointed out, differ slightly from those of ancestors, whose powerful civilization existed before the Spanish conquest.

Vagabond's Diary

BAD news for those who have to spend the summer in the city and those who travel only in imagination. . . . Yellowstone park is open for the season. . . . It was an unusually mild winter out there, and there was so little snow that many of the roads already have been cleared for travel. . . . The gateways at Gardiner and West Yellowstone were thrown open last Tuesday. . . . Some years everything is held up until along toward the middle of June.

After all these years Yellowstone is still known as the wonderland of the world. . . . Nowhere else does nature demonstrate its power and beauty in such a spectacular way. . . . Nowhere else are there so many magnificent geysers. . . . No other area has four thousand hot springs, all different and all highly colored; pools and lakes boiling like porridge; steam jets pouring from roaring mountains.

But the park doesn't reach its scenic climax until it gets to the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone. . . . A jade green river foaming through a gorge of vivid gold. . . . That's the sight they all go back to see over and over again.

● Bad news for those who insist on littering up the countryside with billboards and hot dog stands. . . . Quebec has decreed that hereafter nothing shall be allowed to obstruct the view from the road. . . . Billboards and everything else unsightly are out. . . . Also, the agricultural societies there are offering prizes for the best work in beautifying rural sections. . . . The whole province promises to blossom out this summer in gardens and orchards.

"Glacier Priest" Heads Expedition to Map Alaska

WASHINGTON, D. C.—[U. P.]—In an effort to map the volcano torn Alaska peninsula and Aleutian islands, Father Bernard R. Hubbard, "the Glacier Priest," will head an expedition to the uncharted territory this summer. This was announced by Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic society.

Since 1909, Dr. Grosvenor explained, volcanic eruptions have altered the physical features of the Alaskan area. The best map of the region is 25 years old and, it was added, many districts never were mapped.

The expedition, the society disclosed, will use an airplane for reconnoissance and aerial photography. Ground work, it was added, will be accomplished through employment of trained pack dogs.

Canoes will be lowered into the craters of Katmai and Aniakchak volcanoes, and, it was revealed, studies will be made of the soundings and water temperature of the lakes at the bottom of the pits. Vents in the floors and walls of numerous craters also will be observed for data which may permit the forecasting of eruptions.

FRENCH REDUCE PRICES TO MEET FALL OF DOLLAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 5.—The French government and French hotel and restaurant associations and railways are pushing a brisk propaganda to show that prices of things required by tourists have been reduced to meet the depreciated dollar.

That prime necessity for the traveler, the hotel room, has decreased in proportion at least to the depreciation of the dollar—in some cases more than that. Regarding that other consideration, food: If the tourist takes his meals in his hotel—contents himself with the table d'hote meal and ordinary wine, that is—he will encounter prices that correspond fully with the fall in the dollar.

In general the de luxe tourist will find his expenses much lower than in 1931. It is the prices in de luxe restaurants and hotels and shops and bars that have come down the most—for obvious reasons. The middle class tourist will find that he can live on a de luxe scale at the same price he used to pay for more modest traveling and sojourning.

In most cases it is possible nowadays to bargain for nearly everything. The tourist who speaks French and who has an aptitude for bargaining can improve on the official prices.

Penthouses in Favor Among London Folk

Lady Louis Mountbatten Leads New Fashion of Society Notables There.

LONDON.—[U.P.]—Penthouses are coming into favor among London society folk.

They are not the American skyscraper variety, for London's buildings seldom rise more than half a dozen stories.

Leader of the fashion is Lady Louis Mountbatten, now in Argentina. When she returns she will go into residence in the two top stories of her house in the Mayfair district.

Sassoon to Build in Park Lane.

It is also rumored that Sir Philip Sassoon, millionaire under secretary of state for air, is going to build something on top of his mansion in Park lane, the "millionaires' row."

Meanwhile, society has found a new development of the "bottle party." It takes the form of nightly "at homes."

Within the last few weeks at least half a dozen of these resorts have sprung up in the vicinity of Piccadilly, taking the place of the old night clubs which were raided by the police and, one by one, closed, for selling intoxicating liquor without a license or after hours.

The "parties" last from 11 p. m. to 5 a. m., in nearly every case, and the premises correspond with those of the most fashionable restaurants, with dancing and cabaret shows among the attractions.

Huge Profits from Bottle Parties.

One of these places has made a profit of $40,000 in the last twelve months. Its popularity is shared by the newer resorts, many of which are compelled to turn away guests night after night so crowded do they become after 1 a. m.

Following a magistrate's decision that the "bottle party" system is legal, it has become more or less standardized throughout the west end district. On admission to the "party" a charge is made for each guest. To obtain liquor one of the party merely signs an order form on a particular wine store for the amount of drink needed.

FAIR SHOWS BUSINESS UPTURN

LEIPZIG.—[U. P.]—The official report of the 700 year old Leipzig Trade Fair, recently concluded, shows a marked increase in size and attendance. The fair, which has been long considered an accurate barometer of business conditions, has been watched with special attention this year. The spring fair comprised 7,562 exhibits, representing every industrial activity, an increase of 18 per cent over last year. Exhibits were sent by twenty-four countries including the United States, and buyers were registered from seventy-one countries, maintaining the international character of the exchange. More than 150,000 business men of which 16,000 were foreigners attended the fair, an increase of 35 per cent compared with last year. The general sample fair reports an advance of 35 per cent in the volume of business transacted and the technical fair sold 30 per cent to 50 per cent more goods than in 1933.

Travel Across Siberia Has Its Odd Moments

Plenty of Excitement and Suspense Offered in Drama of Long Journey.

By Guy Murchie Jr.

IT is January in northeastern Siberia. The temperature stands at 53 below. A cruel wind swoops across the bleak station platform in Habarovsk as a swaying white object rumbles into view from the south. It is the local train from Vladivostok. It is crusted from stack to wheel with frozen steam. The line of ancient cars creaks to a stop, and out from the station house door scrambles a mob of passengers, each clutching a tremendous bundle, in most cases voluminous enough to contain a cow, a hay stack, or at least a plow.

The people's faces are furrowed with anxiety—not without cause. Some have had to remain in line in the waiting room [a well named enclosure] for as long as five days on end. And even now that they have at last obtained their tickets and reservations, it is by no means certain that the red tape will not again ensnare them before the train finally pulls out on its monotonous grind toward Moscow.

Speaking of Efficiency.

A dozen or so densely bundled travelers suddenly clamber out of the cars and trudge with their burdens toward the nearest door. Now three husky station workers in tattered overcoats approach the train, bearing large sacks of coal for the car stoves. A car conductor appears with his little shovel and, as each sack of coal is dumped in the passageway, he wearily shovels it back into his coal bin. Meanwhile, of course, the shivering passengers on the platform, women, children, and all, must wait and wait in the numbing gale—perhaps ten minutes—until there is enough of a path through the coal to permit them to enter the car.

At last all passengers are aboard. We are in a third class or "hard car." [Communists do not like to use the word "class" as applied to their railroad cars; it sounds too "capitalistic."] Vukol, the car conductor, has dumped his ashes out on the platform, collected all tickets and passports, drunk a pot of tea, and retired to his narrow closet for a good snooze.

Wails, Murmurs and Smells.

Booooop! Oo-o-o-oop! Jerk! The rickety train is off! Wails of startled infants, murmurs of dreamy farmers come from the rows of wooden sleeping shelves. Smells of damp wool, sweat, and tea are wafted down the car.

Here, on a nearby shelf, sits a peasant with his wife. They are very poor, and thorough communists. Vashilii, the man, wiry, rat-eyed, twitching his wispy mustache, tells of the virtues of communism. Apparently he has been exempt from the heavy taxes which the Kulaks [more prosperous peasants] have to pay, and communism to him merely means free seeds, free marketing, free agricultural advice, and a share in numerous other things which he never had before. It also promises a vague but beautiful paradise in the future.

He beams as he recites the conventional Red doctrine. "We have no such words as 'God' and 'gentleman' in the U. S. S. R.," says Vashilii with an enlightened flip of the eyebrows. When told that perhaps "God" and "gentlemen" mean something different in other countries, he looks half bewilderedly, half pityingly at the propounder of such a wild idea. "No! No! That is not possible. I have read the papers and magazines every day. I know all about other countries. I know all about America. Your papers in America tell you lies. The papers write lies because they get money for what they write. You cannot believe what you read in America. Only in the U. S. S. R. are papers which tell the truth."

The Daily Grind.

On and on across the wavy plateau we go—with a grind and crunch of wheels. Daily, from the sunrise at 9:30 to sunset at 2:30, we see our shadow to the north of us dancing along on the white snow, outlining our car, the vast wings of steam floating back from the engine, and the many little stovepipe chimneys sticking up out of the roof. Occasionally we pass through a tunnel in the more mountainous places. But most of the time we are in a gently rolling forest of pine and wispy birch trees—day after day.

Our engine, built in 1904, is ridiculously feeble at times. It is fed only birch logs, but even this conservative diet does not always keep it regular. Its wind is very bad and it will gasp for breath on the gentlest of grades. Every morning the gray shirted engineer looks over his weather reports to find out about the wind and temperature conditions ahead. This is most important, as a stiff head wind can slow us down as much as ten or fifteen miles an hour.

At our brief stops at local stations where the engine must "wood up," all the passengers stampede for the tiny station food shop. Each carries his tea pot to get a fresh supply of hot water, and a few kopecks to buy a loaf of black bread or some "zraza" [meat loaf]. Only the spry and lucky ones ever get anything, because the train invariably starts before the long line of prospective customers is more than half used up.

Then comes an even more panicky scramble as the train begins to move. Slowly it gathers its rattling momentum, while wrinkled peasant women carrying their loaves; long coated soldier boys, and frantic farmers with soup-dripping beards—all sprint for the rear platform.

At last all have overtaken the laboring train which, at full speed, may or may not be traveling faster than a man can run. We settle down on our shelves again, the lucky ones sharing their hot water with those who didn't get any, all in the best communist spirit.

This time a pretty girl is sitting on an adjacent shelf. On questioning her, one learns that her name is Irma Ellimov, that she is bound for Novosibirsk to visit her mother, whom she has not seen since she was 16. Further investigation uncovers the fact that that lethery fellow sitting on the shelf beside Irma is her beau—or you might call him her husband [there being little to distinguish between beau and husband in this land of free love]. His name is Zmitrok Galun. He is a machinist, and hence feels very responsible in working for a government which so desperately needs good machinists. Although he virtually never had a hand to hand encounter with a machine until five years ago, he now knows all the principal parts of a tractor, and even where the oil cups are, and what kind of oil should be used.

They Reach a Compromise.

Pretty Irma would make a good picture. But, on pulling out one's camera, Zmitrok suddenly springs into fiery action. "No, no! She is mine. You must not take her picture! I do not allow that!"

"Well, may I take your picture, Zmitrok?"

"Yes, that is all right if you wish." But one does not get very enthusiastic over Zmitrok's doorknob nose or his steelwooly hair. Negotiations continue.

At last—Ah! A compromise. Zmitrok will allow Irma and himself to be taken together. That is the limit to which a foreigner may go.

It is getting colder outside. It is more than 60 below as our courageous little engine tows us westward through the night. The feeble station houses we pass are nearly smothered in the spume-swept dunes of snow. One would feel mighty uneasy and lonely in this far land of relentless forces—were it not that always above us, in the ink of space, stands that twinkling, friendly Dipper, holding out its hospitable handle—just as it always does at home.

Swanky Restaurant for Canines Opens in Champs Elysees

PARIS.—(AP)—A dog's restaurant, just opened in a Champs Elysses café, strikes a new and heavy blow at Parisian home life.

Instead of the traditional mess of bread and meat scraps, the establishment offers a course luncheon or dinner for canine epicures.

The menue includes soup, a dog biscuit, meat, pudding, carrots, string beans, spinach, rice, and noodles.

If "Toutou" should be forbidden meat by food reforming mistress or medical adviser, a special vegetable dish is provided, tasting and looking like meat.

Soup is free. Other dishes cost from 12 to 25 cents each.

JASPER PARK IS MOUNTAIN PARADISE

TO step off the train on a summer morning in Jasper National park in the Canadian Rockies is to walk into a paradise of Alpine beauty. It is claimed that more than 70 per cent of the highest peaks in the Rockies are either within the boundaries of the park or can be easily reached with Jasper village as a starting point.

The park thus affords a great variety of mountain climbing. In addition it provides facilities for riding, hiking, motoring, golf, tennis, and swimming.

The trip through the playground begins at Jasper Park lodge, a rustic resort of pine logs and pillars of glacier boulders. The lodge, set in a grove of pine, spruce, and Douglas fir, looks across Athabaska valley to the snow crowned head of Mount Edith Cavell, one of the most spectacular peaks in that part of the country.

Prussians Frown on Co-education

BERLIN.—(AP)—Prussian authorities, frowning on co-education, have decreed that girls may be admitted to "gymnasia" and other educational institutions hitherto dominated by boys, only if there is no "lyceum," or girls' school, in the vicinity.

In principle, however, "maedchen verboten" is the rule, and girls must get special permission from the minister of education if they want to study with boys.

Australian Girls Plan to Wear Crinoline Gowns

MELBOURNE.—(AP)—Girls in crinolines will be seen in Melbourne next year. An appeal to women to search attics for the gowns of their grandmothers and great-grandmothers has been issued by the committee arranging Australia's centennial celebration.

TIPS TO TOURISTS

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations, to The Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We wish to visit the World's Fair this year, and to take in a side trip from Chicago as a part of our vacation. Have you any suggestions?—B. F. C.

Some of the most satisfactory jaunts out of this city are the great lakes cruises to such points as Mackinac Iland, Niagara Falls, and Sault Ste. Marie. They may be had at reasonable rates.

What would it cost me to take a two weeks' trip to Alaska this summer?—V. W.

The entire round trip from Chicago, with Glacier park and Lake Louise thrown in for good measure, can be made for less than $200.

Please tell me the approximate cost of an economical trip to Russia.—D. D.

The cost varies from $187, traveling third class and including only five days in Leningrad, to $357, traveling tourist class and including ten days in the Soviet union.

How do the rates from Chicago to Yellowstone this year compare with last year's?—N. E. H.

The five railroad systems serving Yellowstone have drastically reduced their rail and pullman fares. The rates at the hotels and lodges in the park this summer will be at an all time low.

When is the Leningrad music festival commemorating the centenary of the composer, Borodin? B. G.

May 20 to 30.

We're planning on a trip to Yellowstone by auto this summer and would like to know a good way to go. We can't afford to stop at hotels en route. That being true, is it necessary to take along a lot of camping equipment? A. N. H.

The Atlantic - Yellowstone - Pacific highway, leading from Chicago through northern Illinois, Iowa, South Dakota, and Wyoming, is one of several fine routes. It, like the others, is dotted with tourist camps, most of which are clean and comfortable and with reasonable rates. It's a good idea, however, to take along some extra bedding if you have room for it.

My wife and I would like to attend the Eucharistic congress at Buenos Aires next fall and take in some of South America on the way. Any suggestions? T. J. B.

There will be a number of cruises in connection with the congress. One of them, aboard the S. S. Malolo, will leave San Francisco Sept. 16, tour clear around the southern continent, visit thirteen ports in nine countries, stop for four days at Buenos Aires, and return Nov. 11. Persons living in the east and middle west may, if they wish, sail from New York on another liner and meet the Malolo at the Panama canal.

Plan Mexican Civil Service.

MEXICO, D. F.—(AP)—The way for the establishment of civil service in Mexico has been opened by the announcement of President Rodriguez that during the remainder of his term, which ends Nov. 30, no government employés will be dismissed for political reasons. If the plan is found workable government employés probably will be placed under civil service.

St. Louis Will Hold Folklore Festival in May

Mystery Plays of Fifteenth and Sixteenth Centuries Are to Be Revived.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—The folklore of the southwest will be generously represented in the first National Folk festival, to be held in St. Louis in May.

The mystery plays of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries flourish in the Spanish southwest today, says Arthur L. Campa of Albuquerque, N. M., director of research at the University of New Mexico. No less than twenty of these plays are enacted every year in hamlets scattered throughout New Mexico, along the Rio Grand valley and in out of the way mountain districts. Many of these dramas, handed down by word of mouth, in some cases have been here so long that no one knows who wrote them nor from whence they came.

At Christmas time the native Americans today, like those of three hundred years ago, build their altars and enact the story of Christ. Interpolated throughout are ballads of old with a strong flavor of Gregorian chants.

Passion Play at Home.

One need not go to Europe in search of the Passion Play. At home, in the simplicity of an adobe wall church or a humble cottage may be seen the same drama unfolded with no less sincerity and no less colorful, although not so grandiose as that in Germany. A large number of similar plays based on Biblical subjects abound in the Spanish southwest also.

Not only are religious plays the only type which persists today. There are others of a secular nature that have developed out of the struggle of these hardy pioneers. For a long time the constant peril of the blood thirsty Commanches was a living drama enacted in the canyons and mesas of the west. The fiercest encounter between the Spaniards and the Commanches took place in 1777. A survivor of that battle knew how to use both sword and pen, and when the dust of the battle field had settled, he recorded the events of that memorable day.

Today, a century and a half after that struggle, the natives of Taos in northern New Mexico enact the drama of a forgotten soldier poet. With the open plains for a stage and a 14,000 foot mountain as a background, the haughty Spaniard defies the valor of the Commanche chieftain. Cuerno Verde, the well known blood thirsty Commanche leader, now played by a sleek bodied brave mounted on his pony, challenges the keen edge of Toledo steel in a climactic clash—once more reliving a drama that took place between the forebearers of both races. Such is the folk drama that now forms a great part of American folklore.

Songs Born of the Soil.

A very different side of these Americans of the southwest is seen when in the dusk of a summer's evening they lean against the adobe walls of a flat roofed cottage singing a melancholy song to the rhythm of an old guitar. If he is sad, so is his song. If he is happy, the song assumes a lighter air. For their repertoire is endless and as whimsical as human nature. These folk songs tell of toil, of sorrow, of disappointment, of unrequited love, of happiness or despair. They are the soul and experience of those who sing them.

The Spanish folk songs of the southwest are born of the soil. Who composed them, no one knows or cares. They are not even written; they are the legacy of each succeeding generation. Now and then may be heard a sixteenth century ballad, the identical ballad brought over by the Spanish conquerors. These vestiges of long ago are still remembered by the descendants of a once proud race.

The story of political intrigue of the entire state of New Mexico is told in song. The totality of the Spanish folk song in the southwest is an epic—an "Iliad" without a Homer.

Bergen, Norway, as seen from the funicular railway running to the mountain top.

Cyclist Finds Africans Just Ordinary Folks

WASHINGTON, D. C.—[U. P.]—African tribesmen are ordinary folks who work every day and enjoy a good joke, says James C. Wilson, former college instructor.

Wilson, who motorcycled 3,000 miles across Africa, declared he saw no savages and few wild animals.

"It is time," he said, "that some one told the truth about the Africans. They are just like people all over the world."

Latvia to Export Vodka.

RIGA, Latvia.—(AP)—Latvia, claiming that vodka is not an exclusively Russian product, has obtained an order for 150,000 bottles for shipment to America. Half the vodka consumed in the United States is made in this country, it is claimed.

Paris Revives Its Elegance to Bring Depression to End

SPENDING your money to end the depression is familiar advice to Americans under the New Deal, but in Paris they have adopted a novel method of carrying out the idea. An organization recently formed there plans to put social functions to work to effect a voluntary distribution of money from the wealthy classes to those farther down in the social scale. By this means it is planned to revive the pre-war elegance for which the French capital was famous. In other words, Paris is going "high hat" again. The group hopes to see the idea extended to other cities, including those of the United States.

The association, known as "The Seasons of Paris," seeks to develop the fashionable and artistic life of Paris and thereby develop French commerce and industry, beginning with the luxury trades." A series of receptions, banquets, arts salons, garden parties, elegance contests, dinners, and dances is projected.

The aristocratic and wealthy classes of France will be asked to spend money for themselves, for their own amusement, comfort, and luxury, but in the name and for the sake of economic improvement for everybody. The leaders of the movement argue that, if the example is set by the upper classes, the middle classes will follow, all along down the line, to the humblest worker.

Huge Steamer Coming to City for Exposition

ONE of the largest and most luxurious lake passenger steamers in the world, the Seeandbee, will make weekly cruises between Chicago and Buffalo throughout July, August, and the first week of September. This was announced yesterday.

The liner, flagship of the C. & B. lines, is nearly two city blocks long and is as wide as the Leviathan, the world's largest. If stood on end it would be nearly as tall as Chicago's greatest skyscrapers. It has a capacity of 6,000 passengers, with stateroom accommodations for more than 1,500. It has never before been to Chicago.

The new itinerary is designed to carry visitors to and from A Century of Progress and also to help entertain visitors looking for side trips out of Chicago. It includes Mackinac Island, Sault Ste. Marie, Georgian bay, Cleveland, and Niagara falls. It affords residents of the middle west the class and entertainment features that have built up the cruises operating out of New York to such places as Bermuda, Nassau, and the West Indies.

In making this city the western terminus of its new passenger division, the C. & B. lines offer new evidence of the impression the World's Fair has made and is making on all transportation and tourist companies. They have opened up a passenger office at 333 North Michigan avenue, with P. E. Pearson in charge.

New Plan Tells How to Figure Cost of Travel

THERE is so much mystery regarding tourist costs in Europe this summer, what with varying exchange rates and everything, that a number of the travel agencies are trying to clear up the situation with specific prices.

Fred Robinson of the Chicago office of Raymond-Whitcomb announced yesterday that his company had worked out a "new deal" plan in which the cost of foreign independent travel could be foretold to the penny. Heretofore this has been possible for those taking escorted tours with fixed programs, but more difficult for those wishing to go on their own.

Under the new method prices per diem have been figured for different styles or grades of hotels and transportation. The traveler picks out the style he wishes, decides how many days his trip is to last, does a little multiplying, adds the cost of steamship ticket, passport, visas, and such things, and he has his total.

Another "New Deal" plan was announced yesterday. The James Boring Travel agency let it be known that it would accept teachers' warants in payment for cruises this summer.

Here we go—30 fathoms down! Exploring the ocean floor is all in a day's work to a deep sea diver but it surely makes a man hungry. Pabst-ett sandwiches are in his lunch pail every day.

Pabst-ett in Cream Soup: Just before serving any cream soup, add a generous amount of Pabst-ett cut into small cubes.

"We never tire of Pabst-ett"

Hundreds of women write us that even though they serve Pabst-ett every day, their families always welcome its mild flavor. The children, too.

This more-than-cheese food is as digestible as milk, spreads smooth as butter. Serve it in a hundred tempting ways—by itself, with crackers, in sandwiches (a wonderfully nutritious noon lunch), in soups, salads, sauces, soufflés and rarebits, with macaroni, potatoes, other vegetables. It mixes and creams easily—melts quickly without getting stringy or lumpy. It slices neatly, too, when chilled.

Pabst-ett is as good for children as for grown ups. It contains Vitamin A (same as found in cod liver oil, cream, butter, spinach), and the valuable milk minerals (including calcium), milk sugars and milk proteins of whole milk.

Pabst-ett is economical. There's no waste. Keep a few packages always on hand. Sold at all food stores.

"I'm a big girl now—look I can dress myself!" Mother lets her eat all the Pabst-ett she wants because she knows it is easily digested—is rich in health-building vitamins and minerals.

"Gee, that's good!" Children love the rich flavor Pabst-ett gives to soups and sauces. Pabst-ett melts quickly, never gets stringy.

The lies a mirror can tell!

LAST night her mirror lied when it told her she was lovely. For plainly "he" did not think so.

The trouble was, her mirror failed to tell her that she was quite unlovely in one respect—with the disagreeable odor of underarm perspiration.

Mum! That's what up-to-date girls and women use to avoid this unseen danger. It's perfectly harmless to clothing. And it's soothing to sensitive skin. You can even use it right after shaving the underarms.

YARDLEY'S
Old English
Lavender Soap

IN THE SPRING, a lady's fancy may, or may not turn to love; but it's pretty certain to turn to her own appearance. Then, more than ever before in their lives, most women long for a really fine complexion. And it's so simple to have one. Those marvelous English Complexions you'll see at the Embassy Club in London—or almost anywhere in Mayfair—haven't just happened that way. • Englishwomen take care of their complexions. If they aren't born with the right kind, they speedily acquire it. And for 150 years Yardley has made all the toilet things the Englishwoman uses—the soaps and creams and lotions, the powders and perfumes. • The articles you see at the left of this page are those the Englishwoman considers most vital to her own personal needs. And they are also the ones we sell in the greatest quantity here in America. But there are a great many other Yardley preparations, equally engaging. We'll be glad to send you a booklet (free) showing them, in four-color photographs. Ask for Booklet 5-CT, "Complexions in the Mayfair Manner." • Yardley & Co., Ltd., 620 Fifth Avenue (Rockefeller Centre), New York City; in London, at 33, Old Bond Street; and Paris, Toronto, and Sydney.

GRAFT IS KEY TO MURDER, SUICIDE, RIOT IN STAVISKY MYSTERY

Wave of Violence Trailing $30,000,000 Swindle Set in Motion by French Rebellion Against Grinding Taxes, Inefficiency, and Corruption

By Guy Murchie Jr.

IT IS just before midnight in Paris, Feb. 6, 1934. Across a vast plaza swarm men, children, young girls, boys—thousands of them. Torches flash against the smoky darkness—shouts, groans, screams, wild strains of La Marseillaise—the familiar smell of milling humanity, dust, horses gasoline, gunpowder.

What is that coming out of the chaotic distance? What is that silver flashing? Those screams? That clatter of hoofs? "The Spahis!" A dozen dark-faced riders charge into view, their scarlet and white burnouses flaming behind, their Algerian sabers whipping the heavy air. Flash! Slice! A young girl struggling to dodge the horses has the side of her face cut in two! As she crumples whimpering to the cold stones, a one legged veteran is struck across the neck. He raises his hand in defense. Again comes the stinging blade—and off go four fingers! Children shriek in terror. Figures sink to the ground like overcoats falling off a hook. Nearby cafes become hospitals Passing doctors operate with bread knives and waitresses rip napkins into bandages.

Is this 1789? No—it is 1934. But—these squalling mobs, this blood running through the Paris streets—what is it about? Someone murmurs the name "Stavisky." Who is Stavisky, and what has he to do with this grewsome slaughter? How did the name of a simpering gigolo become the symbol which could strike terror to the heart of France? How did a pawnshop swindle in a small city in the southwest corner of the country start a European earthquake which ranks among such tremendous economic explosions as the South Sea bubble, the eight billion franc crash of the Banque Nationale de Credit, the Kreuger scandal, or the far-reaching Insull collapse?

Stavisky, a Polish Jew, was born in Sobodka, Russian Ukraine, in 1886, the son of a dentist. His family, perhaps because of czarist persecution, soon migrated to Paris There, at the age of sixteen, the soft-mannered boy began to attract the attention of middle-aged women in search of the fountain of youth. One woman, who took no chances on letting life pass her by, persuaded him to go week-ending with her in Deauville. An opportunist to the core, Stavisky did not hesitate—and he came back with her entire bank roll. He went on other week-ends, and month-ends, with all manner of affluent females. He stole at every opportunity. He organized a "cinema trust," with which he took the earnings of innocent young girls who wanted to "be in pictures"—but who, under Stavisky's care, for one reason or another never quite made the grade. Now and then he went to jail for a minor fraud. He married a couple of times, thought up new money-making schemes, grew bolder and bolder. Before long he was arrested on a charge of embezzling $1,650,000, whereupon his respectable father was so shocked as to commit an honorable Jewish suicide in the forest of Fontainbleau.

Only $600 of the stolen money ever was recovered. Stavisky went to prison, but in five months had so managed to arrange things that both his private physician and the prison doctor testified that the confined life was endangering his delicate health. Very shortly he was again loose in his old haunts, even having obtained a special police pass by offering his services as indicateur (stool pigeon). His case was not dismissed, but his well-paid lawyers contrived to put through nineteen continuances between 1926 and 1933

During these seven years the silver-tongued charmer roamed freely, climbing into high circles of politics and finance. Whom he bribed and bought to get his entree is still a mystery. Almost everyone knew that he was a petty crook, but somehow public opinion tolerated him. He lived under various aristocratic names—"Serge Alexandre," "Doisy de Montel," and "Victor Boitel"—often deceiving even his friends. He owned a magnificent pale blue car with a white-uniformed chauffeur, frequented the racetracks, and gave sumptuous banquets to the most prominent personages he could inveigle into coming

At length visions of grandeur carried him a little too far. He decided he needed "a city, a mayor, and a pawnshop." He chose the Basque town, Bayonne. Joseph Garat, Bayonne's veteran mayor, readily succumbed to the sly advances of the polished "philanthropist" from Paris, who now called himself "Monsieur Serge Alexandre." An order was neatly pushed through the city council, and "Alexandre" got his pawnshop.

Pawnshops in France are no ordinary pawnshops. They are a municipal monopoly held in Paris by the Credit Municipal, popularly known as "ma tante" (my aunt). These city-managed institutions fulfil some of the functions of banks. Originally founded by Louis XVI as a noble experiment in answer to public protests against loan sharks, they lend money to the poor at low interest. Most of them are heavily endowed, and their bonds are considered one of the soundest investments a Frenchman can make

At first the pawn business in Bayonne went regularly under Alexandre's free hand, but inevitably this "philanthropic founder" began to issue bonds beyond the amount of pawned goods in his shop. He called them "good insurance investments," and they went for a long time unquestioned.

At last slowly accumulating suspicion burst when an insurance company presented some bonds for payment and couldn't get it. Alexandre's safes were opened and found empty. Warants were issued for his arrest—but he had quietly gone "on a vacation."

Bondholders and desperate poor people clamored for payment. The scandal, spreading like black death over the land, was heightened by reports from the opposition press that Stavisky had last been seen sitting with Jean Chiappe, prefect of the Paris police, in a theater. Further charges by opposition papers, which long had tried to unseat Premier Chautemps, held the premier responsible for the fact that Stavisky possessed a card as inspector in the French secret service, thus preventing detectives from exposing him. It was further suggested that Stavisky now was concealed in Paris "under high protection."

A tremor of sickening doubt swept through the foundations of French burocracy. Suddenly came news of Stavisky's death. When operatives of the surete generale (secret service), with local constables, kicked down a certain door in fashionable Chamonix, the archswindler (so says the report) "shot himself." But few would believe the police had not really murdered him to protect themselves from further revelations.

Now new accusations blazed from the opposition papers that Stavisky had visited the premier's office on Christmas day and that Georges G. Pressard, chief prosecutor of Paris and brother-in-law of the premier, had been Stavisky's lawyer. Suspicion increased in geometric progression. Even the mild-mouthed Journal des Debats ventured: "Stavisky's sudden death is so opportune for those who feared the revelations he might make that the circumstance compels attention."

Premier Chautemps, his back to the wall, roared: "The guilty will be punished! We shall get at the facts!"

Testified Mme. Stavisky (beautiful widow of the bilker of Bayonne, shown with her two daughters): "I don't know whether my husband shot himself or not; but there is no doubt that he'd still be alive if the police hadn't left him without medical attention for two hours!"

Serge Stavisky ("Handsome Alex") . . . His "safes were opened and found empty . . . Suddenly came news of Stavisky's death . . . few would believe that the police had not really murdered him."

IT'S SIMPLY inevitable, this matter of naming the baby; and selecting the finest of all names in the world for the new son or daughter is the desire of every parent. It always is difficult to decide which title will be most appropriate however, for most names have much to recommend them, and few are ugly.

This series of articles is intended to aid mothers and fathers who find themselves confronted with the first problem of parenthood. Each week there is presented a list of names beginning with a letter of the alphabet, and this, the sixth, deals with F names.

Titles in this category have about them an aura of individuality, for there are relatively few names in the group which are acceptable in contemporary life. It is true that, in centuries past, the list was larger and colorful, too, but the passage of time has cast many into oblivion. Those which remain as suitable for 1934 babies carry with them a richness of history and the distinction which always attends anything which is outside the bounds of conventionality.

A suggestion which might come in handy when parents are endeavoring to select a name, is that alliteration usually lends added beauty to the total name. A Christian name which begins with the same letter or group of letters, as does the family name always is a safe choice.

Following are the histories of several names under the F banner:

Ferdinand—Derives from the Gothic "ferchvus." The Spanish Goths altered it into Fernan and Fernando. San Fernando, king of Castille, made it a favorite for his royal line. The name went from Spain to France, and thence to Naples. In Naples it was prolonged into Ferdinando, while Spanish elision had at home, turned it into Hernan, as the conqueror of Mexico termed himself. Later it spread through Germany; and its popularity in that country, and among the Spaniards, caused it to be transferred, as Fernanda and Fernandine, into the realm of feminine names.

Francis—San Francisco di Nola reformed the Franciscans into a new order, called the Minimi. It is to him that is due the spread of the name beyond the Alps. The name was not absolutely new to France, but it was that representative of showy and degenerate chivalry, the son-in-law of Anne, duchess of Brittany, who spread Francois and Francoise universally among the French nobility. There it held sway until the memories of the house of Valois had become detestable.

Felix—This name in other times was assumed frequently by peculiarly fortunate individuals. It means "happy," and has given rise to all manner of words of good augury in the modern languages. No less than eleven saints of that name are numbered in the Roman calendar, and yet it never has been an extremely popular name.

Frances—Mary Tudor, either in gratitude for the kindness of Francis I, of France or in memory of her brief queenship of that country, christened as Frances her first child that Lady Frances Brandon who had numerous namesakes among the maidens of the Tudor court. The modern Fanny apparently is of the days of Anne, coming into notice with Lady Fanny Shirley, a beauty who made it a great favorite, and almost a proverb for prettiness and simplicity.

Florence—Derives from the Latin goddess of flowers. There is a church in Florence to saints Fiore and Lucilla. Otherwise the first occurence of any variety of Flora is in Roman-Gothic Spain. A Spanish maiden who was martyred by the Moors in 851 brought Flora into good repute, and Flore became known to the French, although probably first adopted as a romantic epithet. The revival of the name Florence was due chiefly to the giving of the name to English girls born in the Italian city of that name, and it since has acquired a deeper honor in the person of Florence Nightingale.

Next week: Initial G names.

DOG SHOW DEBUTANTS

(Associated Press photo.)

THESE young bull terrier aristocrats were snapped by the camera man as they were making their debuts in the Kensington Canine society's annual championship dog show in the Crystal palace, London. Although the pups were out for blue ribbons in earnest, they seemed to be more interested in having a good time. They were in competition with other blue-blooded pups of all breeds and sizes.

When Kidney Trouble Causes You to Get Up Nights

When Bladder Is Irritated
When Passage Is Difficult
When Backache Bothers
Flush Poisonous Waste and Acid from Kidneys

If you aren't feeling just right—are nervous—have dizzy spells and occasional headache study your kidneys and learn more about yourself.

Through the delicate filters of the kidneys, acid and poisonous waste are drawn from the blood and discharged from the body through the bladder; sometimes these filters become clogged with poisonous waste and the kidneys do not function properly—they need a good cleaning.

One reliable medicine, highly efficient and inexpensive, is GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules—you can't go wrong on this grand medicine for it has been helping people for 50 years to correct their aches and pains and to banish uric acid conditions, the aggravation of sciatica, neuritis, neuralgia, lumbago and rheumatism.

So if you have such symptoms of Kidney trouble as backache, nervousness, getting up two or three times during the night, scanty, burning or smarting passage, leg cramps, moist palms or puffy eyes get a 35 cent package of this grand diuretic at any modern drugstore—it starts the first day on its errand of helpfulness.

GOLF GADGET SEASON

(Acme photo.)

SOME golfers become so enthusiastic about the game that they go to great expense and trouble to keep their golfing equipment in perfect condition. Witness, for instance, this picture of Carl Brisson, movie actor, with his golf club paraphernalia. When not playing Mr. Brisson keeps his clubs in a bag equipped with a specially built device for keeping them dry. He thus has greater insurance against rusting of metal clubs, of course, and his woods are kept in better condition.

ONION PRINCESSES OF TEXAS

(Acme photo.)

PRINCESSES of the annual onion festival at Raymondville, Tex., are these charming hula dancers. Raymondville, as you might correctly suppose, is the center of an important onion growing country. The annual festival, like those held in the apple country of the northwest and in the fruit section of Michigan, has the double purpose of celebration and publicity. The two girls chosen as this year's onion princesses, pictured here are Marcille Strein (left) and Dorothy Rotan. Their costumes are decorated with real onions.

AN ASTRAL PICTURE OF THE WEEK

Look for your birthday or the group in which it appears throughout the following notes—it may be mentioned more than once. Mark it with a pencil wherever you see it, and then pay attention to the counsel given.

INCREASE of public interest in government and a desire to know more about what is going on behind the scenes in both public and private life—these are outstanding for the coming week. Do all you can to improve your own and others' health during the coming five weeks. Plan ahead today and tomorrow on occupational affairs; get it down in writing and then stick to it. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, attend to finances and needs of children and friends. Friday and Saturday, control emotions and stay out of temptations of secret or confidential nature. Sunday next, strongly personal; make plans for development.

PERSONAL

The best side of life, with expansion, new contacts, broader viewpoints, increased earnings, should be definitely cultivated now by natives of Sept. 15-Oct. 6. If you were born Aug. 7-31, however, better look more than once before becoming too enthusiastic over new schemes. Complicated are the vibrations for those born March 14-May 23, including all of April; quite a bit of excitement is indicated for this week and the one following—avoid rashness, but keep going in the direction you are sure is right. Take note, Maureen Orcutt, Wallace Beery, Nicholas Murray Butler, R. J. Reynolds Jr., Lee Tracy, and Lorado Taft. Shifting circumstances will continue for those born Feb. 18-27, Aug. 23-31, and Oct. 16-24—make changes wisely.

Nicholas Murray Butler

ROMANTIC AND SOCIAL

Seek the benefits of the softer side of life this week, if you are a native of March 13-April 6, Sept. 15-Oct. 1, June 10-July 4, or Nov. 12-Dec. 5, in business as well as in more personal channels, for you can achieve social advancement. Make new friends and seek mutual assistance with old ones, if you entered the world May 8-31 or June 3-22. Relations with the opposite sex in a romantic way are favored for eligible sons and daughters of Dec. 2-Jan. 17 and May 11-22; the first mentioned of these two groups, however, should realize they are in a somewhat fickle period. Natives of April 5-28 are under unreliable vibrations emotionally and should guard all actions with the other sex. Scandal usually evaporates harmlessly if there is no cause for it; be advised friends of April 6-29, May 15-June 17 and Sept. 7-Oct. 1. Note also the other groups including these dates.

FINANCES AND ESTATE

Be willing to work for all you expect and take no money chances, especially if born Dec. 27-Jan. 22, or Feb. 25-April 15 including all of March; do not involve your savings or other assets. Sidestep the wily but slippery swindle that looks like a bargain, if born May 5-29 or July 7-31. Go after benefits that are legitimate and along lines of your ability if born June 11-July 5, Aug. 13-Sept. 5, or Oct. 1-5. Don't look for a planet that will bring money down to you in a paper bag; you wouldn't find it. Be willing to work, collect, spend some, and save some.

HEALTH

Avoid haste, left turns into traffic mentally and physically, and collisions of mind or metal, especially if born April 21-May 15, July 20-Aug. 13, Oct. 24-Nov. 16, or Jan. 17-Feb. 10. Steer around excitement and its nervous effects if born Oct. 29-Dec. 9, including all of November. Guard emotional reactions if born March 6-29. Relax and avoid congestions and colds, if a native of Aug. 28-Sept. 21. Go after rapid health improvement if born April 10-May 3.

OCCUPATION AND BUSINESS

If Dec. 12-Jan. 4 holds your natal day, go after benefits with superiors, in occupation, and through additions to your reputation, during this week and for the coming month. Make the most of this, Edward G. Robinson, E. H. Blashfield, Harvey S. Firestone, Irene Dunne, and Deems Taylor. Natives of July 1-Aug. 21, however, should be a bit wary in this sector of their affairs; as also should those born April 28-May 22. Make the best of opportunities this week in business and with those above you, if born Jan. 19-Feb. 12, Oct. 27-Nov. 23, and May 7-19.

GRAFT KEY TO RIOT, MURDER, SUICIDE IN STAVISKY MYSTERY

A fierce mud slinging battle broke out in the chamber of deputies between the attacking opposition parties of the right and the defensive majority parties of the left. Among the hotter chunks of mud was one slung by Rightist Deputy Philippe Henriot, who snarled: "When the unmarried girl who is now Stavisky's widow was arrested in connection with a burglary she did not go to jail! They said she was with child and they put her in a hospital under guard. Messieurs only two visitors were allowed access to the bedside of that young girl. Both of them are now ministers of France!"

"The police, proceeding on their traditional cherchez la femme theory, hauled in Madame Stavisky."

And so the tornado of revelations and ramifications sped on its way, twisting and swelling with every hour—until, as this goes to print, twenty-six Parisians have been killed, two governments have fallen, the Third republic is tottering, a nationally known jurist has been assassinated, a general strike has had the nation in its grip, duels have been fought, a prosecutor and at least two others have gone insane, a lynching has been narrowly averted, three suicides have occurred—with at least three more attempted suicides—several persons in high places have been dismissed and are facing criminal prosecution, and there is persistent talk of international spy rings, smuggling of arms, more general strikes, and smoldering revolutions.

The police, proceeding on their traditional "cherches la femme" theory, hauled in Madame Stavisky. Chirped she: "I don't know whether my husband shot himself or not, but there is no doubt that he'd still be alive if the police hadn't left him without medical attention for two hours!"

Added 27-year-old Mlle. Lucette Lameras, who was in Stavisky's room when he died: "I don't say a word for less than 5,000 francs. I have other bidders. Au revoir."

By this time the excitable French people, especially the middle classes, who always have been quick to rush into the streets to express their feelings with banners and cobblestones were parading riotously crying, "Thieves! Assassins! Staviskys!" at officials and police. When "Down with the Stavisky cabinet!" became the popular slogan Leftist Premier Chautemps had to go, even though he still held the support of the people's theoretical representatives, the deputies.

As mounted patrols of the garde republicaine in their polished helmets and horsehair plumes pranced about the chamber former Premier Daladier returned to Chautemps' empty seat. This new premier drew even greater support from the worried deputies, but he and his cabinet were little more popular with the aroused populace, which remembered that Daladier had just been minister of war under Chautemps and was growing tired of this old game of shifting the same men around in cabinet after cabinet. "We want a new cabinet—all new!" howled the people. "We want men of energy!"

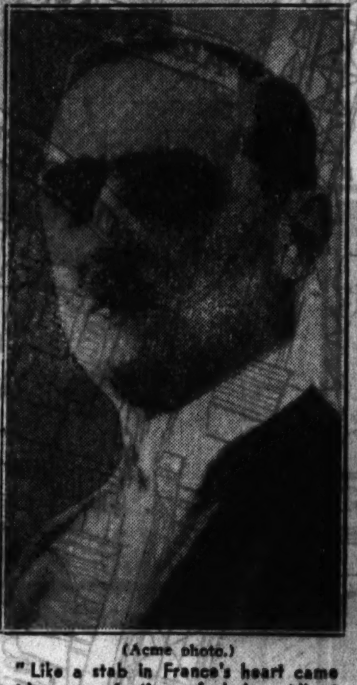
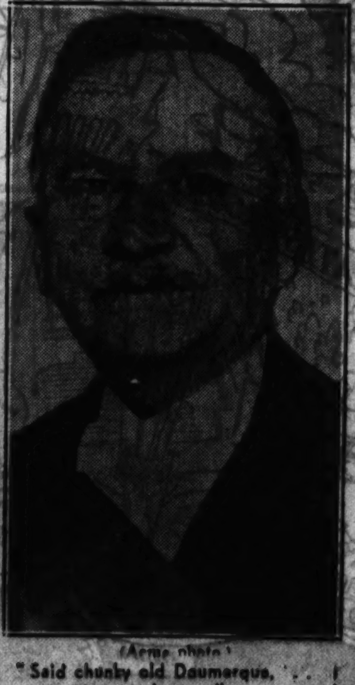
"Dapper Jean Chiappe, the Paris police chief, who had been merrymaking with the swindler."



(Acme photo.)
"Like a stab in France's heart came the assassination of Judge Albert Prince."



(Acme photo.)
"Said chunky old Doumergue, '. . . I must put on a clean collar . . . and see the president.'"

Desperately Daladier tried to demonstrate his energy. He made moves toward appointing a committee of investigation into l'affaire Stavisky and ordered the dismissal of Jean Chiappe, the Paris police chief, who had been merrymaking with the swindler on the night of his disappearance.

Royalists in the crowds began to shout: "Down with the republic! Long live the duc de Guise!" Meanwhile the duke himself, Bourbon pretender to the French throne, sent a manifesto by special courier from his retreat in Brussels: "Frenchmen! . . . The hour has come to rally to the monarchist principles on which was founded . . . the greatness of France . . . Given in exile . . . Jean III."

Fifty thousand rallied. Rioting grew worse. People everywhere were saying, "Now we should act! The government ordered out troops. All Paris seemed to be roaming the streets.

Almost every prominent official was accused of trying to become a dictator. Dalimier, the former minister of labor, who once approved Stavisky's bonds, recently had been seen "taking riding lessons," which was a sure sign in the eyes of hot headed Parisian shopkeepers that he contemplated a triumphal march on Paris. Murky Eugene Frot, minister of the interior and responsible for the ferocity of the police—was denounced for "trying to be Napoleon."

Over night a barricade sprang up across the Champs Elysees—a barricade that would have made Napoleon III.'s eyes pop. The Champs Elysees, his pet barricade-proof boulevard, was made by Napoleon not ('tis said) to facilitate trafic nor to provide nursemaids with elbow room, but to confuse the hot-headed Parisian bourgeoisie who had successfully "shot it out" with three regimes before his. Now again the barricade arose—of tin chairs, uprooted trees, paving stones, wrecked taxis, benches, mangled newspaper kiosks, topped by a row of wooden horses stolen from a merry-go-round, and on the crest a big tin sign, "Keep off the grass!"

Toward the barricade marched a motley army. In it were sober, dignified citizens intent on organized protest walking with rowdy opportunists, street girls, unemployed schoolboys, cafe owners—shouting and disorganized.

Needless to say, Premier Daladier—though appointed only eight days earlier—found it wise to resign. And through the debris-laden streets—to the rescue—came 70-year-old Doumergue, summoned as premier. "Long live the good little Gastounet!" bellowed the joyous crowds.

"Don't exaggerate," said chunky old Doumergue to the reporters surrounding him. "I always mistrust miracles and miracle workers. And now excuse me; I must put on a clean collar to go and see the president of the republic, if I am to set a good example."

True to the public demand, Doumergue collected about him a cabinet of "men of energy," among them six former premiers, two generals, and representatives of every party except royalists, orthodox socialists, and communists. For a time it looked as if l'affaire Stavisky would blow over.

But no—even now the amazing Alexandre could sneak from his grave. Like a stab in France's heart came the assassination of Judge Albert Prince, who had been on the verge of testifying before a parliamentary committee as to the wire-pulling and graft behind the Stavisky scandal.

Methodical Judge Prince had left photostatic copies of his papers in a safe place. Among them were found letters to him from Georges Pressard, chief prosecutor of Paris, brother-in-law of former Premier Chautemps and nominee for counselor of the court of cassation. In these letters, which were dated 1930 and 1931, Pressard urged Prince to let the Stavisky case hang fire, promising to look after it himself. All of which has very much complicated M. Pressard's own case, which probably will not hang fire.

All manner of complications and vituperation followed in the wake of the Prince murder, some of it related, most of it not. Already Elie Sacazan, one of Stavisky's most ruthless lieutenants, had been arrested in Beirut, Syria. Already Joseph Garat, mayor of Bayonne, shivered in a chilly jail in his home town along with prisoners to whom a few months before he had refused a central heating system. Presently Anton Romagnino, Stavisky's vanishing secretary, also was under lock and key; and 1,200 check stubs made out by Stavisky were discovered as were several boxes of rare Stavisky jewels (used for raising cash in emergencies of which there had been plenty).

Another Stavisky murder was dug up by Deputy Philippe Henriot of the right: in 1928 Jean Galmot, adventurer rival of Stavisky, who also had made ardent advances to beautiful Arlette Simon (who married Stavisky), was mysteriously poisoned.

Almost daily such newsy events are taking place in turbulent France. Suicides are common. One Hurlaux, accused of having addressed Stavisky in a letter as "cher monsieur et bon ami," decided that the name of Stavisky had already poisoned him so that nothing further could be hard to take: he "struck an attitude" and took an ineffective gulp at some poison. Raymond Hubert, smart lawyer for Stavisky's agent Romagnino, twice attempted to drown. The first time the water was too cold for acceptable drowning conditions. The second time he couldn't swim fast enough to dodge the boathooks.

"When operatives of the surete generale kicked down a certain door in fashionable Chamonix . . . the archswindler . . . shot himself."

Some suicides were successful. Jean Brunschvick, diamond merchant, died from poison while in a bathtub. And Emile Blanchard, accused of accepting Stavisky bribes also completed his attempt. His was not a very neat suicide—but he muddled through. Having taken poison, he took a rather nervous slash at his throat. Eventually he died of pneumonia.

The national council of the Confederation of War Veterans, claiming 3,500,000 members, met and voted to take direct action to reform French politics. Doumergue, increasingly worried, and with reason, broadcast Roosevelt-fashion direct to the people: "The government's task is vast and arduous. . . We must march shoulder to shoulder as our soldiers did at the Marne."

Hastily and energetically Doumergue worked to put through two revolutionary laws: 1. The president of France to be given the right to dissolve the whole chamber of deputies and call new elections any time after the chamber has been in session three months (thus increasing practical democracy). 2. Money bills to be initiated by the administration instead of by the chamber (thus halting irresponsible treasury raids). And still outside the windows wild crowds are marching, and even wilder rumors seep unchecked from every alley.

Again we ask why the $30,000,000 swindle of an ex-gigolo should cause this national avalanche. The answer is not simple, but in the main it seems to be that Stavisky was the straw that broke the camel's back. His was the part of an Archduke Ferdinand whose death happened to be the spark that ignited an old bomb which had been kicking around for years unnoticed.

In France there has long been public dissatisfaction with the chamber of deputies and the police. There has long been revolt against taxes, unbalanced budgets, corruption, and the inefficient parliamentary system which has resulted in the present legislature's throwing six cabinets out of office since its election in 1932. Now, when the long-smoldering suspicions of public officials are suddenly and dramatically shown to have some basis in fact, at a time of crisis when, above all times a government must be honest and efficient, is it any wonder that an excitable people are expressing themselves?

A CENTURY OF PROGRESS EXPOSITION of 1933, with its 23 million paid admissions, set an attendance record for American world's fairs. The Exposition management is not predicting what will be the attendance at A Century of Progress Exposition of 1934, scheduled to open with impressive ceremonies on the 26th day of this month, but railroad passenger agents of lines running into Chicago have estimated, on a basis of reservations made to date as compared with those of the same time last year, that from 29 to 35 million persons will pass through the Fair's turnstiles this year.

Citizens of Chicago are boosting the Fair. In addition, eight million out-of-town residents who saw the Fair last year are telling their friends and neighbors about the great, colorful Exposition on the shores of Lake Michigan. Merchants in other towns and cities, manufacturers of other localities, and people in general, many of whom were indifferent or actually hostile toward the Fair a year ago, have come to realize that it was a prosperity maker for the entire country. In bringing 400 million out-of-town dollars into Chicago from the last of May to mid-November last year the Fair also stirred up the desire to buy in other parts of the country, shook dollars out of rusty teapots and hidden purses of the hoarders, and created a widespread atmosphere of good cheer. It was a jollification after four years of stern depression. Retail and wholesale trade near and far, industry, and travel were revivified by A Century of Progress Exposition, which entertained, amused, and instructed those who put up the price for 23 million paid admissions.

Indications, as aforementioned, are that the attendance for 1934 will be much greater than that of last year. It is well that it should be, for the 1934 edition of A Century of Progress gives promise of eclipsing in every way last year's marvelous Fair. The huge staf of men and women rushing preparations for the reopening of the Fair stresses but one point in speaking of the Exposition, and that is that it will be vastly superior to the Fair of a year ago. Not necessarily bigger, but better in every way. Virtually all worth-while and popular attractions of 1933 have been retained, and to them have been added a wealth of brand new exhibits. Objectionable features will not be tolerated under the new form of concession contract, which makes the Fair management sole judge of what is desirable and what is undesirable.

Of interest to everyone contemplating a trip to the Fair is the assurance that prices within the grounds will be lower even than those of a year ago, when the average day's expenditure of a visitor, not counting general admission but including meals and transportation within the grounds, was only $1.17. This year the visitor will get a great deal more for his money, proving that the Exposition really is inexpensive entertainment. All attractions are to scale down their prices. Complete meals will be available at prices ranging from 15 cents to two dollars. There will be no turnstiles at the doors of the comfort stations.

Enchanting as was the Fair of last year, strikingly beautiful as was its appearance, this year's Exposition will be even more wonderful and captivating. Whereas little time and effort could be devoted to landscaping a year ago, the Fair this year will be one vast and delightful garden of entrancing vistas. Restful and shady nooks everywhere will invite those who are footsore and weary from too much sightseeing. Seats for 35,000 have been added to the 65,000 seats of last year, making 100,000 places for rest and calm inspection of the myriad marvels within view. One hundred buildings have been ripped down to make room for better exhibits, which will be ready for the opening on May 26. Space for concessions is in such great demand that air rights over the shores of the lagoons are being leased to concessionaires.

The theme of all exhibits will be entertainment, ranging from the scientifically instructive to wholesome, laugh-provoking amusement. Commercial exhibits will be pleasantly free of order taking.

Outstanding features of the Fair of 1933, all of which are being retained, naturally will form a substantial part of the new Fair. The main exhibition halls will be filled with new or reconstructed displays. In the great court of the Hall of Science twice daily will be presented a scientific demonstration, the subject varying from day to day. This Science theater will have 5,000 seats, all free.

Chief among the new features will be the big fountain in the north lagoon stretching southward two full blocks from the Twelfth street bridge. The water dome of the fountain will be 75 feet in height. Sixty-eight thousand gallons of water, enough to meet the requirements of a city of a million inhabitants for the time specified, will flow through the fountain every minute it is in operation. Lights sufficient to illuminate a city of 150,000 will make the fountain a blaze of colors as they blend through six different shades.

Added to the General Motors, the Chrysler, and other automotive exhibits will be the new Ford building, under the huge dome of which will be presented the Drama of Transportation. Sixty-five vehicles of travel, all originals but one, will tell the story of transportation from earliest to modern times. In Ford park, adjoining, visitors will ride in automobiles over the Roads of the World. Another part of the Ford exhibit will be devoted to soy bean culture and products obtainable from the soy bean.

Three of the world's leading packing industries, Swift & Co., Armour & Co., and Wilson & Co., will have new buildings at the Fair. In the theater of the Swift exhibit the Chicago Symphony orchestra will give two concerts daily for a period of ten weeks beginning July 1. Frederick A. Stock will conduct part of the time.

Among other new buildings will be the Hiram Walker and the John R. Thompson exhibits. In the auditorium of the last named, will be free musical entertainment and spectacles.

A whole galaxy of foreign villages, offering collectively what in effect is a tour of the world, will be a popular feature of the Fair. These exhibits include the Belgian village, Streets of Paris, the Oasis (formerly the Moroccan village), Mexican village, Streets of Shanghai, Dutch village, Italian village, Irish village, American Colonial village, Old English village, Tunisian village, Swiss village, Black Forest village, and Spanish village. All but the three first named will be new this year.

BALI DANCE MASK CHASES EVIL SPIRITS

THE natives of Bali stick to their primitive customs and ways of living in spite of, or perhaps because of, the throngs of tourists who visit the iland each year. There can be no denying that Bali is picturesque and that visitors may purchase from the natives many interesting curios to take home. Mrs. Edward Churchill of Oakville, Cal., is shown in this picture proudly exhibiting a ferocious dance mask she bought in Bali. The mask is guaranteed to drive evil spirits away, she said.

IMMERSION AS IT IS IN HARLEM

A LESSON FROM THE FISH

FISH fin shoes for swimming soon may enable the ordinary swimmer to equal the speed records of famous aquatic stars, if the claims of Oscar Jacobson, the inventor of the shoes, are upheld. Jacobson exhibited his shoes at the National Inventors' congress at Seattle. The shoes are equipped with blades, or fins, which spread out in the water when the foot is kicked backward and then fold in again as the foot is drawn forward. With a pair of these shoes it might be possible for a person unable to swim to don a pair of water wings and go splashing merrily about in deep water.

Stomach Sufferers Hail Noted Doctor's Formula

It starts work in 15 minutes helping the Kidneys flush out Acids and poisonous wastes. Soothes, cleans and tones raw, sore membranes. Formula in every package. It is helping millions and must fix you up or money back is guaranteed. Cystex is only 3c a dose at druggists.

A REMINDER OF ANCIENT MAYAN CULTURE

HUNDREDS of years ago this ancient Mayan temple in Yucatan, Mexico, was the center of a flourishing Indian civilization. Thousands of Mayas gathered here for devotionals on the broad "Stairway of the Warriors," and in the great hall of massive pillars, shown in the background. Today Yucatan is still populated by Mayan Indians, but these people no longer have the culture of their ancient forbears. The temples and other buildings of this long lost civilization are today of great interest to archæologists. Although the buildings are slowly crumbling, scientists are able to learn much of the people who built them by studying inscriptions on the walls. It is believed that the Mayas migrated to Mexico from the north, reaching Yucatan as early as the fifth century. The Mayas were as important in Mexico prior to the Spanish conquest as that other great tribe of civilized Indians, the Aztecs.

TO MARRY, OR BE MARRIED: THERE'S A RUSSO-JAP ISSUE!

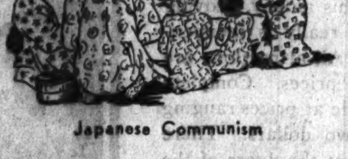
By Guy Murchie Jr.

THE Russian-built Chinese Eastern railroad runs across northern Manchukuo, through territory controled by Japan. Russia and Japan, both interested in this strategic road, are pacing up and down their borders, bayonets in hand. If the people of these two great powers come to blows it will be a fight between husbands and fathers.

The Russians are called "communists," the Japs "capitalists." But in a fundamental sense, perhaps, there is more real communism in Japan than in Russia. Communism is the reverse of individualism, and in Japan individualism is at a pretty low ebb.

If, for example you are a Japanese boy and you want to get married, can you pick out your girl and pop the question? If you are in love with Miss Ki Chikoo, can you marry her? Not a chance, my boy. You must wait until your old man, your grandpa, your great-grandpas, your uncles, and all your other great and grand forebears have met in solemn family council to decide the question. For days the wrinkled old men will sit over their fish and rice warming their hands at their hibachis, arguing, compromising and haggling out this grave family problem. At last they reach a verdict. Your wedding day arrives.

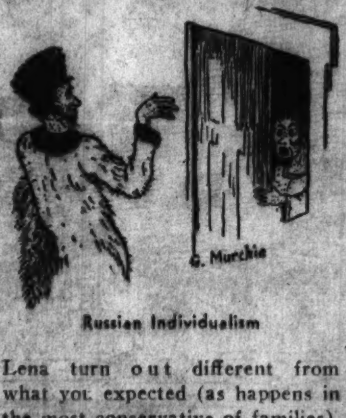
You accept the divine family command. You would not think of opposing it. Centuries of submission to the "will of heaven" are in your blood. You are not an individual, but a humble member of your holy family. You abandon all hope of seeing pretty little Ki Chikoo again. Instead you dress up to make your solemn marriage vow with strange Miss Pi Kaboo, whom you have never laid eyes on.



Japanese Communism

The years drift in—the years drift out. Before you know it, around the family rice bowl squat eight plump little black-eyed creatures, your children. Perhaps you are broke, unemployed, and can't supply them with shoes. What does it matter? Your old man and your uncles must come across when you are in a spot. Just as you had small responsibility in picking your mate, so have you small responsibility in caring for the proceeds. The burden of responsibility in an oriental family rests on its real rulers, the old men. This is patriarchism, which is in reality a highly developed form of communism.

In Russia, on the other hand, how does one get married? Suppose you are a young Russian lad. When you fall in love with Lena Otstoff you are automatically wed. You do not even have to register unless Lena insists. Lena may be your best girl. She may be your wife. Who cares? The two are just about the same in Russia. Better still, your old man has nothing to do with your marriage. Should Lena turn out different from what you expected (as happens in the most conservative of families), you can always pull on your felt boots and walk out on her. If you have a good job on the village collective farm, or an attractive set of whiskers, perhaps you can marry a dozen fine girls before you are through.



Russian Individualism

What you do, whom you love, seem to depend on your individual prowess in Russia—which is a far cry from the way things stand in Japan. And so one of the great issues to be decided in any struggle between modern Russia and modern Japan must inevitably be the question of which will triumph—the men who pick their own brides, or the men who are content to leave it to grandpa and old Uncle Tikli Wikli.

A KING HONORS A HEROINE

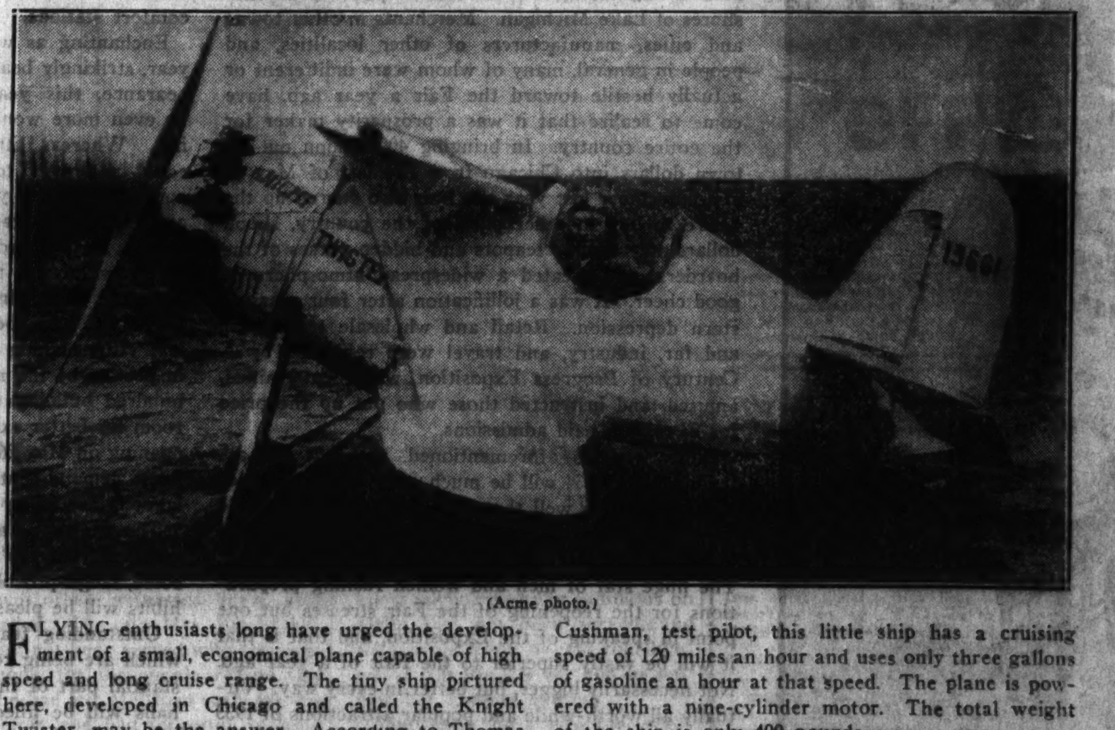
FLIVVER PLANE GOES TWO MILES A MINUTE



(Acme photo.)

FLYING enthusiasts long have urged the development of a small, economical plane capable of high speed and long cruise range. The tiny ship pictured here, developed in Chicago and called the Knight Twister, may be the answer. According to Thomas Cushman, test pilot, this little ship has a cruising speed of 120 miles an hour and uses only three gallons of gasoline an hour at that speed. The plane is powered with a nine-cylinder motor. The total weight of the ship is only 400 pounds.

Another Man's Wife

By Mrs. Belloc Lowndes

INSTALMENT XV.

THE early Victorian cottage-like furnished house Rex Chandos had taken for Delia Seaton was situated on a quiet part of the Chelsea embankment, and as he stood at one of the windows of the drawing room waiting for her arrival he noticed with satisfaction that the broad roadway was deserted.

Though he longed, as always, to see her, his thoughts this morning were centered on himself, for he was now that awesome human entity—a powerful and unscrupulous man who knows himself to be in acute danger.

All at once a taxi drew up before the door. Leaping two steps at a time down the stairs, he paid the sum marked on the taxi clock without comment but told himself as he did so that he would have to teach his darling Delia economy, at any rate until things began to look up again with them both.

Leaving her luggage in the hall, he motioned her to go upstairs, and she obeyed, taking only her dressing case with her. In the pretty, gay little room overlooking the river he turned to her, and then, shocked at what he saw, "Good God, what's the matter?" he exclaimed. "You look dreadful darling. Are you ill?"

She hung her head like a child caught in a fault. What was she to say? How much should she tell him? How much, for the matter of that dare she tell him?

"I'm not ill, but I had rather a horrid fright at the Thatched house just before I left Meltham."

Turning away she crouched down in front of the good fire he had built up. It was cold today, and Chandos bending over her, saw that she was actually shivering.

"What happened?" he asked.

"Two men turned up with a search warant while I was packing."

Her teeth were chattering now. He said nothing to that, and she went on: "They asked if you were there. They thought you were."

"Did they go on into the cottage?"

"Not that I know of."

"Did they come in and have a look around?"

She bent her head.

"They must have been sadly disappointed," he said grimly. "You haven't told anyone of this address, have you?"

"I'm sorry to say I did. Was I a fool to do that?" and, turning to him, she gave a sudden sob.

"Don't be so upset, my precious love. I'll make a good get-away today, and then I'll send for you as soon as I possibly can."

"I can't stay here, Rex."

There was that in her toneless voice that alarmed him.

"Why not?"

"One of those men from Scotland Yard said something to me so—so queer."

He turned her full face toward him, and what he saw there alarmed him shrewdly.

"Why are you so frightened? Tell me, my darling."

"Because——" She suddenly clung to him, and he felt her soft body shaking as though she had the ague.

"Because what, my sweet?"

"I want to get away today," she whispered. "Away with you, Rex."

HER fear infected him. "So you shall if you really want to. But for the time being, till I've had time to look around—I mean in France or maybe in Spain—you'd be safe here."

"I shouldn't be safe——" And then suddenly she gasped out, "They are going to call me as a witness at an inquest!"

He looked at her astounded. "An inquest—who on?"

She remained silent, and then all at once he exclaimed: "I know who it is. Of course I do! Mrs. Wentworth, the wife of that doctor chap."

He knew by the change in her face that he had guessed right. And then he tried to remember exactly what had been in the paper he glanced at that morning.

"What did she die of?" he asked.

"Nobody knows. That's why there's going to be an inquest," she muttered.

"Where do you come in?"

"I don't know."

He gripped her arm. "Nonsense! Of course you know. And you've got to tell me. Come, Delia."

She was defenseless against his compelling eyes.

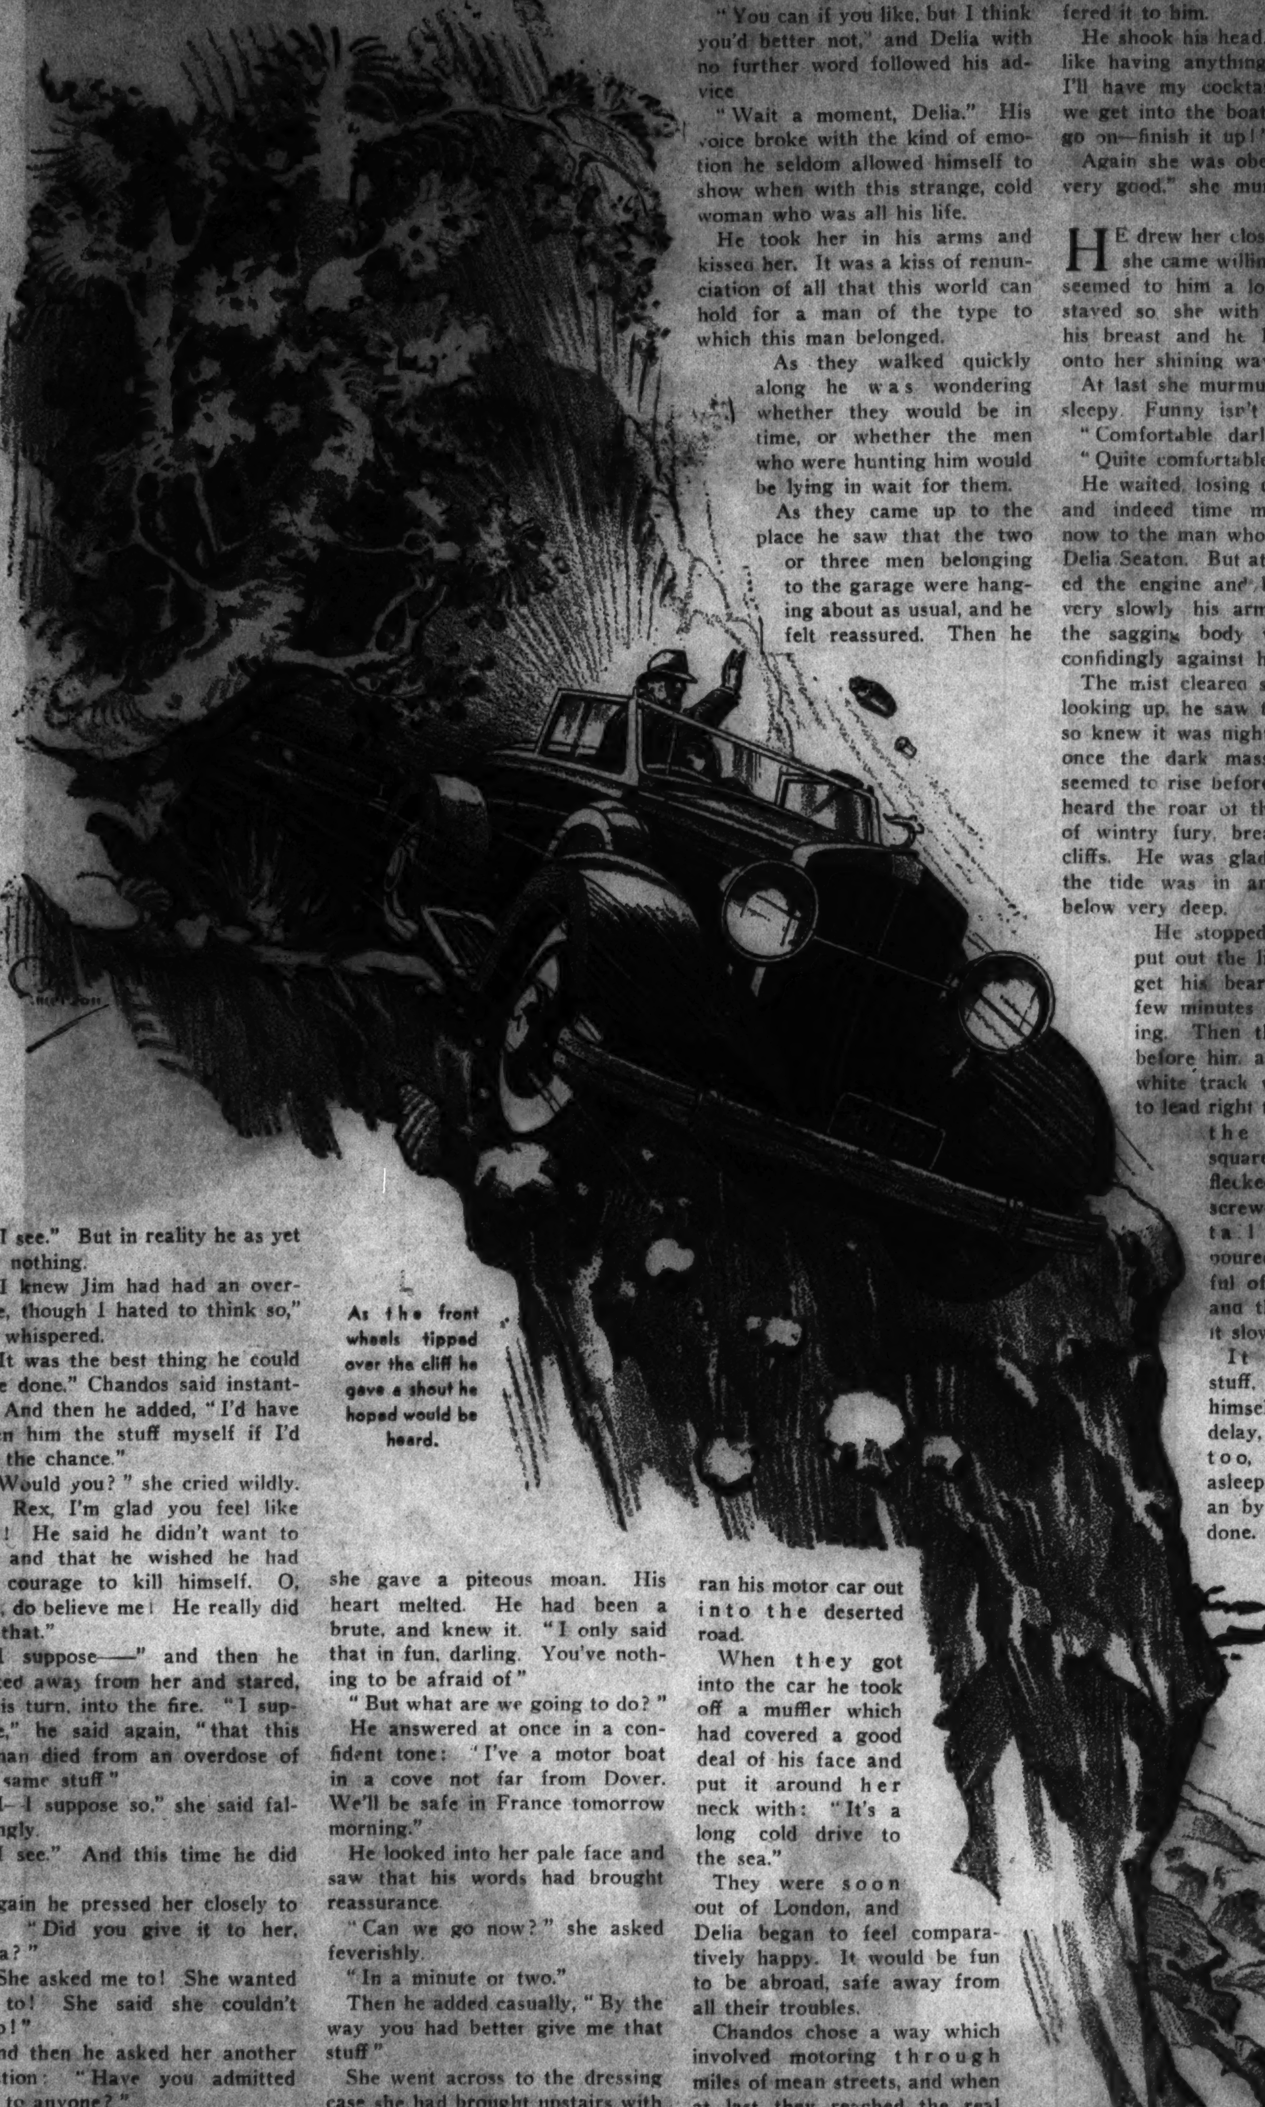
"I did nothing," she gasped.

"I don't suppose you did. But what is it they suspect you of having done?"

"I had some stuff Dr. Wentworth gave me ever so long ago."

"Stuff? What stuff?"

"It was some French medicine that made Jim sleep."



At the front wheels tipped over the cliff he gave a shout he hoped would be heard.

"I see." But in reality he as yet saw nothing.

"I knew Jim had had an overdose, though I hated to think so," she whispered.

"It was the best thing he could have done." Chandos said instantly. And then he added, "I'd have given him the stuff myself if I'd had the chance."

"Would you?" she cried wildly. "O, Rex, I'm glad you feel like that! He said he didn't want to live and that he wished he had the courage to kill himself. O, Rex, do believe me! He really did say that."

"I suppose——" and then he looked away from her and stared, in his turn, into the fire. "I suppose," he said again, "that this woman died from an overdose of the same stuff."

"I—I suppose so," she said falteringly.

"I see." And this time he did see.

Again he pressed her closely to him. "Did you give it to her, Delia?"

"She asked me to! She wanted me to! She said she couldn't sleep!"

And then he asked her another question: "Have you admitted that to anyone?"

"O, no!"

"Have they traced the stuff to your possession?"

He asked that third question in a casual tone but he had never known that a man could feel such fear as that which now possessed him. What he had felt yesterday and today when he had realized the hunt was up and that the forces of law and order were closing in upon him had been as nothing to the fear now besetting him.

"I don't know what they know. It's that—that which terrifies me." He could hardly hear her muttered words.

"Did you throw the rest of the stuff away?"

"I was going to," the words escaped her. "Then I thought I had better wait till——"

"——you had left Meltham?"

He was putting two and two together, and a spasm of jealous pain passed over his face. He wondered what that doctor chap was like.

As he remained silent, she asked: "D'you think we had better go away. I mean at once, Rex?"

"Why yes. I think we must. And the sooner the better."

He got up, and then he pulled her up, too. God! What a fool he had been! Again jealousy gripped him.

"It looks, my poor sweet, as if your number is up as well as mine."

She looked at him fearfully. What was it he had just said? And then all at once, realizing the purport of those awful words, she gave a piteous moan. His heart melted. He had been a brute, and knew it. "I only said that in fun, darling. You've nothing to be afraid of."

"But what are we going to do?"

He answered at once in a confident tone: "I've a motor boat in a cove not far from Dover. We'll be safe in France tomorrow morning."

He looked into her pale face and saw that his words had brought reassurance.

"Can we go now?" she asked feverishly.

"In a minute or two."

Then he added casually, "By the way you had better give me that stuff."

She went across to the dressing case she had brought upstairs with her and opening it, handed him what he had asked for.

"Wait here for me, darling. I won't be more than a minute or two."

Chandos had noticed that there was a cocktail shaker in the kitchen. This morning—how glad he was now that he had thought of it!—he had bought a bottle of rum, because Delia cared only for a rum cocktail. She never touched any other sort.

AND now with deliberate care he uncorked the bottle of rum, squeezed out the juice of two lemons and put in the shaker the exact admixture he knew she liked.

After doing that he disposed of what remained of the narcotic.

And then, after putting a piece of paper on the floor, he flung down the bottle and crushed the pieces of broken glass with his heel. Picking up the paper containing the now powdered glass, he put it into the dust bin. Finally, on his way upstairs, he went into the hall, put on his overcoat, and placed the cocktail shaker in one of its capacious pockets, while in another he put a small tumbler.

"It's all right now," he cried out cheerily as he ran upstairs. "Come along, darling!"

"You'll have to get a taxi, Rex, for I've a lot of luggage."

"You can take nothing with you. We can buy everything you're likely to want once we get to Paris."

"Can't I even bring my dressing case?"

"You can if you like, but I think you'd better not," and Delia with no further word followed his advice.

"Wait a moment, Delia." His voice broke with the kind of emotion he seldom allowed himself to show when with this strange, cold woman who was all his life.

He took her in his arms and kissed her. It was a kiss of renunciation of all that this world can hold for a man of the type to which this man belonged.

As they walked quickly along he was wondering whether they would be in time, or whether the men who were hunting him would be lying in wait for them.

As they came up to the place he saw that the two or three men belonging to the garage were hanging about as usual, and he felt reassured. Then he ran his motor car out into the deserted road.

When they got into the car he took off a muffler which had covered a good deal of his face and put it around her neck with: "It's a long cold drive to the sea."

They were soon out of London, and Delia began to feel comparatively happy. It would be fun to be abroad, safe away from all their troubles.

Chandos chose a way which involved motoring through miles of mean streets, and when at last they reached the real country they had been motoring for over an hour.

EVEN before it was necessary, Chandos turned on the lights of the little car. He was taking no risks and kept to the lanes and byways, driving carefully. When at last they were within a few miles of the coast they ran into a sea mist.

"Look here," he said suddenly, "I'm cold, if you're not, darling."

"I am rather cold, Rex," she said.

He stopped the car, and as their lights pierced the mist about them Delia saw that they were on a solitary stretch of downland.

"I've got something here which will warm us up," he exclaimed.

"What is it?"

"A mild rum cocktail, sweet. The kind you like."

"What ever made you think of that? And where did you get it?" she exclaimed.

"I thought we'd best not stop anywhere for tea so I mixed a cocktail before we left Ranelagh row."

He produced the shaker out of one coat pocket, and then, out of another producing a glass, he poured the rum cocktail.

"O, Rex! I can't take all that."

"O, yes, you can. We've a cold sea journey in front of us, so you've got to drink this all up, like the good little girl you are."

So she obediently began sipping her big cocktail.

When she had drunk a little more than half the glassful, "You have the rest, Rex?" and she offered it to him.

He shook his head. "I don't feel like having anything yet, darling. I'll have my cocktail just before we get into the boat. Now, then, go on—finish it up!"

Again she was obedient. "It is very good," she murmured.

HE drew her closer to him, and she came willingly. For what seemed to him a long time they stayed so, she with her head on his breast and he looking down onto her shining wavy hair.

At last she murmured: "I'm so sleepy. Funny isn't it?"

"Comfortable darling?"

"Quite comfortable, dear."

He waited, losing count of time, and indeed time meant nothing now to the man who had so loved Delia Seaton. But at last he started the engine and began driving very slowly his arm still around the sagging body which leaned confidingly against him.

The mist cleared suddenly, and, looking up, he saw the stars, and so knew it was night. And all at once the dark mass of the sea seemed to rise before him, and he heard the roar of the waves, full of wintry fury, breaking against cliffs. He was glad indeed that the tide was in and the water below very deep.

He stopped the car and put out the lights so as to get his bearings. For a few minutes he saw nothing. Then there emerged before him a rough, rutty white track which seemed to lead right to the edge of the cliff. Facing squarely the foam-flecked sea, he unscrewed the cocktail shaker and poured out a glassful of the mixture, and then he drank it slowly.

It was strong stuff, and he told himself he mustn't delay, or else he, too, might fall asleep, as the woman by his side had done.

So he buttoned up the coat he had worn loosely and started his engine once more.

When the car was within a yard of the edge he flung the empty cocktail shaker and the glass over the bonnet. His hand left the wheel, and as the front wheels tipped over the cliff he gave a shout he hoped would be heard to prove how utterly unexpected to the driver had been the frightful accident, of which nothing would be known till the tide ran out tomorrow morning.

ON the evening of the next day, shortly after the conclusion of the inquest on Juliet Wentworth, Jane Galt was sitting in the study of the Old Manor, waiting for her cousin, who had asked her to help him go over his late wife's things.

The verdict had been death by misadventure, and the general feeling was that the inquest had been quite unnecessary.

In addition to Dr. Purves, only two other witnesses had been called. The one Mrs. Jim Seaton, had not been served with the summons, for the simple reason that she had left Meltham early the day before and had forgotten to leave her London address. But her absence had been regarded as of no real importance, for she had been called simply because she happened to be one of the last persons who had been in the company of young Mrs. Wentworth the evening before that unfortunate lady's death.

The very last person to see Juliet had been the Scotch maid, Mrs. MacNab, and she had been handled rather severely by the coroner, owing to her persistent denial that her mistress had taken any form of sleeping draught.

Now, Jane Galt had debated painfully within herself as to whether she ought to reveal what Delia Seaton had told her as to the purchase at Juliet's request, of some drug, evidently in common use, or it could not have been bought in a great store. Jane knew enough about British law to know that such a revelation would be held to prove nothing, while almost certainly leading to more trouble and unpleasantness for them all. So she had remained silent.

AT LAST Harry Wentworth came into the room, and wearily he flung himself into a chair near his cousin.

"I wonder if mother would mind giving up her sitting room so that it could be turned into a bedroom? I mean, for me to sleep in till I have got another practice."

"I'm sure auntie wouldn't mind," but she looked at him with surprise.

"I don't want to go on living in Meltham," he said in a low voice. "Everywhere, with the exception of this one room and mother's house, reminds me of my wife."

"I do understand that," said Jane feelingly.

"You always do understand," he said in a moved voice. "And you, at any rate, will agree that I cannot possibly keep money which was left me with that kind of condition attached to it. The poor girl did not mean to be unkind, still less to insult the only person in the world, I suppose, she ever cared for." With a certain eagerness he added, "Surely you think I am doing right in renouncing this fortune?"

"It's what I should have done in your case," she said soberly.

"My idea is to get a modest practice in London, carrying with it a house where we can live. But before I relinquish Juliet's legacy I must pension off her faithful old servants and make up Mrs. MacNab's income to what the old soul can live on in comfort."

The parlor maid came to the door. Silently she laid an evening paper on the table near the doctor's elbow. Then she asked: "Might I speak to you a moment, Miss? Cook says no orders were given to her this morning."

JANE slipped out of the room, and Harry Wentworth lay back and shut his eyes. His mind was still filled with the painful events of the last few days. The stopping of his poor wife's funeral, the sudden surge of newspaper men in Meltham, the postmortem which he had insisted should take place in his house. He was very sorry for old Dr Purves, the more so that he had come to believe that the defective valve in her heart had been the real cause of Juliet's death. Still, if so, it had of course been hastened by her having certainly absorbed a strong narcotic.

At what time Juliet had taken the sleeping draught would remain a mystery forever. But what did that matter? He knew deep in his heart that she had always been a little sly, and that as soon as she had discovered how much he disliked unorthodox advice concerning her health she had made it a rule never to tell him anything of her various dietetic experiments.

Scarce conscious of the fact, his mind swung rather shrinkingly over to Delia Seaton. He had not liked her letter of condolence, for it was impossible that she could have cared for poor Juliet in the way she pretended she had done. And though in some ways Harry Wentworth was simple, no medical man but must acquire a considerable knowledge of feminine human nature, so he had thought also the invitation contained in the postscript of her letter might well have been postponed.

He had not known till the inquest opened that the summons on Delia had not been served, and then, with relief, he had told himself it was too late for him to provide her London address.

Jane came back into the study, and as she walked toward her cousin her eyes fell on the evening paper lying spread out on the table.

She gave an involuntary gasp of horror and amazement, and Harry leaped to his feet with: "Jane, what's the matter?"

She took up the paper and, without speaking, handed it to him.

IN THE center of the front page were medallion portraits of a man and a woman, and across the page ran in large letters:

NOTED RACING MOTORIST AND FAMOUS BEAUTY
HURTLED TO THEIR DEATH

Underneath was printed the following paragraph:

Our Dover correspondent telegraphs that the racing motorist, Rex Chandos, and Mrs. Jim Seaton, the beautiful young widow of the late captain of the England cricket team, were in a midget motor car which hurtled over the top of a cliff within a few miles of the town. The accident is supposed to have happened last night, when there was a thick sea mist, and at the height of the tide.

It was Jane who broke the strained silence. "Juliet told me that poor Delia and this man had been meeting on the common," she exclaimed.

"Juliet said something of the same kind to me," he muttered.

He was staring down at the powerful, ugly face of the man he had instinctively felt to be his rival, and trying not to see the portrait of Delia, which had been taken at the height of her beauty and happiness.

AT LAST he looked up. "Shall we go upstairs? I want us to go together through a small lacquer chest were Juliet kept everything she thought precious. Among other things her parents' love letters, and the letters I wrote to her." There came a spasm of pain across his face. "I would like to burn them all tonight."

"Why not let me go up and do it?"

"Because," he said instantly, "I can't bear being alone. I feel haunted." He sighed deeply. "Haunted by—by so many things. I don't think it will take us long to do what must be done, and then we might go home."

Harry had not called his mother's house "home" since he had lived in the Old Manor as at any rate nominal master.

Jane said quietly: "While I was out of the room just now I telephoned and arranged that auntie's sitting room should be got ready for you to sleep in tonight."

And then he took the hand of the woman who had loved him so long and with no thought of self, and held it for a long time.

MICHIGAN FETE OF BLOSSOMS TO OPEN TODAY

By Kathleen McLaughlin

"BOW to the wittiest, kneel to the prettiest . . ." Fiesta opens this morning, reverently in the churches, in the fruit belt of southwestern Michigan. All week there will be recurrent celebrations of the traditional events marking that area's peak season, as the renowned "Blossom festival" swings into its annual cycle. It closes jubilantly with the big parade on Saturday.

Through miles of countryside radiating from the twin cities of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, key towns of the fruit industry, concrete roadways curve past orchards white with the drift of cherry trees in bloom or faintly pink with the radiance of peach blossoms. Breathtaking beauty on every hand for the world to marvel at — and nobody loves or appreciates it more than the folk who live there.

This year completes the first decade of the picturesque festivities that have drawn consistently larger crowds to witness its various features. The anniversary finds the twin cities in a mood to surpass all former efforts, by way of recognizing both the completion of the first ten years and the return of more prosperous times than the days of the depression brought.

Annually since 1924 the towns of the fruit section have united in nominating the prettiest girls available to meet in Benton Harbor a few days before the festival proper and compete for the crown of Blossom queen. As the years have passed the competition has grown keener and larger the girls smarter, the crown more desirable, and the role of sovereign more important. The territory represented has widened, too, until communities far removed from the scene of activity—as far north as Traverse City and as far east as Ypsilanti and Saginaw — have had delegates in the final competition.

Not even the lowest arc of the depression pendulum affected the increasing interest in the selection of the queen nor the number of entrants for the honor. Where half a dozen girls reached the finals in the earlier phases of the festival's history, nearly twoscore devastatingly pretty and chic young women promenaded before distracted juries in the later years.

It was natural—even inevitable—that girls who had been associated with one another as members of the queen's court during the happy days of the celebrations should decide to perpetuate that friendship. So they've formed a sorority—known as the Blossom Queens' Alumnæ sorority.

There are nearly a hundred members, each having had the honor of representing her own town during one of the ten years as a member of the court. Ten among the membership, of course, achieved the ultimate honor of wearing the royal robes and ruling the festival for one week, terminating with the grand floral parade through St. Joseph, across the St. Joseph river, and up the main street of Benton Harbor.

None of the sorority members will be in the big parade next Saturday —but they'll be on the sidelines, living their own experiences over again. For Saturday has been selected as the date for the third annual reunion of the organization, and the big get together is slated for the hours immediately following that climaxing event of the year, the parade.

EX-QUEENS OF DECADE AGAIN TO ASSEMBLE

When they are all gathered together there's cause for rejoicing and reason for any beau to grow dizzy contemplating the array of feminine pulchritude. It is immediately obvious that Michigan's supply of attractive girls is commensurate with the state's importance as a fruit center. They're all peaches! And their organization can with justice lay claim to having the highest average of beauty of any in the country, if not in the world.

Demonstrating again that the Michigan public appreciates its good fortune, six of the ten have become brides since their reigns ended.

Chronologically, the Blossom queens and the cities they represented at the time were: 1924, Catherine Burrell, Benton Harbor; 1925, Ruth Miller St. Joseph; 1926, Gladyce Dempsey, Buchanan; 1927, Violet Peters, Benton Harbor; 1928, Elsie Lemke St. Joseph; 1929, Lillian Shepherd, Battle Creek; 1930, Cecelia Eisenhart, Buchanan; 1931, Jane Filstrup, Benton Harbor; 1932, Margery Crampton, Grand Rapids; 1933, Marian Evans, Berrien Springs.

The first queen of the festival is now Mrs. G. A. Thompson of Benton Harbor. The second is Mrs. Ruth Koser of Evanston, Ill. Miss Dempsey became the wife of Art Van Tonne of Mishawaka, Ind. Violet Peters is Mrs. Walter Kesterke of St. Joseph. Miss Eisenhart, 1930 sovereign, was married to John Schram of St. Joseph in 1931. Jane Filstrup, daughter of an old Benton Harbor family, eloped to Detroit to be wedded to Henry Totzke of that city

Rules for the selection of the queen require that no member of the board of judges shall know beforehand any one of the candidates.

Two by two they make their appearance on the stage of the Liberty theater in Benton Harbor, promenade across it, and take a stand at either side, identified only by numbers worn on one arm. When all have entered, the judges are requested to eliminate a specified number, usually three. When each of the five judges' ballots have been counted the numbers showing the largest number of votes against them are declared eliminated and the remaining girls return to the stage for another inspection.

When the contest has narrowed to two, a unanimous ballot is required to elect the queen. The runners-up become maids of honor, with the privilege of riding on the royal float and participating in the honors bestowed on the queen.

Purely as a spectacle of one of Mother Nature's best efforts in loveliness, the blossom season in the fruit belt deserves the throngs it draws. When to that natural phenomenon is added a week of balls, contests, and floral parades in the spirit and with the enthusiasm the south lavishes on a Mardi Gras celebration, southwestern Michigan affords opportunity in plenty for the merrymaking crowds from all the country roundabout to come and pay tribute to its prettiest. And they go! Even from points on either coast—as is evident from a cursory inspection of motorists' licenses during the festival week.

Behold the composite queen of the Michigan blossom festival—a composite of the charms of the beauties portrayed below, who reigned in other years.
